

THE JEW IN THE WORLD OF MUSIC

A PAPER BY MRS. SIMON HARRIS, READ BEFORE THE PORTLAND WOMAN'S CLUB.

The man that had no music in himself, nor in his mind with concord of sweet sounds...

Fortunately indeed for the Jew, this brilliant quotation cannot be applied to him, for his very soul is full of music...

Felix Mendelssohn Bartholdy. Under the head of composers, that is, of classical music, Felix Mendelssohn Bartholdy stands unrivaled.

Imagine a frail child of 7 years playing Beethoven's pathetic sonata! Yet this wonderful feat was accomplished by little Ignace Moscheles...

At the age of 8, Mendelssohn played the piano with wonderful facility, and in his 15th year composed his first symphony for orchestra...

When a lad of 17, he for the first time read Shakespeare's dainty play, "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

The glowing color, vehemence and emotional intensity of present day schools are given to the student by the teacher...

Among the most popular of Mendelssohn's music compositions mentioned in G and D minor; his grand overtures, symphonies and oratorios.

Beautiful and enduring as is Mendelssohn's music, one must not think that he was known to the masses...

covered. After this sad event he secluded himself almost entirely within the family circle...

Anton Rubinstein, the noted pianist and gifted composer, was a native of Russia.
