

Assisting the hostess were Miss Nellie Williams, Mrs. Robert Lewis and Mrs. George Hoyt, Jr.

EVENTS OF THE WEEK.

At many of the luncheons and parties given in Portland during the week lavender has been the predominating color, and bunches of violets were the favors.

At a charming heart's party given for young women the favors were Japanese trinkets, tied with violet ribbon, and the same tint appeared in the ices and bonbons.

But with all the fondness for violet, no Portland bride has gone so far as to wear purple at her wedding, as was done by Miss May Brown, of Baltimore, whose marriage to Gordon Taylor Hughes was celebrated last week. Miss Brown's bridal gown was of royal purple chiffon velvet, made in the fashion of 50 years ago, with a shirred skirt and deep insertion of purple silk lace above the hem. Over a soft silk waist was worn a bolero jacket, embroidered with violets. The hat was wide brimmed and heavily plumed, and was purple, like the rest of the costume.

The annual tea of the Young Women's Christian Association was held on Tuesday afternoon and evening in the association rooms, at Sixth and Oak. The attendance was large and a great deal of interest was manifested in the work, which is succeeding admirably.

Mrs. Helen Ladd Corbett gave an account of the educational work, with many interesting incidents. Mrs. H. C. Campbell reported for the finance committee, and Miss Elizabeth Savage for the social.

Mrs. Walter J. Honeyman, the president, and Miss Abby McElroy, secretary, received the visitors in the most cordial fashion and the tea was extremely pleasant.

One of the most enjoyable receptions held in Portland for many months was that given by Mrs. George H. Flanders and her daughter, Miss Louise, on Thursday evening.

The house, so well adapted for entertaining, was entirely given over to the pleasure and comfort of the many guests. The drawing-rooms, in which was stationed an excellent stringed orchestra, were canvased for dancing for the pleasure of the younger guests.

The decorations of the house were in charming taste, the dining-room being especially admired for its artistic effects in fruits and foliage of autumn tints. Presiding at the tea and coffee were Mrs. George Good and Mrs. S. B. Lathum. The costumes of the ladies at this reception were notably elegant.

The hostess wore a handsome black silk, with rich trimmings of black lace. Miss Louise Flanders was becomingly gowned in white silk, with lace and chiffon.

Mrs. Frederick Hopkins wore a very striking and beautiful costume, the skirt being of ivory broadened silk and the bodice of scarlet velvet cut in the form of a Louis Quinze jacket, with revers of white lace, with an elegant shoulder effect of pure lace.

Mrs. Helen Ladd Corbett wore white silk, with an elegant shoulder effect of pure lace. Miss May Fanning wore a becoming gown of blue lace over blue chiffon. Miss Fanning's costume was white silk organza, over black blue silk.

Livingston's, black net, covered with cut jets. Mrs. George Good wore a white broadened silk, with a becoming costume of pale blue silk. Miss Louise Flanders wore a becoming gown of broadened silk in light shades of pink. Mrs. Cyrus Dolph wore a costume of black lace over pink chiffon. Mrs. Holt Wilson, a duty gown of cream silk and applique lace. Mrs. Wilson was handsomely gowned in white liberty satin, with insertings of lace, the bodice adorned with a handsome fichu of silk cordings and tassels. Mrs. Brown wore white silk; Mrs. C. J. Reed, black lace over white silk; Mrs. W. Warrens, cream silk; Mrs. Travis, white mousseline de soie over cream-colored silk. Mrs. Nan Wood, white chiffon, with scarlet corage bouquet. Miss Bryan, pink silk; Mrs. Eben Young, black lace over white satin; Mrs. Davis, of Vancouver, a becoming gown of cream silk organza. Miss Tina Wilson wore a handsome dress of white silk and lace. Miss Hoyt, white silk; Mrs. Robert Lewis, black lace; Mrs. F. H. Page was gowned in a beautiful cream silk, embroidered in pink roses; Mrs. James McCracken, black net embroidered in silver; Mrs. Richard Nunn, black lace and scarlet roses; Mrs. John A. Shepard, white silk; Miss Alice Sibert, white silk; Mrs. Morrison, black lace; Mrs. John Atkinson, white silk organza over white silk; Mrs. Foster Beck, old rose silk; Mrs. Burney Boies, blue crepe de chine; Miss Burney, blue silk and pink roses.

