

COOPER WINS MEDAL

Whatcom Man Captures Championship Honors.

MAKES 24 OUT OF POSSIBLE 25

W. F. Sheard, of Tacoma, Takes Anacoda Cup, and Mr. Wright, of Butte, Multnomah Medal—Trap Shoot Ends.

Dell Cooper, of Whatcom, won the championship medal yesterday in the shooting tournament with a score of 24 out of 25. W. F. Sheard, Tacoma's phenomenal representative, took the Anacoda cup, and M. Wright, of Butte, won the shoot-off of the Multnomah medal.

The shoot was in every respect similar to the ones on the previous days. The Remington squad continued to serve welcome refreshments in their tent, and the negro minstrels sang their songs as usual. Some consternation was caused by the appearance of Captain W. J. Riley in a convict suit, for as soon as he came in sight he was taken for Harry Tracy, and the members present who had come took to the tall timber, fearing that their weapons would be taken from them by the overbold ex-prisoner. The mistake, however, was discovered, and the fleeing members were subjected to some little chaff for their temerity.

The winners of the money events were about the same as those of the previous days, in most cases there being more than one, making the prizes rather small in some of the events. This, however, was equalized by the same set of winners winning on most of the events, thus making the day's work highly profitable.

The Multnomah medal tie of Thursday was played off between the five members who made it on that day. M. Wright, of Butte, secured the medal by defeating Dell Cooper, of Whatcom, by a score of 15 to 14 out of 20 possible targets.

Much interest centered in the Anacoda cup contest, and after a great number of good shots were fired, W. F. Sheard and J. Adams, a Portland shot, tied with a score of 25 straight. The tie was shot off, Sheard winning 24 against 21.

The championship medal was the most important of the day, being a 25-target event. M. J. Flior, of Wallace, Idaho, and Dell Cooper, of Whatcom, hit each of the 25, and a shoot-off was necessary to tell the tale, in which Cooper defeated Flior 24 to 23, thus securing the most desired victory of the day.

Last night the visiting sportsmen to the number of 60 were treated to a crawfish banquet at the Portland Hotel, by the local club, at which a few remarks were made by the officers of the association relative to the fine time that has been enjoyed during the week.

The officers of the Sportsmen's Association, which were elected at the annual meeting for the ensuing year, are: President, M. M. Goldman, of Clifton, Wash.; vice-president, J. E. Enyart, of Medford, Or.; secretary and treasurer, Judge F. C. Miller, of Dayton, Wash.; directors, T. H. Ware, of Spokane, E. H. Hays, of Seattle, W. F. Sheard, of Tacoma, C. H. Smith, of Butte, and J. C. McClure, of Victoria. Meeting place for tournament to be held in June, 1903, Dayton, Wash.

Results of Yesterday's Shoot. Yesterday's events and winners were: Event 5, Multnomah medal—Tie; won by Wright, Cooper scoring with 15 and 14 out of a possible 20 targets.

Event 21, 10 targets, unknown angles—First place tied for by Ellis, McMullen, Murphy, Sheard, Cullison, Adams, and Guist, with 10 targets.

Event 22, 20 targets, unknown angles—First place tied for by Enyart, Hunter and Nauman, with 19 targets.

Event 23, Anacoda cup, 25 targets, unknown angles—First place tied for by Sheard. Tie shot off, Sheard winning, 24 to 21.

Event 25, Browne trophy—Won by Hills with 25 out of 25 possible targets.

Event 26, 15 targets, known angles—First place tied for by Wood, Warner, Hills, Holohan, Mack, Becker, Hellman, Lan-ning, Flint, Blislow, Nauman, Confar and Rohse, with 15 targets.

Event 27, 20 targets, unknown angles—Won by Waite, with 19 targets.

Event 28, 20 targets, unknown angles—First place tied for by Stevens, Confar and Cullison, with 19 targets.

Event 29, 20 targets, unknown angles—First place tied for by Seaver, Becker, and Guist, with 20 targets.

Event 30, 25 targets—Won by Cooper with 24. Flior second with 23.

High average—Won by Sheard. Straights—Won by Winters.

