

HELD WITHOUT BAIL

Underwood and His Wife Arraigned at Seattle.

MAN WILL BE TRIED FIRST

Neither of Attorneys for Alleged Murderers of Their Own Three-Weeks-Old Babe Demands Preliminary.

The Prosecuting Attorney of King County informs the court that he believes he has positive proof against both Underwood and his wife, and that the case is murder in the first degree of nothing. Defendants' attorneys request trial in September, and earlier if possible.

SEATTLE, June 21.—Paul and Nellie Underwood, the accused murderers of their infant child by drowning, were arraigned in the Justice Court today, and bound over for trial to the Superior Court without preliminary hearing. Bail was denied each defendant, though until this time the woman has been in jail in default of $10,000 bail, fixed before the capture of her husband.

The little courtroom in which the defendants were arraigned was crowded to suffocation when the prisoners were brought in a closed carriage from the county jail in charge of two Deputy Sheriffs. Among the crowd were many women friends of Nellie Underwood from Aberdeen. Neither of the defendants' attorneys demanded preliminary hearing, nor took exception to the court's order denying bail to their clients. Both requested that the first trial, that of Underwood, be held not later than September, and earlier if possible.

In requesting the court to deny the prisoners bail, Deputy Prosecuting Attorney Faben said:

"I have thoroughly reviewed the facts in this case, and with Fulton, my superior, believe the proof positive, and therefore the presumption great. I cannot see how any bail can be allowed in any case. Mr. Fulton and I agree that the case is murder in the first degree or nothing."

NEW OREGON CORPORATIONS.

Articles Filed at Salem During the Week Just Ended.

SALEM, June 21.—Articles of Incorporation were filed with Secretary of State Dunbar this week, as follows: The Columbia County Abstract & Trust Company, of St. Helens, capital stock, $10,000; incorporators, E. E. Quick, D. J. Switzer and S. H. Gruber.

The Heppner Railroad & Coal Company, of Heppner, capital stock, $1,000,000; incorporators, George W. Roberts, W. H. Lehman, J. N. Peasey.

White & Dunham Printing & Publishing Company, of Portland, capital stock, $10,000; incorporators, E. L. E. White, Fred A. Dunham, John Brooks.

The Rainier Mill & Lumber Company, of Portland, capital stock, $100,000; incorporators, Benjamin W. Reed, Charles T. Wilder, W. C. Fisher.

G. H. Thompson & Co., of Portland, capital stock, $100; incorporators, C. H. Thompson, Frank Holman, E. E. Mergen.

East Fork Cement Company, of Portland, capital stock, $200; incorporators, William Pringle, E. J. Mills, J. W. Parker, N. J. Parker, W. D. Case and C. L. Parker.

Neville Bag Company, of Portland, capital stock, $100,000; incorporators, C. M. Osburn and E. T. B. Mills, of San Francisco; Henry E. Blossom, of Portland.

Oregon Development Company, of Portland, supplementary articles of incorporation, determining the terminus of the Morson or main canal to be constructed by the corporation.

Seaside Pavilion Company, of Seaside, supplementary articles of incorporation increasing capital stock to $700.

The Consolidated Paper Company, of Baker City, capital stock, $100,000; incorporators, Frank S. Battille, H. S. Bowen, John L. Rand.

IS BOOTH IN RAILROAD?

Prominent Lumberman Leaves for Eugene Oregon to Inspect Timber.

EUGENE, June 21.—R. A. Booth, manager of the Booth-Kelly Lumber Company, which recently purchased the large tract of 1,000,000 acres from the Military Wagon Road Company, has gone with R. J. Pengra to Eastern Oregon for the purpose of inspecting the lands belonging to the grant east of the Cascade range. This inspection is being made to determine the best manner of managing the lands to make them profitable. It is rumored that their visit has some significance in connection with the projected railroad from Salt Lake, through South-eastern Oregon, crossing the Cascades to Eugene, and thence to the coast.

