OFFICERS OF THE CONGRESS

Raigos, of Mexico, Elected President of Pan-American Conference.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 2—At this morning's meeting of the Pan-American Congress. General Rafaei Reyes, delegate of Colombia, in a speech full of praise for the United States, proposed that if. C. Davis, chairman of the United States delegation, be elected permanent president of the Pan-American conference. General Reyes made a speech praising the United States. Mr. Davis thanked the delegates and declined the office. Provisional President Raigos, chairman of the Mexican delegation, was elected president of the Pan-American Congress; Durate Pereira, of Brazil, was elected first vice-president, and Balletzar Esturpinian, of Salvador, second vice-president. Senor Carbo, of Ecuador, proposed naming Secretary Hay as an additional honorary president, which scion was unanimously taken.

Delegate Gil Fortout, of Venezuela, said

Delegate Gil Fortout, of Venezueis, sale he had received no word that President Castro, of Venezueia, had replied to the resolution of the conference with respect to avoidance of war between his country and Colombia, and he asked the president of the conference if a reply had been received from Colombia. until Columbia should be heard from. General Reyes, of Colombia, said he believed the resson for the delay in the receipt of a message from the Government of Colombia was due to an interruption of the telegraph lines, which passed through a rough country. He was quite certain that no discourtesy was intended. President Raigos said he would act in accordance with the receipt of the control of the contro conied. President Raigos said he would act in accordance with the representation of Gil Fertout, as being in conformity with diplomatic usage, but if the conference wishes otherwise, he would have to bow to its wishes. The conference declared it did not wish to run counter to the request of Gil Fortout. The American horses, trainers and jock-ys wound up the racing season at Neweys wound up the racing season at New-market in such a glorious style as to cause a general reversal of opinion on the part of racespoers. Today no word is too good for the Americans. J. Reiff has not only astonished the English turf, but has proved a bonanna to the bookies, who, on the Cambridgeshire, won enorm-ous sums. Watershed, the winner of that race, ridden by Reiff, carried smaller money than any outsider in the race. It is frue that the price was re-duced from 65 to 1 against, to 55 to 1 against within 65 hours of the race. But et within 48 hours of the race. But few persons knew until shortly before the race that Watershed was to be substituted for Spectrum, who was put in the comparatively unimportant Subscription stakes against J. R. Keene's Chacornac. ut this race was also of great interest outsiders. The Sporting Times tells the story thus:

"Whitney and Keens are by no means the best of friends, having quarreled over a race in America. Whitney now goes for Keens whenever he meets him, and with Keens running a horse, Whitney is there to oppose him. The Subscription stakes is a sweepstakes of 100 guiness each, for which you make a page page and now which you make a nomination and name a herse at the last moment. In the present case, when Whitney's agent saw Keene was taking a nomination, the following message was sent to Keene's

"If you will nominate Cap and Bells we will nominate Volodyoveki." "The challenge was declined. A match between the winners of the Derby and the Caks would have been food for con-versation for years. In the result it was versation for years. In the result it was left to the understudies of the celebrities—Spectrum and Chaoornac."

The same paper intimated that Mr. Whitney and Huggins may return to the English turf, saying:

"It is by no means impossible that, in the course of a few weeks, Huggins will return in charge of more of Mr. Whitney's horses. Mr. Whitney keeps Heath House and his lease of Lady Meux's and Major Loder's horses will be allowed to run its course."

The National Review's version of the message, while correct in substance, is incorrect textually. The War Office is blamed for allowing a libel to be circuated on the man it has already so circuated on the man it has already so everely discipined. Lord Ragian, the Under Secretary of War, pointed out to a representative of the Associated Press that it would be eminently unfair to publish this one dispatch without publishing others which are vital to an understanding of the one on which the national controversy hinges, To publish the hundreds of messages now on file at the War Office directly bearing on the subject, means revealing to the pub-lic secrets never intended to be made known and the implication of persons who have so far escaped any odium. It is probable that the War Office will take bsolutely no action in the matter until Parliament reassembles, when an official will be ready to answer the request which is sure to be made.

When such serious and ultra respectable papers sa the London Times and Lancet deem it advisable to display announcements that King Edward is not ill, it can be reasonably deducted that a very general impression to the opposite prevails among those upper classes by which these papers are read. There is reason to believe that the King was suffering within the last few days from an ulcerated throat, which those closely attached to him, especially the women of his own family, feared must be the forerunner of cancer. According to the pronouncements of the doctors, their fears are unfounded. But King Edward is prohibited from smoking, and is for-bidden the use of any alcoholics. Whether the physicians are concealing the truth, even from the royal patient and his family, is a secret history alone can reveal, but it is evident from the King's public appearance that there is nothing very inently dangerous in his condition.