Individual Scores. Yesterday's individual scores were as follows: Squad No. 1—Events 21 22 23 24 25 26 27 28 29 30 Targets 10 20 20 20 20 15 20 20 20 25

Squad No. 2—Events 21 22 23 24 25 26 27 28 29 30 Targets 10 20 20 20 20 15 20 20 20 25

Squad No. 3—Events 21 22 23 24 25 26 27 28 29 30 Targets 10 20 20 20 20 15 20 20 20 25

Squad No. 4—Events 21 22 23 24 25 26 27 28 29 30 Targets 10 20 20 20 20 15 20 20 20 25

HERMANN TO STAY

Roosevelt Will Not Retire Oregon Man.

WESTERN MEN ARE WITH HIM

Friction Between Hitchcock and Commissioner Is a Thing of the Past—Democrats Make Mistake in Calling Dewey.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—About a year ago, Secretary Hitchcock insisted that Binger Hermann, Commissioner of the General Land Office, should retire. President McKinley found that he must either dispense with Hermann, or cause a break in his Cabinet, which he felt he could not do. It was then settled that Hermann would have to go. Before any action was taken, however, the friends of Hermann secured an agreement that nothing should be done until after the election in Oregon of this year. This was a long lease of life for the Commissioner, and knowing that he and the Secretary were not in accord, he felt that it was a satisfactory arrangement. But the death of McKinley, and the accession of Roosevelt, seems to have changed the situation. Roosevelt was at first perfectly willing to carry out the arrangement made by McKinley, but, as time went on, he found Hermann a satisfactory officer, and that the dissatisfaction among the Western men with Hitchcock. To retain Hitchcock and dismiss Hermann would be strongly offensive to most of the Western Senators and Representatives. Besides, it was not so easy to find a successor for Hermann. The Assistant Commissioner did not seem to be quite the man, and there was no other man quite available. As matters stand now, it is believed among the Oregon men here that Hermann will not be disturbed.

The friction between the Secretary and the Commissioner is practically a thing of the past, or at least is not prominent enough to affect the public business, and so he will probably remain at the head of the Land Office.

Tongue Gets the Place. Chairman Babcock today settled the long dispute over the membership for the Congressional committee by naming Representative Tongue for the place.

MISTAKE IN CALLING DEWEY. Democrats Now Realize That the Admiral Is a True American. WASHINGTON, June 28.—The Democrats realize that they made a great mistake in calling Dewey. He is too big a man in the country to be browbeaten and blackguarded in the manner that Carmack and Patterson have done. These men wanted to make Dewey exalt Aguinaldo, and falling in that, they wanted Dewey to criticize the American officers. When they found Dewey would not testify to suit them, but stood upon the broad American plan of our right to hold and govern the Philippines, they began the same tactics that were used to ward every American officer that has appeared as a witness before the Philippine committee.

A few Democrats express great regret that their party managers should be so stupid as to place themselves in the attitude of attacking a man of Dewey's popularity.

Departure of Special Envoys—Moor Glad He Is Going Back to Civilization—Unworn Coronets. LONDON, June 28.—The King is now out of immediate danger.

This announcement spread quickly throughout the metropolis and caused general rejoicing. Lord Lanser, Sir Fredrick Treves and other doctors discussed the patient's condition for nearly an hour before they committed themselves to the important announcement. It was read at Buckingham Palace by only a small crowd, the public being practically assured by yesterday evening's report that everything was going well. Yet, to use the words of the Westminster Gazette, the bulletin was "full of intense relief."

The reference to the wound in the morning's bulletin, it is authoritatively set forth, can be regarded without any disquietude. By June 28 the doctors are expected to announce that all danger of any complications has passed.

The King was very cheerful this morning, after four or five hours' sleep, and his temperature was normal. He is able to raise himself slightly by the aid of a pulley. When he first made an attempt to do so the Queen adjusted the pillows so as to form a back rest, and with a sigh of intense relief the King exclaimed: "Ah! That is better!"

The Lancet, in its comments today, says: "No immediate septic absorption has taken place, as shown by the complete absence of disquieting symptoms. We hope that rumor is ceasing to be busy with the origin and pathology of His Majesty's illness, since the very plain statement of facts in the case which we were able to publish June 25, and since the absolute accuracy of the bulletins has been justified."

