THE OREGONIAN'S HANDBOOK.

The Oregonian's Handbook tells all about nd, the entire Columbia River watershed and the 1905 World's Fair, commemorative of the Lewis and Clark expedition to Oregon. The book contains over 150 handsome illustrations, and it is printed on enameled book paper. It will be mailed to any address in the United States or Canada for 7 cents a copy.

PATRIOTS TO GIVE A DINNER -A number of well-known geniemen in Portland were recently discussing the subject of patri-otic sentiment and the influence upon the community of occasional reminders of the deeds and lives of eminent American citizens who have been identified with the ountry's history and left their impress upon its course. It was unanimously agreed that it would be highly proper and expedient to insugurate a custom that would tend to awaken interest along this line, and those present decided to take steps toward having an annual dinner to be given on the anniversary of the birth of some great departed American citizen, such as Washington, Hamilton, Jefferson, Jackson, Lincoln or Grant. For the purpose of carrying out this idea and plan, an organization under the name of the American Patriotic Club was perfected. The inaugural dinner will be given on February 12, the anniversary of Abraham Lincoln's birth, at the Hotel Port-land. Prominent and entertaining speakers will respond to appropriate toasts, and a thoroughly enjoyable time is anticipated. At the coming dinner the guests present will select the name of the American whose memory will be commemorated at the next annual dinner. A committee, consulting of George W. Hazen, C. M. Idleman and B. B. Beekman, has in charge the arrangements for the initial LECTURE BY AUDITOR DEVLIN .- Mr. dinner. Thomas C. Devlin will lecture on the subject of "Municipal Taxation and Finance' at the meeting of the Portland Economic League on Tuesday evening, January 21. He will define purposes of government in both inherent and con-ferred powers; the services of government; the advantages of taxation under a representative government; the forms of taxation, both direct and indirect, applicable to municipal' needs. While advocating municipal control of public utilihe will present the dangers that may result from the application of the revenues accruing therefrom to drefraying the expenses of the inherent functions of government, which should always be paid from accumulated wealth. He will de-scribe how rates may be made a form of indirect tax and become another means of shifting the expenses of government from property to consumer. He will advocate some important reforms in city finance, especially concerning the debt limitations and the proper use of public credit.

JUST A SIDE ISSUE .- The published re orts of the injuries to a candidate for initiation into Spokane Lodge, Order of Washington, caused no end of trouble to J. L. Mitchell, supreme secretary of the order, yesterday. According to the reports, the candidate was ridden in a cart so that he has been confined to his bed since Wednesday. In answering the many queries regarding the Spokane candidate, Mr. Mitcheil said yesterday that the cari said to have been used, and in which the candidate was hurt, was not countenanced by the suprems lodge. It has been, he said, introduced simply as a side degree by some lodges, in the same manner as such degrees are brought into other or-ders. It was accepted by the candidate at

RELICS THAT ARE APPRECIATED .- The great sale of arms and other military trappings secured from the United States Government continues with unabated in-terest on the part of the public at 130 Sixth street. 1009 Maynard rifles were brought here by Mr. Kirk, and he has sold during the past six days 225. This is a good, reliable rifle, and as it is sold with 20 rounds of cartridges for $2, it is no wonder that the public has not been slow in taking advantage of such an un-usual opportunity to secure a good firs-arm at such a reasonable price. A guarantee is given by Mr. Kirk that if you are not satisfied after purchasing and testing the rifle you can return the same and receive your money back. In addi-tion to the Maynard rifles, old muskets, swords, saddles, heimets and a hundred

St. Clair, better known as "Dollar Bill," colored, charged with cruelty to animals. He will have a hearing before Municipal Judge Cameron tomorrow. It is alloged that St. Clair has two horses in his barn at Fourth and Ev-erett streets, and that up to the time of the warrant being issued the horses had not been fed for two days. St. Clair was seen, and he denied that the horses were his. "I bought the horses from a man in Albina," he explained. "I bought them on a note for 30 days, and the time of the on a note will not expire for about 10 days yet. We agreed that I could return the horses within a reasonable time if they were not satisfactory, but when I asked the man to take back the horses he refused. The Professor Rigler took as his subject "The Teaching of Arithmetic." In his address he endeavored to show how the teachers might best perform a part of the work which they had chosen as a life profession; also how they might earn, by strict attention to their duties, higher salaries, and how they might give the best satisfaction to their pupils and to the taxpayers. SAW, BUT DIDN'T CATCH THEM .- TWO boys about 14 years old were riding their horses past Fourteenth and Evereti streets yesterday, and they sneaked two oranges and a bunch of celery from a vender's wagon standing at the corner. little dreaming that Special Officer Haw-ley, of the Boys' and Girls' Aid Society, was present and saw the whole affair. The man who drove the vegetable wagon was in the house bargaining with a prospective customer when the boys pulled up their horses and made free with the daintheir horses and made free with the dain-ties. They rode away so quickly that Hawley did not have time to stop them, but he has a description of the culprits. He states that if the boys do not want to get into trouble that they had better call at the police station at once and pay for the momenty they took One hey rode a the property they took. One boy rode a black horse and the other a bay.

PORTLAND LIBRARY CLOSES .- The Portland Library was closed last night for repairs, preparatory to its reopening as a free library under the 10-year contract entered into between the Library Association and the city. Librarian Leach said last night that he could not tell just when the library would be reopened. The repairs, he said, might be completed within four weeks, or six weeks at the most. When this work is finished, the library will be reopened.
