NAVAL RECRUITING STATION OPENS TOMORROW IN PORTLAND.

Apprentices and Young Men Wanted to Man Uncle Sam's Big Battleships—Examinations Begin Monday.

Examinations for service in the United States Navy will begin tomorrow morning at the local recruiting office in the Postoffice building. Lieutenant C. R. Miller will be in charge, assisted by Dr. Ralph Taylor, examining surgeon, and Master-at-Arms F. Josephson.

The United States Navy is calling for recruits, the class desired, above all, being young men and boys with good recommendations and the consent of parents. No one can enlist without the best of recommendations from his former employer or a public officer of some kind.

Apprentices have to face an examination every three months, and are advanced accordingly. With their advancement their pay increases, and not only have they the advantage of the finest training, but their board and lodging are furnished, and for the first year their clothing in addition to their pay.

Boys receive $5 per month, with an increase every year, after the first year, of $10. Before their enlistment they completed they receive $30 per month if they have passed all the necessary examinations. Their term expires at the age of 21.

If they decide to try the land once more they are fitted for any one of a long list of vocations. Their training has not been misapplied, and they have been of the world. Training schools and ships are no longer a punishment for refractory boys.

Many people do not understand much as to the routine of a boy training on the schools in the Navy. They have received a boyish and enthusiastic letter from Denver youth to his loving "dad" came unexpectantly to the hands of Mr. Josephson while he was in conference with the admiral.

Here is the letter: "Pasadena, Cal.—Dear Father: I suppose you have been wondering why I did not write you more often. Well, you were called out on a week's cruise on the ship 'Alert', and so unexpectedly that I did not have much time, as you know, to write you more than a few lines. I would have had more time, as you know, to write you more than a few lines. I would have had more time, as you know, to write you more than a few lines.

were more immigrants coming to the City of New York from the Southern than from the Middle or far Western States. Not only are the native born children of native Americans outnumbered by those who are foreign born or the children of foreign immigrants, but the racial nature of the foreign element is materially changing. Instead of being almost exclusively Irish and Scotch-Irish, or even 80 per cent. Irish born, as they were 12 years ago, and the Germans fewer by upwards of 5000. The increase of the foreign element in the last decade has come almost entirely from Russia, Italy and the Hapsburg dominions.

NOTABLE PHILADELPHIANS

Moses King, of New York, Issues a Notable Book.

It will be interesting to the great numbers of Pennsylvanians and especially Philadelphians living in this and other cities of the Pacific Coast, to know that a new book, "Philadelphia and Notable Philadelphians," has just been published by Moses King, of New York, to tell all the interesting and notable Philadelphia men and families spots and historical buildings in Philadelphia that the book is a marvel of completeness.

"Philadelphia and Notable Philadelphians" is a notable book from mechanical, artistic and literary standpoints. It comprises over 230 pages, is by 10 inches. Thick, heavily gilded paper, and bound in elegant cloth. It is not only an ornament to the reading-table of private homes, but is useful as a book of reference for educational and public institutions generally.

On the front piece are representations of the venerable Liberty Bell that rung out the news of the American Revolution on Independence Hall, Chestnut street between Fifth and Sixth, and also William Penn, the founder of the city. A short historical and descriptive sketch of the city follows, by Theodore Tilton, which is written authoritatively and clearly describes the causes which led to Philadelphia becoming the typical native American city of this continent.

They always poison the glands in the armpit, then cure is impossible. Any lump or sore on the LIP, FACE or anywhere else is cancer. Cancer never pains until almost past cure.

It is an old dodge, and it is said that one such concern in other days collected in $2 from the deluded negroes as much as $20,000 to carry through a similar bill, which was twice read and referred to the committee on pensions.

Hague Tribunal.

1. What is the Hague Tribunal as spoken of in the present trouble between the allied powers and Germany?

2. Who is the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States; also, the eight Associate Justices?

3. Who are the Justices of the Supreme Court of this state?

4. This Hague tribunal or permanent court of international arbitration was established by the Peace Conference held at The Hague in 1899. This court was suggested by Sir Julian Paucotet, the British representative. It provides for a central bureau at The Hague, where records of the proceedings and lists of persons eligible to succeed upon the court shall be kept.
