TRACY REWARD PAID

Dunbar Allows Claim of Creston, Wash., Posse.

WARRANT DRAWN FOR $1500

Expense Bill of $240 for Bringing Tracy's Body to Salem Disallowed —No Other Man-Hunters Ask for Reimbursement.

SALEM, Sept. 6.—(Special.)—Secretary of State Dunbar this afternoon allowed the claim of Maurice Smith et al., of Creston, Wash., for $1500 reward offered for the "capture and return" of Harry Tracy, who escaped from the Oregon State Penitentiary on June 9, being the amount offered by J. D. Lee, superintendent. A warrant has been drawn for the amount of the reward.

The Washington posse consisted of Maurice Smith, Charles A. Straub, Joseph Morrison, Frank Lillengreen and C. E. Lanter. They filed their claim for the reward on September 2. Sheriff Gardner, of Lincoln County, Washington, who notified Governor Geer at the time Tracy's body was returned not to pay the reward to the members of the Washington posse delivering the same, pending the filing of other claims, has not filed any claim against the state with Secretary Dunbar. In the affidavit that was attached to the claim of the Washington posse for the reward money, the members of the posse set forth the facts concerning the finding of the body, which have been rehearsed many times in the press.

The claims of the members of the posse for their expenses in bringing the body of Tracy to this city, and aggregating $240, were disallowed, for the reason "that the repayment of the expenses claimed is covered by the claim of Maurice Smith et al. for the reward offered for the capture and return of the escaped prisoner, Harry Tracy, allowed and paid September 6, 1902." This warrant will be paid from the appropriation for the maintenance and general and contingent expenses of the Oregon State Penitentiary.

There are no other claims pending in Secretary Dunbar's office against the state that were contracted in the pursuit and capture of Tracy and Merrill.

FIRES IN GRAIN FIELDS.

Heavy Losses From Explosions in Whitman County.

COLFAX, Wash., Sept. 6.—(Special.)—Fires in the grain fields of Whitman County continue with alarming regularity. Today four threshing separators exploded, making a total of eight since harvest began, and the record of last year, when 18 were burned in Whitman County, bids fair to be surpassed.

L. J. Swank's separator exploded while at work on his ranch near Uniontown this morning. The loss is about $400. Near St. John, the separator of Joseph Humphreys, of Palouse, exploded and was totally destroyed with a small amount of wheat. The loss is placed at $800, with $500 insurance.

Near Palouse City this morning the separator of Frank Page's thresher exploded and was totally destroyed, together with about 50 bushels of wheat. This machine was covered with $1000 insurance, which is about two-thirds of the loss.

These fires all resulted from an explosion in the separator, but the cause of these explosions is a mystery. It is generally attributed to smut in the grain, but an explosion of this kind was never known until last year. A theory that the explosions are caused by too much petroleum in the lubricating oils used about the machines has recently been advanced.

Bowser Bros., extensive wheatgrowers near Fallons, in the eastern part of the county, lost 700 sacks of wheat yesterday by fire from sparks.

FEDERAL IRRIGATION WORK.

Prospects for Experiments at North Yakima.

NORTH YAKIMA, Wash., Sept. 6.—(Special.)—President Ira P. Engiehart, of the Commercial Club, feels much encouraged by what he heard when in Seattle regarding the attitude of the Chamber of Commerce on the matter of concerted choice of some section of the state for the first work to be done under the appropriation made possible by the recent irrigation bill. He has also had encouraging words from other commercial bodies of the state, all of which agree that the Yakima Valley is admirably adapted for the first development of Federal irrigation plans because of its location, the line of its products and the richness of its soil. Mr. Engiehart thinks that the proposed conference of representatives of the commercial bodies of the state, talked of for this city the latter part of the month, will not take place before fair week.

HEIRLOOM WITH A HISTORY.

English Mahogany Bedroom Set 165 Years Old.

