Question of Appropriation by Congress for Fair.

MITCHELL GIVES ADVICE

Senator Says Fair Should Name Rensonable Amount to Make Sure of Getting It-Final Election of Secretary by Commission,

The State Lewis and Clark Commission has been urged by members of the Congressional delegation from Oregon to hold an early conference with other Fair offi-cials and the members of Congress, when an agreement can be reached as to the sum Congress will be asked to appropriate for the Lewis and Clark Exposition. Senator Mitcoell brought the attention of the State Commission to the subject at yesterday's meeting in a strong let-ter. He urged that the Congressional delegation should know as soon as possible the amount that would be requested from the Federal Government. Senator Mitchell urged that a modest request be made, and that the Fair officials avoid anything that might be regarded as unreasonable. The letter left the impression with mbers of the State Commission that a request for a modest amount and one which could be supported by a showing of state and local appropriations would be more apt to be granted than a larger demand. This same argument was urged on the directors of the Lewis and Clark Fair a week ago by John Barrett. Neither body has taken any action as yet.

Representative Williamson wrote to the State Commission yesterday, pledging his support, and State Representative Jones, of Lincoln County, offered a number of suggestions relative to the plans for prearing an exhibit for the St. Louis Fair. The State Commission decided yesterday formally to open its headquarters in the old Eank of British Columbia building, on Vine street, Morday morning. Rooms have been provided for the president and ecretary immediately adjoining the prices of Secretary Henry E. Reed, of the Lewis and Clark Corporation. The two organizations will use the directors' ind the main office jo

Election of Secretary. It is likely these offices will be retained as long as the directors remain at this location. The two organizations are anxious to co-operate, and adjoining offices is the most feasible plan for working in harmony that has been suggested.

The State Commission yesterday elected Edmond C. Giltner, formerly of Salem, secretary. The position was tendered a week ago to J. C. Havely, of Portland. Mr. Havely yesterday stated he could not accept one post for the salary offered, and the commission interpreted this to be a resignation. The salary, it is announced, will be increased later as the work grows heavier,

Mr. Giltner was elected secretary on the fourth ballot. There were four ballots for Henry Reed earlier in the contest, upon the understanding that, as the work grew heavier, a secretary should be selected for the State Commission, as Mr. Reed would be unable at that time to look after both directors' and commissioners' work. Oregon architects have asked that the buildings for the Lewis and Clark Fair be constructed under the direction of architects of this state, the plans being prepared by them also. A communication to this effect was received yesterday from W. C. Knighton, D. L. Williams, P. C. Browns, J. J. Berger and D. D. Mear, of Portland, and Charles H. Burggraf, of Al-bany. The communication was referred to the Lewis and Clark Corporation. Seven mining men asked the privilege of collecting and arranging the Oregon mineral exhibits for both fairs. They are: W. W. Orlessle Junction City. W. W. W. Oglesvie, Junction City: W. W. W. W. Oglessie, Junction City; W. W. Cardwell, Roseburg; J. H. Pisk, Portland; F. R. Mellis, Baker City; John W. Bolland. Baker City, and J. W. Virtue, Grant's Pass No selection was made. Two applications were also received for the position of director of the bureau of authletic.

William S. Ward, field commissioner for the department of mines and metallurgy at the St. Louis fair, urged the State Co mission to make preparations at once for a mineral display. He urged the commissioners strongly to make a good show-ing of Oregon resources, and to pay par-ticular attention to the matter of equipment and process. He brought out the points he had previously made in an in-

HOW MONTANA CAME AROUND.

Senate Forced House to Agree to Fair Appropriation. The story of how Montana came to appropriate $10,000 for the Lewis and Clark Fair, as told by C. H. McIssac, is inter-esting. Early in the year Mr. McIssac was sent by the Exposition directors to Montana to work for an appropriation. He found the Senate favorably disposed, but the House averse to making an appropriation. St. Louis had its agents at the capital, using their influence against the capital, using their influence against Portland. But the upper chamber agreed to stand against any Exposition appropriation bill which did not recognize the Lewis and Clark Pair. When the bill came from the House it had no provision for the 1965 Fair, and the Senate refused to pass it. The result was that the Legislature adjourned without giving money either to the St. Louis fair or the Portland Fair.