Superintendents of Schools.

The Board of School Directors of the Eugene District held a meeting last evening and re-elected Dr. A. F. Bechold, City Superintendent of Schools for the ensuing year. The board will meet again Monday afternoon, when teachers will be elected and other business transacted.

County Immigration Agent.

The Eugene Commercial Club met last evening and elected George G. Gross to act as immigration agent for the county.

Boxes for Rural Mail Service.

Postmaster McCormack has received the boxes for receiving mail on the Eugene free delivery system, and will have them put up Monday. The free delivery system will go into effect July 1.

EUGENE PREPARES FOR TEACHERS

State Meeting This Season Promises to Be Well Attended.

SALEM, June 21.—State Superintendent Ackerman reports that the people of Eugene are making splendid arrangements for the meeting of the State Teachers' Association, to be held in the university city June 23-28 inclusive. Ample accommodations have been made for the entertainment of all visitors. A programme of great merit has been prepared, good rates have been secured on the railroads, and every indication points to a successful meeting of educators. The programme will provide food for intellectual thought, while the Eugene people's reputation for hospitality leaves no doubt but the entertainment of the pedagogues will be complete. The teachers of Salem, Silverton and Woodburn are endeavoring to secure a special car for the trip to Eugene.

SALEM CLERKS FORM UNION.

Main Purpose Is to Have All Stores Close at Same Time.

SALEM, June 21.—The retail clerks of Salem have formed an association. The purpose of the organization is to secure for all clerks uniform hours of labor, and to this end the association will become identified with the State Federation of Labor through the Salem Federated Labor Union.

An early closing movement was inaugurated here about a year ago, and a large majority of the merchants subscribed to an agreement for the early closing of their places of business. Some have not adhered to the hours established at that time, and it is for the adjustment of this condition and the securing of uniform hours of business for all stores that the association has been formed.

The meeting called for organization purposes last night was well attended by the clerks and salesmen of the city. Officers were elected as follows: President, H. N. Lacy; vice-president, G. W. Hollister; secretary, R. W. Holman; treasurer, J. G. Evans, Jr.; trustees, W. C. Walling, Jordan Purvina, F. L. Hamilton; sergeant-at-arms, D. R. Antis; delegates to general committee, O. C. Locke, D. A. Dinamore, A. L. Hoff.

NOTED EVANGELISTS SPEAK.

Great Interest in State Christian Church Meeting at Turner.

TURNER, Or., June 21.—The Oregon Ministerial Association resumed its work at 8:30 A. M. today with a song and praise service, led by Rev. J. B. Holmes, of Albany. Rev. Mr. Armstrong followed with a paper on "Our Attitude Toward Our Religious Neighbors."

Revs. Messrs. Underwood, Eason and others entered into the discussion of the question.

Professor and Mrs. George A. Webb sang a duet, "Dying From Home and Lost." Dr. Scoville delivered another characteristic address on "These things ought to have been done, and not to have left the other undone."—Matthew 23:23.

The principal address in the afternoon was delivered by Rev. B. B. Burton on "The Preacher in His Study." "This is an age when the preacher must study," said Rev. Mr. Burton. "This is an age of great dailies and magazines, and every subject is written up and almost thrust upon the public. The preacher must be up-to-date."

The question box was opened by Rev. J. P. Ghormley, of the First Church of Portland.

Among the new arrivals are William Rubble Golden, P. P. Underwood, Dufur; Harry Benton, Elgin; W. A. Wood, Roseburg; Mrs. H. Burton, H. Powell, Hebron; A. Barnes, Albany; J. A. Bushnell, Junction City; S. Rolland, Eugene, and T. A. Ratcliff, Salem.

The following officers were chosen for the ensuing year: Rev. J. F. Ghormley, president; George C. Ritchey, vice-president; G. S. O. Humbert, secretary.

