

LAST DAY OF T. P. A.

Visitors Take a Trip to Astoria and the Beach.

MANY MADE IN THE PACIFIC

Hospitality of the City by the Sea Is Much Enjoyed—Many Knights of the Grip Are Home-ward Bound.

An excursion to Astoria and Clatsop Beach yesterday included the exercise of the National T. P. A. Convention, and a majority of the visiting delegates have started on their homeward journey. A special train over the Astoria & Columbia River Railroad was placed at the disposal of the excursionists, many of whom had never gazed upon the placid waters of the Pacific, and some had never seen the expanse of any ocean.

Starting from the Union Depot at 7:30 o'clock, the T. P. A. train—which consisted of seven coaches and one commissary car—skirted in and out among the wooded foothills of Columbia County, until Goble was reached, and then hugged the edge of the mighty river until the arrival at Astoria at 10:50 o'clock. The ride down the river was a beautiful one—the silvery expanse of water, the wooded glens and towering mountains of snow beyond picturing a revelation of beauty to those who came from the Middle West and South. The day was perfect, and a cool breeze fanned the happy excursionists, and the swiftly moving train bore them toward their destination.

At Astoria a delegation of citizens boarded the train, which proceeded at once to the big Union canopy of the Sanborn-Cutting Company, where an hour was spent in watching the Mongolian packers prepare the fish for the canning process, which was interesting to those who had never witnessed the operation. At 11:30 the exodus from the cannery began, and headed by the Eagles and Marine Band, the guests and citizens of Astoria marched to the big hall of the regatta committee, where a sumptuous dinner was served.

Dinner at Astoria.
The entertainment committee, consisting of W. L. Robb, H. D. Thing, C. W. Fulton, G. C. Fulton, William Madison, C. Y. Brown, E. W. Colwell, F. J. Carney, F. L. Parker, W. P. Chatter, Herman Prael and Joe Suprenant, had made elaborate plans for the comfort and pleasure of the visitors, and the royal spread testified to the warm hospitality and genuine public spirit of the Astorians. Among the viands were fishes of all kinds, each guest being presented with a small tin of Astoria's famous salmon. The dining hall was gaily adorned with Scotch broom, and the tables served by pretty girls, who were all presented with T. P. A. badges as souvenirs. Several short speeches were made, after which three lusty cheers were given for the ladies of Astoria.

Visit to Seaside.
At 1 o'clock the journey to Seaside commenced, the train reaching that place three-quarters of an hour later. The cars were soon emptied, the occupants scattering themselves across the sandy beach. Some who had never seen the ocean breakers before must have mistaken them for billowing brooklets for they ventured out too far and were lashed by the foam of the heavy breakers as they rushed in across the sands.

A full hour was spent at the water's edge, after which the train started for the home-ward journey begun. Several Astorians had gone to Seaside with the party, and when the last farewells were said at the Astoria depot, the crowd began to sing and cheer, concluding with a "tiger" for their generous hosts. One of the amusing features of the Astoria reception was the T. P. A. arch, over which was strung a portrait of Al Smith, the popular president of the Oregon and Washington division. Smith's hair, putting it mildly, is Auburn, but his T. P. A. brothers do not evidently believe in the theory of limits, for the head of the portrait was bedecked in scarlet, while far above were piled a row of balls, entitled "high balls." The whole thing was a huge joke on the popular present, who was roundly jollied by his comrades.

