

THUGS BEAT A BOY

Crude Work of East Side Amateur Footpads.

AUTOMOBILE GOES ON A TEAR

"Hooley" Cow Adds a Third Exciting Chapter to the Story of a Lively Day Across the River.

Harry Vail, the 17-year-old son of A. Vail, Postmaster and grocer at Palestine, South Mount Tabor, while returning home Friday night on a bicycle on the cycle path near the Mount Tabor reservoir, was attacked by a gang of young toughs from the city and beaten into nearly an insensible condition. They were going through his pockets when some one came along and rescued Vail from the clutches of the crowd.

The object was to rob, and the attack was wholly unexpected. Vail was wheeling along the path when the toughs closed in on him, knocking him from his wheel before he could offer objections. Not content with this, they beat him in the face, until he was unable to make any resistance. Then they started to go through his pockets, which they turned wrong side out. Not finding any money, they were preparing to vent their disappointment in further beating when a man came along and drove the young toughs away.

Young Vail was considerably bruised about the face, but was able to proceed to his home. The attack took place about dusk. It was a bold affair, as it was hardly dark, and wheelmen were constantly passing. The assailants disappeared as soon as help came. There was great indignation in the community, and it would go hard with those who committed the outrage should they be found out. It is known that they were a gang of youngsters from town.

Two hundred grave markers have been cast and the most of these have been sent to different portions of the Indian war veterans that are marked are all used, which will not be very long, others will be cast. The desire is properly to mark the graves of Indian war veterans in the state. This can be done if the relatives and friends look up the graves. The camp makes a charge of 50 cents for a marker, which only covers the expense. No profit is wanted.

CHURCH HOUSECLEANING.

Pastor and Members of Centenary Had General Housecleaning.

This has been a busy week for Rev. W. B. Hollingshead, the pastor, and members of Centenary Church, which will be completed today. Every evening and yesterday a large force of the members has been at work cleaning up and putting things in shape for today. There has been much to do, but many hands have made the work light. The carpenters finished some time ago, and the painters have been at work. Little time was left to prepare for the opening, and it was not until yesterday that everything was finished. Mr. Hollingshead has camped in the church most all through the week, as he was determined that nothing should be left undone.

Yesterday was the general housecleaning as the wind-up just before the opening. Every one worked with a will. There is a revolution in store for the membership and friends of Centenary today in the many important changes that have been made the past three months.

ATTACKED BY A COW.

Thomas Murphy, of Mountaineer, Had Two Ribs Fractured.

Thomas Murphy, of Mountaineer, was attacked by a vicious cow a few days ago, and before he could escape two of his ribs were broken. His son, who was with him at the time, was picked up by the animal and tossed over a log. Mr. Murphy and his boy were driving the cow with a young calf to the barn. Suddenly the cow turned and made a dash at Murphy, who had no time to get out of the way. In some way the cow in turning around fell on Murphy, breaking his ribs. He managed to roll out of reach of the animal's horns. The boy then attracted the attention of the cow, and with a swing of her horns she caught him by the leg and threw him over a log a distance of about 10 feet. He lost no time in scrambling out of further danger.

AUTO ON A RAMPAGE.

Dashes Through Side of Blacksmith Shop on East Stark Street.

An automobile belonging to Dr. E. H. Dallas got on a rampage yesterday evening in the blacksmith shop on the corner of Grand avenue and East Stark street. It had been taken into the shop for repairs. While the blacksmith was at work the auto decided it was too hot inside, and made a dash for the open air. First it made a plunge for the side of the building over the shop, but the blacksmith managed to reverse the motive power when it started in the opposite direction. This time the auto went through to the street, tearing the door down and running over it. On the outside in the fresh air it became docile and was caught. No damage was done the carriage.

Met Sister After Twenty-three Years

Miss Elizabeth A. Lloyd, sister of D. M. Lloyd, foreman of Chemical Engine Company, No. 2, Holladay Addition, whom she had not seen for 23 years, arrived from Wales on the evening of July 17. Mrs. Lincoln with her son and daughter, who had been in England for the past year, returned at the same time. Miss Lloyd left Liverpool July 3, and came over the Great Northern. She is pleased with the country and climate, and will make her home in Portland. She brought her brother a cane made of the famous blackthorn, which is a beauty. She also brought other articles of value as presents from Wales. When Foreman Lloyd left Wales his sister was but 2 years old.

Taking Off Bridge Timbers.

The top timbers of the railing along the sides of the Holladay-avenue and East Sixteenth-street bridge are being removed almost as fast as they can be replaced. Thomas Legge, who looks after repairs on the bridge, says that he has renewed the timbers on this bridge several times, but they are carried off by some one, either for fuel or other purposes. On East Oak and other streets, where there are elevated roadways, timbers have been taken. Mr. Legge has an idea who is dismantling the Sixteenth-street bridge, and there is sure trouble in store for the thief. It would be safest for the one who took the timbers to return them, for then no questions will be asked.

Entertainment in Milwaukee.

The ladies of the Milwaukee gave an entertainment in the Town Hall Saturday which was enjoyable and largely attended. The Milwaukee band discoursed several airs, after which baskets containing many good things were sold at auction. The baskets were handsomely decorated, and brought on an average $3 each. The sale of the "dollar cake" caused much amusement. A silver dollar had been placed in the cake, which was baked by Mrs. John Wetzel. It was cut into 25 pieces, which were sold for 15 cents each, the whole amount received for the cake being $3.75. James Roberts, of the Milwaukee band, bought the silver dollar for the dollar. Following the sale the contents of the baskets were spread and a fine repast was partaken of. The affair was the most enjoyable Milwaukee has had for some time.