The Sons of the American Revolution held a smoker on Wednesday evening, in the University clubrooms.

Herbert R. Auger, of the Hill Military Academy, gave an interesting and patriotic address on the "Evolution of the American Flag." There were many toasts and an spirited discussion as to whether an Anglo-American alliance should be encouraged.

The last toast was in honor of Mayor Williams, the president of the society, the entire company joining in "For He's a Jelly Good Fellow." Among those present were Judge M. C. George, W. H. Chapin, William Little Wells, H. Wright, Tyler Woodward, Lot Q. Sweetland, B. B. Beckman, J. W. White, Benjamin I. Cohen, R. G. Morrow, Robert T. Platt, D. W. Wakefield, R. S. Greenleaf and Harrison G. Platt.

Mrs. H. G. Green gave a theater party at the Baker on Tuesday night, in honor of the Misses Hickey, of Washington, D. C., who are visiting Mrs. Allan Wright. After the theater the party went to the Hotel Portland for supper. Mrs. Green's guests were Mrs. and Mrs. C. J. Reed, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Wright, Mrs. Frederick H. Hopkins, Miss Hickey, Miss Caroline Hickey, Frederick Holman, Drake O'Reilly and Robert Howard.

A delightful card party was given on Wednesday by Miss Martha Hoyt. There were ten tables for bridge whist, at which prizes were won by Mrs. W. B. Ayer and Miss May Fanning. The first prize was an armful of exquisite pink chrysanthemums.

Mrs. George C. Flanders gave a delightful "at home" to her friends on Thursday afternoon at her home, "The Cliffs," on Portland Heights, in honor of Mrs. Robert Lewis, who is a guest of Judge Coker's family. Lunch was played at eight tables. The tally cards were water-color pictures of "American Beauties," painted by the hostess. Mrs. Biles, Mrs. Knighon and Mrs. Marquand won the prizes. The house was very beautiful with its decorations of crimson and green. In the dining-room Mrs. House and Mrs. Archambault presided at the table, assisted by Mrs. L. Vesley and Mrs. Webb. Crimson carnations in tall cut-glass vases and many candles in brass candlesticks gave the dining-room a charming appearance. Mrs. Flanders served at the punch table, assisted by Mrs. Bancroft, Mrs. Ashley and Miss Klosterman. Those present were: Miss Roberts, Mrs. F. A. Bancroft, Mrs. W. M. Coker, Mrs. A. H. Breyman, Mrs. H. H. Northrup, Mrs. W. L. Archambault, Mrs. Herbert Bradley, Mrs. Howard Whiting, Mrs. Edwin Caswell, Mrs. Winslow Bradford, Mrs. A. H. Averill, Mrs. A. F. Biles, Mrs. J. S. Nearly 100 young men attended the annual banquet of the men's class of the First Presbyterian Church, given in one of the church parlors last Friday night, and it was an enjoyable as well as a delightful informal occasion. The chairman was Robert Livingston, and after an excellent dinner, served by 20 young women belonging to the church, the flow of oratory and song began. Songs were artistically sung by Don J. Zan and Rev. P. H. Maxwell, of Oregon City, and Rev. William Wadsworth and John Ross Fargo, tenors, and all the selections were heartily enjoyed. One feature of the gathering was that many of the principal cities of the United States were toasted and the list of speakers included Rev. Edward T. Allen, Rev. A. D. Soper, William W. Cotton, Fletcher Linn, Mr. Templeton, R. C. Warren, A. A. Morse, Wallace W. Morse, John A. Roper, Daniel D. Warner, B. Ralph Brennan, Alexander C. Rae, Frank S. Bennett, J. Henry Shivers, St. Charles Thomas, Daisy Mason, and others. Miller Murdoch responded to the toast, "Our class." A telegram containing greetings from the class was sent to Rev. Dr. Edgar P. Hill, who is at present visiting Philadelphia, in connection with church work.

Dr. and Mrs. L. M. Davis celebrated their 30th wedding anniversary on Wednesday evening. Many members of the Camille Chapter, Order of Eastern Stars, of which Mr. Davis is a member, attended, besides many other friends. The house had very pretty decorations of manzanita, clematis and chrysanthemums. In the center of the table in the dining-room a floral star was placed. Presiding at the table were Past Matrons Jamison, Nichols, Watts and Miller. They were assisted in serving the guests by the Misses Killingsworth, Nichols, Cutler, Jameson, Hardy and Miller.

