GAVE MIDNIGHT MATINEE Gordon-Shay Opera Company Rewarded Audience's Patience.

After three performances to crowded the Gordon-Shay Grand Opera Company has left the city for Victoria, B. C., with the rare record of having given what may e called a midnight matinee. Their rendition of "Carmen," with Rose Cecilia Shay, mezzo soprano, in the leading role, began Friday night at 10:30 o'clock and ished at 1:20 o'clock yesterday morning on account of their late arrival, caused by a washout on the Astoria & Columbia River Railroad, between this city and As toria. It is to the everlasting credit of a Portland musical audience that, instead of going home, they sat for 24 hours in their quite a number of people, when they found before 8 o'clock on the eventful night that it was doubtful if the opera ngers could reach Portland in time to give a performance, surrendered their tickets and got back their money. But when the curtain did ring up on Bizet's "Carmen," they gave the singers, tired and hungry as they were, a hearty wei-

Bizet's "Carmen." Verdi's "Il Trovatore," Leoncavallo's "Il Pagliacci" and Mascagni's "Cavalleria Rusticana" were the four attractions offered during the visit, and each received a careful, musi-cianly and enjoyable rendering. Of the four "Carmen" is naturally one of the strongest, with its warm, alluring, seduc-tive music and rapid action. Much of its or was created by the splendid acting singing of Rose Cecilia Shay, as Car-, the coquettish, dashing cigarette with gypsy blood in her veins, in love equally with Don Jose, the Sergeant of Dragoons; Escamillol, the toreador, or any other that might strike her fancy. It was a powerful portrayal, and much of its beauty was reflected from the personal charms of the prima dona. Her acting in the scene in which she is stabbed by her ormer lover was sensational. Joseph redericks, tenor, as Don Jose, displayed smooth, velvety voice of rare quality, and his singing was all the more welcome a these latter days, when the tenor soloist is generally the weakest and most throaty in the whole show. He acted in-telligently. "Carmen" would have been shorn of its motif had Don Jose sensibly fallen in love with and married Michaele, the pure-minded, spirituelle village girl in-stead of the virago who earned her living by making and afterward smoking cigar-ettes. But here is where such an actress ene Noldi gets her opportunity, as excellent foil. In "Carmen" Noldi displayed a charming septano voice and clear musical understanding.

Much was expected of Achilie Alberti, the dashing toreador, and he more than fulfilled expectations. His smooth, pleas-ant baritone voice of good volume was beard to fine advantage in the famous toreador, some and he showed in addition heard to fine advantage in the famous toreador song, and he showed in addition that he is a finished actor. The chorus sang well together and acted creditably. In the numerous operas Guiseppe Verdi composed, about 30, he will be affectionately remembered by three, "Traviata," "Trovatore," or "Rigoletta," and although trained musicians may dispute the point, the multitude prefer "Trovatore." Although the liberetto deals with warring house fighting and death, yet the music costs fighting and death, yet the music eigns in a high sphere all its own. The amous duet between "Home to Our dountains," interpreted by Eloise Bishop, ontraito, as "Arucena," and Walter Wheatley, tenor, as "Manrico," is known and loved wherever the English language s spoken. It is not too much to say that many of the solos and choruses in this opera are still largely used in our singschools. Walter Bishop has a tenor had a darker part to sing in "Trovatore," but she sang like the artist she is. James Stevens, haritone, made a manly, imures-sive "Count de Luna."

Last night the attractions were Italian, "Il Pagliacci" and "Cavalleria Rusticana," sung in English. Both these operes bear a mystical relation to each other. Leon Cavello is older than his famous fellow countryman Mascagni, but, since many musicians are agreed that his "Il Pagliacel" was undoubtedly inspired by "Cavalleria Rusticana," he must be regarded as a follower of Maecagni. Thes two are the most prominent representa-tives of the new school of Italian music, In "Il Pagliacci," the story is one of the It l'agnacet, the story is one of the Italian order of stormy tragedy, in which love affairs are mixed up and Canio, the Punchinello in a troupe of country mountebanks, stabs his faithless wife, Nedda, the Columbine. Interest was heightened, when Achille Alberti, dressed in the grotesque garb of a clown, stood last night in front of the curtain before the latter was raised, and sang his mocking song. Then the opera proceeded. Walter Wheatley as "Canio" again deepened the favorable impression he previously made, and his acting was realistic when his heart is seared by domestic sorrow and he determines to don his motley again and be a player. Pauline Johnson, as "Nedda," sang and acted effectively.

