COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL NEWS

The most important developments list week were freer movement in hops, a figher of the deliness is proposed and a stiffening in barley and miliatuffs. Wheat was stoady all week, but the aggregate of sales was not so large as the week before. There was, however, a good selling movement, as was reflected in heavy bank clearings. Trade of all kinds was active and lost none of the momentum of the preceding week. All merchants report a busy state.

Minor features of the week were a stiffening in potatoes, stronger feeling in onloss, scarcity of fresh Oregon eggs.

Can be set per sick; bust age move than barrels; maple, lightly per pound.

Honey—124,016 per pound.

stiffening in potatoes, stronger feeling in onlone, scarcity of fresh Oregon eggs, eluggishness in butter, weakness in hams and lard, and strength in the cheaper grades of coffee, The disposition of farmers is to hold on to their petatoes for higher prines. Supplies that have come to market have been very light, and dealers have not done much buying up. Several large sales of onlone have taken place, and future delivery prices are high. Fresh Oregon eggs have been sold off very early in the day at 27%c. Very few have come to market, and East and coldstorage supply make up the chief stocks of dealers. Importations are likely to continue for some time. Butter has been so weak under pressure of eversupply several days, and some dealers have been cutting prices on their own account Store grade has been especially dull Cheese has been steady. Hams and lard have been very weak in sympathy with the East, but the general expectation of a decline was not realized Saturday Poultry dealers have had an easy time of it lately. Stocks have moved off well at steady prices. Spring chickens are active and turkeys have a growing demand. Dressed meats have also sold off promptly, with the exception of pork, which has had some frag. Groceries were mostly steady all week. Full supply of chestnuts, almonds and walnuts have been received from the East Cabbage, caultflower and celery have been abundant in the vegetable market. Sweet potatoes have almost recovered from their recent oversupply. Large quantities of pumpkins and squashes are on hand. Cranberries are coming in freely, and apples are in full supply. Oranges are a little higher. In the past three days there has been a heavier movement of hops. Values have away. Early in the week there were sales reported at 10%@11c, but Portland dealers say the market has receded from those figures and that Best hops can be bought now for 10c, or a fraction of a WHEAT - There has been but little change in the wheat market during the past week, a firm undertone in the foreign and eastern markets more than off-setting a slight strengthening in freights. Sales for the week were much smaller than for the previous week. This was partly due to the fact that exporters have bought heavily, and have their tonnage well covered, and partly because the aircnath of the market has impressed holders with the belief that better prices will prevail. Sales of Walla Walla have generally been declined with the willingness of growers to enter the market. Consignments have been more liberal. Probably half the crop has been sold and one-third shipped nade at about 55 and 55% cents per bushel, but yesterday some of the exporters had their quotations down to about 56% and 55 cents, and were somewhat indifferent about doing business at 55 cents. The November freet is already dropping in, there being four arrivals in the first two days, and there is a large number of others fully due.

A number of new charters have been made during the week, and the rates paid indicate a firmer market. Recent transactions include December ships at 35 shillings and 35s 9d; January at 33s 9d, and Pebruary and March at 22s 6d, with one March ship reported at 28s Sd. Three steamers were taken during the week at

The Argentine crop, which, for a time, promised to be of great assistance to the buils, is apparently in better shape than at first reported. Despite the fact that shipments from that country were about the lowest of the season, the market paid no attention to the crop reports, any further than complacently to accept the news that rain had fallen in some of the principal districts where it was most need-Ruins in Oregon and Washington have been of great benefit to the farmers in preparing the ground for plowing. In many sections the ground had becor so firy that there were fears of a short-There fears have been dissipated, and from present appearances the acreage will be ully as large as that of the past season. There is considerable firmness in the barley market, and prices are slightly higher, In San Francisco there was an advance of 2 cents per cental during the week, and prices in that market are nearly up to the Portland figures. Mill feed is higher with a very heavy demand.

NEW YORK BANKS.

Reserves Liable to Decrease Should Gold Shipments Keep Up. NEW YORK, Nov. 2.-The Financier

The bank statement was made on rising averages for cash, there having been a payment on Friday by the Sub-treasury of about $1,500,000 for bonds, the purchase of which was made under the order of October 3l. Early next week $3,000,000 will be paid for Yukon gold to the Bank of British North America, and unless this money should be shipped to tember 21 aggregating $25,973,700. Innsmuch as neither the stock exchange requirements nor mercantile borrowings will account for this increase, it seems most likely due to foreign exchange opmost likely due to foreign exchange op-erations and to negotiations of loans upon securities by syndicates. The purchase of unmatured bonds by the Treasury, which began on Friday last, will probably tend somewhat to increase the cash holdings of the banks and possibly to such an ex-tent as to counterbalance moderate withdrawals for shipment to Europe.

Should the foreign demand for gold be large, however, it can scarcely fall to have an important influence on the bank reserves, at least until currency shall return in volume from the interior. It should be noted that while the gold withdrawn from shipment is a direct less to the New York banks, all the money paid for unmatured bonds does not remain in those institutions, a part thereof being distributed throughout the interior, and s considerable part going into savings banks in return for the bonds sold. Hence the New York banks are likely to lose largely should gold exports continue.

The statement of the associated banks for the week ending today shows: Loans, $833,982,600: increase, $7,833,200. Deposits, $538,602,400: increase, $3,556,200. Circulation, $31,875,900: increase, $112,700. Legal tenders, $71,354,700; increase, $1,- Reserves, $175,653,600; decrease, $4,479,100. Reserves, $249,938,400; decrease, $3,333,800. Reserve required, $239,515,600; increase, Surplus, $10,482,800; decrease, $4,330,375.