Dr. Scoville's address at 8 P. M. was another masterly effort, and a fitting close to the sessions of the Ministerial Association.

Tomorrow promises to be the greatest day this far in the history of the church in Oregon. This is the year of Jubilee, the church having begun work in Oregon 50 years ago.

Rev. B. B. Burton, who made the principal address this afternoon, is an evangelist and lecturer of wide reputation. While he is a comparatively young man, yet he has traveled extensively in the Orient. He is a graduate of Drake University, Des Moines, Ia. He has held some of the most important positions in his church, having recently closed a five-years' pastorate at San Jose, Cal. He is a word-painter, and his versatile powers make him a lecturer of high rank. As a pulpit orator he is not dogmatic, yet his sermons are "logic on fire."

Rev. B. B. Burton, one of principal speakers at Turner Campmeeting.

St. Anthony's Hospital, Erected by the Sisters of St. Francis, A. D. 1902.

The Archbishop, upon his arrival in Portland, but eloquent address, the substance of which was as follows: "My friends, you have witnessed this afternoon the laying of the corner-stone of St. Anthony's Hospital. You have seen what is the beginning of a magnificent work—it is but a beginning of what this holy order will accomplish. The church is the originator of the charitable institutions. Before Christianity appeared there were no hospitals, no institutions to care for the sick, the maimed, the insane and the orphan. Ancient philosophy reached no higher than to recommend pitying the aged, the infirm and the crippled to death as the easiest means of getting rid of their burden. With the advent of the Son of Man all this was changed. He preached salvation and deliverance for the poor and the orphan. He said, 'Blessed are the poor,' and his followers began to divide their goods and give to the poor and to found institutions to care for the unfortunate. As early as 248 A. D. a great hospital was founded by the infant church, and since that time the church has made it its business to look after the welfare of the poor and the unfortunate of the state, to be sure, cares for many through its eleemosynary institutions, but the church first led the way—the state but follows the example of the church and the teaching of Christ.

"Many whom I see before me differ in faith, but we can all stand on the broad platform of Christian charity. The floors of this hospital and which open to all, regardless of belief or unbelief, and they always will do so. These Sisters of St. Francis have left father and mother and mothers have to make the life work to care for the poor and the sick and the friendless. Having forsaken all—family, friends and homes—shall we close our purse strings to them in the accomplishment of their noble and unselfish work? The people of Pendleton will see to it that this building shall be built and equipped second to none in the great and glorious State of Oregon. I believe that Pendleton will not be behind its sister cities in the work of charity. Can you look on with a cold and indifferent heart when these Sisters ask for your assistance in carrying to their noble work? When we help the poor and afflicted we are giving comfort and joy to the heart of Him who shall come to judge us for the work done in the flesh."

The Archbishop's address was brief, and delivered extemporarily, but it was eloquent and most effective. The following document, sealed with the seal of St. Mary's Church, was read by Father Vander Velden, pastor, and inclosed in the corner-stone.

In the year of our Lord 1902, on the 30th of June, Leo XIII being Pope, and A. Christie, Archbishop of Philadelphia, under the Presidency of Roosevelt, the Governorship of Geer, the Mayorship of Halley, the Mayor of Philadelphia, and the Mayor of the same, was laid by his grace, Archbishop Christie, the corner-stone of St. Anthony's Hospital, erected under the supervision of John B. Blanchet, architect, by the Sisters of St. Francis, of Philadelphia, in presence of the pastor of the place and members of the clergy and laity. Several copies, papers and documents of the place and state were deposited in the corner-stone in remembrance of the occasion.

A. VANDER VELDEN, S. J., Pastor of St. Mary's Church, Pendleton, Oregon.

The other clergy in attendance were A. Ragaro, S. J., pastor of St. Andrew's Mission, Umatilla Reservation, and Paul Dehner, S. J., assistant parish priest.

