

TOLMAN ASPIRES

May Run for Governor of Washington.

ALL DEPENDS ON M'BRIDE

Both Make Railroad Commission Main Issue.

REPUBLICAN MAY LOSE FIGHT

Democratic Aspirant Expects Then to Fall Heir to Whatever Strength Governor Has in Effort for Railroad Legislation.

SEATTLE, Wash., Dec. 12.—(Special).—State Senator Warren W. Tolman will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor in the event Governor Henry McBride is defeated in the Republican state convention. Tolman, as the author of two railroad commission bills, regards himself as the leading legatee of whatever railroad commission sentiment there may be.

Feeling that he and McBride represent practically the same issue Tolman will not consider the fight for the gubernatorial nomination in the event McBride should win out. He regards the Democratic fight in this state next year as one of negation. The Democrats to win cannot go before the people on the same issue adopted by the Republicans. If the railroad commission should be made a Republican issue Tolman could not accept a nomination on a platform either opposed to the commission idea or at all lukewarm on the subject. His whole legislative attitude would be a contradiction of his new position.

There is no doubt that Tolman would like to receive the Democratic nomination for Governor in the event he can see a chance to make the fight on the railroad commission issue. He was in Seattle this week and acknowledged as much.

Turner Believed to Be Sincere.

Neither Tolman nor his friends believe that Senator Turner will be a candidate in this state for any office other than United States Senator. They believe his protestation since returning from Europe that he will, under no circumstances, be a candidate for Governor was a sincere expression.

This position is justified easily by the course of reasoning that makes the Democrats believe that Turner can be as easily elected Senator as he can Governor. This is probably true and Republicans will agree with Democrats, though they might be tempted to place their reliance upon the verity of the statement, in the belief that the state is hopelessly Republican.

Tolman's ambition to make the fight for Governor is easily explained to those who believe the state is overwhelmingly Republican. He resides on the East Side, where the commission sentiment finds its principal lodgement and does not come into frequent contact with the mass of anti-commission men, as those on the West Side. Moreover he resides at Spokane, where an anti-railroad campaign has always been popular with political leaders. Spokane, dependent upon the surrounding agricultural and mining country for its support, readily absorbs the political views of the farming districts. Those counties are the ones where the anti-railroad sentiment is strongest.

Not in Complete Touch.

While Tolman is a man who keeps in touch as best he can with the entire state his business connections do not take him into those Eastern Washington counties where the commission issue is not as strong as in Spokane and he does not come frequently to the West Side. All of this explains the strong feeling he has that the commission issue is the dominant one in state politics. More than that he is convinced that if the Republicans turn down McBride and his policy the Democrats will sweep the state. Under such circumstances he would welcome a chance for the fight.

Naturally Tolman does not acknowledge that he would support McBride in the event the Democrats declared against the commission idea after the Republicans had endorsed the plan and named McBride. That would be a confession of political weakness that would strike politicians unfavorably and injure his chances. But Tolman says that if McBride is nominated he will have the entire strength of the Republican party behind him.

Tolman goes farther than that in his summing up of the state politically. He insists that the railroads would not fight McBride openly in the event he were a candidate and a more acceptable man were named by the Democrats. He was willing to concede that the railroad support was thrown to Rogers three years ago in preference to Frink, but insists a repetition of this move would not be attempted.

Record Is Consistent.

As a matter of fact, Tolman would probably be the most consistent commission man that could be named by either party for Governor. He drafted the original commission bill in 1901 which provided the Governor should appoint the members of the commission. Preston and McBride, leaders in this campaign last Winter, insisted upon a three-cornered arrangement that would allow the Republicans the control of the appointing power and give McBride, as Lieutenant-Governor and ex-officio member of the appointing board, virtual control.

Two years after McBride and Preston had fought for this plan and had stubbornly resisted Tolman's argument that the appointing power should be left in the hands of a Governor who could remove his appointees at will and thus insure satisfactory conduct, they appeared fighting for the same bill Tolman had originally drawn and using the arguments that had combated before. Tolman not only continued along his old line, but during the previous session had declared himself willing, rather than to lose all commission legislation, to accept the Preston-McBride plan. Under the circumstances, his is the best and clearest record that any commission man could show as a gubernatorial nominee.

The Ambition of Tolman.

