

A tea given for the benefit of the Old Ladies' Home was a pleasant social event of the week, and took place in the parlors of the Hobart-Curtis on last Monday afternoon. The affair was also quite a success financially, the proceeds for the Home amounting to about $120. The rooms were beautifully decorated with sprays of fruit blossoms, white lilies, narcissus and other spring flowers, the dainty effect of which was heightened by the charming toilettes, which were much in evidence.

The committee on reception consisted of Mrs. Herbert Holman, Mrs. Ernest Ersoe and Mrs. Rosa Bernstein. At the tea table, which was made very attractive by a large bowl of pink carnations and much pretty silver, tea was poured by Miss Felling, Mrs. John Eben Young, Mrs. Linthicum and Mrs. H. W. Goode, assisted by Miss Grace Warren, Miss Felling, Miss Wilson, Miss May Hirsch, Miss Woyanna Woodward, Miss Ellen Elliot, Miss Martha Hoyt and Miss McKee.

The candy table, which was in charge of Mrs. J. Wesley Ladd and Mrs. Allen Wright, was also very dainty in its decorations, and was very suggestive of the Easter season, as on each basket of candy was tied an Easter lily.

Mrs. George Russell and Miss Von Bolton presided over the lemonade table, assisted by Miss Beadie Cora Ersoe and Miss Madita Hart. The lemonade was served from a handsome old silver punch-bowl in a corner of the room which was a veritable bower of snowy cherry blossoms.

The Ladies' Literary Club of the First Congregational Church held its regular monthly meeting on Wednesday afternoon, April 2, in the parlors of the church, which blossomed with Oregon grape and masses of snowy carnations. In one of the rooms a pretty tea table was set, from which, after listening to a programme of music, the members of the club were served with dainty refreshments.

"The Witches' Dance," by McDowell, was given with excellent expression by Mrs. W. A. Knight, who was followed by an exquisite soprano solo, "The Song of Spring," by Mrs. Fletcher Linn. "The Concert Waltz," by Musini, was a very greatly enjoyed solo, given by Mrs. Reginald Hadden, who was accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Knight. After the musical numbers, Mrs. Herbert Cardwell read a paper on "The Bible in the Fine Arts," in which the subject was handled with a breadth and intelligence that showed much careful study. Being limited in her time, Mrs. Cardwell confined her talk to the part of sacred history that appeals most strongly to the masses—the story of Jesus and his mother. Beginning with the "Annunciation," she referred to the most famous of the Madonnas, the life of Christ to the "Ascension." The speaker dwelt at length on the marvelous of the Sistine Madonna, and Rubens' Scenes of the Crucifixion. Mrs. Cardwell also told of the realistic pageants of passion week that she witnessed in Manila, of how strongly they appealed to her, and to even the casual looker-on. She is of the opinion that they have been a strong Christianizing force among the Oriental people.

EVENTS OF THE WEEK.

The Ladies' Literary Club of the First Congregational Church held its regular monthly meeting on Wednesday afternoon, April 2, in the parlors of the church, which blossomed with Oregon grape and masses of snowy carnations. In one of the rooms a pretty tea table was set, from which, after listening to a programme of music, the members of the club were served with dainty refreshments.

A very pleasant informal entertainment, which was one of this week's social events, was the birthday surprise party given to R. K. Warren, at his residence at Seventh and Montgomery streets, on Thursday evening last. It was given by the members of Mrs. Warren's Bible class. During the evening the Warren Mandolin Club, under the leadership of Senor Palacios, gave several beautiful selections. Miss Inez Wheeler sang a solo very charmingly and responded to an encore, while, besides these, there were other delightful musical numbers, given by the members of the Bible class chorus and the class double quartet. Another entertaining feature of the evening was a clever sleight-of-hand performance with which Mr. Eze mystified all present.