Dr. and Mrs. Miller were presented with several handsome gifts by their room members of the Eastern Star, and Mrs. Davis also received a past matron's jewel, set with diamonds, the gift of her sons. During the evening Mrs. Lee Baker, of Portland, was invited to give a reading of the first prize, a handsome lace stock; the second, a dainty picture, going to Mrs. Watkins. The score will be kept throughout the series of meetings, and at the close prizes will be awarded to the two most successful players. The club will meet regularly in the afternoon, but several special meetings will be held in the evening, in order that gentlemen may be invited. The members ship in the new club is as follows: Messrs. Albrecht, Brown, Calkins, Harder, Hasselgren, Holman, Houghton, Lutke, Martin, McMillen, Muffley, Northrup, A. C. and J. J. Pantan, Pfander, Watkins, Zimmerman, and the Misses Holbrook, Laue, and Roberts.

The Oregon Agricultural College Club met at the home of Professor John Van Gress, Friday evening. The meeting proved to be the most enjoyable one since the organization of the club. Not only was much more enthusiasm shown, but many new members were enlisted. A literary and social programme was rendered, the ladies spent in a most enjoyable and profitable way. Many college stories, jokes and reminiscences were told of days spent at the Oregon Agricultural College. After the programme refreshments were served and the club adjourned. The club, though a comparatively recent organization, promises to be a power in furthering the interests of the Oregon Agricultural College, and will also do much to preserve college memories and friendships.

Mrs. W. L. Strangh entertained 14 members of the Ohio Society at luncheon on Thursday. The ladies were handsomely decorated with Oregon grape, palms, blooming callas and white carnations. The dining-room in yellow and white looked extremely pretty. Yellow and white chrysanthemums were arranged in the center of the table and also on the sideboard, with branches of Oregon grape. After luncheon Mrs. Gillett sang several songs in a pleasing manner. Mrs. Strangh's guests were: Mrs. M. A. Butler, Mrs. Will Goldman, Mrs. Louis Hess, Mrs. A. B. Evans, Mrs. George H. Howell, Mrs. F. W. Brooke, Mrs. F. C. Greer, Mrs. C. A. Mas, Mrs. A. W. Riley, Mrs. B. Hopkins, Mrs. Lindstrom, Mrs. E. K. Dearborn, Mrs. J. W. Baird.

The members of the Tuesday Afternoon Club are finding their Greek history and mythology study very delightful. Excellent papers being prepared for every meeting. The inferior duties were discussed at the last session, which was held at the home of Mrs. Frank Miller. Mrs. Miles read a paper on the "Satyrs" and Mrs. Merwin Pugh, Mrs. Warren White, Mrs. Robert Smith, Mrs. J. D. Hays and Mrs. J. D. Young had as their subjects "Hyms," "The Cyclops," "The Centaurs," "Aurora" and "Pan." Mrs. G. M. Gilnes had made a study of the "Harpies" and "Pomona."

The club meets this week at the home of Mrs. O. F. M. Jamison.

Mrs. E. G. Tuttle and family, having purchased and occupied the beautiful house at Multnomah and East Sixth streets, on Thursday, the party numbering about 15, thoroughly enjoyed "King Dodo," and after the matinee were entertained at luncheon at the Portland Hotel. Some charming afternoon costumes were worn by the women of the party, the hostess wearing a gown of champagne cloth, with red carnations.

A farewell reception for Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Pettie, who left for their new home at Los Angeles on Tuesday, was held recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Stevenson. Mr. and Mrs. Pettie came to Portland only a short time ago from Oregon, Scotland, but made a large number of friends while here.

Mrs. T. W. Marshall entertained the Modern Priscilla Club at her charming home on Hawthorn avenue, last Tuesday afternoon. Those present were: Messdames Hardie, McAvay, Wind, Sandercock, Morgan and Marshall. Mrs. W. R. Vincent will be the next hostess of the club.

A very enjoyable birthday party was given Miss Edna Hoyt at her home last Monday evening. The rooms were lavishly decorated with green grape and ivy. Gumps were played during the evening, after which a delightful luncheon was served.