Tolman's ambition to become Governor is not his first manifestation of his desire to go higher than a place in the State Legislature. He was a candidate for Congress when the last Legislature met, but he cast off his ambition when the law makers refused to divide the state into Congressional districts.

Back of that Congressional ambition is a story of the last Legislative session that is not yet public property. Tolman, it will be remembered, was behind H. T. Johnson, "Deep Creek" Jones, urging him as the successor to Ernest Lister as the Democratic member of the state board of control. He demanded the place of McBride and was promised it despite the fact that the Democratic organization and most prominent politicians, together with Republican leaders, were behind Lister.

When Tolman was laying down on McBride the hardest, and while the fight over Congressional districts was on, Tolman had a chance to win the coveted division for Eastern Washington. The late State Senator E. S. Hamilton was a close friend of Lister and he offered to use his influence in favor of districting the state so as to create an East Side district, the one East Side leaders of both parties wanted. If Tolman would withdraw his fight on Lister.

Sure of Division Bill.

Tolman evidently believed that the division bill would go through, for he said so, and continued to advocate Jones. While it must not be said that Hamilton was responsible for the failure of the Congressional division bill, his influence certainly counted strongly, for it did not require much change to throw the decision in either direction.

Tolman gave up his ambition to go to Congress as soon as he found the state would not be divided. He acknowledged to his friends that he believed he had a chance of election only in the event an East Side district were to be created. This acknowledgment does not fit entirely with Tolman's theory that he can be elected Governor. His record avails him more, of course, as a gubernatorial candidate, but he should poll a part of the extra strength as a Congressional nominee. But Tolman is now confident that the gubernatorial chair at Olympia is what he needs.

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL

Few People Know How Useful It Is in Preserving Health and Beauty. Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature, but few realize its value when taken into the human system for the same and other purposes. Charcoal is a remedy that the mere use of it is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the gases and impurities always present in the stomach and intestines and carries them out of the system. Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking, drinking or after eating onions and other odorous vegetables.

Charcoal effectively cleans and improves the complexion, it whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and eminently safe cathartic. It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels; it disinfects the mouth and throat from the poison of catarrh. It relieves the system in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal and the most for the money is in Stuart's Absorbent Lozenges; they are composed of the finest powdered willow charcoal and other best ingredients in tablet form, or rather in the form of large, pleasant tasting lozenges, the charcoal being mixed with honey.

The daily use of these lozenges will soon tell in a much improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath and purer blood, and the beauty of it is, that no possible harm can result from their continued use, but, on the contrary, great benefit. A Buffalo physician, in speaking of the benefits of charcoal, says: "I advise Stuart's Absorbent Lozenges to all patients suffering from gas in stomach and bowels, and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat; I also believe the liver is greatly benefited by the daily use of these lozenges. They are twenty-five cents a box at drug stores, and, although in some cases a patent preparation, yet I believe I get more and better charcoal in Stuart's Absorbent Lozenges than in any of the ordinary charcoal tablets."

ACCEPT INTEREST MONEY

MORTGAGE-HOLDERS DECLINE A RECEIVER FOR COMPANY.

Boise-Payette River Power Plant Will Be Run as Before—Money for Improvements.

BOISE, Idaho, Dec. 12.—(Special).—In the United States Circuit Court this morning, J. H. Richards, attorney for the Mercantile Trust Company of Boston, which corporation holds a blanket mortgage upon the property of the Boise-Payette River Electric & Power Company, and sought to have a receiver appointed for the power company, asked that the case be dismissed.

Rather than operate the property of the power company under the restrictions proposed by the court, the complainant preferred to accept the tender of interest money, inasmuch as the creditors of the Boise-Payette Company had agreed not to press their claims and the company would be able to extend its operations and increase its revenues with comity restored between the conflicting interests.

Briefly stated, the immediate effect of the decision to withdraw the application for a receivership will leave the power company in very much the same condition as it was before the action was commenced. The showing made in the proceedings before Judge Beatty will, it is claimed, have the effect of lightening the power company's burdens, and insuring sufficient to meet all expenses and operating charges.

It is understood that funds will soon be caught for the betterment of the plant. All creditors will, it is said, be paid in full and the property placed in such physical condition that it will be able to meet all conditions. It is alleged, are willing to co-operate with the stockholders for the improvement and extension of the power plant and the protection of the company's creditors.

CLANCY FINES FOR CONTEMPT

Officers of Boston & Montana to Pay $300 Each.

