WAR AGAINST CASTRO

MATOS' FORCE IS WELL ARMED, BUT DOING NOTHING.

Commander McLean Reports the Situation at La Guayra—Colombian Rebel Leaders Imprisoned.

WASHINGTON, July 5.—Secretary Moody has received the following telegram from Commander McLean, of the Cincinnati, dated La Guayra, via Hayti, July 4:

"Topeka reports that 40 revolutionists attacked the Custom-house at Guanta yesterday and secured four Mausers and some ammunition. They fled to the hills on the appearance of troops. The captain visited Barcelona and secured information that Matos and 3000 men are at Urice, well armed but inactive. Three thousand more are in the State of Bermudese. The estimated entire force of revolutionists in the country is 10,000. Small bands of revolutionists are in this vicinity. There is some firing nights. Foreigners are not molested by either side. Two hundred and thirty more troops who came here from Caracas were recalled today in haste. The steamer Ossum goes to Porto Cabello with 300 troops."

Venezuelan Ports Closed.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, July 5.—Sir Augustus Hemming, the Governor of Jamaica, has received a cablegram from the Governor of Barbados, Sir Frederic M. Hodgson, with regard to the closing of the trade of the Venezuelan ports of Lavela de Coro, Cano, Colorado, La Guayra and Ciudad Bolivar. The message says that under the law vessels in these ports are allowed 10 days from June 28 to leave the country. The Governor of Barbados received this information from the British Minister at Caracas, W. H. D. Haggard.

SENDS GENERALS TO PRISON.

Colombian Rebel Leaders Accused of Plotting Against Herrera.

PANAMA, Colombia, July 5.—Confirmation has been received from a reliable source of the report that the revolutionary Generals Ramirez, Payan and Porras, who were recently made prisoners by the rebel chief Herrera for insubordination, and who were tried by court-martial at David, were sentenced to death. The penalty imposed was, however, commuted to 15 years' imprisonment. The prosecution was based upon the finding by General Herrera of letters written by General Porras protesting against acts committed by the rebel chief. General Porras was then imprisoned, and General Payan, who was in command of the revolutionary forces at Darien, and General Ramirez, commander of the revolutionary gunboat Padilla, who sided with him, were accused of plotting with him against the supreme authority of General Herrera.

It is reported that many foreigners who enlisted in the revolutionary forces are abandoning the Liberal cause, owing to the fact that they have received no pay for a long time.

Mexico Wants the Search Stopped.

SAN DIEGO, July 5.—The Mexican Consul in this city, Senor Grassiera, has been notified by his government that it is desired to have the police search for Governor Sanguines discontinued. Sanguines is supposed to have left Lower California as the result of having killed a prisoner at Ensanda. The Consul is not informed as to the reason for having the search stopped.

Refugees From Hayti.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, July 5.—The Dutch schooner Rigolette has arrived here from the Island of Curacoa, bringing 34 Haytians who were compelled to fly to Curacoa on account of recent fighting in Hayti. M. Jeannis, late Governor of Jacmel, is among them. He says the situation in Hayti was extremely serious at the time he and his companions fled.

Dysentery in Rebel Army.

PANAMA, July 5.—Advices received here from Chiriqui yesterday say that dysentery is devastating the Liberal army, and the population of David is also suffering considerably from the same cause. News from Cauca is to the effect that the revolutionists there have been reduced to a few guerrilla bands of no importance.

Montagas Is Not Dead.

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad, July 5.—The report circulated by the Venezuelan government of the death of General Domingo Montagas, one of the leading chiefs of the Matos revolution against President Castro, has been proved false. The rumor, it is believed, was spread for the purpose of disheartening the revolutionists.

May Be Bad for Peru.

LIMA, Peru, July 5.—The summoning of General Caceres by the government on the eve of the Presidential election is disapproved here, as it is feared it may introduce an element of discord and result in disorders which all are anxious to avoid.

Storms Injure Plantations.

