McBride Vetoes $50,000 Appropriation.

HE'S LOUD FOR ECONOMY

He Will Appoint Commission to Serve Without Money.

ST. LOUIS EXHIBIT TO BE USED

After Cutting Out Vital Sections of the Measure, Washington's Executive Permits Remainder to Become Law.

Governor McBride effected a saving of nearly $400,000 for the State of Washington yesterday.

Seven bills calling for expenditure of money he said no to, and appropriation sections in two more were likewise vetoed.

Among bills and amounts vetoed: Omnibus road bill.....$110,000 Sugar bounty.....100,000 Bounty on opium.....25,000 Branch School Home.....10,000 Relief of E. G. Bakerston.....2,000 Relief of sawmill companies.....2,000 Framing photographic groups.....200 Lewis and Clark Fair.....50,000 Items of general appropriation.....71,300

OLYMPIA, March 21.—(Special.)—Sections 8 and 10 of the bill providing for an exhibit by this state at the Lewis and Clark Centennial were today vetoed by Governor McBride.

The balance of the bill with the exception of a section relating to printing to be done by the State Printer, was approved. The disapproval of portions of the bill is entirely upon the ground of economy, the Governor apparently having accepted the argument that the exhibit provided for the St. Louis Fair can be moved to Portland with the aid of an appropriation by the Legislature of 1933 and be made fully to answer the purpose.

The disapproval of $50,000 appropriation for the Portland Exposition is an item in a number of disapproved appropriations aggregating $285,991.12. The veto follows: "Sections 8 and 10 of Senate Bill No. 155, entitled 'An act to provide for the collection, exhibition and maintenance of the products of the State of Washington at the Lewis and Clark Centennial and Exposition and Oriental Fair, 1935, at Portland, Or., and making an appropriation therefor,' are disapproved.

"Section 4 authorizes the executive commissioner, to be selected by the commission, to be appointed by the Governor, to issue certificates of indebtedness. Section 10 seeks to appropriate $50,000 for the purpose of the Lewis and Clark Centennial and Exposition and Oriental Fair, 1935, at Portland, Or., and making an appropriation therefor."

"Section 4 authorizes all state bureaus to co-operate with the commission, and to the exposition all collections and cabinets belonging to the state. This provision will be willingly and cheerfully complied with.