BUTTE, Dec. 12.—Judge William Clancy found the Boston & Montana Company and J. C. Adams and George Moulthrop guilty of contempt of court this afternoon, fining each $300. The decision was in the case in which the Boston & Montana Company and its officers were charged with mining ore veins which were alleged to be the property of the Montana Ore Purchasing Company.

The charge, so far as it concerned B. H. Dunshie and George Moulthrop, was dismissed. C. W. Goodale, general manager, who was one of the defendants, was not present in court and Judge Clancy did not render judgment in his case.

BUTTE, Mont., Dec. 12.—The first case under the law passed at the recent extra session of the Legislature came up today when E. J. Adams, of Butte, appealed a conviction that he has reason to believe that he could not get a fair and impartial hearing of his case in Judge Harnes's Court.

SPORTS FINED AT EUGENE.

Town Has a Spasm of Moral Reform, and Notices Gambling.

EUGENE, Or., Dec. 12.—(Special).—A new crusade against the open gambling games is on in this city, and during the past few days three arrests of offenders have been made. In two cases the accused have been fined before the Recorder and contributed to the city exchequer $100 each. It is said other arrests will be made and that the sporting element of the city will be again reduced to obedience to the law.

This action on the part of the authorities has been periodical for years past. There comes to be a carelessness regarding the laws, then the police go and take in the operators of open games, and the business shuts up for a time like a clam and the sporting fraternity is idle.

After a time, however, the games open and do a fair degree of business until it becomes too public and complaint is made, when they shut up shop again. The last raid on the games until the present occurred in August, and it was said at that time that they were open again there would be some fine paid, which prediction is now apparently being realized.

SAMUEL FRASER CREATES TROUBLE ON TRAIN.

Tries to Collect Fares, and Is in Jail, Pending Taking to the Blackfoot Asylum.

MONTEPELLIER, Idaho, Dec. 12.—(Special).—Samuel Fraser, of Seattle, Wash., on the way to Michigan, is in jail here, supposed to be mentally unbalanced. The cause of his trouble, he says, is that he was compelled to wait over 40 minutes at Pocatello. The officers who have the man in charge say his hallucination is largely due to an excessive indulgence in liquor.

The train had not proceeded far on its journey from Pocatello before Fraser conceived the idea that he was the conductor of the train. He tried to take up the transportation and tickets of the passengers, threatening them with ejection from the train.

When the train reached this place it was deemed advisable to put him off and turn him over to the authorities for care. The man is now in jail. He will be sent to the state asylum at Blackfoot.

“Cures”

Ranch it and rough it and you'll soon get rid of that weak chest and that hacking cough. That is what the doctor said to a young married man with a wife and child to care for and a modest salary to support them on. He couldn't go to St. Love and duty tied him to his desk in the city.

The doctor didn't have to travel to cure coughs or strengthen weak lungs. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures obstinate, deep-seated coughs, bronchitis, bleeding of the lungs, weakness, emaciation and other forms of disease which if neglected or unskillfully treated terminate fatally in consumption.

I will write you what Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has done for me. George H. Belcher, Esq., of Dorset, Pike County, Ky. "Thirteen years ago I was wounded by a ball passing through my lungs. I have had cough almost ever since, with shortness of breath, and it was very easy to take cold; the slightest change of weather would cause the cough to be so bad I would have to sit up in bed all night. Could not eat or sleep at times; was all run down, could not work at all. A few months ago I began using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Have not used more than two bottles, but the cough has almost entirely disappeared, and I feel like a new man. I cannot find words to sufficiently recommend Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, or tell the good it has done me."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser in paper covers is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay expense of mailing only. The book has 1008 pages and over 700 illustrations. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Why Relations Were Broken Off.

BERLIN, Dec. 12.—The season Germany has decided to break off diplomatic relations with the Servian court, for the present at least, is that the social season is about to begin in Belgrade, and King Peter has issued invitations to balls and entertainments and other festivities as usual at all European capitals. It is stated that the ministers accredited to Berlin have never ceased earnestly to advise King Peter to disassociate himself from the murderers of his predecessor and the latter's wife, and to demand their punishment. The Servian King disregarded this advice and did not even answer the notes. Matters reached a crisis when it was evident that the King intended to receive the regicide ministers, and shake hands with them, and Germany accordingly decided to break off her relations with him.