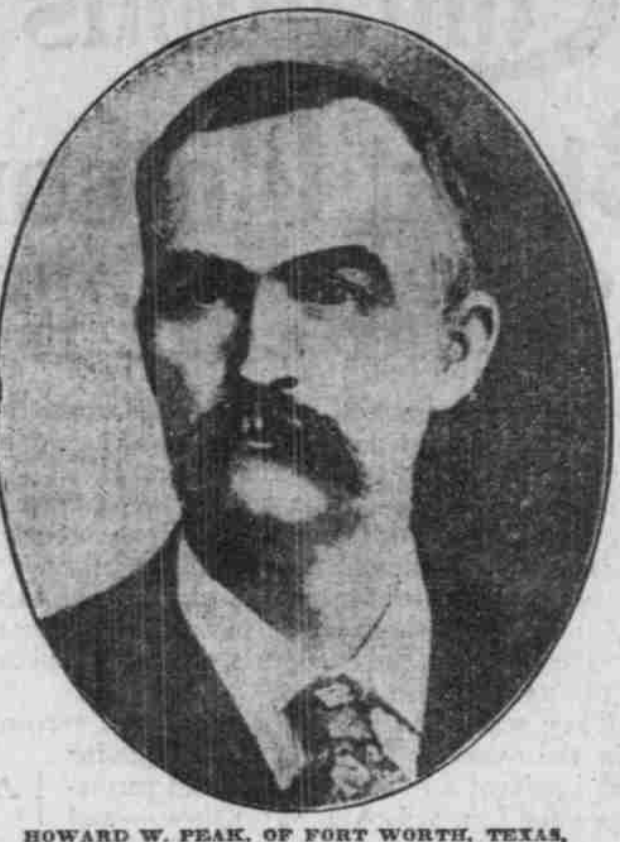

At 2:50 P. M. the train started for this city, making the run in exactly three hours. The "commissary" department was visited freely during the homeward journey, and sandwiches and other viands were served to the ladies in the coaches. The ride up the river was delightful, and with sighs of regret the knights of the grip left the train for their hotels and packed their belongings, preparatory to their departure from the city.

Delegates Leave for Home.
Most of the T. P. A. delegates left last evening for their homes, going by way of San Francisco. Those who were not able to take the California trip, went by the O. R. & N., and others by the Northern Pacific. Only a few of them remained in the city on Sunday, as a majority were in a hurry to get back to their homes. Never before have so many men and women left Portland singing its praises as did the members of the great T. P. A. convention of 1902.

TALKED ABOUT CRIME.
Unitarian Women's Alliance Holds Its Closing Session.

Wednesday afternoon, at the Unitarian Chapel, were held the closing literary exercises for the Unitarian Women's Alliance, before the Summer vacation. At these monthly meetings discussions along the line of philanthropic work by members and friends has been the custom. At Wednesday's meeting the programme was devoted to the subject of crime, and Judge Alfred Sears, the first speaker, treated upon "Juvenile Crime," briefly speaking of the crime, who were not able to take the California trip, went by the O. R. & N., and others by the Northern Pacific. Only a few of them remained in the city on Sunday, as a majority were in a hurry to get back to their homes. Never before have so many men and women left Portland singing its praises as did the members of the great T. P. A. convention of 1902.

NEW PRESIDENT OF THE T. P. A.

HOWARD W. PEAK, OF FORT WORTH, TEXAS.

is placed in the reform school, where he is taught various trades and industries. T. N. Strong was next introduced, and spoke of "Crime That Comes Through Fauperism." He spoke relative to the social conditions surrounding the child criminal, saying hunger was seldom the motive for any sort of crime. He gave instances and statistics as proof of the proper economic, political and social conditions. Mr. Strong thought much could be done to aid a better condition of morality.

Dr. George C. Cressey said a word for the reform school as carried on in the East, when some one suggested that the word reform might be called something else, lest its dread lose much of its good. Such schools were divided into four or five classes. Inmates of the first class are permitted great privileges, while others are more strict, according to their class.

Mrs. Trumble read a highly instructive paper on "Education of the Child," approving the tendency of the present toward prevention, rather than punishment. Her paper was replete with good thoughts and touching comparisons. Mrs. Trumble spoke of the industrial and manual training schools as very helpful and, indeed, necessary.

Dr. Thompson told of a recent personal interview with Miss Faith Stewart and the reformatory work she is doing here in Portland.

The exercises were announced by Mrs. Cressey; Miss Helen Goss and Miss Henrietta Elliot sang in a very pleasing manner. "Oh! That We Two Were Maying," responding cheerfully to a hearty encore. Mrs. Wilbur accompanying on the piano.

