

KIFFE FOR JUDGE

Tammany Will Fight Parker to the Last

CERTAIN HE CANNOT WIN

Hill Will Say Just as Mean Things About McClellan.

HEART WILL SPARE NEITHER

Result is an Endless Chain of Discord, and It is Now Even Betting Roosevelt Will Get the State by a Good Majority.

THE PRESIDENTIAL RACE.

Table with columns for State, Roosevelt, Hill, Kiffe, and Wallace. Lists electoral college votes for various states.

Indorsed, not instructed. Nine are known to be for Hearst. Favor Parker, although instructed. Necessary to nominate, 701.

NEW YORK, June 4.—The largest crowd of Democrats that ever went from New York to attend a Democratic National Convention will go to St. Louis next month.

"And we will be the most inharmonious bunch in the world, at that," truthfully remarked a Tammany district leader. First of all, Tammany will be represented by over 500 men, officeholders and others, every one pledged to talk and work against Parker. They cannot vote against him, as the delegation is pledged.

Endless Chain of Discord. It promises to be an endless chain of discord. Tammany will attack Parker and praise McClellan; the Hill men will praise Parker and attack McClellan; while the Hearst men will impartially roast everybody except the "Friend of the People."

Engineers Elect Assistant Brother. LOS ANGELES, June 4.—The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers today elected R. Bottrell, of Ottawa, Canada, first grand assistant and J. J. Evans, of Los Angeles, second grand assistant.

Argument of Murphy. In an interview given out by a man who is very close to Leader Charles F. Murphy the statement is made that Murphy intends to warn the delegates at St. Louis that Parker's nomination means disaster and defeat. He then goes on to say: "Murphy is absolutely certain that Parker cannot carry New York, and that the Parker sentiment is nothing but an artificially stimulated sentiment, created by the money of Belmont and the chicanery of Hill, and that Parker, while personally a most estimable gentleman, with a blameless record, can inspire no enthusiasm and offer no record to the party which would warrant his election."

Farms Wiped Out. (Continued from First Page.) daily severe around Walter. Mrs. Thomas Payne's house was struck and completely demolished, and she was instantly killed. Mrs. J. W. Gill was injured internally in the wrecking of her house.

Strikers Do Not Molest Carmen. HOUSTON, Texas, June 4.—Cars were run today on most of the lines, and there was no trouble of any sort. The competing lines do not meet on each car armed with clubs, but the strikers made no demonstration.

Railroad to Reduce Force. PITTSBURG, June 4.—One thousand employees of the Pennsylvania Railroad, department of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad of this division will be laid off on June 10, owing to decreased business.

Farms Wiped Out. (Continued from First Page.) Ten miles southwest of Lawton 15 houses were completely wrecked and several farms, with their complete crops of cotton and corn, and with all the farm property, were wiped out.

THE LOST GUN IS FIRED

SPORT SHOT IN CAB

Caesar Young, the Turfman, Meets Mysterious Death.

WOMAN WITH HIM IS HELD

Bookmaker is on His Way to Pier to Join His Wife on Europe-Bound Steamer When Life is Ended.

NEW YORK, June 4.—Frank T. Young, known on the turf as Caesar Young, bookmaker, horseowner and stockholder in Pacific Coast race tracks, was shot and killed in a hansom cab today while on his way to the White Star Line pier to join his wife, with whom he was to have sailed for Europe. Mrs. Young was waiting at the pier when news of her husband's death reached her.

At first the death was reported as a suicide, but various circumstances caused the police later to change their views. With Young in the cab when a policeman was called, Mrs. Young, formerly an actress, whose stage name was "Nan Randolph," she is said to be a member of the original Florida sextet.

There was a remarkable scene in the station when Young's partner, a man named Millin, called. He said Young never carried a revolver and that he did not believe the death was due to a self-inflicted wound. Millin said that Young, who came here from England ten to 15 years ago a poor man, was worth more than $50,000.

Partner Rushes at Woman. Shortly after Millin made this statement, Mrs. Patterson was brought in to be taken to the coroner's office. Millin was leaning against the rail when he saw her. He started at her with a rush. She shrank back against a detective. Millin again rushed at her, but two or three detectives grabbed him and held him until the woman was out of sight. Millin shouted at her as she left the station-house.

The woman was taken to Coroner Brown's private office and cloistered with her. While there Millin appeared. He tried to break into the room and get at the woman again, but was prevented. He called the woman names and shouted he would kill her if he had a weapon.

Mrs. Patterson made a statement to the coroner. She said she was a niece of the cashier of a leading New York bank. Continuing, Mrs. Patterson said she heard a muffled report directly after Young had been shot, but she was not sure. She said she did not see any pistol. She said she believed he shot himself with the pistol in his coat pocket.