Grand-Avenue Presbyterian.

At the Grand-Avenue United Presbyterian Church, corner Grand avenue and Wasco street, Rev. J. H. Gibson, D. D., pastor, will conduct services as follows: Sunday school, 10 A. M.; morning service, 11; subject, "Covetousness"; Christian Endeavor at 6:45 P. M.; evening service at 7:45; subject, "The Lighter." In the absence of Mrs. J. H. Gibson, who regularly interprets the morning sermon to the deaf, Mr. R. C. Watson, of Portland, will interpret today. All the deaf are requested to attend. The church will send seven delegates to the National Young People's Christian Union of the United Presbyterian Church, which meets in Tacoma Tuesday. They are: Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Gibson, Miss May Newman, Mary Scott, Everett Halliwell, Marce McBride and Margaretta Gibson.

Death of Mrs. Caroline A. Hamilton.

Mrs. Caroline A. Hamilton, wife of Jonathan C. Hamilton, died in her home, 294 Larrabee street, Friday, at the age of 61 years and 8 months. She came with her husband to Oregon 19 years ago, and resided for a short time in Albany. They moved to Portland, where they have since lived. She is survived by her husband and one daughter, Miss Mary H. Hamilton, teacher in the Central School. The funeral will be held this morning at 10 o'clock from her home. Rev. F. Verone Jones, pastor of Hassalo Street Congregational Church, of which she was a member, will conduct the services.

Found a Sand Fish.

While Henry Mautz, of Sunnyside, was at Seaside this week, he secured a natural curiosity. While digging in the sand about 100 yards from the water he dug up a sand fish. It is about 10 inches long. It was found a considerable depth in the sand. When brought to the surface the fish immediately started to burrow down into the sand again. Mr. Mautz has preserved the fish in alcohol. It has a peculiar color and shape, but has eyes the same as any fish. Mr. Mautz will turn it over to the Oregon Historical Society if it is wanted for its collection of natural curios.

Highland Chemical.

Highland chemical engine, No. 4, is still in service, although there is no telling when it may be laid off. A fire horse that had been sent out to pasture was brought in and put into service and a second horse was borrowed. The first is not regarded as very reliable, as the animal was long since worn out, but was the best that could be had.

Pains in the back and kidney and liver troubles are cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

MODERN FAMILY HOTEL

"THE BROWN" REFURNISHED AND REFITTED THROUGHOUT.

A House That Is Now Strictly Modern in Its Appointments—Attractions of Its Location.

"The Brown," one of the best-known of the popular family hotels of the first order in Portland, is again open to the public. "The Brown," in point of comfort, luxury and in its many attractions, compares favorably with the best of the exclusive family hotels of the Coast.

The building occupied by "The Brown" is of brick and stone; it is strictly modern in all its appointments, and it occupies a site that commands an expansive view of the city and the immediate vicinity of Portland. It is located at the intersection of Grand and Hawthorne avenues. Looking immediately to the west is seen the placid Willamette, while beyond is the most beautiful of the many cities of the West, Portland.

"The Brown" is reached in an eight-minute ride from the business center by cars of two well-equipped lines. It is but 15 minutes' walk to "The Brown" from the Postoffice, on the West Side.

In the work of rebuilding "The Brown" special provision has been made against fire. New fire-stands have been placed in position, and in all of the halls hundreds of feet of hose are coiled, ready for immediate use.

"The Brown" contains 300 rooms, en suite and in single apartments. Excellent taste has been shown in the selection of all the furniture and carpets. No two suites are furnished alike. Handsome mantels lend an additional charm to the rooms, and it is the proud claim of the management that "The Brown" as it is today affords every comfort afforded in any of the best furnished private homes of the city.

"The Brown" is heated and ventilated after the most approved modern methods. Every room is provided with two or more windows, and the halls are all wide, well lighted and airy.

The handsome furniture which has been installed in "The Brown" was supplied by the Oregon Furniture Manufacturing Company. The rich and expensive carpets were purchased from the Meier & Frank Company.

Every room in "The Brown" is provided with both hot and cold water. Large bathrooms are conveniently located on each floor. The plumbing work has all been done along the most approved sanitary lines. The building is heated by hot water throughout.

A special feature of "The Brown" will be found in the attractiveness of its menu. The dining-room is large, perfectly lighted and rich in its appointments and furnishings. The kitchen is in charge of a competent chef. Installed here is a large French range of the same model now used in the Hotel Portland kitchen. The kitchen is modern in all its appointments, being fitted with the latest patent plate and dish warmer, and with every adjunct of successful catering after modern and refined methods.

Another attraction of "The Brown" is the handsome billiard-room. This room can also be used for dances, or other entertainment. Guests find the large croquet grounds as smooth as a billiard table, while the balustrades of the court afford delightful opportunities for quiet recreation during the summer months.

During the past two years "The Brown" has been conducted by Miss M. K. Lamerson. Under her efficient management, the house has gained a prestige as one of the most desirable of the few family hotels of the first order in Portland.