NEW YORK, July 5.—Thousands of banana trees have been blown down by a heavy gale, cables the Port Antonio correspondent of the Herald. Torrential rains are causing much damage, rivers are rising above their banks and flooding plantations.

French Minister to China.

PARIS, July 5.—G. R. Dubail, lately Charge d'Affaires of France in Japan, has been appointed to succeed J. B. P. Beau, the French Minister at Pekin, who was recently appointed Governor-General of Indo-China.

ABOUT GLASS BATHTUBS

Soon to Replace Those of Enamel and Metal.

Philadelphia Telegraph.

Bathtubs of glass may be expected to replace enamel and metal ones soon. They are being made in Germany now, and are said to have many advantages over metal and enamel, the principal one being that they are much cheaper. Besides bathtubs, tanks and vats such as are used by brewers, distillers and sugar-refiners are being made of glass, and the manufacturer is confident that he can replace those for which clay, wood, cement and metal are now commonly used with superior articles constructed at a lower cost. Glass bathtubs are not fragile. Those being made now are five and six feet long, about two feet wide, and about two and one-half inches thick. They are made in a solid piece, and one can be made complete in about five minutes.

This is owing to a new process of blowing glassware by means of compressed air. The process was invented in Pittsburg about 20 years ago, but was limited to making bottles and similar small-sized articles. Paul Stevert, of Dresden, has improved it, and under his process there need be no limit, within reason, to the size of the article made. The method is simplicity itself. The molten glass is taken from the furnace and placed in a mold which can readily be swung to any desired position. Compressed air is thus admitted through a flexible tube, which connects with the bottom of the mold. The air pressure is regulated by valves. As soon as the article is finished, it is switched into an annealing chamber, where it is again heated and then allowed to cool. This toughens it, and after the process it is ready for use.

Plates of large size are being made of glass by an adaptation of the same process. In this case an ornamental design is first made on a sheet of peculiar composition, which remains moist for some time. Colored glass is spread over this to work out the design. Then the sheet is placed on the glass plate and the whole is heated in the oven. The heat consumes the sheet on which the design was made, leaving only the layer of colored glass, welded into the plate. Some remarkable and very picturesque effects are made in this way.

BIENNIAL TAGZATZUNG.

Two Hundred German-Americans at Davenport to Attend Meeting.

DAVENPORT, Ia., July 5.—With 200 delegates on the ground tonight, the biennial tagzatzung or business meeting of the North American Turnerbund is ready for the opening session tomorrow. Delegates have been arriving all day, and have been greeted by a reception committee, speakers, bands playing "Die Wacht am Rhein" and other patriotic airs. This evening a special train brought the Chicago delegation and many delegations from Eastern states, while a large contingent came from St. Louis and the South. Nearly every state in the Union which counts any number of German-Americans was represented.

The main question to come up, the location of the next turnfest, is being discussed by energetic lobbyists. Both Chicago and St. Louis are working most aggressively. Chicago would make the National turnfest a part of the Olympian games of 1904, and St. Louis would make it a feature of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition. The meeting will last four days.

Educational Convention Delegates.

MINNEAPOLIS, July 5.—Tonight's train brought in a number of delegates to the 41st annual convention of the National Educational Association, which will open here Monday. Fully 5000 persons are expected to attend the convention, which will continue until July 11.

Music-Teachers' Convention.

NEW YORK, July 5.—The International Society of Pianoforte Teachers and Players held its first annual meeting in this city today, and will continue Monday. The programme includes the reading of papers on subjects of interest to the members and vocal and piano recitals.

TORNADO IN IOWA.

Storm Accompanied by Cloudburst Destroys Property.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., July 5.—Southwestern Iowa was visited this evening by the worst storm of the year. In several towns it amounted to a tornado, and fears are entertained that there has been loss of life. Damage to corn and unharvested small grain has been very great. In some places the rain which followed the wind storm amounted almost to a cloudburst.

