

RECEPTION OF ROYALTY

MR. DOOLEY TELLS MR. HENNESSY HOW THIS COUNTRY IS LEARNING COURT ETIQUETTE.

TELL ye," said Mr. Dooley, "they won't be enough in th' first families left in this country this Summer to make a scandal."

FOR THE SCRAP BOOK

THE Sunday Oregonian each week for several months will publish a collection of well-known and desirable poems for scrap-book purposes.

A New Evening Hymn. "Ye shall be undon until the evening."

THE BLESSING OF EVENING. It has always been a trial to me that I could not find a cheerful evening hymn.

A Smile. Nothing on earth can smile but men! Gems may flash reflected light, but what is a diamond flash compared with an eye flash and a mirth flash?

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

HEREAFTER, ordinary questions seeking general information will be answered in The Sunday Oregonian. Letters should be written on one side of the paper, and must be accompanied by the name of the writer, not for publication, however.

back away from the rifle family only as far as th' shroust or to th' city limits? All those questions have got to be answered an' answered right.

Heirs' Homestead Rights. A man takes a homestead in Oregon and lives on the place five years after filing, but dies on the place before his time expires to make his final proof.

Cathedral Towers. Please answer the following questions: A bet is that Cologne Cathedral tower is higher than the one at Milan.

No Vice-President. OAKLAND, Or., Jan. 23.—Have we a regular Vice-President, or just an acting Vice-President?

Stamped Envelopes. If the stamp be cut from an unused stamped envelope and pasted on another envelope, isn't it as legal as the regular 2-cent stamp for letters?

Thou Shalt Not Steal. VANCOUVER, Wash., Jan. 25.—Will you kindly answer following question in your paper? What one of the ten commandments comes under No. 8?

A Hard-Working Woman. All day she hurried to get through. The sun's rays shone on her face. Sometimes at night her husband said: "Ma, ain't you ready to come to bed?"

Verbes Asked For. Mrs. A. W. Hood River, Or., asks for the verses published many years ago in the Toledo Blade, beginning: "Well, no; my wife ain't dead, sir, but I have lost her all the same."

Short Weight Butter, Etc. COQUILLE, Or., Jan. 25.—Why are all dumb clocks set at 20 minutes past 8 A. M.? I heard that it was in memory of the hour or time of the death of our beloved Lincoln.

Several Questions. First—Who is present speaker of the House of Representatives? Second—Who is president of the United States Senate?

EIGHTH GRADE, BOYD SCHOOL. 1. David B. Henderson, of Iowa. 2. Senator William P. Frye, of Maine. 3. Yes, provided he did not give up his residence.

Mail Cars Not Rented. Does or does not our government pay out to railroad companies for use of mail cars? If so, how much per car? What is the rate paid per ton? What is the average length of haul? L. R. GAGE.

Helms' Homestead Rights. A man takes a homestead in Oregon and lives on the place five years after filing, but dies on the place before his time expires to make his final proof.

Cathedral Towers. Please answer the following questions: A bet is that Cologne Cathedral tower is higher than the one at Milan.

No Vice-President. OAKLAND, Or., Jan. 23.—Have we a regular Vice-President, or just an acting Vice-President?

Stamped Envelopes. If the stamp be cut from an unused stamped envelope and pasted on another envelope, isn't it as legal as the regular 2-cent stamp for letters?

Thou Shalt Not Steal. VANCOUVER, Wash., Jan. 25.—Will you kindly answer following question in your paper? What one of the ten commandments comes under No. 8?

A Hard-Working Woman. All day she hurried to get through. The sun's rays shone on her face. Sometimes at night her husband said: "Ma, ain't you ready to come to bed?"

Verbes Asked For. Mrs. A. W. Hood River, Or., asks for the verses published many years ago in the Toledo Blade, beginning: "Well, no; my wife ain't dead, sir, but I have lost her all the same."

Short Weight Butter, Etc. COQUILLE, Or., Jan. 25.—Why are all dumb clocks set at 20 minutes past 8 A. M.? I heard that it was in memory of the hour or time of the death of our beloved Lincoln.

WHAT THE COURTS DECIDE

RECENT FINDINGS INTERESTING ALIKE TO THE LAITY AND LAWYERS.

A BADLY spelled and ungrammatical letter ordering phosporous of a druggist does not imply such familiarity with the drug as to render the druggist wanting in ordinary care in sending it without specific warning.

Where an elevator which a man was engaged in repairing was suddenly started, frightening the man and causing him to jump and receive injuries, when he would not have been injured if he had remained in the elevator.

