MANY PERSONS ARE NOT AWARE OF
the development which is taking place at St.
Johns. The O. R. & N. road is almost completed. The recently established mills have turned the sleepy village into a thrifty town.
A big force of railroad hands are preparing the frontage for the future operations of the railroad. Every house in the suburb is occupted, and 20 more could be rented upon a day's notice. Property has advanced in value 100 per cent in six months; many sales have been made which establish this fact, and the end is not yet. The 1005 Fair will help St.
Johns. The drydock, wherever it may be located on the Williamette River, will help St.
Johns. The Harbormaster of the Portland harbor has directed that the large ocean vercated on the drydock, when a cated on the Whilamette River, will near cated on the Whilamette River, will near cated on the Whilamette River, will near cate Johns. The Harbosmaster of the Fortland harbor has directed that the large ocean verses he anchored off St. Johns, because of the depth of channel and the breacht of river at that point. This means grain docks, and will help St. Johns. If the Northern Partific bridges the Columbia, this, too, will help St. Johns. Go down and see St. Johns.
