

UNDERARMED GUARD

Chinese Crew for Minnesota Cooped Up at Victoria.

SENTINELS ALWAYS ON WATCH

Fear the Celestials Will Escape and Join Their Countrymen in This City—How the Asiatics Are Fed.

VICTORIA, B. C., Dec. 10.—(Special.) James J. Hill has 173 Chinamen from Hongkong cooped up in a pen at the outer wharf here and watched by armed guards until the arrival of his big boat, the Minnesota, which is expected about the end of the month, her boilers willing. They are said to be now leaping at an alarming rate and the vessel is making about eight knots an hour along the South American coast.

The Chinamen in coral here were hired in Hongkong as part of the crew of the Minnesota, and consist of oilers, firemen, deckhands, cabinboys, stateroom and saloon servants, cook assistants and so on. They were the sickest looking lot of Celestials ever landed here when they marched down the gangplank of the steamship Empress of India Wednesday night. The Empress ran into dirty weather off the north coast of Vancouver Island, and for the first time since she has plied across the Pacific was 24 hours late in arriving here. The weather was simply tremendous and the big white liner's decks were a seething mass of green seas and snowy foam for hours.

Hence, when first chow-chow was announced in the barracks at the outer wharf there was a wild, joyous rush of Chinese feet for the rice bowls and chopsticks, and the sticks were never seen to move faster than they did that night as the famished Chinks shoveled and protined into their vacant maws. The contractor for the feeding of the Chinamen is Tom Goldsmith, proprietor of the Montana Restaurant, at the wharf-head. The contract calls for two meals a day to consist of not less than one pound and a quarter of No. 2 Chinese rice, with meat and fish. Goldsmith has added on his own account an abundance of vegetables and Chinese savories and relishes, of which John is very fond.

The barracks where the Chinamen are penned is an old cannery, very substantially built on a four-inch floor, barricaded windows and an armed guard perched on a platform that commands a view of every part of the hall. The Chinese spread their mats on the floor and cuddle up in their blankets, and they are then to all intents and purposes occupants of the rose-pink boudoir at the Waldorf Astoria. Outside the front entrance of the coop is a ten-foot fence ornamented at the top with many lines of this season's berbed wire, twisted and filigreed so as to make quite an interesting puzzle for any Chinik that might take a Byrd's Leap at the fence with felonious intent to join his compatriots in Chinatown, evading thereby the $500 head tax required by the Dominion government. Around the top of the ten-foot fence that surrounds this exercising and airing yard runs a narrow gallery in which paces, night and day, a sentry with a loaded rifle and both eyes peeled for vain tricks on the part of the prisoners. The kitchen is arranged on the Chinese pattern. Three huge, shallow copers contain the rice, minced pork and cabbage and the Yachuanai stew, out with Tartar sauce, much affected by the Celestial gourmands. The men are divided up into messes of 20, each under its own captain, and when the signal is given each mess moves forward to seize the blue-and-white china bowls heaped high with toothsome viands. The hint has been thrown out by what is supposed to be a practical joker that one of the Chinamen who served his time as a cabinetmaker in Pekin, and was an expert in the construction of secret drawers and presses in desks and walls, has a telescope and keyhole saw, with which he intends to get out of that prison. This has given some uneasiness to the watchers, for a clever Chinaman could quite easily, as he lay in his blankets at night bore the necessary hole through the floor, then apply the saw, with plenty of oil, loosen thus a square large enough to accommodate the fittest of the bunch, and the rest would be easy. The building rests on piles set in the earth filling of the wharf, and once the Chinese got through the floor planking, there would be nothing in their way. It is not likely, however, that there will be one queue short when the Minnesota comes.

Use Metlak's Power. The Regulator steamer Metlak was brought down from the city levee to the Almer-street dock yesterday and put in order to be taken to the Dalles. She has been chartered by the contractors who are clearing away Three-Mile Rapids preparatory to building the Pertigo Road. The contractors will moor the boat in a convenient location and make use only of her boiler, using the steam for driving its machinery.

Movements of China Steamers. The China liner Numantia will leave down the river at daybreak this morning with her big cargo for Oriental ports. It is expected to get the Ellice away by Tuesday at the latest. The loading of this steamer has been delayed owing to the nature of her cargo, some of which is structural iron weighing six and eight tons. The Ellice will receive half a load here and will proceed to San Francisco to complete her cargo.

Trans-Pacific Oil Steamer. SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 10.—The British steamer Dakotah, just arrived here from Shanghai, was the first of the running petroleum cargoes in bulk from Black Sea ports to India and China. She is said to be the pioneer steamer of a fleet of oil-carrying tankers to be built between this coast and the Orient. Before leaving with her first cargo she will have an oil-burning plant installed. Her carrying capacity is 5,000 tons.

Ship William F. Babcock Released. SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 10.—The Merchants' Exchange has received word that the ship William F. Babcock, from Port Blakeley, which was libeled at Port Blakeley for $25,000 by tugowners for towing her into port, has been released on an agreement to submit the matter to the underwriters.

Oil Steamer Wrecked. COLONBO, Ceylon, Dec. 10.—The British steamer Secunda, bound for New York with a cargo of ethionella oil, was wrecked on the rocks while leaving Galle, 166 miles from Colombo, last night. Seven of the crew were drowned.

