OVERTURES TO CLEVELAND

Maryland Candidate Tries to Make ex-President Believe He Is the Logical Candidate in Hopes of Getting His Support.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Wash. June 25.-An interesting Democratic combination has been formed, and is working with a great deal of earnestness toward a single purpose. It is to secure the nom-ination of Arthur P. Gorman, for President, and John R. McLean, for Vice-President. Gorman comes from Maryland and McLean from Ohio. Nominally both are more Washington men than anything else. Outside of McLean's howspaper in Cincinnati, all of his large interests are centered in Washington. Gorman has been more of a Washington man than a Maryland man for many years, although he retains his residence in Maryland, differing from McLean, who has two residences in Washington. He scarcely ever lives in Cincinnati.

Makes Overtures to Cleveland.

Not long ago Gorman sent some of his trusted lieutenants to the intimate friends of Grover Cleveland, assuring Cleveland that he (Gorman) would give his earnest and undivided support to Cleveland should the latter consent to run for President, and that all of the past differences that arose between Cleveland and Gorman during the last Democratic administration would be wiped out, and that Gorman, in the interest of rehabilitating the Democratic party, would loyally support the former President. When this message was sent, it was known that Cleveland regarded himself as an impossibility, and closest friends know that he is a physical impossibility.

Some of them go so far as to say that to accept the nomination for the Presidency and updertake the worries of a Presidential campaign and a Presidential term, would cost him his life long before he could serve out his term. It is generally believed that Gorman sent the word to Cleveland in order to secure the Cleveland support for himself, and the friendly interests of Cieveland men who will be at St. Louis when Gorman seeks the nomina-

But McLean figures in it still further. McLean would prefer to be on the ticket with Cleveland, because there would be elected and carry him through, than there would be if Gorman were nominated. At the same time, his closest political alliance has been with Gorman, and he knows that there is a bare possibility.

As to This Possibility.

Gorman stands a better chance of securing the nomination now than he ever did before. There was a possibility of his securing the nomination in 1897 but the overwhelming Cleveland strength, together with strong men like William C. Whitney beat down every political barrier that Gorman raised to Cleveland's nomination, and he made scarcely a rip ple upon the convention. Just now it is different. The Hearst and Bryan crowd have scared the Democrats into supporting Parker. By abuse of Parker, Bryan has arrayed a great many conservtive Democrts in favor of the New York Judge. Southern states, in order to defeat Hearst, had to have a candidate, and they selected Parker as their man. A great many states went so far as to instruct for Parker in order to prevent Hearst from gaining control of their dele-

Now that delegates have been chosen there is some doubt about Parker being able to secure the nomination, and in case he is defeated after several ballots, to whom would the Democrats turn? Gorman says they would turn to him, and with a fairly strong nucleus to start with he might be able to capture the Southern states. That is what he relies on, and it is the scheme which Gorman and McLean are playing to win at St. Louis

WRONGLY TAKEN FOR LOOMIS. Name of Ellis and Missing American Were Confused.

PARIS. June 28.—The whereabouts of Kent J. Loomis, brother of the American Assistant Secredary of State, Francis B. Loomis, who disappeared shortly before or after the arrival of the North German Lloyd steamer Kalser Wilhelm II at Plymouth, June 29, remains in the same state of doubt as yesterday. The officials who are conducting the search for the missing man say there is no truth in the report published by a London newspaper to the effect that Loomis turned up here yesterday. The amountment probably resulted from confusing the names of Loomis and W. H. Ellis. The latter sailed from Marseilles this afternoon for Abysainis.

NOW SEARCHING HOSPITALS. Consul-General Evans Doing Everything to Locate Loomis.

LONDON, June 15 .- The mystery surrounds the disappearance of Kent J. Loomis is no nearer a solution. Not a solitary clew as to his whereabouts has resulted from nearly a week's widespread investigation. Consul-General Evans and the assistant consuls have made and are still making all possible inquiries, but without the faintest trace of the missing

The statement of Gustav Flamm, of Sar The statement of Gustav Flamm, of San Francisco, a passenger on the Kaiser Wilhelm II, that he saw Loomis at Plymouth, is so far uncorroborated. The American Consul at that port says the Board of Trade figures, which presumably tally with the number of passengers who came off the steamer, show that 135 persons landed, all of whom gave their names. These tally with the passenger list, and Loomis' name is not among them.

Loomis' name is not among them.
At the requent of Consul-General Evans, the hospitals at Plymouth are now being searched. Scotland Yard also has the matter in hand, and the English papers, especially the local pa-pers at Plymouth, give prominence to the American's disappearance, so if Loomis is in England and in possession of his faculties he could scarcely fail to know he is being looked for. The authorities here are unable to form even a conjectural explanation of Loomis' disappearance. The theory that Mr. Loomis fell overboard finds no sup-port, and the suggestion that he may have unintentionally disembarked at Plymouth is now regarded as quite out of the question.

The utter failure of all efforts here and on the Continent to discover any and on the Continent to discover any trace of the missing man excites much interest and no little apprehension among the large class of the public taking trans-Atlantic voyages or whose friends often cross the Atlantic.

The circumstances connecting Loomis with the Abyssinian treaty create especial interest here as the sphere of in-cial interest here, as the sphere of fluence of that country is one of th matters especially engaging the atten-tion of European diplomats, and as an-nounced in these dispatches is one of the subjects of which exchanges of con-fidential communications are occurring between Great Britain and Russia.

Ellis Also in Ignorance.

MARSEILLES, June 5.—The Messager-ies Maritimes steamer Oxus sailed this afternoon for Abyssinia with W. J. Ellis, carrying the box containing the commer-cial treaty between the United States and Abyseinia on board. Mr. Ellis was ac-companied by a secretary and a servant. Careful inquiry aboard the ship and at the offices of the company showed that Kent J. Loomis was not aboard the ves-sel. So far as can be ascertained the whereabouts of Mr. Loomis is not known to Mr. Ellis. The Consulate here is also without information.

Miners' Committee Asks for Aid. PUEBLO, Colo., June 25.-The executive committee of the Fifteenth District, Unit-ed Mineworkers of America, held its last meeting in this city today before leaving for Trinidad. Although little was given out for publication, it was learned that it was not the intention to call out all the miners in the district at once, and this may not be done at all, in the event the present plans for conducting the strike are successful. One of the last acts of the committee was to issue an appeal for aid to their fellow workmen throughout the country, and to the public at large. The appeal recites the condition of the coaliminers in a brief history of the present strike. This is one method adopted to raise funds to continue the strike, as the support of the National organization will be withdrawn after July 1.

WATCHUNG, N. J., June 25.—On the death today of Rev. Dr. Edward Fred-crick Moldenke, one of the best-known Lutheran clergymen in the United States, another name was added to the list of vic-tims of the disaster. Dr. Moldenke was pastor of St. Peter's Lutheran Church, in this city. Grief for 30 members of his flock, who went on the excursion and never returned, and his compassion for the bereft families of St. Mark's Church, so affected him that he became ill. For years he had suffered from heart disease, and last Sunday he broke down while holding a memorial service for the Slocum dead. He was taken to his country home, where death occurred.

Dr. Moldenke was president-general of the council of the Lutheran Church of America from 1896 to 1899.
