BOARD OF TRADE THANKED.—Secretary
Max M. Shillock, of the Board of Trade, received the following letter from the Incependence Improvement League, yesterday, which filustrates the appreciation of the board's work by the Independence people. The letter follows: "The Independence Improvement League pused an unanimous resolution of thanks for the assistance and kindness of the committee
amounted by your board to assist us in appointed by your board to assist us in securing a better train service. We feel a deep appreciation of your efforts and recognize that without the support of your body in Portland we would not have your body in Portland we would not have secured the consideration that we did. We recognize Portland as the trading center and the shipping point for the Williamette Valley, and realize the high position in which she stands among the larger cities of the Coast. We will be pleased to cooperate with your board in any manner that will be of assistance to Portland, as we see that what is of benefit to her is of equal benefit to us. We bespeak success for the tay in 1995 and will be pleased. qual benefit to us. We bespeak suc-for the fair in 1995 and will be pleased to add our efforts toward making it a suc-

BUILDING NEW STREET-CARS .-- With the BUILDING NEW STREET-CARE.—With the beginning of Summer the Portland Rall-way Company will have in operation six big new 35-foot open cars, that are now under construction at the shops at Lownsdale and Washington streets. The company already has five of these cars, but the increased traffic on all the lines calls for more colling stock and the six new the increased traffic on all the lines calls for more rolling stock, and the six new conveyances are the result of this increased business. Three of the new cars are ready for the paint shop, and the other three are ready to set up, all the parts being completed. Owing to the fact that the room is limited, but three can be set up at a time, but after the shops are moved to the new building at Ford and Washington streets better building facilities. Washington streets, better building facili-ties will be secured, and more cars will be turned out. The same company is re-painting and repairing all the smaller pen cars for the coming Summer, so that they will be in first-class shape.

WHINHARD BUILDING NEARLY COMPLETED.—The masons are laying the last few courses of brick on the seventh story of the big Weinhard building at Fourth, Fifth and Oak streets, and within a few days the outside walls of the structure days the outside wails of the structure will be completed. Over the center of the building, on the Oak-street side, a great stone siab has been placed on the wall, bearing the name of the building, "Wein-hard." Workmen are busy on the north half of the same block, clearing off the old wooden shacks, and before very long active operations will be commenced on that property. When this building is com-pleted it will be one of the largest in the pleted it will be one of the largest in the Northwest, being 200 feet square and seven stories high. With the Marshall Wells building on the block immediately north, the neighborhood will have a more attractive appearance than heretofore.

The offices of the Copeland Medical Institute, the Dekum building, have been sufficiently repaired to enable the physicians to treat patients, and all holding cards should call for treatment and medicines. Office hours as usual, with the expectation of the surviverse and the surviverse of the surviv ception of the evening session, which has been discontinued until further notice For the convenience of patients attend-ing the evening session the offices will be open Sundays from 9 to 12. Entrance on Washington street.

TWENTY-FOUR companies are licensed to do the business of life insurance in Orecon. During 1960 the total increase of life insurance in force in Oregon was about $4,000,000; of this amount the Penn Mutual of Philadelphia gained $1,022,125, or about one-fourth of the total amount. CHARLES GODFREY LELAND Noted Literary Man of Days Pollowing Civil War Is Dead.

Charles Godfrey Leland, who died March 30 in Florence, Italy, was a noted litterateur 30 years age. As an author and editor he was widely known after the Civil War, while his writing during that struggle first brought him into prominence. He was born in Philadelphia August 15, 1834, and before he was 20 contributed short poems to the Philadelphia papers, Graduating from Princeton in 1846, he afterward studied in Heidelberg, Munich and Paris.

Admitted to the bar in his native city in 1851, he soon left that profession and became a regular contributor te the popular magazines of the day. The Illustrated News of New York was edited by him for a time, and he afterwards was

He established the Continental Magazine in established the Continental Magazine in Boston, in which he advocated the eman-cipation of slaves. After the war he en-gaged in speculations for a time, and then became editor of the Philadelphia Press. In 1863 he went to England, where he made original investigations into the history and customs of the gypsy race. When he returned to Philadelphia he introduced a system of industrial art into the public schools. Since that time he had largely resided in England.

President for Life?

Washington Post, "I believe General Porficio Dias will be President of our republic as long as he lives," said Mr. L. C. Alvarez, of Chihushua, Mexico. "But even should he retire from office at the expiration of his present term there will be no disorder or anything that would savor of a revolution." In speaking of the financial condition of Mexico, Mr. Alvarez said: 'The great-est source of trouble is the price of ex-change, which was 2.60 when I left home. It comes, of course, because of the dro In the value of sliver. Sliver is the his-toric money of Mexico, and our mines produce tremendous quantities of it, while they yield but little gold. Some of our eminent men advise that we should most eminent men advise that we should speedly get upon a gold basis, and while we may come to that eventually, there are new difficulties in the way at pres-ent. However, the country is making substantial progress. Many Americans are coming into our country, particularly into the states of Chibuahua and Durango, and they are great believer in its possibil.

VASELINE NO GOOD FOR HAIR. Dandruff Germ Thrives in It, as Well as in All Grease.

A well-known Chicago hair specialist in-vited the Inter Ocean reporter to come to his office and see, under a microscope, how the germ that causes dandruff thrives in the germ that causes dandruff thrives in vaseline. The specialist said that all hair preparations containing grease, simply furnish food for the germs and help to propagate them. The only way to cure dandruff is to destroy the germs, and the only hair preparation that will do that is Newbro's Herpicide. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect."