But an extra session was called, at which the House receded from its position and the Senate won out for Portland.

Valley, has ordered precautionary measures to be taken to prevent an anti-dynastic movement, which he alleges is the real aim of the students in Japan and Shanghai, who recently held meetings urging the Chinese Government to resist Russia's demands.

COMING STREET FAIR. Woodmen of World Will Give Splendid Show in July.

The Woodmen of the World's big street fair, which will be held July 14 to 25, will be the grandest affair ever given in Portland. The Woodmen can congratulate themselves on securing the big Eastern aggregation, the Southern Carnival Com-pany. This is the same company which gave the big electric carnival at Sacra-mento a couple of weeks ago, and the fol-lowing is the indorsement received from the committee:

organized in the East five years ago, and is the only amusement aggregation that has never closed, Summer or Winter-a record which no other amusement pany in the world can equal. Mr. Nat Reiss, the general manager, although a very young man, can proudly lay claim to being the father of a strictly clean, moral and refined carnival company. This statement is confirmed by an editorial that appeared in the Sacramento Bee of May 24, 1903, under the head "Decency 24, 1983, under the head "Decency Better Than Bestiality," which Pays reads

For several years the Bee battled against the unclean shows which degraded our street fairs, which were an insult to womanhood, and which were nasty, and even bestial. It succeeded in driving them out of one fair only to have them pop up at another; and on every occasion when it denounced them as being an outrage not only on common decency, but on common manhood, the plea went out: "You should close your eyes to such things. The people want them. You cannot have a paying midway where the shows are all clean."

a paying midway where the shows are all clean."
That this is not so the Bee proved by experience of the great amusement Napoleons of the East, the Southern Carnival Company, which makes it a rule to permit nothing under the tent at which any woman could take offense. It remained, however, for the recent street fair in Bacramento to give ample demonstration of the truth of the Bee's contention. Nothing the least off-color was permitted in any concession, and yet the fair in regard to receipts under these tents was more successful than any of its predecessors. If any street fair or other great public entertainment in Sacramento shall hereafter put forth the claim that indecency must be winked at or the enterprise will not be a success, let the decent people of this city point to the street fair of 1960 and demand that future committees take that as an example in this regard not only on behalf of nublic decency. take that as an example in this re-l, not only on behalf of public decency, as well from the soulid view of the ighty dollar.

The above indorsements are two of quite meritorious and refined character of the exhibitions of the Southern Carnival Com-

WANT FILL, GET BRIDGE

NOW SOUTH PORTLAND CITIZENS ARE AFRAID TO KICK. If They Do, They Might Get Neither

-But They Are Pleased Over the New Ferry.

"If we can't get a fill we should be satisfied with a bridge, for if we make too many objections we may get neither. Such in general was the openly expressed sentiment of a joint meeting of Fulton and South Portland people last evening.

To cement the interests of the two comties, an adjourned meeting of the South Portland Improvement Association was held last evening in Maccabees Hall Fulton. A large delegation from the Mar-quam Gulch district attended the meeting, while representative Fulton men turned out in force.

Though apparently every one living south of Marquam Gulch is still of the opinion that an earth fill across that trou-blesome chasm is far preferable to a blesome chasm is far preferable to a steel bridge, the Council evidently does not hold the same bellef. The bridge is practically assured, while the Councilm and the City Engineer would be forced change their views before a fill would be sanctioned. Sufficient pressure was not brought to bear upon the authorities until the matter was practically settled.

So those who live and own property south of Manquam Guich feel that they should be satisfied with what they can get or they may get nothing at all. But they are still in favor of a fill. At the last meeting of the Improvement ociation a resolution was unanimously pted declaring for a fill or nothing. If there was to be no fill, a protest should be filed against a bridge. Though the res-olution passed, nothing came of it, and the Council and the City Engineer went ahead as they pleased.

Engineer Elliott was invited to attend the meeting and explain why he had reported in favor of a bridge. William Fliedner had promised to be responsible for his appearance, but neither was present. So the public-spirited men had to be their own engineers.