NORTH YAKIMA, Wash., Sept. 6.—(Special.)—N. S. Johnson, of this city, has just received from his maternal estate a bedroom set which attracts much interest. It is of five pieces, each in solid mahogany, hand-made in England 165 years ago. The set passed through the burning of Richmond, Va., during the Civil War without injury, and is now found in the sagebrush country of the Inland Empire, where a white man's foot did not tread until more than half a century after white men's hands turned it out across the Atlantic Ocean. The set has been an heirloom in the family of the late Mrs. Johnson, of Richmond, for generations.

BENTON COUNTY FINANCES.

Special Auditor Gibson Turns In His Report.

CORVALLIS, Or., Sept. 6.—(Special.)—J. H. Gibson has submitted to the County Court his report on the accounts of the County Clerk, Sheriff and Recorder of Benton County for the past two years. The work of exporting began a month ago. The report finds the County Clerk lacked $13 48 of turning over as much money as he received, but adds that in his cash box that official had on hand $14 unaccounted for, or 52 cents more than enough to square up. The Sheriff had overpaid the county $11 64, and in the Recorder's office the report says work was done to the amount of $8 25 which ought to have been collected and turned over, but was not. In the case of the Recorder all fees collected were turned into the treasury. The collections in fees and on redeemed property, after delinquent tax sales, for the two years was $3467 81. In the Sheriff's office the collections from all sources for the two years were $125,207 92. For fees in the Recorder's office for the same period the aggregate was $1851 90.

BENTON COUNTY WEALTH.

An $80,000 Advance for Last Year in Taxable Valuation.

CORVALLIS, Or., Sept. 6.—(Special.)—The assessment roll for Benton County for the current year has been turned over to the County Court. The totals show an advance in the total valuation of over $80,000. The figures are: Total taxable property, $2,481,540; the total last year was $2,288,208; the increase is $93,342. Among the items of assessment are: Money, $36,550; notes and accounts, $76,280; stocks and bonds, $25,000; household goods, $57,300; town lots, $201,195; improvements on lots, $207,895; tillable lands, $745,415; nontillable land, $653,455; improvements, $188,840. Other items are 2221 horses and mules, valued at $61,340; 7305 head of cattle, $104,260; 23,955 sheep and goats, $69,315; 2212 hogs, $5155.

A feature of the assessment is that lands of the Oregon, Corvallis & Eastern Railroad, heretofore assessed at $1 25 per acre, are now valued at $2 per acre.

JOHN W. MACKAY'S WILL.

Most of His California Holdings Deeded Away Before His Death.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—A petition for letters of administration iwth will annexed has been filed on the estate of John W. Mackay, deceased, by Mrs. Marie Louise Mackay, the widow, and Clarence H. Mackay, the son. The petition states that the estate in California consists of a one-half interest in property situated at Seventh and Townsend streets, this city, valued at $40,000; one-half interest in the Coleman tract, San Rafael, $95,000; one-half interest in property in Oakland, $10,000; one-half interest in 2200 acres of land in Mendocino County, $35,000.

The late Mr. Mackay owned considerable property in this state at one time, but he deeded most of it away prior to his death, so that the aggregate value of that upon which Mrs. Mackay and her son desire to administer is only $180,000.

CADET FAILS TO QUALIFY.

Possibility of an Oregon Vacancy at Annapolis.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Sept. 6.—Hugh C. Bellinger, of Portland, nominated by Senator Simon for a cadetship at the Annapolis Naval Academy, failed to quality in the recent examinations at that institution and will therefore not be able to enter this Fall. None of the Senator's alternates took this examination, and there is a possibility of an Oregon vacancy unless he names some one who will be examined on September 15, when the nominees of Representative Tongue will appear. On that date the candidates of Senator Turner, of Washington, will also be examined. No other members of the Oregon or Washington delegations have appointments this year. Idaho has no vacancies.

CANADIAN PACIFIC TERMINALS.

Improvements at Vancouver, B. C., to Cost $2,000,000.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Sept. 6.—R. Marpole, general superintendent of the Canadian Pacific Railway, today announced plans for the improvement of local terminals. The proposed wharf terminals, together with warehouses, flour mills and wheat elevators, will cost $2,000,000.

Five new piers, each 600 feet in length, are to be run out from the present wharves, exclusively for Oriental and Australian trade. Three other piers will be constructed for coasting and local traffic. Coal bunkers are also to be put up.

