Astra Circle, 152. Women of Woodcraft, entertained a large number of their friends at a whist and dancing party on the evening of November 8. In the A. O. U. W. Hall. On Thursday, November 17, there will be a short business session and a literary and musical program will then be rendered. Being played the evening is anticipated, and the members and friends of the circle are cordially invited.

The Aqua Para Wistaria Club met on Saturday evening at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Darling, who entertained very pleasantly. Being playing whist the club enjoyed an informal program, which included a clever sleight-of-hand performance by J. W. Duff, and recitations by Mrs. M. M. Trumbull and Dandel. Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Cook will entertain the club on next Saturday evening at their home at Mount Tabor.

A progressive dinner was an entertainment much enjoyed by a number of the young people in Irvington last week. Miss Elsie Hall, Miss Ruby Archambeau, Miss May Sheffer and Miss Maitland were the hostesses. The last course was served at the home of Miss Kennedy, which was decorated in gay Autumn colors. Games were played and the guests after dinner.

The Kenaston Club was entertained on their 34th anniversary at 221 Corbett street. There was a full attendance, and a delightful afternoon was passed in conversation and quilting. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Howard, Miss Julia Joylin and Miss Mildred Moeck. The next meeting will be with Mrs. J. L. McCown, 256 Sixth street, November 17.

One of the most charming box parties of the season was that given by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert H. Hoyt Friday evening at the residence of Mrs. H. H. Hoyt. The musical comedy, "The Tenderfoot." After the performance a delicious supper was served to the party, which included the "Sweet Love Song" in a very pleasing way. The party was presided over by Percy and the host and hostess.

One of the pleasantest events of the week was the Flinch party and candy-pull at the Young Women's Christian Association. Miss Eleanor Kurth sang several selections. Miss Kurth has a rich contralto voice which added greatly to the pleasure of the evening. The society is becoming very popular at the Y. W. C. A.

A pleasant "flinch" party and candy-pull was given by the members of the Young Women's Christian Association on Wednesday evening. Miss Evelyn Krause sang "Lumber Boat" and "A Japanese Rhapsody" in a very pleasing way. Quite a large number of guests, aside from the association membership, were entertained.

A progressive whist party was given by Miss Sadie McGregor as a surprise in honor of the birthday of her mother, Mrs. J. W. McGregor, on Wednesday evening. The party was presided over by Mrs. C. G. Howell and A. H. Willits. Dainty refreshments were served by charming young girls.

Timothy Wood gave a supper, at the Commercial Club, on the Saturday before his wedding, entertaining his best man and guests having a merry time. The table, arranged in a tall, cut-glass vase, and pretty souvenirs of the occasion were four-leaved clover and pearl stickpins.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Godfrey entertained the members of the National Postoffice Clerks' Association at their home last Wednesday evening. A short but very interesting program had been prepared by the committee, and the evening was much enjoyed.

Mrs. J. S. Malcheater entertained the Lone Fir "509" Club at her home Thursday evening, on East Alder street. A dainty supper was served, which the prizes were awarded to Mrs. L. Buckwalter and Mrs. Fred McMonis.

A number of friends of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Friske, of Gilchrist, at the home of Mrs. Taber, tendered them a pleasant surprise last Wednesday, the event being their 25th wedding anniversary. The evening was spent in playing cards.

The Lettercarriers' Band gave the first of their series of dances Thursday evening at Woodman Hall, East Side. About 120 people were in attendance and a very enjoyable evening was passed.

A very pleasant evening was spent last Wednesday at the home of Oscar Mattson, the guests including 17 of his friends. Games and music occupied the evening.

The Browns Club, of Fulton, gave its third party Wednesday evening. The dance was well attended. Music was furnished by Everest's orchestra.

Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Scott entertained at a smart dinner Thursday at the home of Mrs. E. C. Frost, 156 North Seventeenth street.

The music department of the Woman's Club will meet on Thursday at the home of Mrs. E. C. Frost, 156 North Seventeenth street.

