OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Sept. 27.-The postal receipts of in prison at Mare Island. a state or city are generally regarded as a safe indicator of their prosperity, and where large increases are noted, good conditions almost always prevail, while a slump in the gross receipts of such offices almost always marks a period of commercial and industrial depression. In these dispatches has already appeared a brief statement of the receipts of the Presidential offices of Oregon, Washington and are those whose receipts for the year aggregate $1000 or over. Subjoined is a complete tabulated statement, giving the S. Shockley, Roscoe F. Oakes. omparison with regard to each Presidential office in the states named. In some instances the 1901 column is found to contain blanks, indicating that such offices were not in the Presidential class in that year. In other instances the receipts shown for 1902 may be less than $1000, which indicates that the office was made Presidential during the year 1902, and that returns for a full year cannot the returns for a full year. and that returns for a full year cannot therefore be had. Colonel Low, who made inspections on these two sites, will not return to Washington for two or three weeks, and will first report sites inspected in the Middle West. #### KILLED BY THE TRAIN.

A. K. Rary, of Kelso, Wash., Absent-Mindedly Remains on Track.

KELSO, Wash., Sept. 27.-(Special.)-A. K. Rary, of this place, was struck and killed by a Northern Pacific Railroad engine this afternoon. One side of his head was smashed, an arm and a leg were broken, and he died shortly afterward. The accident was no fault of the engineer. It seems that Rary, who was a sawmill employe, was returning to his work from dinner, and was walking along the ends of the ties. The train was approaching the depot, and slowing down at the time. The engineer whistled three or four times. Apparently Rary was absent-minded, or the noise of the mill drowned the rumbling of the approaching train, as he made no move to get off the track. Final-ly, apparently realizing the approach of the train, he became excited and stepped

Mr. Rary leaves a wife and three small children. He came from Kansas about four years ago. James Muckle, in whose employ he was for some time past, says he was a strictly sober man, had perfec hearing, and was very industrious. He was 30 years old.

GRIFFIN IS ACQUITTED.

Jury Exonerated Him From Murder Charge in Killing Johnson,

GRANT'S PASS, Or., Sept. 27 .- (Special) -The jury returned a verdict of "not guilty" this afternoon in the case of Galvin Griffin vs. State of Oregon, for killing Edwin Johnson, at Waldo. The jury was out about three hours. Every one acquainted with the facts in the case feels that the jury did right. Griffin has modestly been receiving the congratulations of his friends this afternoon.

The evidence in the case that weighed heavily in favor of Griffin was the fact that he was backing away from Johnson when the latter was dealing him the blows in the face that blacked Griffin's eyes and broke his nose. The character of the two men also carried much weight in the rendering of the verdict. Johnson had the reputation of being a bully and an all-around bad man, and, as some of the witnesses testified, was the acknowledged "terror of the community.

STRIKE IS ALL TALK. Prominent Brotherhood Official Says He Knows Nothing of It.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 27.-W Newman, fourth grand master of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, of Cleveland, O., is in this city on an annual tour of inspection of subordinate lodges. Speaking of the published reports of a threatened strike of railroad men, should a demand for an increase in wages be denied, Mr. Newman said that while an organization was effected in Kansas City last Summer of the chairmen of the five great railroad employes' organizations, it did not mean that the railroad men would make a demand for an increase of pay, or that the new organ-ization of the Brotherhoods had the power to enforce such a demand if it should be made. He added:

"If it is the purpose of this organiza-tion to make a demand for higher wages, with a threat to go out on strike if the demand is not granted, as one of the general officers of the largest of the railroad organizations I would know some-thing about it. As a matter of fact, i finneuvers Are Free From Sham Battle, and Are Conducted Solely for the Education of the 4500 Soldiers in Camp.

Troops at Fort Riley Are Hard at Work.

BLUES MOVE AGAINST BROWNS

FORT RILEY, Kan., Sept. 27 .- Today's warfare between the armies of the blues and browns consisted of preparing to fight without fighting. In military parlance, he maneuvers are described as follows; "The entire force on the march with suitable advance guard for a division of war strength, advance guard, entire main body in part imaginary." What was done is as follows: Early in the morning the army of the browns, few in number, marched out to the north line of the reservation and them wheeling about went back over their tracks until they came in sight of the advancing army of the blues. The browns, supposed to be only an advance guard supported by an imaginary body of reserve troops, prepared for action as soon as they sighted the blues, and the latter prepared for action as rapidly as possible after the browns came over the horizon lines. When everything was ready for the killing to commence, everybody tramped back to camp, and the maneuvers of the day were over. No Sham Battle About Maneuvers.

There is none of the sham battle about the maneuvers, which have now fairly opened. There is nothing of the pomp and glitter of war. It is all business. There are no spectacular charges with much noisy consumption of gunpowder. Everything is done with the object of conveying a lesson, and when the problem has been explained the maneuver is over. There will be no question of "who wins" in Army maneuvers. Everything is done with the idea of teaching the younger officers of the regular Army and the visitors of the National Guard how such things should be done in the presence of the actual enemy.

The advance guard of the main body under the command of General Bates, comprised Company B, of the First Battalion of Engineers, the First Squadron of the Fourth Cavalry, less one platoon, which remained with the main body, the Seventh Battery of Field Artillery L.id two guns of the Sixth Battery of Field Artillery, the Eighteenth Infantry, two battalions of the Twenty-second Infantry, and a squad of 10 men of the Hospital Corps. It was accompanied by a number of wagons, carrying ammunition and entrenching tools and six ambulances. There were in the advance guard about 2500 men. The main body comprised all the remaining troops in camp, about 4500 in number. This formed the army of the blues. The browns, who, by power of imagination, were equal to the blues in numbers, were commanded by Colonel C. C. Carr, and consisted only of the second squadron of the Fourth Cavalry, the First Squadron of the Eighth Cavalry and the Sixth Battery of Field Artillery, less two guns with the blues. Browns' Line-Up for Battle,

The browns moved out early in the norning, and at 9 o'clock were in position near the north line of the reservation. where Colonel Carr formed his men for battle, extending his line as much as possible to give the impression that his force was larger than it was. The Twenty-second Infantry was on the left and left center, the Eighteenth on the right and right center. Meanwhile, along what is known as the "Old Governor Harvey" road, General Bates was advancing with his army. Away out on either flank his scouts were thrown, and the light cavalry riding in advance of the column eagerly watched for Colonel Carr and his browns. When they were finally sighted word was given to push forward as rapidy as possible for some high ground in front of the column. The troops deployed rapidly, forming lines of battle as they hastened up the hills, the batteries dashed into position, and with an almost incredible speed were ready to open upon the enemy. The infantry reserves behind the main line of battle fell into position and ambulances and ammunition wagons went bumping over the rough prairie ground to the places where they could extend the greatest assistance. When the preparations for battle were completed the umpires declared the end of the day's work. and the march back to camp was taken

There will be no excursion tomorrow, and on Monday the object-lesson will be "the contact of opposing forces of all
