HIS OPEN RECORD

Judge Williams' Friendliness to Labor.

IS CHEERED AT MASS MEETING

Workmen, He Says, Should Vote for the Party of Prosperity and to Uphold the President in War on Trusts.

At the optional mass meeting last evening Judge Williams was enthusiastically cheered as he made the following telling points:
That his record was one of friendliness to labor.
That the fusion movement represents no party and no principle, but is a scramble for office.

Thunderous applause, merging into cheers, was the greeting given Judge Williams last evening when he reviewed his own record on matters of interest to the laboring people and said: "I believe I have just as much right to represent the workmen as any other man in Portland."

His remarks upon this subject were made in the course of an address before a mass meeting of citizens in the open air at the corner of Sixth and Ankeny streets last evening. His audience was made up quite largely of laboring men, and many times in the course of his address the enthusiasm of the applause given him showed that the effort to line up the laboring people against him has not been a success.

Not "Citizens," but a Clique.
He said in beginning that he did not differ widely in their political opinions, and that they form themselves into parties according to their political beliefs. Political parties lay down their principles in their platforms and then go before the people to have them make a choice between the two platforms, thus declaring their political opinions.

Fusion Represents No Party.
He reviewed the facts regarding the last Republican primary election, showing that every Republican had a chance to vote and have his vote counted. "No one claims that the election was 'not fair,'" he said. "There were two tickets in the field, and the members of the party had a chance to express their choice. They did express their choice, and they selected the delegates they wished to represent them. The delegates gathered in convention and a ticket was nominated by a majority of the convention. A part of the minority has gone into a fusion with some of the Democrats and has put up a ticket that represents no political party. Like a mule, their fusion is without pride of ancestry or hope of posterity."

Wrecked on the Gold Coast.
The Belgian steamer Stanley Vile, from Antwerp, May 8, for the Congo, ran on the Hoeven Rock, off the Gold Coast, and is a total wreck. Her 90 passengers, mostly from Antwerp, and her crew were taken off by the steamer Sobek.

Freight Train Wrecked.
BILLINGS, Mont., May 24.—A freight wreck occurred on the Northern Pacific Railroad at Laurel, here, today. An unknown man, who was stealing a ride, was killed. Several cars were derailed. The cause of the accident is not known.

table asked for a second piece of pie. She was asked: "But that is more pie than you get when you are at home, isn't it?" "Yes," she replied; "but this isn't ma's pie."

So with the Republican office-holders who have gone over to the fusionists they wanted more pie among their new associates. The Democrats said to them, "But this is more pie than you would get in the Republican party, and they reply, 'Yes, but this isn't ma's pie.'"

The piece of pie upon which my friend Judge Thomas O'Day had fixed his eye—the City Attorneyship—was passed along to Mr. Bonanza. For a moment Mr. O'Day maintained an attitude of profane silence, and then silently folded his tent and stole away.

Fusion a Scramble for Office.
Judge Williams declared that he is opposed to fusion movements, and always has been—that he never has participated in a fusion movement, and never will. He believes that that style of politics is demoralizing and tends to bring down the high plane of contents of principle to the low plane of scramble for office.

He said that the two political parties have declared their principles—one standing for the retention of the Philippines, and the other opposing it. No man can go to the polls and vote without making a choice between the two platforms. He appealed to the voters not to give their approval to the base slanders which the Democrats of Congress have voted against our soldiers in the Philippines, but to declare by their votes that the flag shall not be hauled down.

Cheers for the President.
The crowd burst forth in tumultuous applause when Judge Williams praised President Roosevelt for making a war against the trusts, and the applause was renewed when he asked the people to stand with the President in the war the trusts are beginning to make on him.

He expressed reluctance at speaking upon matters relating to himself, but felt it his duty to answer the insinuations that he is unfriendly to the laboring classes. He related his own experience, saying that he labored with his hands while in the academy and while studying law, and that whatever success he had attained was a result of that labor. He said that, though he has been a servant among servants, he has not forgotten the right hand of the President in the White House, he has never forgotten the toils and privations of his youth. He continued his remarks as indicated above, and the crowd manifested its approval by loud and long-continued demonstrations.

Speech of Judge L. R. Webster.
Following Judge Williams, Judge L. R. Webster made an eloquent address in support of the Republican party principles and policies. His remarks were the brave soldiers who have endured hardships and privations in the Philippines were vociferously cheered, and when he described the atrocious wrongs which have been perpetrated by the Filipinos, and which have led the American soldiers to acts of retaliation, the applause, in which all took part, was particularly loud and long-continued.

AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE.

Twenty-nine Students From Other States and Countries Enrolled.

CORVALLIS, May 24.—The total enrollment for the year at the State Agricultural College is 488, showing an addition of 52 students since last June. Of this number 31 are males, indicating a proportion of nearly two to one on the basis of sex. The department of music, including voice culture, has an enrollment of 94 for the first year. However, all but 14 of this number are pursuing studies in other departments. The mining department, instituted last year, is steadily growing, and the bookkeeping department has for the first year an enrollment of 20. This course has met with such favor that it has been extended to four years, incorporating the English language, industrial, and other studies given by various Agricultural Colleges that have studied the needs of practical men and women, and the name of the course has been changed to literary commerce. The other courses of study, which practically remain unchanged, have been well patronized throughout the year.