The foundation now completed is 188 feet long and 46 feet deep, of red lava rock, resembling red sandstone, from Elgin. The red rock stands five feet above the level, but will be finished with a course of white rock from La Grande, and the windows and doors will be finished with the La Grande rock. The two and one-half stories of superstructure will be of showy colored brick. The plans call for two wings, each 84 feet in length, when added, the front will be 176 feet, depth 54 feet. The main building, which will be first finished, within the year, will cost about $40,000, and will accommodate 60 patients. The completed building will cost $75,000, and will accommodate 120 patients. The building will be enclosed November 1, and ready for use by July 1, 1903. The mother house of the order is in Philadelphia, where the Hospitals of St. Agnes and St. Mary's are among the finest in the city.

During the Spanish War, the Sisters at Philadelphia fitted out a train of cars and brought 500 sick and wounded American soldiers to St. Agnes Hospital. The Order of St. Francis was founded in 1855 with the approbation of Bishop John N. Neumann, of Philadelphia, who belonged to the Order of Redemptionist Fathers. The sisterhood numbers 1500 members, and has 80 institutions in the United States, including hospitals, parochial schools, hospitals, seminaries and convents. It has 30 institutions in the Northwest. Came to Baker City in 1885, and to Pendleton in 1887. It has over 300 pupils at St. Joseph's Academy, Pendleton, and 90 at St. Andrew's on Umatilla Reservation. Its hospital, begun one year ago, has 14 patients, all that can be accommodated, with three waiting for admission at the present time.

Pendleton has raised about $5000 for the building, and the mother general at Philadelphia has contributed a like sum. The rest of the money will be raised by subscription and loan. The enterprise is a success and the entire credit is due to the energy of Mother Stanislaus, of Pendleton. The architect, John B. Blanchet, of Vancouver, is a cousin of the famous missionary, Bishop Blanchet, and a nephew of the late Archbishop Blanchet.

WILL BE FINE HOSPITAL

PENDLETON STRUCTURE WILL NOW GO RIGHT AHEAD.

Citizens Subscribe $6000, and Mother General of Order of St. Francis an Equal Amount.

PENDLETON, June 21.—The laying of the corner-stone of St. Anthony's Hospital here yesterday, by Archbishop Alexander Christie, of Oregon, in the presence of a large concourse of people, was accompanied by most impressive ceremonies. At 4 P. M. the procession, consisting of 15 Sisters of the Order of St. Francis, headed by Mother Superior Stanislaus, who is provincial for the northwest district, consisting of Oregon, Washington and Wyoming, the children of St. Joseph's Academy and the Sodality Society of 70 young ladies, escorted Archbishop Christie and the attendant clergy, from the convent of St. Francis to the new hospital grounds one block east of the convent. The dust had been laid by street-sweepers so that there was no discomfort. The day had been very hot, but as the procession reached the foundation walls friendly clouds intervened and the rays of the sun were pleasantly subdued. A handsome pavilion, decked with the National colors, had been prepared for the protection of the Archbishop, but it was hardly needed.

When the procession halted the Sisters' choir rendered the chant "Vent Creator," and the beautiful ceremonial of the church began. The Archbishop blessed the water and recited an invocation to St. Anthony, to whom the hospital was dedicated. This was at the corner-stone. The procession then moved to the foundation of the chapel and the ground was blessed, after which it moved entirely around the spacious foundation, returning to the corner-stone, which was marked with the sign of the cross and appropriately blessed. The choir then sang "Salve Regina." Father Vander Velden, pastor of the church of St. Mary, Pendleton, said the litany of "all the saints" in a very impressive manner, followed by a "Te Deum" from the choir. Then the corner-stone was placed by Archbishop Christie. Upon its eastern face were carved in letters of gold the following:

St. Anthony's Hospital, Erected by the Sisters of St. Francis, A. D. 1902.