Withdrawal of Envoys. The group of the members of the royal family which gathered at Victoria Station this morning were happy and cheerful. The Prince of Wales went there to bid farewell to his cousin, Prince Henry of Prussia, and the Crown Prince Louis Philippe of Portugal, and others who were leaving London, including the Grand Duke of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, Frederick Francis and the Egyptian and Moorish envoys. The chief of staff of the last named said to a representative of the Associated Press:

"I am smitten to the earth with sorrow for King Edward. England is a great country, but I am glad to be going back to civilization."

A week which has witnessed emotions of such conflicting and intense character as to be without parallel in the nation's history is ending as it began, in rejoicing. In the brief space of five days the country has gone through the most acute stages of jubilation, fear, doubt and hope. Now, with today's bulletin, they are all talking of the festivities, many of which will occur as planned. The Crystal Palace July 2 will be the scene of the brilliant hospital ball, in which so many American officers are taking part. On July 4 the Indian offices will be transformed with Oriental decorations, plants and flowers for the Asiatic reception, when the Prince of Wales is expected to welcome the viceroy and London's port are eagerly looking forward to their free coronation dinner.

Among the disappointed stand-owners and other sections of the public, there is a strong desire to have a war parade, with Lord Kitchener as the central figure. Such an arrangement would doubtless attract many thousands in London. The stand proprietors have to rely on the King's first public reappearance, which is likely to be a drive through the streets in the national thanksgiving service. That, however, must be some time hence, as a man in his 61st year, in spite of his wonderfully quick recovery from the im-

STAR SHOT IN NORTHWEST TOURNAMENT.

W. F. SHEARD, OF TACOMA.

W. F. SHEARD, OF TACOMA.

W. F. SHEARD, OF TACOMA.

W. F. Sheard, of Tacoma, was the star man in the tournament during the last three days. Beside winning the highest general average, Sheard won the Anacoda cup, the Browne medal, was on the winning team in the three-mat contest, and tied for first place in most of the money events.

Miss Morrison convicted. Again Found Guilty of Murder in the Second Degree. ELDORADO, Kan., June 28.—Jessie Morrison, in her third trial for murder of Mrs. Olin Castle at her home in this city in June, 1900, was today found guilty of murder in the second degree. The jury was out 12 hours. The case may be appealed again.

Jessie Morrison killed Clara Wiley Castle with a razor in a quarrel eight days after Mrs. Castle had been married to Olin Castle, with whom both women had been in love. Miss Morrison is the daughter of H. M. Morrison, formerly a Circuit Judge. The first trial resulted in a disagreement. At the second trial Miss Morrison was found guilty of manslaughter and given a five-year sentence. She spent but two months in the penitentiary, being granted a new trial last February.

As the foreman finished reading the verdict this morning Miss Morrison turned pale, threw her arms around her aged father's neck, hid her head on his shoulder and both wept bitterly. Later, in her cell Miss Morrison refused to talk other than to say that she had not expected a conviction, adding:

"The Judge was against me from the first to the last."

More Police Officers Indicted. MINNEAPOLIS, June 28.—Three more members of the police force have been indicted by the grand jury, and two of them arrested. Captain John Fitchett is accused of receiving a gratuity of $100 for securing an applicant a place on the police force. Inspector Fred Malone was arranged for being necessary after the fact to kill Albert Schuler, a barber, who was in the Pabst Brewing Company's office. The third man indicted is Inspector Charles F. Brackett.

Failed to Murder, Killed Himself. CHICAGO, June 28.—Armed with two revolvers, Charles W. Gale, an insane real estate dealer, made two ineffectual attempts to kill Albert Schuler, a barber, last night, but he locked himself in his office and killed himself. A quarrel about a woman was responsible for the tragedy, it is said.

Missouri Meat Trust Sued. JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., June 28.—The Supreme Court today sustained the motion of Attorney-General Crow to strike out the returns of the packers in the election proceedings as to all contentions, except the sixth, which raises the question whether the packers are in a combine to fix and maintain prices. On this point the court overruled the motion and appointed I. H. Kinley, of Kansas City, to take testimony and report on the first day of the October term of the Supreme Court. Attorney Hagerman, for the packers, filed exceptions and objections to the action of the court on the ground that the points overruled involved Federal questions, which the Supreme Court of the United States should pass upon. The court sustained the constitutionality of the state anti-trust laws involved in the motion. Chief Justice Burgess and Justice Marshall dissented from the action of the court in overruling a part of the motion relating to the question of fact on which testimony is to be taken.