The action of the last meeting threatening to protest against a bridge was not formally rescinded, but the spirit of the session was an evidence that opinions had changed. A few held out for the fill or nothing, but the majority, in their short speeches, were more liberal.

Having gained several concessions from city government, and particularly for Williams, the association wants another. It desires that a West Side man be a member of the Sellwood ferry com-mittee, which the Mayor is soon to appoint. One of the members said he thought that J. W. Njckum and E. D. Curtis would be placed upon this committee. It was quickly decided that the association should have a representative upon the committee. B. F. Jones moved that Joseph Weber be recommended to Mayor Williams as the man best qualified to represent the organization. Living in Fulton, he would be better able to watch the operations of the ferry and to make suggestions for its improvement. There was not one dissenting voice against Mr. Weber's recommendation

"I think that Mayor Williams should officially informed of this action." said G. W. Allen. "I move that the secretary, A. H. McGowan; our president, Judge Caples, and Dr. W. H. Saylor, constitute this committee." As the Mayor has promised to make the appointments within a few days the committee will wait upon him early this week.

The fulfillment of the Sellwood ferry plan, one of the pet schemes of the asso-ciation, was the cause of much congratu-

For them and which they promise to do. For all our talk for the past year, what have we accomplished as to a fill? A bridge would have been built anyway. We might as well lay right down and say we are beaten on the fill proposition." Judge Caples, the president of the association, didn't entirely agree with Mr. Allen that the organization had accom-plished nothing. "We have the Sellwood ferry, anyway, and I don't believe would have had the bridge or any chance for it had it not been for the associa-

Then the talk turned once more to the haunting specter of the Marquam Guich. It appeared that but 10 days remain for a remonstrance against the steel bridge to be filed. After that the structure so much opposed would be almost a certainty. The opposed would be almost a certainty. The bridge, according to the estimates pre-pared, would cost some $48,000. A fill of earth would cost less, but would require much longer to make. Estimates as to the relative costs differed largely.

The landing places of the Sellwood ferry were discussed. Mr. Weber thought that the best spots on the river were at the Riverview cemetery for the West Side and at the mill of the East Side Lumber Company at Sellwood for the opposite shore. This will give a direct route across the Stephensen, of Portland, P. J. Lynch, of North Yakima, being unable to attend. The object of the meeting was to canvass the present hop attuation, receive reports from committees appointed to invesigate the crop outlook and market conditions, determine upon the advisability of gate the crop outlook and market condi-tions, determine upon the advisability of advancing the pool price 25c per pound, as originally agreed upon, which has been vigorously urged by many of the individual growers since positive in-formation of the discouraging condition of the growing crop has been received from all the hop-growing districts of the world, and in general to further the in-terests of the growers who have con-tributed to the holdings of the pool. James Winstaniev, who is in constant tributed to the holdings of the pool.

James Winstaniey, who is in constant communication with all the growers on the coast, reported 7500 bales of 1902 hops remaining in the fiands of Oregon growers, 4900 bales in Washington and 4000 in California, making a total of 15,550 bales remaining in the hands of Pacific Coast growers. Of this more than one-half, or over 8000 bales, is aiready controlled by the pool, which is being daily augmented by the addition of others, so that the prospects are good for securing nearly all the balance in the near future. He also reported that the price of hops has advanced from 17%c, which was the market price when the pool was formed, to 25c, which was offered the board at this meeting for a limited number of bales, but which, was promptly and unanimously rejected, as there are no nimously rejected as there are no con hops available at present at that

A committee which has been investigating the condition of the growing crop in Oregon reported the outlook as follows: Salem district, one-third crop; Aurora and Butteville district, less than one-half crop; Sliverton and Mount Angel, one-half crop; North Yamhill and Mc-Minnville, one-half crop; Dallas, one-half crop; Hillsboro and Gaston, one-half crop; Hillsboro and Gaston, one-half crop. The total estimated yield for Oregon in 1990 can not exceed 40,000 bales, as compared to the average yield of $5,000 to $9,000 bales. These estimates were based on reports These estimates were based on reports from ten to 15 yards in each district. Numerous communications, telegrams and cablegrams from this country and from England were read, showing the present condition of the market and the growing crop, all of which were uniform in confirming the shortage of supply both in English and American markets, all of the 180's being practically cleaned up except the few thousand bales on the Pacinc Coast, while the reserve stock in warehouses, particularly in London, are less than they have been for 100

