

The hospitable home of Colonel and Mrs. John Temple Grayson, on Sixth street, was thrown open yesterday afternoon for a reception given by the Young Women's Christian Association to the teachers of the Portland schools. Receiving with Mrs. Grayson were: Mrs. Walter J. Honeyman and Miss Abby McElroy, president and general secretary of the Y. W. C. A.; Mrs. Helen Ladd Corbett, Mrs. I. H. Amos, Mrs. H. C. Campbell and Mrs. H. S. Butterfield.

The house was decorated in a charming way with an abundance of flowers and greenery, and the handsome gowns of the women who received and the dainty light costumes of the girls who fluttered about the dining-room made the reception a very pretty one. Mrs. Grayson's costume, of pale-blue crepe de chine, elaborately tucked and lace trimmed, was particularly handsome.

Mrs. James Pailing and Mrs. S. R. Johnston poured tea at a pink carnation-decked table, assisted by Miss Anna Stuart, Miss Grace Elliot, Miss Norcross, Miss Amos and Miss Cole.

Mrs. Kathleen Burns was hostess at a very pleasantly arranged dinner Wednesday evening. The table was lighted by tapers and delicately decorated with yellow daffodils and smilax. The guests were: Misses Hazel Welder, Helen Goss, Nan Wood, Laura Jordan, Ruth Barrett, Mrs. Fred Strong, R. B. Lumm, M. C. Cheal, L. V. Woodward, George Warren, T. Robertson.

Clayson, 23 Hancock street, when her daughters, Miss Annie May and Miss Charlotte Louise were united in marriage to Mr. William Campbell Blanchard and Mr. John Wilson Snook, respectively. A profusion of gossamer and Oregon grape, together with cut flowers, potted plants and ferns, were used in the decorations. In the parlor the officiating clergyman, Rev. James Allen Leas, of St. James' English Lutheran Church, awaited the two couples, who, entering while Mrs. Winnebger, who presided at the piano, played Mendelssohn's wedding march, took their places and the ring service of the church was read. The brides were tastefully attired in gowns of white crepe de chine, with silk lace applique trimmings. Both carried bouquets of white carnations. Punch was served by Miss Frances Cottingham. Mr. James Forrest, of Seattle, sang, "O, Promise Me," Mrs. Howard Pettigrew, of Oswego, read Longfellow's "The Launch of the Ship," and responded with choice selections with musical accompaniments. Mr. A. C. Blanchard, brother of the groom, also rendered a solo very pleasingly. The company repaired to the dining-room, where elaborate