At Whiting a dozen buildings are reported destroyed, and a Mrs. Campbell was badly hurt.

At Anthon 20 buildings were demolished by a tornado, and at this place it is believed lives were lost. Communication is cut off by wire.

At Rockwell City the damage done by wind was less serious, but the rain fell in blinding sheets for an hour, and the whole country is under water. Crops were beaten into the ground and are a total loss in many cases.

Hard Rain at St. Paul.

ST. PAUL, July 5.—St. Paul experienced the heaviest rain storm in years tonight. The storm began shortly after 9 o'clock, and the downpour was continuous for over an hour. The down-town streets were flooded to a depth of nearly two feet, and in the business district much damage was done by the flooding of cellars. One large wholesale grocery had a large portion of its stock damaged by water pouring through the roof. Lightning struck a number of buildings, the German Lutheran Church at North St. Paul being destroyed.

COLONIAL PREMIERS.

Meeting in London Expected Ultimately to Bear Fruit.

LONDON, July 6.—Edmund Barton, Premier of Australia, and Richard Seddon, the New Zealand Prime Minister, both made speeches yesterday, the former at a banquet at the Savage Club, and the latter when he was presented with the freedom of his native town, St. Helena, Lancashire, and both prophesied that the conference of Colonial Premiers in London would ultimately bear fruit.

Mr. Barton said that though little might be committed to paper at the present meeting of the Premiers, there was an earnest desire in the colonies for closer relations with the mother country, and he was sure that some start would be made in that direction.

Mr. Seddon, in the course of his speech, said that Continental nations could not war on each other's trade, but could only war upon the trade of the British Empire. When he saw one colony of one nation increasing its trade six-fold in five years, while British trade declined, he would have been wanting in duty to his country and his colony if he had not brought the matter forward and tried to stop the inroad by which a rival nation was able largely to build up its army and naval resources.

DETERMINED TO DIE.

Kentucky Farmer Hammers a Dirk Into His Breast.

MOUNT STERLING, Ky., July 5.—J. W. Fassett, a prominent farmer, attempted suicide this morning and is not expected to live. He took three grains of morphine, and procuring a dirk and a hammer, went to an orchard on his place, and placing the knife against his breast, drove it into his body with the hammer. When he was found he gave as a reason for his attempted suicide that he was growing old and his children needed his money, so he thought it best to put himself out of the way.

EVACUATION OF TIEN TSIN

China Appeals Directly to the United States.

WASHINGTON, July 5.—The Chinese Government has appealed to the Government of the United States to use its good offices to cause the allied powers, who still retain their soldiers in Tien Tsin, to evacuate that place in conformity with the spirit of the agreement of Pekin, which settled the Boxer troubles. The appeal was made today by Minister Wu directly to Secretary Hay, in the shape of a cablegram from Viceroy Yuan Shi-Kai of Chi Li, which the Minister supplemented with a long verbal explanation.

Brutal Foster-Mother.

BURLINGTON, Kan., July 5.—Mrs. Jennie Edwards was today bound over to appear at the December term of court to answer to the charge of killing her 4-year-old foster-daughter. The woman could not give bail and is in jail. Evidence was introduced showing that the child had been poisoned, as well as kicked and trampled.

Three Drowned at Benton Harbor.

BENTON HARBOR, Mich., July 5.—Rudolph Steffick, his wife and his sister, Miss Steffick, all of Chicago, were drowned here this evening in the St. Joseph River.

Omaha Auditorium Cornerstone.

OMAHA, Neb., July 5.—The cornerstone of the Omaha Auditorium was laid today. Senator Millard delivered the address of the day.

Natal was annexed by the British 59 years ago.

TRACEY IS IN HIDING

until he receives some assurance from the Oregon authorities that his right to the reward, if he produces Merrill's body, will not be contested on the theory that such finding of the convict's body was not contemplated in the terms of offer. The hope of securing the reward prevents his repeating what Tracy said about the location of the body.