NORTHWEST DEAD.

Well-Known Vancouver Man.

VANCOUVER, Wash., Sept. 6.—(Special.)—William Crawford, a native of this city, died today, of gastritis, at St. Joseph's Hospital, after a short illness. Two weeks ago he went to St. Martin's Springs, and Wednesday he was brought home in a semi-conscious condition. Deceased was born in Vancouver, 54 years ago, and was the son of James Crawford, an early Washington pioneer. Two brothers survive him, James Crawford, of this city, and John Crawford, superintendent of the salmon hatcheries of Washington. The funeral will be held at 3 o'clock tomorrow.

Noted Indian Fighter.

COVINA, Cal., Sept. 6.—Levi Ashenfelter, whose name was a terror to the Indians on the Wyoming frontier in the early days of warfare with the Indians, died near here from accidental injuries sustained Tuesday morning while loading hay. Ashenfelter was a wealthy rancher man. He was a veteran of the Civil War, and at its close was transferred to the mountain division and fought Indians in the West many years. He moved to California in 1899, and leaves a widow here.

Indian Police Severely Injured.

NORTH YAKIMA, Wash., Sept. 6.—(Special.)—Agent Jay Lynch, of the Yakima Indian reservation, arrived yesterday with four Indians accused of assaulting Indian Police Officer Jacob, himself a member of the tribe. It seems that five nights ago, Jacob, in quest of a white man accused of furnishing liquor to Indians, who took refuge in a house two miles from Toppenish, entered the house and was set upon by a number of red men crazed by liquor. He was severely injured about the abdomen, and his recovery is doubtful. After a several days' chase, Agent Lynch made the arrests, but is still looking for a fifth man.

New Bank for Corvallis.

CORVALLIS, Or., Sept. 6.—(Special.)—Corvallis has two banking institutions now. Since the failure of the Job bank in 1893 the First National has been the only banking institution in town. This week the Willamette Valley Banking Company opened its doors to the public in neat quarters in the Hotel Corvallis. The manager is Thomas Leese, who is a partner in banks in Birtle and Russell, Manitoba, and who, a year ago, established a bank at Toledo, Lincoln County.

If you wish to enjoy a day of rest and pleasure, take the O. R. & N. train from Union depot at 9 A. M. for a short trip up the Columbia, returning, if desired, by boat from Cascade Locks. Tickets and particulars at O. R. & N. ticket office, Third and Washington.

LIEU SELECTION ALLOWED

DECISION OF VANCOUVER LAND OFFICE OVERRULED.

Corporation Relinquishes 1600 Acres in California for an Equal Area in the Washington District.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Sept. 6.—The Secretary of the Interior has directed the General Land Office to allow the corporation of F. A. Hyde & Co. to make selection of a tract of 1600 acres lying in township 6 north, range 5 east, in the Vancouver land district, in lieu of a tract of equal area relinquished in the San Bernardino, Zaca Lake and Pine Mountain forest reserves, in California. Early last Spring this company relinquished a tract of 1680 acres and attempted to make lieu selection of an equal area in the Vancouver district. It was found that title to 80 acres of the tract relinquished was not clearly shown to be with the company, and on that ground the land office refused to allow it to make lieu selection of any portion of the designated tract. Subsequently the company amended its relinquishment to eliminate the tract in dispute, and made request for lieu selection of a 1600-acre tract, but the land office held it had not amended its list, but made a new one, and for technical reasons it was not entitled to be considered. On appeal the Secretary overrules the land office, and has directed that lieu selection for 1600 acres be allowed.

UNUSUAL HOMESTEAD CONTEST.

Man's Name Is Changed by His Inability to Speak English.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Sept. 6.—A homestead contest, presenting decidedly unusual features, is now engaging the attention of the Interior Department. It is the contest of Louis Zotto against the heirs of Joseph Bartoni, and involves a quarter section of land in the Burns (Or.) land district. Zotto alleges in his contest that the entryman's true name is Zanietto, and not Bartoni; that no person of the latter name had anything to do with the entry; that the entryman had fraudulently made said entry under an assumed name; that the entryman is dead, and that his administrator intends to hold the entry for the benefit of the entryman's brother and heir.

