

ON TRAIL OF TRACY

Washington Sheriff Is Hot After the Fugitive.

OUTLAW STOPS AT RITZVILLE

Cuddehe, of King County, Again in the Chase-Whole Country is Aroused and Every Trail is Being Guarded.

SPOKANE, Aug. 2.—An Almirra special to the Spokesman-Review says:

Outlaw Harry Tracy is believed to be traveling southward from this place in the direction of Ritzville. A farmer named Perkins, living three miles southeast of Almirra, saw a man with two horses and two rifles, passing his place in a southeasterly direction early this morning. Sheriff De Bolt, of Douglas county, arrived in Almirra shortly before noon today, and on hearing the report left for Perkins ranch. He has not been seen since. Sheriff Cuddehe, of Seattle, arrived in Almirra from Wilson Creek, via Coulee City, late tonight. The fact that Sheriff De Bolt has not been heard from leads him to believe that he is hot on the trail. Cuddehe left for the Perkins ranch with a team late tonight. Cuddehe firmly believes that Tracy passed through Coulee City about 11:30 last night. A man riding one horse, with a packhorse following, rode up the main street of that town and was seen by several residents. There is also a story that Tracy was seen near the Welch Church at 3 o'clock this morning, but this cannot be verified. Sheriff Gardner, of Lincoln county, is co-operating with Sheriff De Bolt in the chase. De Bolt is to scour the country between Almirra and Ritzville, while Sheriff Gardner is to guard the northern route. Gardner has sent four men to guard the ferries across the Columbia. The whole country is aroused.

COMPANION WITH TRACY.

Several People Saw Him Near Wenatchee With Another Man.

WENATCHEE, Wash., Aug. 2.—Further details have been secured concerning the movements of convict Harry Tracy, who crossed the Columbia River at Moses Coulee ferry, 15 miles south of Wenatchee, yesterday morning. Just how Tracy arrived in this vicinity is not certain, but it is supposed that after escaping from the Sheriff's posse near Palmer he came over the mountains by the Snoqualmie trail. Thence he must have turned north along the road via Hewitt, which leads into Wenatchee Valley. How he managed to evade recognition is a problem, as this road is the main thoroughfare over the mountains, and he must have been seen by many persons. When he arrived here he was mounted on a good saddle horse, and was leading a pack horse, with a complete camp equipment. Such an outfit, however, is so common that Tracy would readily pass as a shepherd or prospector, without question. It was about 10 o'clock yesterday morning when City Constable W. A. Sanders, who was attending the day at the farm of his son-in-law, Sam MacEldowney, was approached by a man who had just ridden up on horseback. Sanders was helping to pack fruit in a packing shed. The man had the appearance of a shepherd, such as pass the farm frequently, and Sanders, without raising his eyes from his work, nodded and said "Good day."

Naturally many rumors are rife as to the road which Tracy followed before his arrival at the MacEldowney farm Thursday. One of these, which may have foundation in fact, is the claim of several persons near town to have seen Tracy crossing the valley with a companion. Certainly two men passed within half a mile of town early yesterday morning, one of whom was mounted on a buckskin horse and leading a packhorse. Between Moses Coulee and Spokane, across Douglas and Lincoln counties, is a stretch of country where a man well mounted and knowing his ground could elude pursuit indefinitely. The difficult part of the route would be crossing the Grand Coulee, which is impassable except at certain points. East of the Grand Coulee, along Lake Creek, is a region of volcanic formation, known as the Potholes. If Tracy is heading for this region he must have received information from some one familiar with the country, as he is not known to have visited this region, which may have been the case, as he is familiar with the ground about a disbeliever in Tracy's attempt to work eastward. They say if he actually crossed Moses Coulee, he will recross the river and return to the divide between Chelan and Kittitas counties, along which he could work back into the mountains, where he could remain safely until driven out by the winter snow. Sheriff Keller absolutely refuses to give any information as to his plans. No posse has left the city, but the Sheriff has been using the long-distance telephone and telegraph freely. Messengers have been sent to Ferry and other down-river points, but owing to the distance and rough roads, no word can be expected from these before noon tomorrow.

Cuddehe Again After Tracy.

SPOKANE, Aug. 2.—Sheriff Cuddehe, of King County, is in the city. It is understood that he will go to Lincoln County to join in the chase after Tracy.

INGRAM LEAVES HOSPITAL.

Convict Who Tried to Prevent the Escape of Tracy and Merrill.