Tracy said he shot Merrill three times. The first shot struck Merrill in the left side, penetrated through his body and shattered his right wrist. The second shot struck him in the back as he fell and the third was fired at closer range, as Merrill lay on the ground, and went through the head.

To Avenge Raymond's Death.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 5.—One of the events of the day was the arrival of John Brown, of Munroe. He was a chum of Raymond, and is here to avenge his death. He is armed with a 38

Deputy Sheriff Charles Raymond, killed in battle at Bothell Thursday.

automatic Colt and a shotgun. He is a Deputy Sheriff of Snohomish. Until yesterday Brown was guarding the road at Snoqualmie. Brown feels that he has a sort of blood feud with Tracy, and since his arrival has taken a leading part in the pursuit. In case of a hand-to-hand fight he has a razor-edged knife.

HOPEFUL OF GETTING AWAY.

Tracy Intimates as Much to Farmer He Held Up.

TACOMA, July 5.—Tracy, the Oregon convict, believes he will finally escape from his pursuers. He intimated to Louis Johnson, the farmer who drove him to Fremont on Thursday night, that he was hopeful of getting clear of his pursuers and retaining his liberty.

At the residence of Mrs. R. H. Van Horn, near Woodland Park, Johnson had a splendid chance to overpower the criminal. Tracy placed his gun on the floor and pulled his shirt off over his head. Johnson failed to take advantage of the situation. The story of the ride as told by Johnson is different from those already published. Johnson was at his farm when Tracy rode up on a horse he had stolen from Perry Vincent.

"Hitch up, and do it quickly," he said. "I am Tracy."

Johnson had to obey when Tracy pointed his Winchester at the farmer's stomach.

"I have only a few moments," said Tracy. They started a minute later at a rapid pace toward Fremont in Johnson's wagon. Tracy sat behind Johnson. It was broad daylight when they started shortly before 6 o'clock. Johnson's horses were forced at the greatest speed possible. The men followed the county road straight through to Ballard.

About two miles from Green Lake they passed two deputies eating supper. "Drive slow," said Tracy, "they are deputies. I know them by their guns." They went past slowly, and the deputies took no notice. Tracy coolly turned and watched them as if out of idle curiosity. At the Van Horn home Tracy stole a pair of cap-and-ball horse pistols.

During the ride Tracy talked frequently, treating Johnson, as the latter says, "like a gentleman." "Sheriff Cudihee is crowding me too closely," said the convict. "Things have been different since I reached King County. I am tired."

His appearance showed the truth of his words. He was haggard and seemed distressed by fatigue.

"I want to get into Seattle," he went on. "That is not a bluff. I would feel safer there than here."

It was Tracy's intention to make Johnson drive him into the heart of the city, but the sudden appearance of Sheriff Cudihee at the Van Horn residence Thursday night caused a quick change of the convict's plans.

TRACY'S WIFE TALKS.

Says Convict Would Kill Merrill If Opportunity Offered.

TACOMA, July 5.—Tracy's wife in Tacoma has been located. She goes by the name of Ely, and lives in an alley in the rear of Tacoma avenue. She has been following the newspaper accounts of the convicts' 27 days of flight, but declares she has no further interest in him. She says when she read in the papers the report that Merrill had secretly given information to the police which resulted in Tracy's conviction three years ago she knew that Tracy would settle with Merrill if the opportunity offered.

The fleeing convict's wife was shown the statement of Mrs. Van Horn, of Seattle, at whose house Tracy stopped for several hours Thursday night. Tracy said to the woman that a few days after he escaped a man met him on the outskirts of Portland and gave him a newspaper with this report of Merrill's duplicity.

When this was read to Mrs. Tracy she said: "You may put it down for truth that Tracy killed Merrill just as he said he did."

Tracy's talks with the persons whom he has forced to assist him astonish men who knew him during his career here. He was then the most close-mouthed of crooks.

Bloodhounds Sent for Again.