The records of the case, now before the department, show that the entryman had compiled with the law in every respect up to the time of his death. There is no indication whatever of an attempt to make fraudulent entry. In the hearing that was had at the local land office, one Louis Bartoni testified that he had worked with the deceased in St. Louis when the latter first assumed the name of Bartoni. They were together at the time. Their boss asked their names, and he gave his as Louis Bartoni, whereupon the entryman, who could not speak English, said that his name was Joe, and the boss wrote it down Joseph Bartoni. Shortly after that the entryman took out his naturalization papers in the name of Joseph Bartoni, and went by that name ever afterward.

The entryman, according to the testimony, was a native of Italy, and duly admitted to citizenship at St. Louis in 1888. Louis Bartoni testified that Joseph Bartoni complied with the law in regard to his entry up to the time of his death, and the records show that he appears to have acted in good faith in every way.

The Secretary's office is now awaiting the determination of one important point in the case before taking final action. The land office, in its decision, held that the entryman and the Joseph Bartoni who became naturalized at St. Louis in 1888 were one and the same person. After examining the testimony, however, the Secretary finds that the naturalization papers show that their Joseph Bartoni reached the United States when 18 years of age, whereas the testimony in the homestead contest, including that of the entryman's brother, shows that he (the entryman) was 21 years old when he left Italy, spending two years in Germany before coming to the United States, which would make him at least 23 at the time of becoming naturalized. On this account the question as to the identity of the entryman is raised, and pending this determination the case is suspended. In so far as the land office dismisses the contest of Zotto, however, its action is affirmed. The final disposition of the land is yet to be determined.

BIG OIL TANK FOR ASHLAND.

Southern Pacific Will Erect One of the Largest on the Coast There.

ASHLAND, Or., Sept. 6.—(Special.)—The Southern Pacific Company has begun construction of the 2,250,000-gallon steel oil tank that is to be used in the Ashland yards. The foundations for the immense structure have been laid for two months past, but there has been some delay in securing men for the work. A crew of 27 ironworkers and boilermakers has arrived, and work will now be pushed on the large tank with the expectation of its completion in two months. The tank will be one of the largest on the Coast line. It will be 30 feet high and 115 feet in diameter.

Land Office Finding Affirmed.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Sept. 6.—The Secretary of the Interior has affirmed the decision of the General Land Office rejecting the application of Edward C. Woodall to amend his homestead entry of a quarter-section tract in the La Grande, Or., land district. The rejection is based on the fact that the applicant did not examine the land before he made his entry, and does not allege that there was any error in the entry, or that he was misled. He alleges that the land is too steep and rocky for grazing, and that the timber is so dense as to hold snow late in the season.

Roseburg Land Decision.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Sept. 6.—The Secretary affirms the land-office decision rejecting the application of Frederick A. Kribs to enter 80 acres of land in the Roseburg, Or., land district. Kribs claims to be assignee of William M. Stokes, but there is no evidence of record to show that Stokes had good title to this land.

Kribs, as assignee of Reuben E. Lawrence, also made application to enter another 80-acre tract in the Roseburg district, but the application is rejected, as the facts in that case are identical with those in the case just cited.

Camp Closes for Want of Men.

FOREST GROVE, Sept. 6.—(Special.)—E. M. Ward, who has a contract for furnishing logs for the paper mill at Oregon City, has been obliged to shut down his camp, on account of a scarcity of labor.

KALAMA CARNIVAL ENDS.

Starting Up of Mining Machinery Well Celebrated.

KALAMA, Wash., Sept. 6.—Kalama's mining carnival closed tonight, after two days of the grandest festivities ever witnessed in Southern Washington. The ceremonies at the crowning of Queen Dora were brilliant, and the decorations were gorgeous. The Queen turned the lever that started the machinery in the cyanide plant at the Darnell mine, amid cheers and the tooting of whistles. This was followed by several highly interesting and instructive speeches from mining men.