The Archbishop, upon his arrival in Portland, but eloquent address, the substance of which was as follows: "My friends, you have witnessed this afternoon the laying of the corner-stone of St. Anthony's Hospital. You have seen what is the beginning of a magnificent work—it is but a beginning of what this holy order will accomplish. The church is the originator of the charitable institutions. Before Christianity appeared there were no hospitals, no institutions to care for the sick, the maimed, the insane and the orphan. Ancient philosophy reached no higher than to recommend pitying the aged, the infirm and the crippled to death as the easiest means of getting rid of their burden. With the advent of the Son of Man all this was changed. He preached salvation and deliverance for the poor and the orphan. He said, 'Blessed are the poor,' and his followers began to divide their goods and give to the poor and to found institutions to care for the unfortunate. As early as 248 A. D. a great hospital was founded by the infant church, and since that time the church has made it its business to look after the welfare of the poor and the unfortunate of the state, to be sure, cares for many through its eleemosynary institutions, but the church first led the way—the state but follows the example of the church and the teaching of Christ.

"Many whom I see before me differ in faith, but we can all stand on the broad platform of Christian charity. The floors of this hospital and which open to all, regardless of belief or unbelief, and they always will do so. These Sisters of St. Francis have left father and mother and mothers have to make the life work to care for the poor and the sick and the friendless. Having forsaken all—family, friends and homes—shall we close our purse strings to them in the accomplishment of their noble and unselfish work? The people of Pendleton will see to it that this building shall be built and equipped second to none in the great and glorious State of Oregon. I believe that Pendleton will not be behind its sister cities in the work of charity. Can you look on with a cold and indifferent heart when these Sisters ask for your assistance in carrying to their noble work? When we help the poor and afflicted we are giving comfort and joy to the heart of Him who shall come to judge us for the work done in the flesh."

The Archbishop's address was brief, and delivered extemporarily, but it was eloquent and most effective. The following document, sealed with the seal of St. Mary's Church, was read by Father Vander Velden, pastor, and inclosed in the corner-stone.

In the year of our Lord 1902, on the 30th of June, Leo XIII being Pope, and A. Christie, Archbishop of Philadelphia, under the Presidency of Roosevelt, the Governorship of Geer, the Mayorship of Halley, the Mayor of Philadelphia, and the Mayor of the same, was laid by his grace, Archbishop Christie, the corner-stone of St. Anthony's Hospital, erected under the supervision of John B. Blanchet, architect, by the Sisters of St. Francis, of Philadelphia, in presence of the pastor of the place and members of the clergy and laity. Several copies, papers and documents of the place and state were deposited in the corner-stone in remembrance of the occasion.

A. VANDER VELDEN, S. J., Pastor of St. Mary's Church, Pendleton, Oregon.

The other clergy in attendance were A. Ragaro, S. J., pastor of St. Andrew's Mission, Umatilla Reservation, and Paul Dehner, S. J., assistant parish priest.

The foundation now completed is 188 feet long and 46 feet deep, of red lava rock, resembling red sandstone, from Elgin. The red rock stands five feet above the level, but will be finished with a course of white rock from La Grande, and the windows and doors will be finished with the La Grande rock. The two and one-half stories of superstructure will be of showy colored brick. The plans call for two wings, each 84 feet in length, when added, the front will be 176 feet, depth 54 feet. The main building, which will be first finished, within the year, will cost about $40,000, and will accommodate 60 patients. The completed building will cost $75,000, and will accommodate 120 patients. The building will be enclosed November 1, and ready for use by July 1, 1903. The mother house of the order is in Philadelphia, where the Hospitals of St. Agnes and St. Mary's are among the finest in the city.