Mrs. Patterson's statement to the coroner was that on her way down town Young stopped at a hat store and bought a new hat. The hat in which Mrs. Patterson was held was at first fixed at $100, she being held as a witness, but this was later increased to $500 by the coroner on the request of the police officials.

Later in the day the coroner committed Mrs. Patterson to the Tombs without bail. There is no formal accusation made against her, however, but the coroner decided it was better not to commit her as a witness.

Millin, the partner of Young, insisted upon being connected with the case, and was held in 1000 bail as a witness, which he furnished at once. Mrs. Patterson is said to have come from Washington. Well-travelled stories were printed about her, and she made a fortune in the Florida Company, and to the effect that she would aid her father and return to her family.

Less than a month ago a New York paper printed a page review of Young's career under the title, "The Luck of Caesar Young." Mrs. Young left the pier when told of her husband's death and was taken to a friend's home. She was completely prostrated.

Wanted to Break Off Acquaintance. Mrs. Patterson met Young in California, and it is understood she came about about the same time he did. At one time she was on the stage, and it is said, had a place in one of the "Floradora" companies. According to Tom Young's friends, the trip to Europe was planned to break off his acquaintance with Mrs. Patterson. The patrolman who first knew of the shooting said that when he looked into the cab he did not see Young at first. Then Young was seen lying in the woman's lap. The patrolman said he believed Young was then dead or nearly so. The pistol was not in his hand, but was found in the man's right-hand pocket. The woman was in a state of collapse and hysterics. The policeman expressed the belief that Young, after the shooting, was unable to place the pistol in his pocket.

Millin, the partner of Young, and a lifelong friend, said Young never carried a revolver under any circumstances. He said he did not believe that Young committed suicide. The coroner later looked over the statements made by Mrs. Patterson and found some testimony which he had not made public. Mrs. Patterson, in her statement, had said that while riding down West Broadway she heard a muffled pistol shot. How Young knew it was a pistol shot? The coroner asked. "Because I took the pistol out of his pocket and put it back again," she answered. "After the shooting?" "Yes."

An autopsy was performed on the body of Young. At the conclusion of the autopsy the examining physician said he was unable to say whether the wound was self-inflicted or not. The bullet entered the body high up on the left side. It held a downward course, struck the fourth left lung and lodged in the fourth vertebrae. The coat and shirt worn by Young have been examined in the coroner's office. There was no trace of powder marks and no bullet hole in the coat pocket in which the pistol was found.

MANY ELECTION BETS MADE. Wagers Are Confined to District Attorney and Sheriff Contests. Betting on the election is confined to two offices, namely sheriff and district attorney. A number of bets have been made on Reed at 3 to 1 against Manning and on Stott and Word, even money. In the last two days $100 has been posted at Schiller's cigar store on Stott against Word, and up to midnight all but $300 of it had been taken. Of $500 posted at the same place on Reed against Manning at 2 to 1 all was taken except $150. Leader Jacobs and J. Friedenthal, of Portland, and George W. Stevenson, of Tacoma, have taken most of the short end money. The money was put up mostly by Harvey Dale, of the Portland Club, and all of it will be covered by today. The Portland Club is understood to have $300 in reserve.

Henry Hanno, of the Turn Hall saloon, has bet $250 against $125 on Stott. C. A. Burkhardt bet $40 with "Jerry," of Schiller's cigar stand, that the order of election will be: Stott, Word, Bird, Storey. A wager of $10 is reported that Storey will not get more than 3000 votes. Joe Riley bet $50 that Sig Meisel would run the head of the Republican ticket. J. D. Meyer wanted to wager even money that the whole ticket would be elected, but insisted on stipulating that such candidates as Constables and Justices be excluded.

King Edward's Coffee Maker a Turk. London Daily Mail. The King is most particular, not only as to the way his own food is prepared, but also as to that served to his guests. But on no particular is he as fastidious as when it comes to the making of his coffee, and he takes about with him everywhere his own special coffee-maker, a Turk, whose services he secured abroad. The King and Queen possess many lovely sets of china, but none of which they are more fond than of the coffee service which was given to them on the occasion of their silver wedding of the King of Denmark.

Not Always the Case. Duluth Herald. In awarding damages a father who has lost a son and daughter in a street-railway accident a Newark Judge set the boy's value at $5000 and the girl's at $3000. "A woman may become a bread-winner," he said, "a man must be one." The Herald can show him quite a number who are not.

Makes Men Vigorous. For the return of that youthful feeling of manhood, the prominent Detroit physician and scientist is in possession of a receipt which he practices with the most startling success. Through the years have passed his equal has never been found, and with it thousands of weak men have brought about the cure they so much desired. The doctor has analyzed the formula entirely free to any man who writes him for it. He will find it a gift of God, and a blessing to the world. It cures all manhood, nervousness, weak back, indigestion, loss of vitality, and all the troubles, irritability and the many other embarrassing conditions that result from a weak nervous system.
