PORTLAND'S ONLY DIRECT IMPORTERS and EXPORTERS OF SEALSKINS

Another shipment of the genuine Alaska Sealskins arrived Thursday last at the Portland Oustom-House from George Rice, the famous dresser and dyer of London, England. They were appraised yesterday by General Summers, United States appraiser.

These skins were purchased by our per-sonal representative last May at Sitka, Alaska, direct from the Indian seal hunters, and they are considered by experts to have no superiority in quality. The skins were shipped to London, where George Rice dressed and dyed them. He has now returned the skins and they will be ready for inspection tomorrow with all the Government certificates, which, in themselves, give a complete history of the greatest purchase of sealskins ever made in the Far North.

We are now in a position to offer Sealskin Garments at prices that will admit of no competition.