P. J. Lynch, of North Yakima, reporte 3300 bales in that district, of which 3100 are in the O. & W. Pool, and the growers to a man are standing pat for 30 cents.
A letter from A. J. Luce, New York, stated that England is about to enter the market for more American hops, and that he had just shipped 200 bales to London on orders, and another dealer would also ship 170 bales more. He reports the New York 1906 crop in bad condition as a result of the unprecedented drouth of 45 days without rainfall, and with no indi-cations of immediate relief, and that bets are being freely offered that 40 cents would be paid for hops before the 1903 crop is marketed. The following cable, direct from London, was read: "Vermin have appeared in English hoppards, doing great damage. Growers much alarmed."

Also a telegram from J. W. Lumsden, of New York, as follows:

Watch market. Indications for sharp boom near. Keep growers from East Side for the hearty support given the Sellwood ferry."

The members passed a share of the congratulations along to themselves and this aroused G. W. Allen. He stirred them up for their negligence in not doing committee work and other things which they they then the proof was formed for the present the proof the proof was formed for the present the proof the proof was formed for the present the proof the proo the pool was formed, for the present, but not to insist on the individual members of the pool selling at that price if it were offered, provided they preferred to hold for more. It was unanimously that the market of the world is prac-tically in the hands of the O. & W. Hop Pool, and they are determined to profit by the situation.

PORTLAND, June 6.—(To the Editor.)— Now that in the person of Hon. Jeff Myers the state committee charged with making a success of the Lewis and Clark Exposition has a clear-headed man, chuck full of good common sense, it is respect-fully urged that active hostilities be set fully urged that active hostilities be set afoot. As well as any man in Oregon I know it requires some energetic measures to wake up the people of our great commonwealth. I have been there on several occasions, sometimes sick at heart, but with an shiding faith in the people. As a representative of the state I do not know of a better selection than has been made. Common sense sometimes is more resultful than genius. This points to Mr. Myers. He is not opinionated, but will Myers. He is not opinionated, but will listen to counsel and weigh advice. I ask the gentiemen who will be associated with him not to look upon him as a country boy. They will find him alert and energetic, and not knowing it all, but with a reserve force that will tell in emergencies with a reserve force that will tell in emergencies such as will be encountered. I wasn't present at his birth, but believe he is native-born. That's good. It means pride in the state where he first breathed and where he has been successful in enter-

Bob Ingersoll said to me once on a time, "Never trust a man whose etn phere is too near the ground." Measure up Jeff and you will see the application. up Jeff and you will see the application.

Everything is in good shape. I see energy coupled with caution in every move. The engineers selected could not be impoved upon. They comprehend all the conditions. The jealousy of the cow counties against Portland will cease when the state at large sees that Portland as the metropolis is doing her share for the country that Lewis and Clark opened to the world. The whole Pacific Northwest, from British Columbia down, will fall in line, and the states and territories through which the explorers passed will aid with enthusiasm. Now, then, work, intelligent, aggressive work, is required. Get busy. R. W. M.

He Says Even Doctors Will Not Testify in Court Against Their Use-No Hog Cholera,

Dairy and Food Commissioner Balley thinks that a great deal of hot air has been let loose in the sensation about un-healthful meat, impure milk, boracle acid, freezine, preservaline, etc., etc. He maintains that the amount of adulterated and impure meats and milk sold in this city is very small, in fact, so small that he doubts if the health of the community is affected by it at all.

"I have yet to find," said he yesterday, "a single well-authenticated case where sickness or death in this city can be traced to so-called unhealthful meat or milk. Several years ago I started in to prosecute a dealer who had sold sauto prosecute a nearer who has some sage treated with boracic acid. I laid the case before the District Attorney.

I never met an expert who has seen a case here, except perhaps in tran-sit from some other state.

"So you see what we are up against when we try to prosecute a man for selling meat treated with preservaline or boracic acid. We have to prove that the meat is unwholesome and we cannot do it. Reputable physicians will not testify that it is unhabitable in which we will out health that it is unhealthful, nor will our health