Whether a defendant is a fugitive from justice, and therefore subject to extradition without act of Congress, is held by the Supreme Court of New Jersey in the case of Hatynga vs. Cosgrove.

Even though there has been no restraint of the person or seizure of his property by a street railway accident, the Supreme Court of New York, Appellate Division, in the case of O'Connor vs. Union Railway Company.

The words "great bodily harm," as employed in the criminal code, are defined by the Supreme Court of Nebraska, in the case of Likens vs. State.

The owner of a gentle dog, which has always been a kind temper, and has never attempted to bite any one, and has never given occasion to suspect that he would bite, is held by the Supreme Court of Louisiana, in the case of Martinez vs.

vision, in the case of People vs. Goslin (73 N. Y. Supp. 520), to be a conspiracy to injure trade or commerce under a statute punishing any conspiracy to commit an act injurious to trade or commerce.

An officer, the same as a private individual, may only arrest without a warrant when the person arrested, committed the criminal offense, whether a felony or a misdemeanor.

Under the statute of Maryland, providing that any person who sells oleomargarine to a person who asks for butter shall be guilty of a fraud, the Court of Appeals of Maryland, in the case of Fox vs. State.

Even though there has been no restraint of the person or seizure of his property by a street railway accident, the Supreme Court of New York, Appellate Division, in the case of O'Connor vs. Union Railway Company.

The words "great bodily harm," as employed in the criminal code, are defined by the Supreme Court of Nebraska, in the case of Likens vs. State.

The owner of a gentle dog, which has always been a kind temper, and has never attempted to bite any one, and has never given occasion to suspect that he would bite, is held by the Supreme Court of Louisiana, in the case of Martinez vs.

Bernhard (20 So. Rep. 500), not to be liable in damages by the mere fact that the animal has bitten some one. Unless there is some fault, light as it may be, liability does not attach.

The constitution of a mutual benefit association prescribed the penalty of expulsion against members who shall have impugned the honor or the name of the society, either in word or deed.

Under the regulations of the Treasury Department, relating to the transit of Chinese persons from the United States, Judge Morrow, of the United States Circuit Court, California, in Re Lee Gon Yung (111 Fed. Rep. 289), holds that it is incumbent upon a collector to apply for the privilege of transit to satisfy the Collector of the Port of his bona fide intention to make such transit, and on his failure to do so the Collector may order his deportation.

A labor organization will be enjoined from interfering with a business by its limitation of the number of persons or its members or others from working in such business, holds the New York Supreme Court, Appellate Division, in the case of Beattie vs. Callahan (73 N. Y. Supp. 33).

An officer attempting to arrest a registered person while voting, or offering himself to vote, in order to prevent him from voting, commits an assault and battery, holds the New York Supreme Court, special term, in the case of People vs. Hockett (73 N. Y. Supp. 529).

The pure-food law of Indiana has been construed by the Supreme Court of that state, in the case of Leitch vs. People (62 N. E. Rep. 40), to make it an offense for one to have for sale any food adulterated with a substance injurious to health.

LAST AMERICAN HOMAGE

TO KING GEORGE III—VOLUME OF LATIN, GREEK AND ENGLISH VERSE PRESENTED BY HARVARD COLLEGE.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Jan. 25.—(Special Correspondence.)—George III, the last American King, was crowned October 25, 1760. Two years later the president and fellows of Harvard College formally transmitted to their new sovereign a printed volume of congratulatory Latin, Greek and English verse.

A number of copies of the resulting volume are preserved in libraries in and around Boston, and another which it is thought may have been the one actually presented to the King is owned in New York. The book was printed in Boston, at the press of "J. Green & J. Russell," and was generally considered to be the handsomest specimen of typography that had up to that time appeared in the Colonies.

In spite of the original invitation calling for a Latin oration, the only prose in the volume is the preliminary address, in English, signed by the president and fellows. "May it please your MAJESTY," they begin, "we your Majesty's most loyal subjects, the President and Fellows of HARVARD COLLEGE in CAMBRIDGE, in your province of MASSACHUSETTS-BAY, have felt a large share of that universal joy, which diffused itself thro' every part of your MAJESTY'S Dominions upon your Accession to the Imperial Throne of GREAT-BRITAIN; but our remote and private situation discouraged us from attempting, as a body, to make our immediate approach to your MAJESTY."

These tears the muse to her late sov'reign says: These sighs unfeign'd to his dear tomb convey. She now with transport hails the happy day, Which gives another GEORGE the British sway. Exulting Britain, in his youthful face, Can't the bright transcript of his grandeur trace.

FAC SIMILE OF TITLE PAGE OF HARVARD'S "PIETAS ET GRATULATIO"