WALLA WALLA, Wash., July 5.—Warden Catron tonight received a call from the Sheriff's office at Seattle for the bloodhounds at the prison here. Every effort to get a special train proved unavailing, and the dogs will leave here tomorrow.

DISASTER AT SALONICA.

Severe Earthquake Wrecks Many Houses, Causing Much Loss of Life.

LONDON, July 5.—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company from Vienna says a severe earthquake shock was felt at Salonica, European Turkey, yesterday afternoon. According to this dispatch, many houses were wrecked and there was much loss of life. Particulars of the disaster have not yet been received.

THE DEATH ROLL.

Joseph Benson Rose.

NEW YORK, July 5.—Joseph Benson Rose, for many years prominently known in the drug trade, and formerly president of a large baking-powder company, is dead in this city from heart failure. Mr. Rose arrived here on Wednesday from Orange Spring, Miss. He complained of feeling ill when he got to his hotel, and two doctors were summoned. Their efforts were unavailing, however, except to delay the end a short time.

Edward Muench.

PHILADELPHIA, July 5. — Edward Muench, chief purchasing agent of the United States Steel Corporation, is dead of typhoid fever, contracted while on a trip to Cuba. He was 30 years of age.

James Stewart.

PITTSBURG, Pa., July 5.—James Stewart, head of one of the prominent contracting firms of the country, died here today in his 81st year. Much of his later life was devoted to the aid of charitable and benevolent institutions.

A Physician's Duty to Himself.

Philadelphia Medical Journal.

The newspapers announce the death of a venerable physician in the interior of the state, who, after a practice of 55 years, leaves uncollected book accounts amounting to $50,000. It will be in order now for the lay press to moralize on the case and to refer to the noble missionary propensities of the medical profession. Some people will see in this story the evidence that physicians are a noble, self-sacrificing class, while on the other hand certain Philistines will say that the case simply proves that doctors have not sense enough to collect their bills. Judgment in such a case depends somewhat upon the point of view. Both interpretations are valid, but, on the whole, the Philistine judgment is the one that goes straight to the point. It is somewhat deplorable that the medical profession should have forced upon it the reputation of being a missionary profession, simply because it has slack business methods, and it is not desirable that it should have to support such an undeserved reputation for benevolence at the expense of its own bread and butter. The dear public is not slow to adopt the comfortable idea that physicians practice medicine for the love of their fellow men, and to let the doctors have the full benefit of this reputation when the bills are presented. There is danger of insincerity and cant on one side and of injustice and fraud on the other. Fifty thousand dollars in uncollected book accounts are a poor asset for any doctor's estate.

ALONE WITH HER GOATS.

An Eccentric Old Woman Who Lives on the Shores of the Potomac.

Washington Times.

"The Old Lady of the Goats" is the name given to a most eccentric character who lives in the scrub timber about five miles southwest of the capital city. Her domicile is a tumbledown hut, which stands upon the lip of a half-obliterated rifle pit about a half-mile from the Virginia bank of the Potomac.

She never leaves the valley, or the hills around it, which she thinks belong to her, and no one knows just exactly how she exists. Just what her right name is no one seems to know—the negroes are undecided between several—but her nickname came through her fondness for the society of goats. She always has a half dozen or more following her about, and with the exception of two pairs they never get more than half-grown before she slaughters them. The smaller the goat the more fondness the old lady shows for the animal. She generally has one pet animal, which she carries around with her in her arms.

The old lady will sometimes tell fortunes when one wanders her way, but if she does not fancy the looks of those who are approaching she will pick up her pet goat and make off through the ravines with the rest of the herd scampering at her heels. The negroes have a superstitious awe of her, and no power on earth could persuade one of them to venture near her rifle pit after sundown. They think that she possesses the power to curse the crops or to bring rain in the valley whenever she will, no matter what climatic conditions may prevail beyond the hills.