Popular Team at Trap Shoot. One of the most popular teams in the shoot is the Remington squad, managed by E. E. Drake, the San Francisco manager of the Remington Arms and the U. M. C. Companies. At the tent which served as the headquarters for the squad, homemade, clear punch, mineral water and cigars were furnished to the participants in the shoot, and copies of the state and National game laws were to be had for the asking. The members of the team are, reading from left to right, E. E. Young, A. E. Guist, W. E. Carlin, W. J. Montain and Clarence Nauman. Manager Drake is on the extreme right of the picture. The club uniform is a brilliant green jersey, with a white felt "R" on the front and a green cap.

Whitelaw Reid's Report. WASHINGTON, June 28.—A cable message was received at the State Department today from Whitelaw Reid, head of the special embassy to the coronation, giving a most favorable account of the condition of King Edward VII. He said that the physicians attending the King anticipate his rapid recovery.

Mr. Reid says that among those entirely cured with the case it is well understood that there is no foundation for the alarming reports that the King has cancer or any serious throat or stomach trouble. According to Mr. Reid, the strength, nerves and sound blood of the King are all in his favor. A most favorable symptom in his case is that he has taken solid food.

International Mining Congress. ST. LOUIS, June 28.—Governor J. K. Toole, of Montana, has sent to the World's Fair management communications showing that the international mining congress, which will sit at Butte the first six days of September, will have representatives from every state in the Union. A letter which Governor Toole addressed to the Governors of other states reminds them of the fact that they are vice-presidents of the congress, and urges them to attend and to utilize the opportunity for taking counsel together in the best measures for promoting the St. Louis Exposition of 1904.

Secretary Reeves has written Governor Toole that the Louisiana Purchase Exposition will probably be represented at the meeting.

New Mileage in Texas. AUSTIN, Tex., June 28.—Eminey Thompson, of the Railroad Commission, has almost completed a statement of railroad mileage constructed in Texas for the first six months of this year. The total will exceed 900 miles. This breaks the record for Texas railroad building.

Monongahela at Queenstown. QUEENSTOWN, June 28.—The United States training ship Monongahela, which left Newport, R. I., early in June, arrived here today.

Good-Will Cannot Be Taxed. INDIANAPOLIS, June 28.—The good-will of a business cannot be taxed under the Indiana law, according to a decision of the Supreme Court in the Indianapolis News case. The valuation of tangible property as returned for taxation had not been questioned, but the State Board had added a large sum for good-will and for value of the Associated Press franchise. When the paper refused to pay, the State Board sued through the State Auditor to collect. Facing the complaint alleged that the additional assessment was against the good-will of the property and the Associated Press franchise. It did not specify how much either was valued.

Attorneys for the newspaper showed that the Indiana law did not provide a method nor attempt to provide one for taxing good-will, and that no newspaper or other property had been so taxed. The lower court found in favor of the News, and the higher court sustained the opinion.

Last Cable of East River Bridge. NEW YORK, June 28.—With an American flag fluttering from the reel, the last wire making up the four cables of the new East River bridge has been put in place. This is the end of seven months' work by the contractors and marks the commencement on the structure proper, which will be ready about the Fall of next year, almost simultaneously with the completion of the rapid transit system.

BRITONS ARE HAPPY

Breathe Freely Again, Now That the King Recovers.

WEEK OF CONFLICTING EMOTIONS

Departure of Special Envoys—Moor Glad He Is Going Back to Civilization—Unworn Coronets.

LONDON, June 28.—The King is now out of immediate danger.

This announcement spread quickly throughout the metropolis and caused general rejoicing. Lord Lanser, Sir Fredrick Treves and other doctors discussed the patient's condition for nearly an hour before they committed themselves to the important announcement. It was read at Buckingham Palace by only a small crowd, the public being practically assured by yesterday evening's report that everything was going well. Yet, to use the words of the Westminster Gazette, the bulletin was "full of intense relief."

The reference to the wound in the morning's bulletin, it is authoritatively set forth, can be regarded without any disquietude. By June 28 the doctors are expected to announce that all danger of any complications has passed.