There is, of course, better, richer, more

> VANDERBILT-NEILSEN WEDDING POSTPONED BECAUSE OF CANFIELD SCANDAL.

MISS KATHLEEN NEILSON, ENGAGED TO REGINALD VANDER-

NEW YORK Jan. 39 .- (Special.) - The marriage of Reginald C. Vanderbilt and Kathleen Nellson, which was to have taken place soon, will be postponed until next Summer, as a result of his escapade at Canfield's, where he is said to have lost $100,000 in a night, and which has led to his being sought as a witness by trict Attorney Jerome. Jerome's action in bringing the young man into the case is much criticised, it being urged that there is higher game for him to get after if he was looking for notoriety.

Illness of Mrs. Arthur T. Kemp, the sister of the bride-elect, and the notoriety following Jerome's crusade against Canfield, with all the disagreeable publicity attendant thereon, were urged as reasons why the two families had determined on changing the date of the ceremony.

The District Attorney is quoted as saying that he would not interfere with the matrimonial plans of the young man to the extent of having a subpena served on him if he came to New York to get married. It is common knowledge that this subpena was actually issued for his appearance as a witness against Canfield, and no effort was made to deny that he had gone to Newport to escape the ordeal of aving to tell the grand jury what he krew.

The wedding was to have been celebrated at 100 Fifth avenue, the home of Mrs. F. Nellson, but Miss Neilson is in favor of baving the function on a large scale, and it was realized that the house was hardly big enough. The Vanderbilt family believe that a Newport wedding will not be the cause of bringing up so much unpleasant talk, as by that time the Canfield incident will dent is exceedingly anxious that the possible moment, yet the indications now are that serious obstructions may placed in the way of ratification.

The conference held today was with a view of ascertaining if possible what could be done to hasten consideration of the treaty by the Senate. An effort is to mittee with a favorable report. That the effort will be successful is reasonably cerview of the matter will only have begun. Senator Morgan, chairman of the committee on interoceanic canals, takes the ground that the negotiations sconducted by the State Department with Mr. Her-ran, representing Colombia, are not valid, as he holds that Mr. Herran did not possess the necessary authority to make a treaty binding upon his country, and it is understood that he will use his utmost efforts to defeat the treaty in its present form. Indeed, the intimation has reached the President that when the treaty is called for consideration in the Senate amendments will be offered to almost every section of it. Such action, it is well understood, will seriously delay final action upon it, even if it should not re-sult in defeat of its ratification. It is stated definitely that any amendment to the treaty would spoil the entire canal project, as the government of Colombia might hesitate to accept amendments made to it, particularly if they involved essential details of principles.

During the conference today the situation was considered carefully, but what decision, if any, was reached, could not be ascertained. It is known only that me escertained. It is known only that an earnest effort is to be made in the Senate to secure ratification of the treaty at the present session, but the method of pro-cedure is not disclosed. While the treaty will not fall, even if it should not be ratified at this session, the officials fear that the delay which would result from failure of the Senate to take final action might nvolve serious consequences.

The Senate committee on foreign relations again discussed the treaty, but did tions again discussed the treaty, out that not reach a conclusion. The discussion was based entirely upon the amendments to the treaty which were offered yester-day by Senator Morgan. Senator Morgan's resolution directing an inquiry into the credentials of Senor Herran, who negotiated the treaty on the part of Colombia, was voted down, Senator Morgan said in the course of his discussion of the question that his only purpose was to perfect the treaty, so that there would be no trouble in the future. He declared that his interest in the proposed canal was as great as it would be if the Nicaragua route had been chosen. He felt, he said, that the document, in its present shape, did not guard details as carefully as it should, and he urged his nents as calculated to ac that end.

Our stock admits of the sale of but 25 of these fine planos on such terms, and they must go quickly-prices are too low to justify anything but quick disposal. Three went yesterday, the first day they were placed in the club. It is an opportunity anybody can take advantage of, and they will always be glad that they have. Positively no restrictions are placed upon members of the club. Your getting your plano does not depend upon any one else joining or upon the club being filled. All you have to do is to make your selection and your first payment, when your plano is delivered to you. We take all the risk of securing the 100 members which insures these wholesale prices to retail buyers. This, however, is no risk at all, for the people are quick to see the saving this means to them, and are cagerly taking advantage of this additional opportunity we are giving. Come early or write quick if you want to get a place in this club. Ellers Plano House, Washington street, corner Park, Portland, Or.