SALEM, Aug. 2.—(Special)—Frank Ingram, the prisoner who was shot by David Merrill at the time of the outbreak at the Penitentiary, left the prison hospital today. He left his apartment above the knee, and he walks on crutches. As he is unable to make a living at present by working, he is raffling off a splendid set of steel hearing utensils made by him while confined in the Penitentiary. When his means will permit he will purchase an artificial limb and engage in some useful occupation. During his 30 years' incarceration, Ingram learned the blacksmith's trade, but the loss of his limb will probably prevent him from continuing in that work. Ingram grappled with Merrill while the latter was in the act of firing at a prison guard, and the bullet passed through his knee. His hero act led to his pardon by the Governor and won him the sympathy of the people. He is receiving temporary aid here from people who are charitably disposed.

FUNERAL OF J. WEATHERWAX.

Many People Paid Tribute to Prominent Washington Man.

ABERDEEN, Wash., Aug. 2.—(Special)—In accordance with the solemn and impressive ceremonies of the Masonic ritual, the funeral of the late Jacob Weatherwax was buried this afternoon in Fernhill cemetery, overlooking the Wahluh River above this city. From all over the section of the state members of the Masonic fraternity joined with the Knights Templars, Royal Arch Masons and members of Blue Lodge, of Aberdeen, in the long cortege as it wended its way from the family residence to the city deck, where the steamer Monticello carried the entire assemblage up the river to the cemetery. Thousands of people were present to see the remains of the man they have long known as their friend, while the numerous and beautiful floral tributes from all over the country and as far away as Portland and Puget Sound cities bore mute testimony to the high regard in which the memory of the dead man was held. As the entire service was under the direction of the Masons, the pallbearers were chosen from among members of the fraternity in Aberdeen, and were as follows: John G. Lewis and Alex. Polson, representing the Knights Templar; Major H. W. Patton and Percy Little, the Royal Arch Masons, and L. J. Maloy and H. A. Hayes the Blue Lodge.

PUBLIC FLOURING MILL BURNED.

Spokane Loses $85,000 Industry—Company Will Rebuild.

SPOKANE, Aug. 2.—The Centennial Flouring Mills, with a daily capacity of 30 barrels of flour and 30 barrels of cereal foods, was totally destroyed by fire this morning. Samuel Glasgow, the manager, estimates the loss at $85,000, which is substantially covered by insurance. The fire is thought to have originated from an electric wire. The mills were the property of the Centennial Company, which Moritz Thomson, of Seattle, is president. It is practically decided that the company will rebuild. The mill was started 19 years ago and the first 100 barrels turned out were donated to the sufferers from the great fire of 1889, which destroyed practically the entire business district of Spokane.

MEETS A TERRIBLE DEATH.

Hobo Meets His End While Beating His Way on a Train.

WOODBURN, Or., Aug. 2.—(Special)—A hobo met a horrible death on the overland train here last night. The man had, no doubt, lost his way, as he was found broken and mangled at the heels, one leg was badly cut, the forehead crushed in, part of the skull from the back of the head and brains being found along the track. The right side was a gaping wound made by the instrument that held the body fast. The man's clothing was stripped from him and strewn along the track. The hobo was left lying there until the next morning, when he was found by a patrolman, who reported the case to the local police. The body was buried in Belle Pass cemetery this afternoon. Coroner Clough arrived from Salem on the Albany local and decided that no inquest was necessary.

Lane School Statistics.

EUGENE, Aug. 2.—(Special)—From the records of the County Superintendent's office the whole number of organized districts in the county at present is 166. The whole number of pupils enrolled in the schools is 628, an average daily attendance of 457. Two hundred teachers are employed in the schools of the county. Superintending there are 66 school officers, which Superintendent Miller believes is rather more than enough to be used to advantage on the work. He favors a change in the school laws so that several districts as at present subdivided shall be included in one, one school board being able to supervise four or five schools in

ONE DISTRICT AS WELL AS ONE, AND PROBABLY BETTER.

Water Power in Great Demand.

BAKER CITY, Aug. 2.—(Special)—It begins to look as though there will be a lively contest for the control of the waters of the Mammouth river for power purposes. The engineers of two rival corporations are known to be in the field, and each party seems to be in very much of a hurry. It is a foregone conclusion that there is no room for any electric light and power plants in this city, and the one that can secure the greatest advantage in this preliminary skirmish for points, as it were, will have the decided advantage.
