

PRIEST FORCED OUT

Did Not Want to Leave Baker City Parish.

DEPUTY TAKES HIM TO JAIL

Released on Promise to Leave the City—Suspended by Bishop O'Reilly Until Such Time as He Recognizes Church's Authority.

BAKER CITY, Or., Sept. 18.—(Special.)—One of the most harassing and pitiful scenes ever enacted in Baker City took place this morning at the parish-house of St. Francis Church diocese, on First street, on the occasion of the installation of Father Garland, formerly of La Grande, as parish priest of Baker City parish. Father Desmarais, the recent parish priest here, and who has occupied the position for several years, was arrested and confined in the County Jail by a Deputy Sheriff, who went to serve the papers in a suit of ejectment against Father Desmarais for possession of the parish-house, and was met with determined resistance and force by the father.

The difficulty began at the conference some time ago, at which Father O'Reilly was nominated bishop of the diocese of Baker City. At that time it was decided that Father Desmarais should go to the parish at The Dalles. Bishop O'Reilly, after his arrival here, informed Father Desmarais of the decision, but the latter objected and appealed to the papal delegate, in the meantime retaining possession of the parish-house and property. The physical condition of his sister was very poor and her continued ill health and unbalanced mind complicated matters very much.

Bishop O'Reilly recently gave another notice to Father Desmarais that he must give up the possession of the parish-house and be expelled from the city. The property of St. Francis parish and all other property in the diocese over which Bishop O'Reilly presides is in the name of the bishop as an incorporated body and deeds perfecting title to the same have been filed in the Recorder's office. A civil suit in ejectment was begun yesterday by Bishop O'Reilly and the papers served by Deputy Sheriff Hempel. A number of gentlemen of the congregation were present with Bishop O'Reilly at the parish-house when Father Garland was placed in charge and ejectment papers served. The forceful resistance of Father Desmarais, who became violently hysterical, if not temporarily deranged, during his arrest. Every provision was made for the comfort of himself and sister and several accompanied the father in a hack to the County Courthouse.

On the way the unfortunate gentleman created much disturbance and afterward at the Courthouse made considerable trouble. Later in the afternoon, at the instance of the papal delegate, Father Desmarais became composed, he proposed that if the parties who had made complaint against his sister would withdraw the action, he would make two or three days to settle up his affairs and would take his sister East with him, and in the meantime take up his quarters at the Packwood Hotel.

On this assurance he was released from custody and, accompanied by an official, began to gather up the ends of his business and put his personal effects together. It is understood that the bishop has suspended Father Desmarais pending the time when he shall reconcile himself to the authority of the church and, while his reverence was grieved over the situation, there was but one thing to do and that was done.

Father Garland and Bishop O'Reilly are now in possession of church property in this parish and diocese and all believe these temporary difficulties will be smoothed over and adjusted so that Father Desmarais will in the future be properly taken care of and reinstated in as good or better parish than the one he was transferred from or his suspension will be made permanent.

CONFESSED AND KILLED HIMSELF.

Deputy Marshal at San Francisco Could Not Stand Disgrace.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 19.—W. P. Gamble, the United States Deputy Marshal who confessed complicity in a plot to substitute old Chinese for young Chinese who had been ordered deported, committed suicide in Buena Vista Park by sending two bullets into his brain.

Rather than face the disgrace of a trial and possible conviction in the Federal Courts, he left his young wife and killed himself. Several days ago Gamble confessed his part in the scheme to defraud the Government and United States Attorney Shinn.

Deputy Sheriffs W. T. Dasha, Thomas F. Burnett and T. J. Dempsey are under arrest, accused of complicity in the Chinese substitution frauds which led to the suicide of Deputy United States Marshal Gamble. It is alleged that the accused deputies each obtained one-third of the $200 said to have been given to Gamble for every case of a substituted Chinese.

DRUG CLERK GOES OUT OF HOTEL BY SECOND-STORY WINDOW.

W. E. Hambrook, Wanted in Portland, Captured After Desperate Effort to Elude Officers.

NORTH YAKIMA, Sept. 18.—(Special.)—A fugitive from justice named W. E. Hambrook, who is wanted at Portland, Or., by the Morgan Company on the charge of grand larceny, jumped out of a second-story window at the Eastside Hotel today, and escaped from an officer. He had been placed under arrest this morning and had consented to return to Oregon without requisition papers.

The officer took him to the Bartholomew Hotel to give him a chance to get some personal effects out of a grip. He asked the officer to permit him to enter a water-closet. The officer refused. The prisoner immediately plunged into the closet and closed the door. He jumped out of a window to the roof of a building below and then to the street.

He disappeared two blocks away, after being chased and fired at several times by a crowd of about 40 people. He was captured this evening in a hay-loft.

Hambrook is also wanted in Portland for his operations while in the employ of Woodard, Clarke & Co. While a clerk in the drug store, he did a large off-hand business, it is alleged, by selling drugs from the store stock to other local druggists.

Hambrook's scheme was to visit small druggists, representing himself as a drummer from a large San Francisco house. Cards engraved with his name aided in the plan. He gave the druggists a strong line of talk about introducing new specialties, and wishing to enter the business field, and in the end sold them drugs at less than the wholesale price.

The druggists looked upon the young man who gave them such good bargains with favor, and it was hard for the firm to accumulate evidence when they were morally certain they were being defrauded by the clerk. The goods he sold came from his department, and taken deliberately from the stock of the store. Cocaine, morphine and druggists' specialties were the principal articles sold by the enterprising young drummer.

Repeatedly finding shortages in their stock the members of the firm of Woodard, Clarke & Co. watched Hambrook, with the result that they discovered that he was costing hundreds of dollars had been disposed of. Hambrook practically confessed, and some of the goods were recovered, but the case was not pushed, and the young man was let off.

Hambrook is of good appearance, and about 30 years of age. Though the police learned of the arrest yesterday the matter was not allowed to pass the door of Chief Hunt's office.

Much of the stolen property was sold to a North Third-street druggist. Hambrook was seen to frequently enter this store, and when it was known that one in the wholesale house had been stealing drugs he was suspected.

Atterbury Clothes FALL FASHIONS ARE NOW ON EXHIBITION

"THE ATTERBURY SYSTEM" simply means the best and most perfectly constructed ready-to-wear clothing in existence, all made by hand in one large building under the most sanitary conditions, by the best skilled labor under the personal supervision of one of the highest salaried fashion designers in the United States. The garments produced, from overcoat to evening clothes, are made with as much distinction and are as beautifully finished as any product of the most exclusive custom tailor. Critical dressers everywhere pronounce "THE ATTERBURY SYSTEM" garments models of graceful lines and attractive appearance, and thousands of men whose tastes would naturally lead them to a merchant tailor have found that they can obtain the same service and satisfaction in the "Atterbury" clothes that they do in the tailors' most expensive garments and at a saving of 33 to 50 per cent.

The utmost care regarding detail is used in making this celebrated apparel, and the high quality standard is maintained at any cost. Every yard of goods is chemically tested and steamed before it is cut, and even the silk thread used in the construction of these garments must pass the close scrutiny of the severest tests. Effort, directed by intelligence and augmented by cleverness, produces individuality and distinctiveness in "Atterbury" clothing which cannot be surpassed, and a most important point in the production of these garments is that they are cut and made singly and by hand, which means that they can follow even the slightest change in the modes—an impossibility when garments are cut in vast quantities, as in the usual ready-made clothing, months in advance of the season and by machines which operate with rigid precision, admitting of no variation.