Her age is variously estimated as between 90 and 105 years, but it is more likely that she is not more than 80. A half dozen different legends as to who she really is are current in the vicinity. According to one of these she belongs to a wealthy, aristocratic family who owned all the land for many miles around before the Civil War. It is said that the loss of her husband, brothers, mansion, and property during that struggle crazed her, and that after sojourning for a time with relatives in another part of the state, she escaped from their care and returned to the scenes of her youth.

She is renowned among the negroes of the vicinity for her skill as a doctress when she condescends to exercise it. They claim that she is a sort of voodoo, and there is not one of them but will take her food and even articles of cast-off clothing when she signifies her necessity.

The Rich Man's Wife.

Susan B. Anthony in the Independent.

The man of wealth marries a woman who is beautiful and gracious; one who will bear his name proudly. Her home is handsomely appointed. She fits into her environment as a statue in its niche. At her command are servants, horses and carriages—or automobiles, in this mechanical generation. She is privileged to trade upon credit and dress for her position in life. But too often her pocketbook contains less than the woman in moderate circumstances, whose husband has a salary and gives his wife a stated sum to live upon. The rich wife, if asked by members of her club for a donation, must consult her husband first. She has no ready money, and frequently is obliged to ask him for paltry amounts. She is humiliated and becomes embittered; her dignity is lowered. Sometimes she employs deceit with which to obtain resources from him. And her thought of her husband's parsimony soon kills all her tenderness.

Historical Letters Found.

Boston Evening Transcript.

A series of 15 letters, written to President Thomas Jefferson, and about 50 letters addressed to Secretary of State James Madison by William C. C. Claiborne, one of the early territorial Governors of Mississippi, has been unearthed at Jackson, Miss., by Director Rowland, of the Department of Archives and History. Governor Claiborne was appointed by President Jefferson to receive the Louisiana purchase territory, and some of the letters addressed to the President contain certain interesting references to the transfer. One communication, dated May 5, 1805, relates to the donation of 1000 acres of land near New Orleans to General Lafayette in recognition of his services during the Revolutionary War.

A Graceful Act.

Boston Journal.

Senor Buencamino's visit to Mrs. McKinley and the tomb of the President in Canton was a graceful act on the part of this former member of Aguinaldo's Cabinet, who is now a leader of the American party among the Filipinos. He was commissioned by his fellow-countrymen to pay this tribute in their behalf, and he carried out his mission with the warmheartedness characteristic of his race. There are a great many lessons of courtesy which we matter-of-fact Americans can learn from these interesting people in the West Indies and the East, with whom destiny has brought us into such intimate relationship.

Smelting Trust Buys Mexican Mine.

MONTEREY, Mex., July 5.—It has been learned here that the Guggenheim interests, which dominate the American Smelting & Refining Company, have authorized the purchase of the Tiro General mine, in the Charcos district, near San Luis Potosi, for the sum of $450,000. The property is a silver and lead producing mine, and was owned by Pedro L. Monroy and other capitalists at San Luis Potosi.

SUMMER THE TIME

TO TREAT AND CURE CATARRH

Climatic Conditions Are Then Most Favorable, and the Liability to Take Cold Reduced to the Minimum.

DISEASE DESCRIBED BY SYMPTOMS

The Proper Course for Sufferers.

Great numbers of people suffer from the malign poisons of catarrh, as from other chronic maladies, without any correct or definite idea of the nature of their affliction. The following symptoms have been carefully arranged to enable many sufferers to understand just what it is that ails them. Many diseases, known under various specific names, are really of a catarrhal origin and nature. Every part of the mucous membrane, the nose, the throat, eyes, ears, head, lungs, stomach, liver, bowels, kidneys and bladder, are subject to disease and blight by catarrh. The proper course for sufferers is this. Read these symptoms carefully over, mark those that apply to your case and bring this with you to Drs. Copeland and Montgomery. If you live away from the city, send them by mail, and ask for mail treatment. In either instance, and whether by mail or office treatment, the patient may be assured of the speediest relief and cure possible to medical science.