The Portasia Club gave a pleasant dance at Parsons Hall, on Wednesday evening. The O. R. & N. colors were conspicuous in the decorations, which were very gay and brilliant. The orchestra gave a brilliant programme of music.

The young people of the First Congregational Church gave a largely attended reception on Monday evening, as a farewell to Miss Elizabeth Bonn, who is leaving Portland for The Dalles, after spending a year in the city.

The handsome new home of Dr. and Mrs. A. W. Moore, at East Twelfth and East Morrison streets, was opened on Wednesday evening for a housewarming, at which about 50 guests were present.

A pleasant dance was given by Mrs. Nina Larowe, at Larowe Hall, on Thursday evening. The music was by Everett's orchestra. L. E. N. Cardinal and Miss David led the German.

The "82" Club, of recent organization, was entertained on Thursday by Mrs. C. H. Heller, the afternoon being passed very pleasantly at cards.

McNeer-Bennett.

Yellow and white, the colors of '93, Miss Effie Bennett's class at the Women's College of Baltimore, appeared in exquisite arrangement at her wedding to Dr. Richard Langdon McNeer, which took place at Taylor-Street Methodist Episcopal Church on Wednesday evening. Dr. H. J. Talbot read the marriage service, and the bride was given away by her father, Mr. John E. Bennett. Mrs. Allan Welch Smith, the bride's sister, was her matron of honor, and Dr. Smith was best man. Lionel Paget, James A. McKinnon, Allen Percy, Frank S. Grant, Luther F. Steel and Paul Baddolet, of Astoria, were the ushers. The bride's gown was of ivory satin, with tulle yoke and bertha of duchesse lace. She carried a shower bouquet of bride roses. Mrs. Smith wore her wedding gown of heavy white satin and duchesse lace, and carried white chrysanthemums. The bridesmaids wore dainty gowns of yellow and white and carried yellow chrysanthemums. Miss Lisa Sutherland and Miss Mary Talbot wore point d'esprit over yellow organdie, while Miss Jessie Farrell and Miss Kate Gibbs were gowned alike in yellow organdie over yellow silk. During the ceremony Mrs. Warren E. Thomas played "Always" and other favorite songs of the bride. From 8:30 until 11 o'clock a reception was held at the Bennett home on Tenth street. The drawing-room decorations were of white chrysanthemums and cosmos, and in the hall were red cosmos. Yellow chrysanthemums in a copper kettle and antique brass candlesticks gave a charming effect in the dining-room where lots were served by Mrs. Frank S. Grant and Miss Gibbs, assisted by Miss Ethel Beharrell, Miss Florence Stackpole and Miss Sutherland. Miss Anna Finley and Miss Marion Stackpole served punch. Coffee was served upstairs in the room where the present were displayed, Miss Farrell presiding, with the assistance of Miss Annah Lewis and Miss Hannah Connell. Dr. and Mrs. McNeer have gone East via the Canadian Pacific and will visit in Chicago and Cincinnati before going to Baltimore, where they will be at home after 15th of January at 122 Calvert street, north.

Price-Bailey.

A charming wedding took place in Irion, Oregon, when Miss Margaret, daughter of J. W. Bailey, was united in marriage to Andrew Parker Price, of this city, Dr. J. R. T. Lathrop officiating. The different apartments were lavishly decorated with ferns and white blossoms. The color scheme in the parlors was green and white, while the dining-room and hall were in red. Large baskets of sword ferns and white cosmos were in the parlors, while in the dining-room red cosmos was used. The table in the dining-room was particularly effective with a large hammered brass bowl of brilliant red cosmos in the center of the table and long sprays of smilax extending from the chandeliers to the four corners of the table. At each corner were high brass candlesticks and red candles. Miss May Mason played the wedding march from Lohengrin, and the wedding party entered and stood under a bower of ferns and flowers. The bride was attended by Mrs. Price, Mrs. Bailey, and the best man was Dr. George Larkin, of Newberg. The bride was very queenly in a beautiful gown of white organdie with long tulle veil. She carried bride roses. The maid of honor wore a becoming gown of green mousseline de soie and carried pink carnations. During the ceremony Miss Mason played softly Mendelssohn's "Spring Song." At the conclusion of the ceremony the happy couple received congratulations, after which a supper was served. Only the families and a few intimate friends were in attendance. Mr. and Mrs. Price will be at home to their friends after December 1 at 40 East Eighth street.