Mr. Warren was the recipient of some handsome presents, among which was a very beautiful bouquet of Papa Gontier roses, but recognizing the fact that his birthday anniversary was on the one day in the year when practical jokes are permissible, a large number of the guests brought all sorts of ridiculous presents, and when these were untied the objects themselves and the inscriptions on them created a great deal of fun.

Mrs. J. H. Spaulding, of 624 East Morrison street, delightfully entertained a number of ladies at luncheon, last Tuesday, in honor of Mr. Spaulding's grandmother, Mrs. E. A. Pond, of Oshkosh, Wis. Covers were laid for 20. The guests were: Mrs. J. N. Wallingford, of Seattle, Wash.; Miss Anna Livingstone, of Chicago, Ill.; Mrs. S. Gentry, Mrs. S. M. Philbrick, Mrs. Stevens, Mrs. L. C. Garrigus, and Dr. Jennie N. Bowen.

A very delightful and largely attended party was given at the Army on Thursday evening, by Ivens Temple, Rathbone Fletcher. The music was very good, and dancing was enjoyed until a late hour. In the grand march, which began at 9 o'clock, 20 members of the Uniform Rank of the Knights of Pythias wearing their full insignia, lent color and brilliancy to the scene, while the guests worn by the women were also noticeable, being of many pretty colors and textures. The committee in charge of the entertainment was Mrs. Cornelius, Mrs. C. F. Bartholomew, Mrs. Hickey, Mrs. F. W. Brooke, Mrs. Laikie and Mrs. O. A. Winfield. The patronesses were Mrs. Robert Lutke, Mrs. W. Ransom, Mrs. D. McDonell and Mrs. F. W. Brooke.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Anderson, who have been residents of Albina for a number of years, were given a surprise party on Friday evening, March 28, by a number of friends who came to bid their farewells before leaving for their future home in Corbett.

Games, recitations and music were features of the evening, and a pleasant time was enjoyed by all present. Mr. and Mrs. Anderson were the recipients of a number of presents in token of the esteem in which they are held by their numerous friends. Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Sound, Mr. and Mrs. Jacobson, Mr. and Mrs. Lindquist, Mr. and Mrs. Lundblad, Mr. and Mrs. H. Jensen, Mr. and Mrs. Hansen, Mr. and Mrs. N. Pierce, Mr. and Mrs. S. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Jensen, Mrs. Solgard, Mrs. Nordley, Miss Engberg, Mrs. Stone, Mr. O. Jensen, Mrs. Ockwig, Mr. and Mrs. Godekensk, Miss Edwards, Mrs. Brockman.

A large crowd of gay young people attended the dance of the Junior Bachelors given last Friday night at Parson's Hall, and the occasion was an enjoyable one. Many were there who had strictly kept Lent, and the girls were resplendent in their prettiest gowns, eager for a dance, now that the period of seclusion and ashes was over.

The interior of the hall was decorated as a Japanese, and the Mikado parasols, fans and lanterns made up an attractive picture. The platform was hidden by graceful palms and trailing plants. Parsons' Orchestra supplied the music, and some of the soft, dreamy waltzes played were among the best heard here this season. Members of the Bachelors' Club who arranged the dance are: Meriton Wilson, Fred W. Durbin, William H. Stalger, Harvey R. Chatterton, Peter McIntosh and Theron G. Poston. The patronesses were: Mrs. William Harder, Corbett, Lewis McArthur, Mrs. C. D. Durbin. There were 18 dances on the dainty, green-covered programme, composed exclusively of 12 two-step and six waltz dances, so numerous in the early part of the night that the floor was uncomfortably crowded. One of the pretty features of the Bachelors' dance was the twilight effect obtained by shutting off the lights at the beginning of the night, and leaving other lights burning softly by crimson-colored shades.