During the Spanish War, the Sisters at Philadelphia fitted out a train of cars and brought 500 sick and wounded American soldiers to St. Agnes Hospital. The Order of St. Francis was founded in 1855 with the approbation of Bishop John N. Neumann, of Philadelphia, who belonged to the Order of Redemptionist Fathers. The sisterhood numbers 1500 members, and has 80 institutions in the United States, including hospitals, parochial schools, hospitals, seminaries and convents. It has 30 institutions in the Northwest. Came to Baker City in 1885, and to Pendleton in 1887. It has over 300 pupils at St. Joseph's Academy, Pendleton, and 90 at St. Andrew's on Umatilla Reservation. Its hospital, begun one year ago, has 14 patients, all that can be accommodated, with three waiting for admission at the present time.

Pendleton has raised about $5000 for the building, and the mother general at Philadelphia has contributed a like sum. The rest of the money will be raised by subscription and loan. The enterprise is a success and the entire credit is due to the energy of Mother Stanislaus, of Pendleton. The architect, John B. Blanchet, of Vancouver, is a cousin of the famous missionary, Bishop Blanchet, and a nephew of the late Archbishop Blanchet.

Pendleton has raised about $5000 for the building, and the mother general at Philadelphia has contributed a like sum. The rest of the money will be raised by subscription and loan. The enterprise is a success and the entire credit is due to the energy of Mother Stanislaus, of Pendleton. The architect, John B. Blanchet, of Vancouver, is a cousin of the famous missionary, Bishop Blanchet, and a nephew of the late Archbishop Blanchet.

Pendleton has raised about $5000 for the building, and the mother general at Philadelphia has contributed a like sum. The rest of the money will be raised by subscription and loan. The enterprise is a success and the entire credit is due to the energy of Mother Stanislaus, of Pendleton. The architect, John B. Blanchet, of Vancouver, is a cousin of the famous missionary, Bishop Blanchet, and a nephew of the late Archbishop Blanchet.

Pendleton has raised about $5000 for the building, and the mother general at Philadelphia has contributed a like sum. The rest of the money will be raised by subscription and loan. The enterprise is a success and the entire credit is due to the energy of Mother Stanislaus, of Pendleton. The architect, John B. Blanchet, of Vancouver, is a cousin of the famous missionary, Bishop Blanchet, and a nephew of the late Archbishop Blanchet.

Pendleton has raised about $5000 for the building, and the mother general at Philadelphia has contributed a like sum. The rest of the money will be raised by subscription and loan. The enterprise is a success and the entire credit is due to the energy of Mother Stanislaus, of Pendleton. The architect, John B. Blanchet, of Vancouver, is a cousin of the famous missionary, Bishop Blanchet, and a nephew of the late Archbishop Blanchet.

Pendleton has raised about $5000 for the building, and the mother general at Philadelphia has contributed a like sum. The rest of the money will be raised by subscription and loan. The enterprise is a success and the entire credit is due to the energy of Mother Stanislaus, of Pendleton. The architect, John B. Blanchet, of Vancouver, is a cousin of the famous missionary, Bishop Blanchet, and a nephew of the late Archbishop Blanchet.

Pendleton has raised about $5000 for the building, and the mother general at Philadelphia has contributed a like sum. The rest of the money will be raised by subscription and loan. The enterprise is a success and the entire credit is due to the energy of Mother Stanislaus, of Pendleton. The architect, John B. Blanchet, of Vancouver, is a cousin of the famous missionary, Bishop Blanchet, and a nephew of the late Archbishop Blanchet.

Pendleton has raised about $5000 for the building, and the mother general at Philadelphia has contributed a like sum. The rest of the money will be raised by subscription and loan. The enterprise is a success and the entire credit is due to the energy of Mother Stanislaus, of Pendleton. The architect, John B. Blanchet, of Vancouver, is a cousin of the famous missionary, Bishop Blanchet, and a nephew of the late Archbishop Blanchet.

Pendleton has raised about $5000 for the building, and the mother general at Philadelphia has contributed a like sum. The rest of the money will be raised by subscription and loan. The enterprise is a success and the entire credit is due to the energy of Mother Stanislaus, of Pendleton. The architect, John B. Blanchet, of Vancouver, is a cousin of the famous missionary, Bishop Blanchet, and a nephew of the late Archbishop Blanchet.