At the business session preceding the literary programme final arrangements were made for a supper and programme to be conducted next Wednesday evening in the chapel. The evening is styled, "Gentlemen's Evening," with the object of bringing the men of the congregation together as well as the women of the church.

BABY LEFT TO ITS FATE.
Parents Abandon Him, and He Is Sent to Poor Farm.

A 3-months-old baby boy, abandoned by its parents, was found on the steps of the Baptist Church on the East Side, yesterday morning, at 7:30 o'clock, by Herbert Graves. The child is dark-haired and looks as if it might be partly of Japanese or Chinese origin. It was neatly dressed and close beside it was a bottle of milk. Mr. Graves carried the baby to the home of his sister near by, and subsequently the Baby Home was communitated with by telephone; but the officers of that institution refused to receive the child unless it was arranged that the county authorities would furnish a nurse to take charge of it. This could not be done. The Baby Home, it was explained, does not take in children until they have passed the stage of the nursing bottle. In the afternoon the baby was brought to the Courthouse to be sent to the Poor Farm. The Poor Farm wagon was sent for, and Miss Shepherd, a nurse, came in with the wagon and took charge of the little unfortunate.

The Poor Farm from time to time receives quite a number of such cases and contains a ward which has room to accommodate 12 babies. At the present time at the Poor Farm, besides the new arrival, there is an infant 10 days old, one 8 weeks of age, one 2 years old, and two boys a little older. A child was recently adopted from the Poor Farm.

GOOD SPORT AT SALEM.
Order of Railway Conductors Will Give Excursion Today.

The Order of Railway Conductors will have sport for all at Salem Fair Grounds today. There will be a five-mile motorcycle race for a gold medal; also a two-mile race for a silver medal. These races are also for blood, as the fastest makes will be represented by their champions. There will be a grand trap-shooting match on the Fair Grounds, and parties desiring to shoot will find plenty of traps and clay pigeons on the ground. Plenty of other amusements will be provided, in addition to the baseball game between the Fidelity Club, of Portland, and the Crackerjacks, of Cottage Grove. All trains will stop at the Fair Grounds going and coming. The train leaves Portland at 8 A. M., and leaves Salem at 5 P. M.

PLANTS FOR CHILDREN.
Civic Improvement Association to Hold Mass Meeting.

The Lewis and Clark Civic Improvement Association is making arrangements for another mass meeting. This time it is for children as well as grown-up people. The meeting will be held either on the Plaza or at Corvay's Theater. There will be music, some very entertaining talks and lantern slide exhibits, and a distribution of plants to the children of the city. Mr. George Otten has headed the list of donations with a contribution of 250 plants, and an offer of a prize of a palm, for the best results attained by a child. Martin & Forbes have followed with 200 plants.

roses, etc., and also a prize of a potted plant. It is anticipated that all the florists will enter into the spirit of the occasion and that not less than 1500 plants will be given away to the children the evening of the mass meeting.

It is anticipated also that a number of firms in the city who have joined the association and are thoroughly in sympathy with its aims, will also offer suitable prizes to the little ones. The work of raising the flowers is to be done exclusively by the children. Their addresses will be taken and in the Fall a committee of inspection will visit them and award the prizes. Although examination time is on, it is hoped to secure the co-operation of all the school teachers in interesting the pupils in this work, and that all localities in the city will be represented in the flower contest.

The Civic Association is meeting with encouragement and support right along and it feels now that it is fairly launched in the right direction, not only in the matter of civic improvement, but in the matter of beautifying the city.

OUR MODERN DENTISTRY IS ABSOLUTELY PAINLESS

Thousands of people, mostly intelligent, neglect their teeth, ruin their health and spoil their personal appearance from fear of being compelled to suffer untold agony while in the dental chair. A few years ago these fears were based upon facts, and it then required a great deal of courage to board the dentist in his den. Science has come to the rescue of a long-suffering public, and now it is possible to perform the most difficult and exacting work known to the profession without inflicting the slightest pain.
