There have been no end of knockers buey with Jay Andrews' playing at third. These pachyderms attempt to criticise the work of a man who plays baseball every minute he is in the game. It is true that Jay makes many blunders, yet at now, but McCloskey got out and signed a few new men, and the feam rounded to and won the pennant. I won't say that he will win it this year, but you can bet that San Francisco will finish right up close to the top. McCloskey is the best man I ever played for. He pays good salaries, feeds his team well, and there is nothing he will not do for them. When they are in a game he expects them to give the best they have, and if they don't they can look for a 'roasting.' But Mc-Closkey is never unreasonable. He may be sharp with you in a game, but five minutes afterward he forgets it." Butte is the Montana state prison." re-plied Flannery. Both managers glanced toward a plie of

We cure this leprous disease com-pletely. The system is thoroughly cleansed, and every polaonous taint removed. The last symptom van-lahes to appear no more, and all is accomplished by the use of harm-less blood-cleansing remedies.

Contracted Disorders

Contracted Disorders We have reduced the time re-quired for curfug contracted disor-ders about one-half. This is an important achievement. It replaces danger with safety. It forestalls chronic complications. It removes the infection and infiammation be-fore that vital center, the prostate gland, can become involved. Very frequently it means the difference between perfect health and a life-time of misery and functional weakness. Our method is ours

the same time it must be remembered that every time he does, it is done on dif-fleuit chances. Then, too, until Raidy came into the game the third baseman tanks into the game the third baseman has had not only his own position to play, but he has been forced to spread his sphere of action into short. Jo'e de Kos' or Joe the Rake, and Charley Zinssar were roommates. Zins-Charley Zinssar were roommates. Zins sar got a deal fo delight out of his companionship with Kostal because the jolly little twirier, in addition to being de-lightfully good-natured, is a wit of no mean ability. Joe would not win a ribbon at a beauty show, and Zinesar took special delight in telling Joe just how special delight in telling Joe just how homely he was. The worm turned at last, however. The Oregonian photogra-pher, in snapping the phayers in action the day before he left to join Parke Wilson caught one of Charley just as he was swiping viciously at one of Joe's benders. Zinsaar's facial expres-sion is a study, and as a likeness it hard-by down birm dusting but it calibrial Voc ly does him justice, but it delighted Kostal wonderfully, and for several days Joe had his bunky on the gridiron.

Speaking of Joe Kostal: Few people who know him will realize that he earned his coin up to two years ago in the roll ing mills of Chicago. Joe did this and in er to support a wife and a couple of rns, he labored from 10 to 15 hours a r. Joe's friend is holding down his bairns, he job in the mill for him, but any time he wants to break back into making iron again, his position awaits him. Stick to baseball, Joe. It will feed the good wife and balrns, and the years you will live will be longer and crowded with more happinces

With the Pacific Nationals playing the foul-strike rule and the Coasters playing without it, the fans who divide their attention between the two leagues very often get their think tanks clogged on etrikes

In the case of Raidy, the foul strike may as well be in operation. At the game of tipping fouls, the new shortstop has Roy Thomas, the National Leaguer, beaten a Thomas, the National Leaguer, besten a city block. In the opening game against Corbett, Baidy-showed how cany it was to worry the pitcher. Moriey's $2000 pitcher yelled 'murder' after about eight had skyrocketed over the grandstand. Corbett yelled to Umpire O'Connell for protection, or Raidy would have been tipping them yet. In Monday's game against Los Angeles, Hall came in for the same sort of groueing from Raidy. This time the umpire, after about the tenth foul, called a strike on the little infelder. Then Raidy was good and soaked out a single When Umpire Mc-Donald arrived on the scene last week he way laying for Raidy.

The parade is expected to move at 2.30 P. M., but all organizations are directed to be in line promptly at 2 o'clock, in order to avoid confusion and delay. The col-umn will be preceded by a squad of mounted police. General Charles F. Beebe, grand marshal, and staff, will follow in advance of the Spanish-American War Vet-erans. A mounted escort of regulars from Vancouver Barracks will form the body-guard of the Freeidential party, which will be finnked by the Loyal Legion and Grand Army of the Republic. Immediately following the carriages will come the regular troops from Vancouver, consisting of a battalion of the Seventeenth, Infantry and the Twenty-sixth Battery of Field Artillery. The next section of the parade will be composed of the Third Infantry and Light Battery A, of the Oregon National Guard. Following them will come cadet organizations from the various military schools, including the battalion from the State Agricultural College at Corvallis and uniformed civic societies. Music for the parade will be furnished by eight of the best bands in the state. A special feature will be the "human flag," composed of 30 school children, under the supervision of Professor Krohn, director of physical culture of the city schools. This will join the column at the corner of Yamhili and Sixth streets. The President will review the column from his carriage at the corner of West Park and Madison streets, after which the parade will disband and the President and party, with invited guests in carriages and his personal escort, will proceed to City Park to participate in the ceremonies of laying the cornerstone of the Lewis and Cark monument. After the exercises at the park the official party will repair to the Portland Hotel at 636, and the banquet will be served in the new dining-room, which will be used for the first time on this occasion.