Pendleton has raised about $5000 for the building, and the mother general at Philadelphia has contributed a like sum. The rest of the money will be raised by subscription and loan. The enterprise is a success and the entire credit is due to the energy of Mother Stanislaus, of Pendleton. The architect, John B. Blanchet, of Vancouver, is a cousin of the famous missionary, Bishop Blanchet, and a nephew of the late Archbishop Blanchet.

Pendleton has raised about $5000 for the building, and the mother general at Philadelphia has contributed a like sum. The rest of the money will be raised by subscription and loan. The enterprise is a success and the entire credit is due to the energy of Mother Stanislaus, of Pendleton. The architect, John B. Blanchet, of Vancouver, is a cousin of the famous missionary, Bishop Blanchet, and a nephew of the late Archbishop Blanchet.

Pendleton has raised about $5000 for the building, and the mother general at Philadelphia has contributed a like sum. The rest of the money will be raised by subscription and loan. The enterprise is a success and the entire credit is due to the energy of Mother Stanislaus, of Pendleton. The architect, John B. Blanchet, of Vancouver, is a cousin of the famous missionary, Bishop Blanchet, and a nephew of the late Archbishop Blanchet.

Pendleton has raised about $5000 for the building, and the mother general at Philadelphia has contributed a like sum. The rest of the money will be raised by subscription and loan. The enterprise is a success and the entire credit is due to the energy of Mother Stanislaus, of Pendleton. The architect, John B. Blanchet, of Vancouver, is a cousin of the famous missionary, Bishop Blanchet, and a nephew of the late Archbishop Blanchet.

Pendleton has raised about $5000 for the building, and the mother general at Philadelphia has contributed a like sum. The rest of the money will be raised by subscription and loan. The enterprise is a success and the entire credit is due to the energy of Mother Stanislaus, of Pendleton. The architect, John B. Blanchet, of Vancouver, is a cousin of the famous missionary, Bishop Blanchet, and a nephew of the late Archbishop Blanchet.

Pendleton has raised about $5000 for the building, and the mother general at Philadelphia has contributed a like sum. The rest of the money will be raised by subscription and loan. The enterprise is a success and the entire credit is due to the energy of Mother Stanislaus, of Pendleton. The architect, John B. Blanchet, of Vancouver, is a cousin of the famous missionary, Bishop Blanchet, and a nephew of the late Archbishop Blanchet.

Pendleton has raised about $5000 for the building, and the mother general at Philadelphia has contributed a like sum. The rest of the money will be raised by subscription and loan. The enterprise is a success and the entire credit is due to the energy of Mother Stanislaus, of Pendleton. The architect, John B. Blanchet, of Vancouver, is a cousin of the famous missionary, Bishop Blanchet, and a nephew of the late Archbishop Blanchet.

Pendleton has raised about $5000 for the building, and the mother general at Philadelphia has contributed a like sum. The rest of the money will be raised by subscription and loan. The enterprise is a success and the entire credit is due to the energy of Mother Stanislaus, of Pendleton. The architect, John B. Blanchet, of Vancouver, is a cousin of the famous missionary, Bishop Blanchet, and a nephew of the late Archbishop Blanchet.

Pendleton has raised about $5000 for the building, and the mother general at Philadelphia has contributed a like sum. The rest of the money will be raised by subscription and loan. The enterprise is a success and the entire credit is due to the energy of Mother Stanislaus, of Pendleton. The architect, John B. Blanchet, of Vancouver, is a cousin of the famous missionary, Bishop Blanchet, and a nephew of the late Archbishop Blanchet.

A HOME UNIVERSITY

WHAT IS SAID OF IT:

"I will defy any one to buy 3000 volumes that will give him as good a working library as is furnished in the ENCYCLOPEDIA BRITANNICA alone."—Ex-President Dwight, Yale University.