Mrs. Walter J. Honeyman gave a very charming house party at her cottage at Gearhart Park during the vacation. The weather was exceptionally fine and the young people had a merry time, with excursions to interesting points, strolling on the beach, building bonfires, boating and altogether enjoying Mrs. Honeyman's generous hospitality and the delightful beach. The week was charmingly concluded by a little dinner on Friday night, when the five young Misses played their part as hostesses most delightfully. Mrs. Honeyman was accompanied by her daughter, Ruth, and her son, Bruce and Kenneth. The guests were: Caroline Burns, Lisa Wood, Frances Wilson, Margaret Walter, Alta Smith, Henry Mears, Max Wood, Elliott Corbett, Lewis McArthur, Miss Norcross and Mrs. L. A. McArthur.

On Easter Monday afternoon 20 girl members of the Fruit and Flower Mission brought brightens to the patients at both the Good Samaritan and St. Vincent's Hospitals. They went out in the afternoon loaded down with armfuls of daffodils and tulips, and distributed them to the patients to whom they were indeed rays of sunshine. The girls of the society engaged for the occasion and took with them Everett's orchestra, which for three hours discoursed sweet strains of music. The pleasant affair was under the direction of Miss Alice Sanbury, the president of the mission, and from it the patients derived much enjoyment.

One of the prettiest events of the week was the party given at Parsons Hall on Thursday evening, by the Twentieth Century Girls. The hall, with its brilliant decorations of Chinese umbrellas and lanterns, presented a very gay appearance, which was further enlivened by the large number of pretty party costumes. The patronesses were as follows: Mrs. George Seed, Mrs. J. U. Grussl, Mrs. R. P. Gilliland, Mrs. M. A. Thayer and Mrs. W. Terry.

One of the prettiest little affairs of the week was the tea given by Mrs. William A. Knight on Easter Monday, in honor of Mrs. W. H. Langan and Miss Langan, of Des Moines, Ia. The house was very handsomely decorated with palms and Easter lilies, and combined with the pretty Easter gowns made a very charming picture. Mrs. Fletcher Linn and Mrs. Warren Thomas served, assisted by Miss Steel and Miss McCullom.

Arthur Mackenzie entertained a small house party at his cottage "Garschidon" on Long Beach. They went down on Friday night before Easter and remained a week. The guests were Cleve Holt, Melville Eastham, Irwin Coyle and Lewis McArthur.

The pupils of Miss Annie Mattingly's Froebel Kindergarten were given a delightful Easter egg party on Friday afternoon. After rendering their Spring songs and games, the children partook of the sweets which had been prepared for them. Among those present were: Louise Preston, Louise Burrell, Gene-

Gelsler, Ruth Riley, Laeste McCorkudale, Marjorie Sutton, Helen Clark, Hazel Smith, Gertrude Scott, Elizabeth Peacock, Irene King, Ruth Wells, Richard Montgomery, Alden Burrell, Miss Farland, Winfield Cram, Gregory Weingate, Ray Baker, Bertie Baker, Harry Hanna, James Senate, Robert Clark.

The members of the Carpe Diem Club gave the closing party of their successful season on Monday evening, March 31, at Burkhard Hall. The young men of the club had decorated the hall for the occasion in a very attractive manner. Oregon grape, palms and evergreens being used, in combination with white lilies and satin ribbons of purple and white, the club colors. Long bands of ribbon were carried down from the ceiling to the chandelier and from this was suspended a large basket of lilies, to which were harmonized the strains of Mendelssohn's "Wedding March," played by Miss Margaret Gillinsky, the bride, on the arm of her uncle, Toll Thompson, preceded by the maid of honor, marched up the aisle to the altar, where she was met by the groom, attended by Frank Johnson as best man. The ring service of the church was followed. The bride was attired in a suit of colored broadcloth, in train, with hat to match, and carried bride's roses. Miss Grace M. Nish, as maid of honor, wore a dainty gown of pearl gray crepe de chine, with a large picture hat, and carried La France roses. It is reasonable to suppose that a woman understands better than a man many troubles peculiar to her sex and the specialist who devotes all of his or her time to one particular branch of the profession is more successful than the general practitioner.
