Second Oregon Volunteers have already contributed $531 70 to the Riverview mon-ument fund. Yesterday Adjutant-Genument fund. Yesterday Adjutant-ten-eral Gentenbein turned over a check for this amount to General Owen Summers, chairman of the fund. This amount has been given in the form of a 19 per cent contribution of the money recently awarded the members of the regiment by the National Government, giving them pay at full state rates during the period be-tween the time of assembly at the ren-dezvous and the date of their muster into the volunteer service under the first call of the President. The claims presented under the second call were disallowed by the Auditor of the War Department. It is aned to raise $2000 for the building of The payment of the claims under this award was begun by Adjutant-General Gantenbein last Wednesday. Up to last evening, 24 claimants, or about one-third of the total number-were paid, checks being promptly drawn for all claims, whether presented personally or through the mails. The men responded very cheer-fully to the invitation to contribute to the monument fund, and appeared to be glad of the opportunity. Many offered to donnte a greater percentage, and some wanted to give all that was due them. It was deemed advisable, however, to ac-cept the same proportion from all. Of the 34 claimants, all but 6 contributed. The latter are almost all from Company C. Eugene, and Company M. Woodburn and Hubbard, who think that the object is a worthy one, but prefer to erect local monuments with their funds. Fifteen men, representing all sections of the State, are buried in the state military plot in Riverview cemetery, which is open to all the Spanish-American War dead. It is intended to engrave the names of all who were killed in action or who died of disease while in service on the monument to be erected, whether buried at Riverview or elsewhere. Hitchcock Not Fitted for Cabinet Officer.

A MAN HARD TO APPROACH

Knowledge of Great Problems of Interior Department Is Limited-Does Not Agree With President.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—There is evidently good ground for the report that Secretary Hitchcock, of the Interior Department, is soon to retire from the President's Cabinet. The Secretary, during his three-year incumbency, has been something of a misfit. While accredited with being a good business man, and his position as head of the plate-glass trust would seem to indicate that this is true, he lacks those diplomatic qualities that go to make a successful Cabinet officer. His treatment of Senators and Repre-sentatives has been such as not to increase but rather restrict his popularity. In fact, he has few, if any, friends in Congress. Mr. Hitchcock is possessed of a coldness that is striking for a man in public life. He is absolutely unapproachable. He holds himself above Senators and Representatives, and heeds their re-quests or suggestions only when they may meet his fancy. All of these traits have tended to make enemies for him in the Senate and House, and for these reasons many Senators and Representatives have carried their complaints to the White House.

Relies Too Much on Clerks.

But there are other reasons why Mr. Hitchcock's retirement is looked for. He is a Western man, in a sense, his home being in St. Louis, but he is a West-erner to a limited degree only. He does not seem to understand the great prob-lems arising in his department, which so widely affect the West. His knowledge of public land matters is very lim-ited, and his handling of those questions has been almost wholly at the dictation of his assistants, clerks and chiefs of divisions. Just at this time he is pondering over the irrigation bill, framed by Western members, which has been referred to him for report. From his limited knowledge of the subject, he is inclined to disapprove the bill, yet he hesitates before going on record in this manner, fearing it may be construed that he is opposing irrigation legislation. He is not sufficiently familiar with the subject of irrigation to outline a tangible theory of his own, and yet he dare not rely on the advice of his clerks, for they themselves know no more of the sub-ject than he, and hold widely diversified opinions. In consequence, Secretary Hitchcock cannot handle this bill in the masterful manner that is expected from the head of the Interior Department, and he may in the end decide to make no mendation whatever on the bill. Nor that it makes any difference what he recommends, for Congress will do as it chooses anyway; but the Secretary of the Interior should be a man who is at least reasonably familiar with the problems left to him to deal with.

Does Not Agree With President. But, more than this, there is known to be a great deal of friction existing be-tween Mr. Hitchcock and the President. Although the Secretary denies it, there is evidence to sustain this contention, Shortly after President Roosevelt came to the White House, he had, numerous conferences with Gifford Pinchot, Chief Forester of the Department of Agriculture, as to the administration of the forest reserves. As a result of these confer-ences, a set of regulations were drawn up, turned over to Secretary Hitchcock, and by him promulgated as a depart-mental order. Those regulations were at direct variance with the policies which had been followed out by the Secretary; they overturned his many pet theories, and brought about many radical changes. On their face, they indicate that the Secretary saw an opportunity to improve the service; in point of fact, the Secre-tary was rebuked for his heretofore careless and inefficient administration of the eserves, and carefully instructed as to the manner of conducting one of the most important functions of his own de-As it is with regard to forest reserves, so it is regarding other public land prob-lems, with Indian problems and other matters arising in the Interior Depart-ment. There has been no complaint of Mr. Hitchcock's control of patent or pension matters, for those two bureaus are admirably conducted by their respective Commissioners, without interference from the Secretary. But when it comes to deal-ing with the truly great problems which so largely affect the West, Mr. Hitchcock has been found wanting. And yet he is the only member of the McKinley Cabinet who embarrassed President Roosevelt by asking to be retained as a member of the new Cabinet.

