EXPECT AMICABLE AGREEMENT

Commission, However, Gives Out a Statement, in Which It Says It Does Not Yield Jurisdiction of the Matter.

SCRANTON, Pa., Nov. 22.—The Anthracite Coal Strike Commission adjourned today to meet December 3, and it is the hope and expectation of all parties to the controversy that when the arbitrators again meet an agreement on the points in dispute will be ready for submission for approval of the commission.

Attorneys on both sides express the opinion that an amicable adjustment will be reached and predict that the commission will make only one more trip to this city.

Before adjourning today a substitute or conciliation committee was appointed in order that the wishes of the commission may be officially voiced with regard to any matter that may arise in the interval.

The committee, which is made up of Commissioners Watkins, Parker and Clark, this afternoon called into conference as many of the attorneys representing the parties before the commission as could be gathered on short notice and stated to them the attitude of the commission. After the meeting a statement was given out in order that the public may know the position of the arbitrators regarding the new turn of affairs.

Statement of Commission.

"It appears that there is some misunderstanding, or some lack of understanding in connection with the recess taken by the commission and the suggestion in that connection that possibly the arbitrators might be able to agree upon some of the important points involved.

The recess was desired by counsel for both sides because authorities on both sides are not yet ready. The suggestion was made that perhaps some agreement might be reached between the principals which would simplify the problem and assist in reaching proper conclusions.

The chairman, speaking for the commission, stated that the commission would gladly cooperate as far as possible in consistently doing in furthering an effort to reach an understanding through conciliatory means and methods.

The idea has gone out in some quarters that the matter is to be settled without further effort or responsibility on the part of the commission. This idea is entirely wrong. The part of the commission will, when the commission will, announce, cheerfully encourage a conciliatory spirit and action between the parties to the controversy, but the commission representing the several interests in surrender jurisdiction of any matters which have been referred to it, nor responsibility for the conclusion reached.

Adjustments can be made which does not by its terms compel the arbitrators enough to secure the approval of the commission and its incorporation in the award.

heated before he would assent to the rights of another individual American." Under prevailing conditions, the independent operators declare they cannot concede an advance of wages, and they desire the opportunity of presenting facts and figures which will show, they believe, that the general average of earnings of the miners working for the independent operators is over $700 a year, and in many instances from $700 to $1200 per year.

In declaring the commission adjourned until December 3, Chairman Gray announced a committee will be in Scranton for the purpose of taking matters that any parties before the commission might desire to present. Subsequent to the adjournment, Commissioners Wilkins, Parker and Clark were appointed by the commission to remain here.

When the Kiel Yacht Club was organized by about 30 naval officials, the Emperor and Herr Krupp were present. Admiral von Senden-Bibran remarked: "We ought to have a clubhouse."

"There is only one man who can give it to us," said the Emperor, as he glanced at Herr Krupp, who replied that he would think about it. Out of this suggestion, Herr Krupp built the clubhouse and the adjacent hotel and restaurant overlooking the Kiel Ford.

Emperor Sends Message. Herr Krupp determined two days ago to return to the island of Capri, believing that he could not best meet the accusations that he had left there at the request of the Italian government.

"The news of the unexpected death of our chief deeply touches me. Providence had placed Privy Councillor Krupp at the head of an industry that has won a name for itself in the world."

(Alfred Krupp, the German gun manufacturer, was born at Essen, in Westphalia, April 25, 1812. When he was 14 years of age his father, Friedrich, the discoverer of the art of making cast-iron, died, and he was left in the orphanage for the support of the family.

Problem the Paris Police Are Wrestling With—Both Theories Have Support—Her Last Will.

PARIS, Nov. 22.—The police officials here admit that they are making no progress toward the solution of the mysterious death of Mrs. Ellen Gore, and this fact is strengthening the theory that the affair was one of accident rather than of design.

the theory of accident. Consul-General Gowdy also inclines against the accident theory, but the American officials will not take an active part in the prosecution.

On the other hand, one of the American officials assigned to the case says his personal inspection of Mrs. Gore's body shows that the direction of the bullet was almost parallel with the surface of the earth and that the point at which the ball emerged from the back of the head was hardly a half inch higher than the point at which it entered above the eye.

Letters and telegrams in the possession of the police show the circumstances of the meeting on the day of the tragedy and concrete Mrs. Gore from the suspicions which might arise from her presence in De Rydzewski's room.

A cablegram has been received here by a former friend of Mrs. Gore, a New York lawyer, announcing that the latter has in his possession a letter written by Mrs. Gore last December. The details of the instrument, however, are not given.
