A number of young people gave a delightful lunch party in the Hoo Hoo on Friday evening. The boat left the city at 7:30 o'clock, going down the Willamette and up the Columbia, past Vancouver and the little outing was thoroughly enjoyed by all. At 9 o'clock a dainty luncheon was served, after which the homeward trip commenced. Mrs. A. L. Maxwell acted as chaperon. Those who enjoyed the excursion are as follows: Misses Helen Goss, Hazel Crocker, Carlotta Parker, Etta Honeyman, Maude Morse, Miriam Strong, Ruth Maxwell, Margaret Catlin, Laura Jordan, Grace Warren, Ruth Smith and Daisy Freeman. Messrs. Carl Williams, Chester Sewell, Tom Robertson, Marion Dolph, Harry Corbett, Tony Labbe, Fred Morey, Fred Strong, Lamar Seeley, Jack Newman, Ned Falling, Cadwalader Jones.

The lawn fete given for the benefit of the Seaman's Mission at the Wedder residence on Thursday evening was a very pretty affair. The grounds about the big house were dotted with electric lights and Chinese lanterns, while scattered among the shrubs and trees were cozy booths where articles of various kinds were for sale. Hundreds of people visited the grounds during the evening, and a good-sized sum was netted for the worthy institution where homeless sailor lads are made happy. A company of banjo and guitar players furnished soft music during the evening, and every environment of the visitor produced a feeling of enjoyment.

One of the most popular attractions of the evening was the "nigger baby" gallery of a circus. This department was in charge of Miss Helen Goss and Miss Evelyn Newman, while Leo Woodward and John Lumisair did the spelling act in tones of stentorian melody. Every successful thrower was rewarded with a cigar. Mrs. H. T. Brooke and Miss Samsbury presided over the lemonade booth, and candy was sold by Mrs. J. K. Kollock and Miss Burns. The mellow voice of A. Holbrook Whittington jured many a passer-by to the ice cream department.