The King was very cheerful this morning, after four or five hours' sleep, and his temperature was normal. He is able to raise himself slightly by the aid of a pulley. When he first made an attempt to do so the Queen adjusted the pillows so as to form a back rest, and with a sigh of intense relief the King exclaimed: "Ah! That is better!"

The Lancet, in its comments today, says: "No immediate septic absorption has taken place, as shown by the complete absence of disquieting symptoms. We hope that rumor is ceasing to be busy with the origin and pathology of His Majesty's illness, since the very plain statement of facts in the case which we were able to publish June 25, and since the absolute accuracy of the bulletins has been justified."

Withdrawal of Envoys. The group of the members of the royal family which gathered at Victoria Station this morning were happy and cheerful. The Prince of Wales went there to bid farewell to his cousin, Prince Henry of Prussia, and the Crown Prince Louis Philippe of Portugal, and others who were leaving London, including the Grand Duke of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, Frederick Francis and the Egyptian and Moorish envoys. The chief of staff of the last named said to a representative of the Associated Press:

"I am smitten to the earth with sorrow for King Edward. England is a great country, but I am glad to be going back to civilization."

A week which has witnessed emotions of such conflicting and intense character as to be without parallel in the nation's history is ending as it began, in rejoicing. In the brief space of five days the country has gone through the most acute stages of jubilation, fear, doubt and hope. Now, with today's bulletin, they are all talking of the festivities, many of which will occur as planned. The Crystal Palace July 2 will be the scene of the brilliant hospital ball, in which so many American officers are taking part. On July 4 the Indian offices will be transformed with Oriental decorations, plants and flowers for the Asiatic reception, when the Prince of Wales is expected to welcome the viceroy and London's port are eagerly looking forward to their free coronation dinner.

Among the disappointed stand-owners and other sections of the public, there is a strong desire to have a war parade, with Lord Kitchener as the central figure. Such an arrangement would doubtless attract many thousands in London. The stand proprietors have to rely on the King's first public reappearance, which is likely to be a drive through the streets in the national thanksgiving service. That, however, must be some time hence, as a man in his 61st year, in spite of his wonderfully quick recovery from the immediate results of the operation, will probably have to submit to a long convalescence.

What at first sight was one of the most pathetic features of the postponement of the coronation, among all the serious financial embarrassments on every hand, was the utter demoralization of the street "fakers," who had been counting for months past on a rich harvest. The features of the Strand, Fleet street, and hotel entrances today were street arches, mostly of tender years, apparently weeping over trays of cheap medals, pins and other out-of-date and inappropriate souvenirs. The general calling of these "fakers" aimed at well-dressed pedestrians: "Only a penny; stuck with me medals; please buy something." These appeals frequently succeeded. A notable fact, however, was that these "tears" and grief among the sharp street arches only seem to have developed today. The symptoms spread rapidly. Among scores of clever little plagiarists in other walks of life the same keen disappointment was visible.

Unworn Coronets. Had the coronation occurred, American women would have constituted one of the most brilliant features. The Duchesse of Marlborough had a new coronet, even more magnificent than the big pearl-diamond tiara she has hitherto worn at court. Her unworn acquisition rivaled that of the Duchesse of Portland, in which the great Portland diamond itself, worth £15,000, was set.

Mrs. Arthur Paget, who would have had a seat in the King's box at Westminster Abbey, would have worn a costly emerald and diamond tiara, collar, pendant and arm brooches formerly belonging to her mother, Mrs. Paget Stevens. Mrs. Paget's dress was embroidered with diamonds and pearls.

Lady Abinger, who was a Miss Magruder (daughter of the late Commodore Magruder, United States Navy), and widow of the late third Baron Abinger, had her Peeres robes embroidered with gold, and besides her diamond coronet would have worn a four-row pearl necklace, clasped with a huge sapphire and surrounded with diamonds, once the property of Marie Antoinette.

Maria Cora, Lady Stafford, formerly Mrs. Samuel Colgate, of New York, would certainly have made a sensation, as she had a very high diamond tiara, and instead of a necklace, would have had rubies and pearls, draped like an egret's on her left shoulder.

Lady Dufferin (formerly Miss Florence Davis, of New York) intended to wear all the heirlooms of the Dufferin family, which she recently inherited. Lady Grey Edgerton, who was Miss May Cuyler, daughter of the late Major J. Wayne Cuyler, United States Army, was going to dress in white, with embroidered lace, and with a diamond tiara, a diamond and pearl collar, and two necklaces, one of rubies and diamonds, and one all diamonds.

