Portland's Big Cloak Store

Five years ago this cloak department made its initial bow in the present location and asked a share of patronage. We thought we were particularly well equipped with facilities to properly serve everyone for a score of years to come. We are ready to admit now that our ideas of the sphere this garment store was to occupy were altogether too limited. There have been faults which we had planned to avoid and other annoyances. Our service in the main, however, has been eminently satisfactory, particularly in the size and variety of the stocks, which have given Portland women metropolitan assortments. In extent the displays have been larger than all other local stores combined. Things are going to be even better from today on. Ten thousand dollars' worth of improvements are in progress. The magnificent new stock cases will permit more selling space, enlarged workrooms and increased facilities for handling even greater stocks of merchandise. We're going to make this garment section a store all Portland will take particular pride in. We call attention to the completeness of the stock today. Late models in all desirable apparel, the personal selection of the cloak buyer, just returned from his second trip of the season to Eastern markets.