BUKE ARRIVES IN LONDON. End of His Long Tour of the British Colonies. LONDON, Nov. 1-The cheers that greeted the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York today as they passed on their return from the tour of the world through the crowded streets of London were intermingled with the shrill cries of the newsboys, shouting: "Terrible disas-ter in South Africa!" Beneath the jubila-tion on the safe arrival of the heir apparent there existed a keep undercurren grief and anger over the defeat of ionel Benson's column. Of the thousands who lined the route from Victoria Station to Mariborough House many were personally concerned in the 21s British assualties incurred in this latest reverse, and while the Duke and Duchess were welcomed back with great heartiness, the Big minstreis, Metropolitan Thoater.

The King and his reunited family bade farewell to Portain of the strains of the naval bands. All the ships in the harbor were gaily dressed. The royal train arrived at Victoria Railrond station at 12:8 P. M. Immense crowds at once gathered there to welcome the royal party. Brilliancy was given to the scene by the gay uniform of the Coldstream Guards, who, with scores of policement, suarded the depot. All the way to Markborough House the route was well lined. Colonial colors were particularly noticeable, while the Stars and Stripes and the Danish flag were also frequently seen. There were 4800 troops on duty.

At Victoria station the Cobulal agents presented an address to the Duke of Cornwall and York, who repiled in much the same terms as he used earlier in the day at Portsmouth, when he dilated on the enjoyment he had derived from his trip and his gladness at seeing his natural colors are to the deep to the colors.

trip and his gladness at seeing his na-tive land again after his deeply interest-ing journey. At every point he had been profoundly impressed by the universal declaration of loyalty to the throne.

The Agents-General of the colonies also presented an address to the King, who handed them a written reply, which was "I thank you for your loyal and dutiful address on the return of my be-loved son and daughter-in-law from their visit to the portions of my realm of which you are representatives. It was not with-out natural anxiety and hesitation that I sanctioned the departure of the heir apparent to my throne on a voyage which involved many months of separation, but it was my earnest desire to give effect to the wickes of the late revered mother to the wishes of the late revered mother and the aspirations of my loyal subjects in the colonies, of whose devotion and patriotism I have received such signal proof in the splendid service they have rendered to the empire in South Africa, and I am fully repaid by the complete success which attended the visit and by the manifestations of devotion and loyalty which the presence of the Duke and Duchess everywhere evoked."

The procession occupied less than half an hour in traversing the short route. The members of the royal family and their suites were in open carriages. The King wore a field marshal's uniform, and the wore a field marsha'n uniform, and the Duke of Cornwall and York wore a uniform of a Rear-Admiral, and Prince Edward of York was dressed in sallor clothes. They occupied the first carriage. The Queen, the Duckess of Cornwall and York and the Princess Victoria and Charles of Denmark were in the second carriage. The household cavalry finished the escort.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2-M. The two features of the betting apart from the volume of scattered bets, were the large amount of Shepard money placed on the Stock Exchange during the morning, and the large offers of Shepard money both on the exchange floor and on the "curb" just before the close, with the result that the last Mayoralty bet placed on the curb was made at even money. Marine Hospital authorities as to the out-Marine Respirat authorities as to the out-break of plague in Liverpool and Glasgow, this Government does not regard these cities as infected ports. The utmost care, however, is being exercised by officials here to prevent the plague from enter-ing Atlantic ports of the United States through incoming vessels from Liverpool and Glasgow. All such arrivals will be subjected to the most rigid examination.

The members of the crews of the vessels. Captain of cavalry: James B. Mitchell, who are more likely to have been near the scene of the plague outbreak than the drews, Surgeon of Volunteers, rank of with the greatest care.

CLAIM AGAINST MEXICO.

Catholic Church Presents a Bill of Over $1,000,000.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—The Rev. Archbishop Riordan, of San Francisco, has come to Washington and with Archbishop Ireland has called upon the Presidence dent. It is understood that one of purposes of his visit is to induce the Government to renew its efforts to secure the payment by the Mexican Government to the Catholic Church of California of more than $1,000,000 due to the church on account of what is known as the fund. Before the acquisition of Upper California by the United States the Catholic churches of Upper and Lower California had on deposit Mexican Government money and property aggregating a very large total, upon which the Mexican Government was obliged to pay the churches a certain annual interest. The interest payments ceased after the Mexican War, but after the lapse of 20 years a claim in behalf of the church of unpaid interest came before the Mexican Claims Commission, which allowed the claim. But since that date, although the award was paid by the Mexican Government, there have been no further payments of interest, and the present purpose is to press for a settlement of this interest account. The Mexican Government has not shown any disposition to avoid a settlement, but bases its failure so far to pay interest on the brond ground that the award by the Mexican Claims Commission to the claimants of a sum nearly agregating $100,000 acted legally as a settlement in