Lady DeLaurier, stepdaughter of Charles Bonnyne, of San Francisco, was to wear beautiful black pearls, a diamond necklace and a diamond tiara.

INDORSE '05 FAIR

Teachers Favor Literature About It in Schools.

STATE MEETING TAKES ACTION

Comments Matter to State Authorities With Suggestion That Preparation of Data Be Left to Oregon Historical Society.

EUGENE, June 28.—The annual convention of the Western Oregon division of the State Teachers' Association, came to a close today after one of the most successful meetings in the history of the organization.

At the morning session, the business meeting of the association was held, beginning with the selection of the place of holding the next meeting. Several invitations were presented, but that presented by Superintendent R. F. Robinson to hold the next meeting at Portland was accepted. The matter of selecting time for meeting was referred to the executive committee.

The election of officers followed, and President E. D. Resler, of the Monmouth Normal School, was elected president by unanimous vote. Professor D. A. Groul, of Portland, was also unanimously elected first vice-president, and Superintendent E. V. Littlefield, of Medfordville, second vice-president. Secretary G. W. Jones, of Salem, and Treasurer Bertha M. Slater were unanimously re-elected.

It was necessary to elect two members of the executive committee, one on account of expiration of the term of J. C. Zinser, of Oregon City, and the other on account of the resignation of C. A. Hitchcock, of Ashland. County Superintendent C. H. Daly, of Jackson County, was elected to fill the vacancy of Mr. Hitchcock, who has one year to serve, and Superintendent R. F. Robinson, of Portland, was elected to the full term vacated by J. C. Zinser.

The following resolutions reported by the committee were unanimously adopted:

Having heard with interest the suggestions of the executive committee, on the occasion of the Lewis and Clark expedition, supply the public schools with the records from original sources of the history of Oregon, and feeling the assurance that this would be to the schools, we would hereby, as the Western division of the Oregon State Teachers' Association, commend to the proper state authorities consideration of the important matter, provided that it be placed under suitable auspices, such as those of the Oregon Historical Society, which would be a guarantee of the completeness and accuracy of the work.

The alumni of the Monmouth Normal School present at the Teachers' Association feasted themselves and had a happy reunion last night. Guests of the occasion were the retiring and incoming president of the Normal, P. L. Campbell and E. D. Resler, W. I. Crane of Ohio, and Superintendent and Mrs. J. H. Ackerman. Forty-nine students of the Normal, who were set apart as toastmaster, and toasts were responded to as follows: "Our Retiring President," by E. D. Resler; "Our New President," by ex-President P. L. Campbell; "The Alumni," by Superintendent Ackerman; "A Webster as Seen by a Buckeye," by W. I. Crane. Recitations were given by Miss Wheelton and Mr. Bryant.

FERRIS IS INDORSED. Trustees of Pacific University Approve Course of Study. FOREST GROVE, June 28.—The board of regents of Pacific University and Tualatin Academy, at its last meeting, adopted the following resolution:

"Resolved, That the board of trustees of Tualatin Academy and Pacific University have the utmost confidence in Professor W. N. Ferris, dean of the university, and that they do unreservedly commend and approve all his actions in every way connected with the time he has had charge of the institution."

Good-Will Cannot Be Taxed. INDIANAPOLIS, June 28.—The good-will of a business cannot be taxed under the Indiana law, according to a decision of the Supreme Court in the Indianapolis News case. The valuation of tangible property as returned for taxation had not been questioned, but the State Board had added a large sum for good-will and for value of the Associated Press franchise. When the paper refused to pay, the State Board sued through the State Auditor to collect. Facing the complaint alleged that the additional assessment was against the good-will of the property and the Associated Press franchise. It did not specify how much either was valued.

Attorneys for the newspaper showed that the Indiana law did not provide a method nor attempt to provide one for taxing good-will, and that no newspaper or other property had been so taxed. The lower court found in favor of the News, and the higher court sustained the opinion.

Last Cable of East River Bridge. NEW YORK, June 28.—With an American flag fluttering from the reel, the last wire making up the four cables of the new East River bridge has been put in place. This is the end of seven months' work by the contractors and marks the commencement on the structure proper, which will be ready about the Fall of next year, almost simultaneously with the completion of the rapid transit system.

