Chicago Strike Down to a Bargaining Proposition.

EMPLOYERS DISAPPOINT MEN

Their Latest Peace Offer, Which is Nowhere What the Carmen Demand, Will Be Considered Today.

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—The street-car strike has settled down for the time being at least, to a bargaining proposition. Negotiations have been in progress all day, and will continue through tomorrow.

The last conference of the day terminated at 8 o'clock, and the union officials left the room with displeasure on their faces, and evidently not in the best of humor.

The conference this afternoon was at times somewhat heated, and the voices could be heard in the outer hall as they argued the proposition involved.

The present hitch in negotiations is understood to be over the routing of the cars, the men having waived their demand for the exclusive employment of union men and their right to pass with authority upon the discharge of employes.

A great mass meeting of union men is to be held tomorrow at Tattersalls to discuss the strike.

The associated teaming interests of this city, which organization counts among its membership nearly all the large business houses and manufacturing concerns that operate teams, has served notice upon the Teamsters' Union that unless the teamsters return to their work with the Chicago City Railway Company all agreements held with local teamsters' unions will be abrogated.

Newlands Resolution Inviting Statehood Not Practical Now.

HAVANA, Nov. 21.—The joint resolution introduced in the United States Senate by Mr. Newlands on Friday, inviting Cuba to become a state of the United States, has occasioned a great deal of comment here.

In the course of an interview had with the correspondent of the Associated Press, President Palma commented with seriousness upon the provisions of the resolution. He said while there might possibly have been a time when the majority of the residents of Cuba would have favored voluntary action, that time had passed, the stability of the Cuban government having become so well established that the Cubans had no other desire than to perpetuate and loyally support it.

TECHNICAL STORY OF THE GAME

How the Old Elf Men Achieved a Triumph Over the Crimson.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 21.—Harvard kicked off at 2:15. Shevlin caught the ball on Yale's five-yard line and ran it back 20 yards. In the interference, Mitchell cut over the eye, and there was a short delay. The first scrimmage took place on kick back to her 45-yard line. Lemoynes' kick, which followed, was a poor one, covering only 22 yards. Again Yale kicked on the second down, the ball going to Harvard's 20-yard line, but this time Marshall covered 19 yards before he was thrown.

On three central plays Harvard gained ten yards, which gave great encouragement to the crimson side of the field, but again was penalized ten yards, which was followed by a poor pass by Parkinson, and the consequent loss of the ball to Yale on Harvard's 25-yard line.

Yale's offense looked strong, but after setting to Harvard's 25-yard line the blue team was penalized 20 yards for off play. The teams then exchanged kicks, and once more Yale started for Harvard's goal from the crimson's 45-yard line. After two rushes into center, Metcalf circled the Harvard right end for 25 yards, placing the ball on the five-yard line amid the cheering of the blue's supporters. It Yale's 25-yard line. Harvard held well, and Yale was forced to kick. Mitchell punted out of bounds at Harvard's 60-yard line.

Marshall circled Yale's end for 25 yards. Rushed by Harvard gained seven yards more, but to no avail, for Harvard was penalized ten yards for holding in the line. Yale got the ball on her own 45-yard line. Mitchell, of Yale, kicked to contain Harvard on her own 25-yard line. The crimson leader was downed after a 20-yard run.

Again Harvard was penalized ten yards for rough work on the line. An injury to Le Moyne delayed the play. Nichols was then called upon to kick. There was another wretched pass, but again Harvard's punter gained the ball. He was thrown after a run across the field. The ball went to the 20-yard line and Nichols plunged through the center for three yards. Hogan, Yale's tackle, was then given the ball for the first time, and tore his way through for a clean five-yard line buck. The ball was now Yale's 20-yard line. Nichols, of Harvard, of Harvard's 25-yard line. Nichols, of Harvard, was kicked in the head and required attention.

Yale scored, Kinney making a touchdown. The ball, by smashing tactics, Yale's part, had been landed within three yards of Harvard's goal line. It was a difficult goal and Mitchell failed to kick it. Score: Yale 6, Harvard 0.

Harvard Loses on Fake Play.

Harvard got the ball on Yale's 25-yard line. Both teams played desperately. Harvard finally landed the ball for the first time inside the enemy's five-yard line. A fake play was stopped for a Harvard loss. The Yale line was holding and Captain Marshall dropped back for a drop kick. The pass was a poor one and Marshall had so little time that the kick was blocked. There was a terrific scramble for the ball, but Harvard fell on it and retained it on Yale's 30-yard line. Harvard directed a tandem play at Yale's left wing and it went through for three yards. A delayed pass netted another yard. Yale's left end was bent back like a reed and Harvard gained six yards.