WEDDINGS.

Wood-Word.

The pretty interior of the First Cumberland Presbyterian Church was elaborately decorated on Monday for the marriage of Miss Harlette Word, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Word, to Timothy Wood, Mr. and Mrs. S. Allen, of Astoria, Horace Fenton and Walter Rosenfeld were the ushers, and James Dowling was best man. Mrs. E. M. Bergen played the wedding march from "Lohengrin" as the bride came in with her father, who gave her away. White silk mousseline and lace were the materials of the bridal gown, which was simple and very dainty and girlish. A tulle veil, fastened with a diamond pin, a gift from Mr. Wood's mother, Mrs. A. Diamond, and a big bouquet of white roses completed the costume. The bride's small brother, Richard, in white corduroy, carried the ring, and was a much admired part of the wedding procession. Miss Leila Goddard, who came home from the University of Oregon to be bridesmaid at the wedding, looked very pretty in a shimmering gown of soft yellow crepe de chine with a bouquet of violets. The Dix Sorors, of which the bride is a member, attended the wedding in a body. Mr. Wood is a well-known athlete and a prominent member of the Commercial Club. Both he and his bride are exceptionally popular, having always lived here.

After the service, which was read by Rev. E. Nelson Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Wood received their friends' congratulations in the church parlors. Later dinner was served at the bride's party at the Commercial Club. The table decorations were of pink and white roses, chrysanthemums and carnations. They carried with them to the bride's home at 246 Prescott street.

Neeson-Donohue.

One of the prettiest weddings of the season took place on Thursday morning, October 27, at 2 o'clock in the Sacred Heart Church, when Miss Mary Donohue became the bride of Mr. Thomas Neeson, both well-known young people, the groom being a popular member of the male choir of the Holy Rosary Church. The bride's party entered the church as the wedding march from "Lohengrin" was played, and the bride and groom, followed by the bridesmaids and best man, proceeded to the altar, where they were met by Father Gregory, pastor of the church, who performed the ceremony. The bride looked charming in a gray gown of crepe de chine, and carried a big bouquet of white roses and a shower bouquet of bride roses. Miss Katherine Kavanaugh, as bridesmaid, wore white with hat to match, and carried a bouquet of white roses. The groom's little niece, Katherine Murphy, carried the ring on a silver tray. Gerald Kavanaugh was best man. A wedding card was read in the evening. After November 19, Mr. and Mrs. Neeson will be at home at 915 East Taggart street.

Johnson-Flaugher.

Miss Maud Flaugher, of Baker City, and A. J. Johnson, of Astoria, were married in Portland on Thursday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Dale. The ceremony took place at 4 o'clock, the Rev. W. N. Bell officiating. The bride's attendants were Miss Lillian Haines and the Misses Florence Robertson, Mildred Byam and Gertrude Brown. The parlor was decorated with pink roses and palms and the dining-room with yellow chrysanthemums. After the wedding supper, at which 20 guests were entertained, Mr. and Mrs. Johnson left for their new home at Forest.

Raynard-Crabtree.

On Monday, November 7, at the residence of William Flaigle, of this city, Miss Grace H. Crabtree, and Mr. John W. Raynard were married. Rev. J. Bowser officiating. The bride is the worthy and accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Crabtree, of Pleasantdale, Oregon. The groom is a resident of Washington, D. C., and is now at home at his friends' near Laurel, Washington County.

Gowen-Yohann.

Mr. Walter Gowen and Miss Anna Yohann were united in marriage, November 5, at the Central Church parsonage. Rev. William E. Randall officiating. The newly married couple will be at home to their friends at 525 East Stark street, Portland.

There has been rather more than usual going on in society during the week, many of the home entertainments having been arranged in honor of girls who are about to be married. Winter weddings are quite as charming as those of June in this city of beautiful chrysanthemums and roses, and the Winter brides will become matrons amid much floral splendor.

