

Society people are greatly interested in the forthcoming grand ball to be given after Lent is over about the middle of April, to celebrate the opening of the Scottish Rite Cathedral. It is understood that the committee will limit the invitations to 600, each admitting a gentleman and lady. It is stated that the grand ballroom in the building is the largest and most complete in the Pacific Northwest, containing, as it does, 5000 square feet of space in addition to that in the musicians' platform. The room is lighted by 400 incandescent lamps, not one of which is visible. The committee plans to arrange a musical entertainment in the auditorium of the building, which has seating accommodation for 1000 people, the music proceeding the grand ball. On this occasion there will be heard for the first time in this city the valuable organ originally built by the Aeolian Company, of New York, for the Pan-American Exposition. It is understood that the best musical talent in the city will be engaged for the occasion. The entire floor will be thrown open for the grand ball, and the event will be of such an enjoyable nature that it will not soon be forgotten in this city.

In honor of the new members received into the choir at the last communion service. In one corner of the church parlors was arranged an interesting collection of curios labeled "The Old Curiosity Shop." This attractive place was in charge of "Little Nell" and her grandfather, who were impersonated by Miss Mammie Spaulding and Mr. A. A. Morse. Among the most interesting things in the exhibition were a collection of articles brought by Rev. E. T. Allen, from Perusia—a number of headresses, vases and several complete Persian costumes. A display of "Mrs. Arley's wax works" was an entertaining incident during the evening and Mrs. C. R. Templeton's reading of "The Ivy Green" was another. The wax-works were arranged by Mrs. August G. Klosterman and the members of the Ladies' Aid Society and were an entire success.

Mr. Wilson, of St. Helen's Hall, performing the marriage ceremony. The bride was given away by her father and the best man and bridesmaid were, respectively, Judge Webster and Miss Miss Lane. The bride's gown was of cream crepe de chine over satin, trimmed in old lace. She carried a bouquet of bridesmaid roses. The house was beautifully decorated in white roses, maidenhair fern and white ribbon, violets and asparagus. The dining-room decorations were pink carnations and smilax.

The annual meeting of the Multnomah Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, was held yesterday, the anniversary of George Washington's wedding day, at the home of Mrs. F. P. Mays, at Twenty-third and Flamingo streets. The election of officers took place and was presided over by the hostess, and the members of the chapter spent a pleasant hour in conversation.

Coming events of much interest to the chapter members and their friends are the annual banquet of the Sons and Daughters of the American Revolution, to be held at the Hotel Portland, on Tuesday evening, February 24, and the National Congress of the organization, to meet in Washington during the week beginning February 22. Mrs. N. K. Fairbank, National president of the Daughters of the American Revolution, will make the address of welcome on this occasion, and has invited Mrs. J. B. Montgomery, state regent of Oregon, to respond, as a representative of the society in the Northwest.

Mrs. Edward W. Bingham and Mrs. D. P. Sherman will be delegates from Portland to the National congress. At the meetings to be held here in February, March and April, there will be lectures by Professor J. P. Ewing, of Portland Academy. The subjects of the lectures are: "Women's Part in the Revolution," "Mary and Martha, Mother and Wife of Washington," and "Alexander Hamilton and Aaron Burr."

CHIEF YEOMAN OF WISCONSIN WEDS A PORTLAND GIRL

Stephen M. Katzer, chief yeoman United States flagship Wisconsin, and Miss Aurelia Henneman, of Portland, daughter of Eugene Henneman, proprietor of the Portland Hotel, Long Beach, were recently married in this city in the presence of a host of friends. and the impression prevailed that it was necessary to be elected by the club to become the guest of the Salem club. The affair at Salem is of a purely social character and all clubmen from any part of the state, who can go, will be welcome and be entertained, but it is quite necessary that the Salem women should know how many are going, and Mrs. McRoberts, 139 Sixteenth street, or Mr. Glafke should be notified at once that they may send the number of Portland women who may be going. All who can should accept this generous hospitality.
