Homestead Accepts Gift of Industrial School.

TAKE A HOLIDAY

Prenty Thousand Persons in the Parade Preceding the Dedication Exercises-How Steel King Came to Build Institution.

PITTSBURG, May 16.—All business was suspended at Homestead today, and the town took a holiday in honor of the ded-ication of the C. M. Schwab Free Indusication of the C. M. Schwab Free Indus-trial School and the formal opening of the institution built and to be maintained by the president of the steel corporation. That the residents appreciated to the fullest extent the day's event was proved by the elaborate decorations. During the marning Mr. Schwab and his guests inspected the building, and at room the party sat down to a lumb pre-moon the party sat down to a lunch pre-pared by the pupils of the domestic science department as their tribute to Mr. Schwab's generosity.

Preceding the ceremony at the school there was a parade. The uniformed troops of Homestead acted as escort to Mr. Schwah, and the young frommaster was followed in the line of march by the Boys' Brigade of Pennsylvania, thousands of school children, iron and steelworkers from Homestead, Braddock and Duquesne, secret organizations, fire companies and civic societies, in all numbering nearly

At 8 o'clock the dedication of the new building took place. The exercises were carried out on a platform in front of the school and were marked by brevity throughout. After the invocation by Rev. N. D. Hynson, Mr. Schwab was introduced, and in a brief address formally presented the building and equipment to the borough. Address of Schwab.

"I am sure," said Mr. Schwab, in opening a brief address to "my dear friends," "no one seeing the demonstration here today could object to my using the term 'dear friends,' for I ever think of the people of Homestead and vicinity as such; and may they always think so of me. Words upon such an occasion are weak, indeed, as compared with the hearty grasp of welcome and the cheers voice of friend-ship and old association. I doubt if any man or woman here can appreciate how deeply this demonstration goes into my heart, or what a lasting impression it will make. I verily believe that no honor can come to any man that will give him more genuine pleasure and satisfaction than to know that the people with whom he was so long associated and from whom he was so long associated and from whom he has been more or less separated still retain their love and affection for him. I want no prouder epitaph than to have it truly said that 'the working people with whom he worked, loved and honored him.' I never say 'the man who worked for me,' the men of Homestead always worked 'with' me. What an answer to theorists who say that never and expenses. who say that men and employers are not in sympathy. Homestead has seen trou-bles in this respect. Thank God they are fast being forgotten, and it was my proud privilege II years ago to contribute toward bringing about that happy relation which now exists.

"We are here today for two purposes:

we are nere today for two purposes: First, again to see and greet my old friends and associates; second, to dedicate this industrial school building, which is intended as a slight token of our love and esteem for the people of this vicinity. And when I speak of our love and esteem for you all, none can doubt my words who can look into my face and read therein the true story. Our felend, read therein the true story. Our friend-ship extending over so many years is am-ple proof of my professions.

How the School Came to Be Built.

"A little history of the school: Ten ears ago I sent for Mr. West and some other directors of this town and explained my ideas of an industrial school in speakers included St. Clair speakers included St. deas enthusiastically, and we started in a small way. Thanks to the energy of the succeeding school boards, it rapidly grew in favor until this new building was necessary, and it was my happy privilege to supply it. I am pleased with it. I believe that from such a school will spring the industrial geniuses and captains of industry for the future, and the future will place the school captain of industry on a

"The object of this school is to teach that work to boy and girl is ennobling; to do nothing is disgraceful. We hope that many young people will develop the latent many young people will develop the latent taste and talent for such things and, betaste and talent for such things and, believe me, no course in life offers greater inducements to the future generation.
The United States is to be the great industrial nation, and it is a proud position.
It is the trained mechanic, chemist and engineer who will be the true leaders in the future. And what better locality for such a school than here in Homestead, surrounded by the greatest industrial works in the world. Let us hope that this will eventually be as great a school as will eventually be as great a school as the works which will bear the name of the works which will bear the name of Homestead; a work which you, the work-men of Homestead, helped to create, for much of the mechanical development of Homestead was due to the suggestions ffered by its workmen."

NEW YORK, May 16 .- After six years' missionary work along Kassai River, in the interier of the Congo Free State, Rev. William Morrison, of the American Presbyterian Mission, returned today on the Cunard line. Mr. Morrison, whose story of the abuses that the natives of the Congo Free State are alleged to be subjected to by the Congo administration, has attracted some attention in Lonon, says he will furnish to the State De. partment more evidence of these abuses. Mr. Morris left Luebo early in April. On hearing his story of abuses, the So-ciety for the Protection of the Aborigine, in London, took up the matter, and Mr. Morrison furnished a report to Foreign EXTENTOFROBBERY GROWS Mrs. Lorillard Lost More Than $50,-000 Worth of Gems.

LONDON, May 16.- The loss of Mrs. Pierre Lorillard, who is reported to have been robbed of $50,000 worth of jewels, amounts probably to a far greater sum than at first reported. Mrs. Lorillard lost all her jewelry except what she was wear-ing, and a letter of credit and other valuables. The robbery occurred at the Ber-keier Hotel, to which place two men fol-lowed Mr. and Mrs. Lorillard from Monte Carlo. The thieves evidently waited for a favorable opportunity to commit the rob bery. The police have no clew to their whereabouts, but Mrs. Lerillard now remembers meeting at various points the two suspects, and seeing them again when she arrived in London.

Battallo was arrested, but was afterward discharged by the magistrate, who said the man had a right to defend himself.
