Forty-one years ago yesterday-this is not a Lewis and Clark Journal-Mique Fisher's mother awoke to find an angel babe at her side. He is still an angel babe to that dear, good old mother, even if he isn't to the Portland fans, who pulled for the home cluster yesterday aft-Mique proke into baseball as easy as some people break into jail. Bobby Keefe was aware of this, and as a fitting birthday present, that wonderful curvater presented Figer with a shutout game. The score, 2 to 0, shows it was a tight fit, but for two bad plays on the part of Portland's infield the story "might" have read different.

As a bit of diamond bric-a-brac that lad Cartwright is a shine. He seems to handle himself as a fielder all right, but at the bat, he is the reincarnation of one Con Harlow, of blessed fame. It is all right to excuse fumbles and misplays in youngster just breaking into fast company, but when that youngster deliber-ately tosses off the first and about the only chance that the Clerks had to win the contest, It's mighty hard to deal out forgiveness. Spencer, the little, hard-working lad who plays second, gave the Tigers their second and last run, but, even at that, but for Cartwright, the Clerks might have won.

Truck Eagan, in the second inning, came through with one of his long hits. came through with one of his long hits. It was good any old day for a couple of sacks, but owing to Judge McCreedie's lameners Truck was able to stretch it to three cushions. Graham's single scored the big fellow. In the third inning Hannivan poked out a double, and when Spencer was guilty of his second error of that inning, Hannivan scored. That's all there was to the scoring for those Tracoma Lungers—which in Chinese these Tacoma Lungers—which in Chinese means Tigers. Ham Iberg had them swinging their necks crooked at his snooz-ers and slants during the rest of the ers and slants during the rest of the matinee. Only once after this, and that in the sixth inning, when Nordyke straightened out for two sacks, did those Tigers have a promise with Ham's offerings. He pitched just as good baseball as Keefe, but the luck of the game did not break for him, like it did for Bobby. Keefe has pitched many a good game of ball this season, and last season for that matter, but he has never appeared to a better advantage than he did yesterday. In the four innings he struck out seven men, gave but one very scratchy even men, gave but one very scratchy it, and walked two men. In the fifth Steelman dropped a dinky bunt towards Lynch that went on record as a bingle Lynch that went on record as a single-lberg sacrificed him to second, but Mur-phy, who had taken Kerby Drennan's place in center field, when that player was hit in the face by Graham while stealing second in the opening inning. us well could do nothing with

This brings us up to that woeful sixth McCreedle hit to right for two chapter. McCreedie hit to right for two bags and Cartwright was called upon to chapter. Secrecian the constraints of the constrain base may that Cartwright stepped over the bas. The Clerks had been fighting hard up to this time, but this wretched play drove the sprinkling wagon over their powder.

In the eighth inning the Clerks made a feeble attempt to assault the Tigers' stronghold. Nadeau, with two in retire-ment, convinced O'Connell that a foul ment, convinced O'Connell that a four tip had kissed one of his meat hooks. It took a diamond mass meeting to bring this about, with Phil gesticulating in French and orating in English. Mc-Creedie switched the cut and singled to right, but Beck could not get his drive out of Engan's way and the hope of scorout of Engan's way and the special play, after Francis had singled, closed us up with a snap that was vicious.

The injury to Drennan, who is batting well just at this time, worked a great way of the special play and the special play at the special play and the hardship and greatly curtailed any chances the locals had to winning. Then, too, Castro, on account of his injury, was out of the game. Francis was at short, a position that he plays with a master's hand. Francis, however, is not hitting the ball like the South American, and so his absence was felt. The score:

JERRY TROT WALKS OUT.

Portland's Ball-Ground Keeper Seeks Other Employment.

Jerry Trot, groundkeeper at the bas ball park, has quit. Portland, since Jerry took charge of the Vaughn-street grounds. has had the handsomest diamond and out-field on the Coast, and it has been mainly through his tireless work that this was made possible. Every player in the league has looked forward to playing on the local grounds, for, in addition to being fast, the players had a chance to rest up their tired legs after playing on the billiard-table-like diamonds around the cir-

Jerry and Ben Ely got into a jar omething, and he resigned, and that accounts for the frightful condition of the grandstand yesterday. Local fans have grown used to seeing Jerry about and they will regret his departure, Mrs. Trot will also be missed, and perhaps no one will miss her more than Phil Nadeau. Mrs. Trot thinks Nadeau is the greatest fielder in the business, and she has saved Phil many a weary romp after foul balls that were hit in the direction of her cottage. On these occasions she would run from her cottage and gather in the ball and throw it to Nadeau.

Fred Ely managed, after a great deal of labor, to get the diamond into condition for playing. He did not know that Jerry had thrown up his job, and he was hot under the collar when he appeared for practice and found the grounds all cut up from Friday's game. Manager Ely got busy and filled up the holes the best he uld, but he had to work like a Digger In-

The Oregon team was somewhat handiplayed baseball for some time, but who expect to do great things to each other, athletes representing Lang & Company capped in the sprints, owing to the ab-sence of Lewis and Moores, and the absence of McKinney, in the weight events, also deprived the State 'Varsity of several points. Trainer Hayward expects to have these three men in the dual meet with the University of Washington, which will be held next Friday at Seattle. Hay-ward is confident of giving the crack Washington team a hard rub, as he has a number of fast men on his list.

The Eugene athletes accepted today's defeat in a sportsmanlike manner, and the two teams left the field cheering for each other.