Successor to Hitchcock. There is wide speculation as to who will be chosen to succeed Mr. Hitchcock. It is known that the President is favora-bly disposed towards ex-Senator Wolcott, of Colorado, a man who, it is believed, could satisfactorily conduct the affairs of the Interior Department. Yet inasmuch as the South has no representation in the Cabinet, it may be that this place will be given to some man from a Southwestern, or border, state. In the event of the passage of the Department of Commerce bill, and the appointment of a Southern man to its head, the President might then see his way clear to make a true Westerner Secretary of the Interior. The name of ex-Senator Carter is also frequently mentioned in connection with this position, but as he now holds an important position at the head of the St. Louis Fair Commission, his name is not being seriously considered.

Sale of Costly Pictures.

NEW YORK, March 1 .- One of the most successful of recent art sales has just been concluded in this city. The last day's sales reached the total of $155,867. while the entire proceeds were $258,000. Most of the paintings went into private galleries, although the bidding was done almost entirely by art dealers, acting on commission. For this reason the real names of the purchasers were in many cases not disclosed.

Cleveland Banks Consolidated.

CLEVELAND, March 1 .- A consolidation has been effected between the Ameri-can Exchange National Bank and the Metropolitan National Bank, of this city. The bank will be known as the American Exchange National, with a capital of $500,000, a paid-up surplus of $100,000 and deposits of $1,500,000. Richard Parmalee will be president of the bank. The action was decided upon at a joint meeting of the directors of both banks.

CALEM, March 1 .- Now that the date for the Marion County Republican primaries has been set for March 14, the political fight in Marion County will be on in dead earnest. The Simon-Geer forces are being led by E. M. Croisan, of Salem. Mr. Croisan was born on a farm south of Salem in 1855, and has always resided in this county. In 1884 he was appointed Deputy Sheriff under John W. Minto, and after four years' service in that capacity he was elected Sheriff. He was re-elected in 1890. He was chairman of the County Central Committee in 1894, and member of the State Central Committee from this county in 1898 and 1900. During the Lord administration he served two years as Superintendent of the State Reform School. The anti-Simon-Geer forces will be led by Frank T. Wrightman. Mr. Wrightman is a native of Oregon, and has always been a resident of Marion County. He served as Deputy Sheriff under Sheriff Croisan and John Knight, and in 1806 was elected Sheriff. During his incumbency in that office he studied law in the Willamette College of Law, and graduated in 1898. He immediately formed a law partnership with J. N. Brown and Jefferson Myers, and has since been engaged in the active practice of Both Croisan and Wrightman are recognized as able political leaders and organizers, and a very interesting political contest terious kidnaping. Edgar Wayland, the 2-year-old son of E. J. Wayland, manager of a large boot and shoe firm, is believed to have been carried off by a servant girl, who called herself Audley Erle, but whose real name is believed to be Ethel Young. Mrs. Wayland left the boy in the nurse's care at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon and when she returned at 6 she learned that the girl had packed a vallee with many valuables belonging to the house. Carrying this and leading the child, she had told the other servants she was going to deliver the valise to a girl to whom it belonged. That was the last seen of her or of Edgar.

The case was put into the hands of detectives, but no trace of the pair has been found. One theory is that the adbuctor hau been urged to the deed by men who hope to obtain a reward for the child's recovery. Another is that the girl had been nspired by reading novels. She is only 18 years old, and has $8000 which is in trust for her in Toronto, Consumption Cured in Every Stage.

DENVER, March 1.-The News prints the following from its Albuquerque, N. M., "You may quote me as saying that we can cure consumption in every stage, said Major Appel, chief surgeon at Fort Bayard. "I have never before made that statement, but we have succeeded in demenstrating it beyond doubt."

General MacArthur, who had been accompanied by Major Appel from the fort, indorsed the statement and declared he had never been so much astonished and pleased with anything in his life as the result of careful investigation of the work at the Government Soldiers' Sanitorium at Fort Bayard. The main features of the treatment that has proved so successful in the pure air of the elevated region are life out of doors, the most carefully selected, nutritious diet and absolute rest in the case of reduced patients.