CATARRH OF HEAD AND THROAT

The head and throat become diseased from neglected colds, causing Catarrh when the condition of the blood predisposes to this condition.

"Is your voice husky?"
"Do you spit up slime?"
"Do you ache all over?"
"Do you snore at night?"
"Do you blow out scabs at night?"
"Is your nose stopped up?"
"Does your nose discharge?"
"Does your nose bleed easily?"
"Is there tickling in the throat?"
"Is this worse toward night?"
"Does the nose itch and burn?"
"Do you hawk to clear the throat?"
"Is there pain across the eyes?"
"Is there pain in front of head?"
"Is your sense of smell leaving?"
"Is the throat dry in the morning?"
"Are you losing your sense of taste?"
"Do you sleep with your mouth open?"
"Does your nose stop up toward night?"

CATARRH OF BRONCHIAL TUBES

This condition often results from catarrh extending from the head and throat, and if left unchecked, extends down the windpipe into the bronchial tubes, and in time attacks the lungs.

"Have you a cough?"
"Are you losing flesh?"
"Do you cough at night?"
"Have you pain in side?"
"Do you take cold easily?"
"Is your appetite variable?"
"Have you stitches in side?"
"Do you cough until you gag?"
"Are you low-spirited at times?"
"Do you raise frothy material?"
"Do you spit up yellow matter?"
"Do you cough on going to bed?"
"Do you cough in the mornings?"
"Is your cough short and hacking?"
"Do you spit up little cheesy lumps?"
"Have you a disgust for fatty foods?"
"Is there tickling behind the palate?"
"Have you pain behind breastbone?"
"Do you feel you are growing weaker?"
"Is there a burning pain in the throat?"
"Do you cough worse night and mornings?"
"Do you have to sit up at night to get breath?"

SYMPTOMS OF EAR TROUBLES

Deafness and ear troubles result from catarrh passing along the Eustachian tube that leads from the throat to the ear.

"Is your hearing failing?"
"Do your ears discharge?"
"Do your ears itch and burn?"
"Are the ears dry and scaly?"
"Have you pain behind the ears?"
"Is there throbbing in the ears?"
"Is there a buzzing sound heard?"
"Do you have a ringing in the ears?"
"Are there crackling sounds heard?"
"Is your hearing bad cloudy days?"
"Do you have earache occasionally?"
"Are there sounds like steam escaping?"
"Do your ears hurt when you blow your nose?"
"Do you constantly hear noises in the ears?"
"Do you hear better some days than others?"
"Do the noises in your ears keep you awake?"
"When you blow your nose do the ears crack?"
"Is hearing worse when you have a cold?"
"Is roaring like a waterfall in the head?"

CATARRH OF THE STOMACH

This condition may result from several causes, but the usual cause is catarrh, the mucus dropping down into the throat and being swallowed.

"Is there nausea?"
"Are you costive?"
"Is there vomiting?"
"Do you belch up gas?"
"Have you waterbrash?"
"Are you lightheaded?"
"Is your tongue coated?"
"Do you hawk and spit?"
"Is there pain after eating?"
"Are you nervous and weak?"
"Do you have sick headache?"
"Do you bloat up after eating?"
"Is there disgust for breakfast?"
"Have you distress after eating?"
"Is your throat filled with slime?"
"Do you at times have diarrhoea?"
"Is there rush of blood to the head?"
"When you get up suddenly are you dizzy?"
"Is there gnawing sensation in stomach?"
"Do you feel as if you had lead in stomach?"
"When stomach is empty do you feel faint?"
"Do you belch material that burns throat?"
"If stomach is full do you feel oppressed?"

CATARRH OF THE LIVER

The liver becomes diseased by catarrh extending from the stomach into the tubes of the liver.

"Are you irritable?"
"Are you nervous?"
"Do you get dizzy?"
"Have you no energy?"
"Do you have cold feet?"
"Do you feel miserable?"
"Is your memory poor?"
"Do you get tired easily?"
"Do you have hot flashes?"