"If all other books were destroyed, the Bible excepted, the world would lose but little of its information."—Spurgeon.

Some years ago many eminent teachers were paid a high price to write down in plain language all that was known of the branch of learning that each teacher had made his own. Thus the great mathematician was to write down plainly and succinctly the great truths of mathematics. The historian wrote of history, and the geographer of the countries of the world. And so with every branch of human knowledge.

These great teachers labored for years, and finally completed their task. The result was gathered together in logical order and printed in clean, plain type and illustrated with beautifully clear engravings as an assistance to the memory and to vivify the text. The whole was strongly and neatly bound and carefully indexed. Then it was given to that portion of the world who could afford to pay a high price for the wonderful work, which was called the

Encyclopedia Britannica

It is a university in itself, this work, for it neglects no branch of knowledge in which men are interested.

American enterprise has at last brought it within easy reach of all. You can have it in your own home for 10 cents a day.

The poor young man can have no better university.

The presence of the Encyclopedia Britannica makes a university of the humblest cottage.

You have no salaried teachers to pay. No grounds to keep up. No officers or servants. No traveling expenses. You make your own hours of study.

You are your own master and rely entirely on yourself.

Your best friend is the neat bookcase containing the Encyclopedia Britannica.

You become a student at the best of all universities—the university at home.

Your teacher is always at your elbow, and requires no food and but little housework.

Do you want the facts of history? Consult it.

Do you want the eternal truths of mathematics? Consult it.

Do you want mythology? Science? Art? Consult it.

Are you interested in the animal kingdom? Consult it.

If you are a mechanic and want to know how to measure, saw, drill, hammer or chop. Consult it.

You have in your bookcase all of the most eminent teachers of the world. When you need them, call them out separately or conjointly. They never fail to respond.

Do you want universal knowledge? Consult your home university, the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Wealth you do not need. All the rich, glowing and interesting treasures of knowledge are yours for the asking.

We have secured a part of the splendid new 1901 edition, and will supply it to those who act promptly at much

Less Than Half Price and on easy monthly payments, amounting to only 10 cts. a Day For a short time.

STRICTLY RELIABLE

NOT A DOLLAR TO BE PAID until cure is effected

Dr. Talcott & Co. SPECIALISTS FOR MEN ONLY

SUCH IS OUR CONFIDENCE IN OUR ABILITY THAT IF YOU HAVE BEEN TREATED BY OTHERS WHO HAVE FAILED WE GUARANTEE TO CURE YOU OF CONTRACTED DISORDERS, VARICOCELE OR WEAKNESS, OR THE ABOVE OFFER HOLD GOOD. CALL AND SEE US, AND HAVE A FREE EXAMINATION. COLORED CHART FREE.

2504 Alder Street, Portland, Or. or 1140 Market Street, San Francisco.

309 Washington Street

25 Cents Two Bottles Hires' Improved Root Beer. 25 Cents Two Packages Grape Nuts. 20 Cents Package Postum or Figgrains Cereal. 5 Cents 2-Pound Package H. O. Injun Bread Flour. 25 Cents Two Packages Aunt Jemima's Pancake Flour. 5 Cents Bar Fels-Naptha Soap. $4.25 100-Pound Sack Best Dry Granulated Sugar. 25 Cents 6 Cans American Sardines. 15 Cents Pound Best Fresh Roast Costa Rica Coffee.

C. P. HUIE and MRS. CHAN

Chinese Medicine Company,

Celebrated Chinese Doctors.

Make a specialty of curing Chronic Diseases of long standing, through the use of powerful herbs, roots and vegetables, whose medicinal value is known only to the Chinese. Cures guaranteed in all private diseases of men, women and children: eye diseases, tarrh, liver trouble, rheumatism, nervousness, stomach, liver and kidney diseases and syphilis. Chinese drug prescriptions for all diseases. Examination free. Female examinations by Mrs. Chan.

Address C