The 'Colonial' Flyer on Time

DUE TO ARRIVE TOMORROW MORNING AT 8 O'CLOCK, FREIGHTED TO THE BURSTING POINT WITH ENORMOUS VALUES FOR A WEEK'S DISTRIBUTION AMONG THE PATRONS OF THE 'DIFFERENT STORE.' Thousands of incomparable bargains that make buying a duty you owe to yourselves. While sleepy competition are dozing and inviting people to buy what they don't want, the Olds, Wortman & King Reliable Store boldly and aggressively launch a wonder sale of Springtime values, opening tomorrow upon the natal day of the great American whom we all delight to honor upon memory's tablets as the 'Father of Our Country' and first in the line of Presidents.

Not content with the triumphs of the past few weeks, we're bound to finish the month in 'Garrison' style with a bargain sale unsurpassed in value-giving in the annals of Western merchandising. 'Economized elegance' expresses this matchless event in a nutshell. Our buyers now in New York City have expressed to us some of the brightest bargains that ever illumined a commercial arena! Unapproachable in price, yet the values we spread so lavishly invade the domain of finest, new and high-class Spring-time merchandise. Economical minds with no matter what size purses will avail themselves of this exceptional chance if reason holds its sway. More than ever does this great sale assert the progressiveness and thoroughly uncommon merchandising methods, the forehandedness and mercantile mastery of this leader of stores. This sale emphasizes the most romantic period in American history and serves to present strongly the renaissance of Colonial fashions that open with the Spring. The store is gaily dressed in patriotic colors and American flags—a sight alone worth coming miles to see!