Violets and chrysanthemums in reckless quantities were banded upon the stage at Parsons Hall on Friday night after the Elliot Fraternity's presentation of "The Birds' Christmas Carol."

Mrs. Wilbur, Miss Grace Elliot, Miss Frances Patchell, Miss Linley Morton and Ray Burrold were the grown people in the play, and Miss Maida Hart was Carol.

The nine others taking part succeeded in being decidedly amusing as the Russett children.

No one would have supposed that such a stunning girl as Miss Calkins could be transformed into the awkward of half-grown country girls, or that Miss Hall, Miss Batchelor, Miss Packer, and Miss Sears could be such absurd children either. Miss Maxwell's part was that of a small boy, and Lloyd Smith, Brandt Wickersham and Jordan Zan were the older ones.

Mrs. Henry A. Morrow, so well remembered by many friends here and in Fort Vancouver in the early '90s, has returned for a short visit with her son, Robert G. Morrow, who remained here when the old Twenty-first Infantry left in 1884. Mrs. Morrow is staying at the Guillaume, renewing the pleasant friendship formed during the time her husband commanded at Vancouver. General Morrow will be remembered by the old residents of the city, in whose affairs he took such a warm personal interest, having delivered several notable addresses in Portland and having been grand marshal at the celebration given in honor of Henry Villard, when the Northern Pacific railroad was completed. The Grand Army across the street will remember him affectionately as their former commander-in-chief.

Miss Gertrude McClintock, who is to be married to Mr. Lewis this week, has been entertained lately at numerous luncheons and dinners. Mrs. E. H. Brooks gave a luncheon on Tuesday, entertaining Miss Frances Burns. Miss Fanny Brown gave a luncheon for Miss McClintock on Wednesday and Miss Gibson and Miss Wood entertained in her honor on Friday. Miss Gibson giving a luncheon at the gold links and Miss Wood a dinner at her home on King's Heights.

A pleasant event of the early part of the week was a Dutch supper given by Emmet Brown to a party of Hunt Club riders, at the Marjory Club. The black oak tables were laid with mats and dollies, and the flowers were red carnations. Mr. Brown's guests were Mr. and Mrs. Allen Wright, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Bowers, Miss Hickey, of Washington, D. C., who is visiting Mr. Wright; Miss Belle Ainsworth and Ralph Jenkins.

An enjoyable feature of the Woman's Club meeting on Friday was the singing of a new quartet, trained by Mrs. Warren. E. Thomas, the singers including Mrs. May Dearborne Schwab, Miss Ethel Lytle, Mrs. W. A. T. Bushong and Miss Marian Stackpole. Dr. Brougher's address on the training of children was heard by the club women with great interest.

Mrs. J. F. Ames gave a delightful luncheon on Tuesday for a number of young women, and another entertainment which the younger girls found very pleasant was a tea arranged informally in honor of Miss Imogene Stuart by Miss Sears and Miss Calkins, who entertained yesterday at Miss Sears' home.

Mrs. Stuart B. Linton gave a tea on Friday afternoon, inviting some of her friends to meet Miss Russell, of England, who is visiting here. Mrs. Walter F. Burns, Mrs. Richard Koster, Mrs. W. B. Ayer and Miss Lewis poured tea.

Miss Maude Gilliland, who is to be married to Mr. Sterling Worth Hughes, of San Francisco, on Saturday, November 26, was guest of honor at a handkerchief shower given on Friday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. Charles Lewis Mead.

EVENTS OF THE WEEK.

Mrs. J. R. Greenfield gave an informal at home to a coterie of friends Wednesday afternoon at her home, 169 First street, which demonstrated her ability as a unique and delightful entertainer. Hal- loween decorations, consisting of Autumn leaves, ferns and miniature pumpkins, were

A successful entertainment was given recently at the Fourth Presbyterian Church. The church was beautifully decorated with Autumn leaves and ferns, and the program was unusually attractive. Miss Helen Lucas sang