The first day of the carnival closed with a grand ball at the opera-house, which was attended by the Queen and her court. Today there were sports and games, notable among which was a game of basket ball between two teams of Kalama women, and a game of baseball between the Kalama nine and a soldier nine from Vancouver, Kalama won the ball game by a score of 10 to 7. The Richards & Pringle concert band furnished music for the carnival.

Washington County Hop Crop.

FOREST GROVE, Or., Sept. 6.—(Special.)—The hoppicking season in Washington and Yamhill Counties will begin Monday. The yield of hops will be large and the quality good. The roads are lined with people en route for the different fields. Some growers have contracted their hops for 10 and 12 cents. There is no mold or blight in any of the yards this year, and the weather is exceptionally fair for caring for the crop. The prevailing price for pickers this season will be 90 cents per 100 pounds.

Big Ashland Peach Crop.

ASHLAND, Or., Sept. 6.—(Special.)—The peach season is now at its very height, and an immense quantity of Early Crawfords is being shipped north. During the past week the shipments have averaged three and four carloads a day, most of them going to Portland and Puget Sound points and some to Manitoba.

Burglars in Rainier Store.

RAINIER, Or., Sept. 6.—(Special.)—The general merchandise store of L. Sweet was entered last night and a box of cigars removed. The money till was broken from its hinges and thrown upon the floor, but no money was secured. Entrance was forced through a rear window by use of a carpenter's chisel.

Machinists' Wages Advanced.

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., Sept. 6.—Division Master Mechanic Park, of the Santa Fe shops, here, has officially announced that hereafter the machinists on this division will receive $3 50, instead of $3 25 a day as heretofore.

Walla Walla Forger Caught.

ALBANY, Or., Sept. 6.—(Special.)—D. Estrang Shepperd, wanted at Walla Walla on the charges of forgery and grand larlency, was arrested in a Marion County hopyard by Sheriff Huston, of this city, and brought to Albany last evening to await the arrival of a Walla Walla officer. Shepperd had evaded the officers for over a month.

Cordray Entertains Salem Elks.

SALEM, Sept. 6.—(Special.)—The Elizabeth Hale Dramatic Company tonight concluded a week's engagement at the Salem Grand Opera-House. The concluding performance, "Roanoke," was witnessed by the Salem Elks' drill team, which attended the theater in a body, having accepted the invitation of Manager Cordray and the management of the company. The Elks' band and orchestra furnished the musical programme of the evening.

Short Oregon Prune Crop.

ALBANY, Or., Sept. 6.—(Special.)—Jerome LaSalle, a prominent pruneman of this city, has returned from a trip through Oregon and Washington, and reports a general shortage of prunes throughout the two states. There will be about a fourth of a crop of excellent quality. The price expected is about 20 per cent above that of last year.

Dressmakers to Invade Europe.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—American dressmakers in convention next week will lay plans, it is reported, for an invasion of Europe in retaliation for the manner in which the modistes of Paris and other European cities have been making inroads upon their custom. Negotiations are now said to be in progress for opening establishments in London, Vienna and Paris, where American women will show Europe, and especially American visitors, that the real art of fitting garments is best known by makers of robes who were born in the United States.

Don't miss $3 00 excursion.—To accommodate visiting Elks and others, O. R. & N. has made $3 00 rate, round trip, to coast. Inquire city ticket office, Third and Washington, for particulars.

CARNIVAL PIANO BUYERS

Fine Pianos and Organs Sold at the Beautiful Exhibit of Eilers Piano House.