A series of plunges landed the ball on Yale's 12-yard line. At this point Yale was penalized for offside play for five yards and it was Harvard's ball on Yale's five-yard line.

Nichols dropped the ball and it went to Yale. Mitchell kicked from inside only behind the line. It was a weak attempt and Harvard got the ball just inside Yale's 25-yard line.

With the ball again on Yale's 15-yard line, Captain Marshall tried a delayed pass and finally ran with the ball himself. He was thrown back for five yards. The Harvard leader dropped back for a field goal. It was a failure and Yale brought the ball to her own 25-yard line. Mitchell punted out 60 yards and Nichols ran back ten. The ball was now in Harvard's possession. The Yale line was holding and Lemoynes kicked to Yale's 45-yard line. Yale was thrown back for a loss on the next play. Harvard was playing viciously. Again Yale could not get Mitchell punted to Harvard's 40-yard line. Nichols worked his way around Yale's left end for a couple of yards and Lemoynes was sent back for a kick.

His ball was a standing one across the field. Marshall got the ball and carried it to the center of the field.

The half ended with the score 5 to 0 in favor of Yale. Five minutes after play was resumed in the second half, Yale scored a touchdown. Mitchell failed to kick the goal. The score: Yale 10, Harvard 0.

Having substituted for Schoelkopf, the latter having been worn out. Lemoynes was sent back for a kick. He punted to Metcalf on Yale's ten-yard line, and the ball was downed on Yale's 15-yard line. Mitchell punted to Harvard's 60-yard line, and Nichols was downed in his tracks. On the next play Mills broke through for 15 yards, but was stopped by Yale's halfback, Metcalf. An attack on Yale's center netted nothing.

Harvard Playing Like a Demon.

Miller for Yale was succeeded by Russell. The Harvard attack again negotiated distance and went through for four yards on Yale's right for the attack. The Harvard player, Nichols, carried the ball to within seven yards of Yale's goal line. Again Harvard went through, this time for the necessary distance, and it was the first down. The goal was five yards away. The teams paled up on the spot. There was no appreciable gain, and the ball was a scant four yards from Yale's line. It was third down. A fake play landed Nichols with the ball almost over the line. But the distance had not been gained, and the ball went to Yale on downs within a foot of her own goal line. The Yale seven lined up on its own goal line for the next scrimmage.

Instead of kicking, Yale took a big chance and undertook to rush the ball. The men were equal to the occasion, and glowed through for seven yards. Deby was replaced by Squires. Farmer tried Harvard's left wing and gained the necessary distance to make its first down. Mitchell was slammed into the center without result. Mitchell kicked on Harvard's fumble, but saved the ball on Yale's 50-yard line. Lemoynes punted and Kinney blocked the ball. It rolled back toward Harvard's goal posts, and Bigsell, of Yale, dropped on it. It was Yale's ball on Harvard's 25-yard line.

Yale scored, Mitchell kicked the goal. Score: Yale 15, Harvard 0. Nichols was succeeded by Goodhue. Yale had the ball on its own 12-yard line. There was a Yale fumble and when it was all over the ball was in Yale's possession, but only three yards from her own goal line. Mitchell from behind his own goal line kicked out of danger. Captain Marshall caught the ball and tried to heel it for a fair catch. Shevlin tackled him and Harvard protested. The referee allowed a fair catch. Harvard had an opportunity for a kick from placement, 28 yards away from the Yale goal. The score was most difficult. Lemoynes tried to kick a goal, but failed.

In a scrimmage Harvard fumbled, Shevlin got the ball and ran 60 yards for what looked like a touchdown. He planted the ball behind goalposts, but the score was not allowed. The referee ruled that the ball had not been put into proper play and the scrimmage had to be repeated. The game ended with the score: Yale, 15; Harvard, 0.

THE FEAR OF HUMBUG

Prevents Many People From Trying a Good Medicine.

Stomach troubles are so common and in most cases so obstinate to cure that people are apt to look with suspicion on any remedy claiming to be a radical, permanent cure for dyspepsia and indigestion. Many such pride themselves on their acute sense in never being humbugged, especially in medicines.

This fear of being humbugged can be carried too far, so far, in fact, that many people suffer for years with weak digestion and cause the mischief. This is the only secret of their success.

Cathartic pills never have and never can cure indigestion and stomach troubles because they act entirely on the bowels, whereas the whole trouble is really in the stomach.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets taken after meals digest the food. That is all there is to it. Food not digested or half digested is poison, as it creates gas, acidity, headache, palpitation of the heart, loss of flesh and appetite and many other troubles, which are often called by some other name.

They are sold by druggists everywhere at 50 cents per package.