HERMANN TO STAY

Roosevelt Will Not Retire Oregon Man.

WESTERN MEN ARE WITH HIM

Friction Between Hitchcock and Commissioner Is a Thing of the Past—Democrats Make Mistake in Calling Dewey.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—About a year ago, Secretary Hitchcock insisted that Binger Hermann, Commissioner of the General Land Office, should retire. President McKinley found that he must either dispense with Hermann, or cause a break in his Cabinet, which he felt he could not do. It was then settled that Hermann would have to go. Before any action was taken, however, the friends of Hermann secured an agreement that nothing should be done until after the election in Oregon of this year. This was a long lease of life for the Commissioner, and knowing that he and the Secretary were not in accord, he felt that it was a satisfactory arrangement. But the death of McKinley, and the accession of Roosevelt, seems to have changed the situation. Roosevelt was at first perfectly willing to carry out the arrangement made by McKinley, but, as time went on, he found Hermann a satisfactory officer, and that the dissatisfaction among the Western men with Hitchcock. To retain Hitchcock and dismiss Hermann would be strongly offensive to most of the Western Senators and Representatives. Besides, it was not so easy to find a successor for Hermann. The Assistant Commissioner did not seem to be quite the man, and there was no other man quite available. As matters stand now, it is believed among the Oregon men here that Hermann will not be disturbed.

The friction between the Secretary and the Commissioner is practically a thing of the past, or at least is not prominent enough to affect the public business, and so he will probably remain at the head of the Land Office.

Tongue Gets the Place. Chairman Babcock today settled the long dispute over the membership for the Congressional committee by naming Representative Tongue for the place.

MISTAKE IN CALLING DEWEY. Democrats Now Realize That the Admiral Is a True American. WASHINGTON, June 28.—The Democrats realize that they made a great mistake in calling Dewey. He is too big a man in the country to be browbeaten and blackguarded in the manner that Carmack and Patterson have done. These men wanted to make Dewey exalt Aguinaldo, and falling in that, they wanted Dewey to criticize the American officers. When they found Dewey would not testify to suit them, but stood upon the broad American plan of our right to hold and govern the Philippines, they began the same tactics that were used to ward every American officer that has appeared as a witness before the Philippine committee.

A few Democrats express great regret that their party managers should be so stupid as to place themselves in the attitude of attacking a man of Dewey's popularity.

Departure of Special Envoys—Moor Glad He Is Going Back to Civilization—Unworn Coronets. LONDON, June 28.—The King is now out of immediate danger.

This announcement spread quickly throughout the metropolis and caused general rejoicing. Lord Lanser, Sir Fredrick Treves and other doctors discussed the patient's condition for nearly an hour before they committed themselves to the important announcement. It was read at Buckingham Palace by only a small crowd, the public being practically assured by yesterday evening's report that everything was going well. Yet, to use the words of the Westminster Gazette, the bulletin was "full of intense relief."

The reference to the wound in the morning's bulletin, it is authoritatively set forth, can be regarded without any disquietude. By June 28 the doctors are expected to announce that all danger of any complications has passed.

The King was very cheerful this morning, after four or five hours' sleep, and his temperature was normal. He is able to raise himself slightly by the aid of a pulley. When he first made an attempt to do so the Queen adjusted the pillows so as to form a back rest, and with a sigh of intense relief the King exclaimed: "Ah! That is better!"

The Lancet, in its comments today, says: "No immediate septic absorption has taken place, as shown by the complete absence of disquieting symptoms. We hope that rumor is ceasing to be busy with the origin and pathology of His Majesty's illness, since the very plain statement of facts in the case which we were able to publish June 25, and since the absolute accuracy of the bulletins has been justified."

Withdrawal of Envoys. The group of the members of the royal family which gathered at Victoria Station this morning were happy and cheerful. The Prince of Wales went there to bid farewell to his cousin, Prince Henry of Prussia, and the Crown Prince Louis Philippe of Portugal, and others who were leaving London, including the Grand Duke of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, Frederick Francis and the Egyptian and Moorish envoys. The chief of staff of the last named said to a representative of the Associated Press:

"I am smitten to the earth with sorrow for King Edward. England is a great country, but I am glad to be going back to civilization."