NOT GUILTY OF STEALING NET .- A ownership of a fishing net occupied the attention of a jury in Justice of the Peace Reid's Court yesterday, the de-fendant being Frank Reed, a fisherman, who lives near Reed's Island, Columbia River. The charge was made by The Mc-Gowan Company, who asserted that a piece of their netting was found on the defendant's premises, and that at the time the net disappeared he was seen around their place. Reed denied the charge, and did not know who placed the net in his house. The jury rendered verdict of not guilty. Dalles Dalle Boars.-White Collar Line, leaving foot of Alder street 7 A. M., except Sunday; leave The Dalles daily A. #### PEOPLE DO KNOW.

They Appreciate a Bona Fide Sale, Such as L. Shanahan Has.

Talk as you may, statements made in advertisements must be backed up by facts. Mr. Shanahan aims to give his customers good value for their money ail the time, and when he announces a spe-cial sale they know it is genuine. His stores at 144-146 Third street between Morrison and Alder were crowded all week. Notwithstanding this everyone was waited upon promptly and attentively.

The great sale on all Summer goods, shirt walsts, wrappers, akirts, underwear, wash goods, etc., still continues with greater vim than ever. Many new lines have been added and further marked reductions made. See advertisement in last Sunday's (July 13) issue and watch for another big announcement July 27. The sooner you visit the store the better selection you will have. Look over the stock carefully, get prices, make compari-sons and you will buy. Merit wins every time, you know.

"GOING BACK TO MOTHER" (By E. A. Barnes, an Up-Country Rancher.)

Is the latest sung hit of the season. This aong has taken the Portland musical public by surprise. In other words, Mr. Barnes, like Lord Byron, when he wrote "Childe Harold," woke up and found himself famous. "Going Back to Mother" has a sentiment that touches the heart of all. Each and every one, young or old, can readily think of some time in their life when they were—or wished they were—"going back to mother." Mr. Barnes is the author of the "Lewis and Clark Centennial March," that has been such a source of entertainment to the theater-going public during the past Winter, as nearly all of the orchestras have given this number once during the evening. Both of the pieces have had a tremendous sale. "Going Back to Mother" is just off the press, and has had such a big sale that a second edition has been ordered. Mr. Barnes is living on a ranch at Haleigh, Or., and makes no pretension of being a professional musician. In fact, with all the great musicial hits, few have been made by professional musicians. A professional musician will write a grand classical piece, but for some reason it does not make a hit with the public. The sons, "Going Back to Mother," is published and for sale by Graves & Co., leading music dealers, 122-125 Sixth street, Portland, Or.