The beautiful Kimball upright in fancy oak case, at the Eilers Piano House Carnival exhibit, was purchased by Mr. R. E. Case, of the Quimby House, for his new residence on Rodney avenue. Mr. C. E. Duke, of the Hawthorne Market, purchased the beautifully mottled walnut-cased Chickering upright. The other fancy oak-cased Kimball upright piano was purchased by Mr. C. U. Evans, of the Willamette Pulp & Paper Company, Oregon City; the fancy exhibition style of Kimball organ was sold to Mr. B. F. Hirsch, of Center Addition; Miss Ollie Henderson secured the beautiful Weser orchestral upright; Mr. L. E. Karo, of the People's shoe store, purchased the fine mottled mahogany-cased Weber upright grand piano; Mr. Thomas J. Cleeton, the attorney-at-law, secured another very fancy English mottled walnut Weber upright grand, a duplicate of which was selected by Professor W. Gifford Nash for his studio on Tenth street; Mr. C. M. Celler, of Astoria, purchased the fine little Chickering baby upright; Mr. W. C. Haseltine secured the beautiful San Domingo mahogany-cased Crown orchestral piano, the instrument that has attracted so much praise and admiration during the time it was on exhibition as the piano of many tones. Mr. J. F. McCormick, of the O. N. G. Armory, purchased another fine cabinet grand Kimball upright in fancy mottled English quartered oak case; the beautiful Colonial Chickering upright, like which there is only one single Chickering in the city, was secured by Mrs. Mary Neimus; Mrs. B. A. Todd, of Nehalem, purchased the fine new Hobart M. Cable upright in fancy San Domingo mahogany case; a duplicate of this piano goes to far-away California for Mr. and Mrs. Frank Freeman, who will make their future home at Marysville, Cal; another fine Kimball piano in fancy figured English mottled walnut case was purchased by Mrs. Lottie E. Ward; while Mr. Charles Thwing, of Carrollton, secured the fanciest Crown orchestral upright piano, in beautiful dappled mahogany case ever shipped to Oregon. This piano is now standing in the center of the exhibit.

Mrs. Rose Midgley Hollenbeck, of the well-known concert pianiste of Eugene, could not resist the charms of the beautiful Chickering small grand, which reigns supreme at the extreme south portion of the exhibit, while a beautiful new Schuman upright in mahogany was purchased by Mrs. Ella Doeneka.

Just as soon as one of the fine instruments is sold at the booth, by special arrangement with the board of managers Eilers Piano House is permitted to withdraw the instrument (if so desired by purchaser), and a new one is put in its place. This explains why so many more pianos have already been sold that can be displayed at the booth at one time.

If you are thinking of purchasing a fine piano before the advance in prices occurs, which is bound to take place very soon after October 1, owing to increased freight rates, and also on account of increased cost of making pianos at the various factories, it will pay you to carefully to investigate the Eilers Piano House exhibit at the fair, or, better still, to call at the spacious warerooms, at 351 Washington street, where a selection is offered out of an assortment of more than 300 fine pianos, embracing the products of twenty-eight different factories. Remember the street and number, 351 Washington street, opposite Cordray's Theater.

Diseases of Men

IT CERTAINLY CAN BE STATED WITHOUT FEAR OF contradiction that previous to our announcement of the importance of urethral inflammations and chronic prostatic affections, as factors in disorders of men, that treatment was conducted in an impracticable and unsuccessful manner. Our brilliant cures and the adoption of our methods by others is proof of its correctness.

WHY DRUGS FAIL—Many Men Treated for Weakness Which Never Existed—Failure Due to Wrong Diagnosis.

There is a tendency nowadays to ascribe cases of lost vitality to lack of nerve force and to treat them as such, with tonics, electricity and stimulants, resulting in but the most temporary benefit, if at all.

As a result of observations and practical experience, I have been convinced that the nerves play but a subsidiary role in the production of disorders of men. It is very unusual to find any trouble in an otherwise strong man, other than a damaged prostate or deep urethral inflammation, particularly in those whose disorders originated in too-long-continued and too-often-repeated excitement, or the harmful influence exercised by an ill-treated contracted disorder, and if exhausted nerve force seemed to be present, it is only as a concomitant, or perhaps we may say a complication of chronic prostatitis, and disappeared with its cure. Still further, these facts are verified by purely local treatment, for procedures directed toward repairing the damaged gland are always rewarded by the most brilliant cures.

Special attention given to Varicocele, Contagious Blood Diseases and Acute and Chronic Urethral and Prostatic Inflammation. Consultation free and no charge whatever for treatment of any case in which cure is not effected. Colored chart of the organs and Diagnosis Blank sent free on application.
