WEDDINGS.

Abbott-Plimpton.
The wedding of James D. M. Abbott and Miss Ethel Plimpton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William W. Plimpton, took place on Thursday evening, June 3, at St. John's Episcopal Church, in Sellwood. The church was very beautifully decorated with white flowers and evergreens by the members of the Sunday school, and the daughters of St. John, of which society the bride is a member. It was a "white wedding," and was lovely in all its details, from the simple white dresses of the girl where to the dainty white gown and filmy veil of the bride. The ceremony, which began at 8 o'clock, was performed by Rev. William Brock. As the organist began to play the wedding march from Lohengrin, the bridegroom took his place at the altar, where he waited for the bride, who came up the aisle unattended, but preceded by the ushers, Miss Emma Murby, Miss Alice Rufner, Miss Lenora Brown, Miss Annie Willing, Miss Eva Walberg, Miss Lillian Johnson, and the cushion bearers, Helen Uhlman and Hazel Plimpton. Little cousins of the bride, one of whom was dressed in blue silk and the other in pink. The bride was very beautiful in a gown of white satin, which she wore tucked and trimmed with white satin ribbon. Her veil was held in place with a graceful spray of syringa blossoms, and the carriage was preceded by the ushers, Miss Emma Murby, Miss Alice Rufner, Miss Lenora Brown, Miss Annie Willing, Miss Eva Walberg, Miss Lillian Johnson, and the cushion bearers, Helen Uhlman and Hazel Plimpton. Ignorance and Crime

Robert Ingersoll, whatever other shortcomings he may have had, emphasized his high conceptions of truth when he uttered the axiom, "If we expect to do away with criminality, insane asylums, hospitals and jails, we must make intelligence the master of passion." This truth applies most forcibly to women, who are the victims too often of not only ignorant, but unprincipled men. It can be stated without fear of contradiction that fully 75 per cent of the ills of womankind can be traced to some disorder of the male, and yet in their blind ignorance and folly they try to conceal the true facts. In my experience of years treating the troubles of women only, I have discovered the real secrets of their sufferings. In their pallid cheeks and careworn appearance, I see evidence of the above statements, and I do not ask you to confess to me, for I can treat and cure you of your trouble without submitting you to an embarrassing detail. Don't waste time and money on BOTTLED HEALTH, but call and see me. I am a woman. I understand, and with years of experience to aid me, I feel I can do more for you than your family physician, who is too often too busy to listen to your story of suffering. Don't be modest, for your own health and the innocent ones to whom you may give life depend upon your knowing just what I am certain I can tell you. If you cannot call, write me a plain statement of your case, and I will answer in perfect confidence.

Yours for health,

Dr. Mrs. Carey-Talbott
308 Salmon Street, between 5th and 6th