Marine Notes. The steamer F. A. Kilburn left down last night, carrying besides her passengers, 50,000 feet of lumber, 447 sacks of wheat and 75 tons of miscellaneous cargo for San Francisco and 50 tons of general freight for Cook Bay.

The steamer Charles R. Spencer was wrecked from a severe storm. She will tie up at the Victoria wharves. The Bureau of Navigation reports 43 vessels of 20,282 gross tons were built in the United States and officially numbered during the month of November. Of these, 20, 17,190 tons were sail and 45 of 3092 were steam. The largest of these vessels were the wooden schooners Ruth E. Merrill of 3008 tons, Harwood Palmer of 2868 tons, and Samuel J. Goucher of 2547 tons.

The lighthouse inspector at San Francisco gives notice that Point Dume whistling buoy, painted red and marked "PL. Dume" in black, about three-fourths mile south by east, three-fourths east from Point Dume, seacoast of California, which recently went adrift, was replaced in its old position December 6.

Domestic and Foreign Ports. ASTORIA, Dec. 10.—Arrived at 7:30 and left at 9:45 A. M.—Steamer Geo. W. Elder, from San Francisco. Arrived down at 9 A. M.—Barkentine James Johnson. Condition of the bar at 5 P. M., smooth; wind southeast; weather clear.

San Francisco, Dec. 10.—Arrived—Steamer Columbia, from Portland; steamer M. F. Pineda, from Philadelphia; steamer Macdonald, from Tacoma. Sailed—British steamer Wellington, for LadySmith; steamer Robert Dollar, for Seattle; steamer Alameda, for Honolulu; steamer City of Sydney, for Ancon. Hoquiam, Wash., Dec. 10.—(Special.)—Arrived—Espada, from San Pedro for Aberdeen; Charles E. Paik, from San Francisco for Aberdeen; Philippine, from San Diego for Aberdeen; Olympic, from San Francisco for Hoquiam.

FOUR MAKE THEIR VOWS. Young Women Renounce the World for a Religious Life. In the chapel of the Monastery of the Precious Blood, Mount Tabor, yesterday morning, one young woman made her final vows renouncing the world and entering on a secluded religious life, and three young women completed their novitiate, making an interesting ceremony, will henceforth be known in religion as Sister Mary Immaculate, and the novitiates were as follows: Miss Neva Gravelines, in religion, Sister Mary of the Precious Blood; in religion, Sister Mary of the Precious Blood; Miss Bertha Fafard, in religion, Sister Teresa of Jesus.

Archbishop Alexander Christie presided at the religious professions of these young women and received the vows that pledge them during life to religious meditation and prayer. There was a large attendance of members of the church and friends of the young women who took their vows. Rev. Father L. A. Brouseau assisted in the solemn and beautiful ceremony. Archbishop Christie addressed the young sisters and congratulated them on the choice they had made of a life of seclusion and prayer. He said that in the world, when young women take the vows that take them entirely out of the world during their natural lives, it was supposed that they had entered a sort of slavery, but the archbishop declared that this was a great mistake, for these young women had entered on a life really of greater liberty than had they remained in the world. The archbishop made an interesting address on the meaning of the religious life on which the four young women had entered, and the significance of the act on the world.

"While we are sleeping at midnight," said the archbishop, "these young persons will be engaged in prayer and religious meditation for the salvation of the world." The chapel was decorated in gold, it being the golden jubilee of the immaculate conception, and presented a beautiful appearance. At the close of the ceremony the immediate friends and relatives extended their congratulations to the young women and bid them farewell.

PERSONAL MENTION. Attorney-General A. M. Crawford, of Salem, is at the Imperial for a short Portland-visit. Senator Jay Bowerman, of Concord, was a Federal visitor yesterday, having come to the city on legal business. Squire Farrar, of Salem, Senator from Marion County, was a visitor at the Imperial yesterday for a few hours, having come to the city to hold briefs in connection with some of the politicians of Multnomah County.

S. Benson, president of the Benson Lumber & Logging Company, left yesterday morning for Seattle, where he will attend a meeting of the Logging interests of the Columbia River, Puget Sound and Gray's Harbor districts, which has for its object an amendment of the constitution of the State of Washington. Mr. and Mrs. John Annand have returned to Portland after a two months' tour of Eastern points. The World's Fair was their objective point, but they visited all prominent centers and returned by way of Canada. Mr. Annand, former manager of the Postal Telegraph Cable Company.

Author of Famous Campaign Song. MADISON, Wis., Dec. 10.—Orson E. Woodbury, author of the campaign song of 1860, "Tippecanoe and Tyler, Too," is dead here at the age of 80. He wrote several other songs, was once a Wisconsin editor, and was one of the three men that called the first Republican meeting in Berlin, Wis., in 1854. Mr. Woodbury claimed that the Republican party was organized there. He was driven out of St. Louis during the Civil War because of anti-slavery sentiments expressed.

"MANNA" The Old Biblical Term Suggests Good Food. Such remarkable changes can be brought about by food properly selected that the best physicians now look to the "manna" diet as a panacea for one of the most important things.

A member of the Clinic Publishing Co., publishers of medical journals in Chicago, writes as follows, and says that he does not object to our using his name publicly: "I wish to state a few facts which will show to you why there is, and ever will be in my heart, a most grateful appreciation of Grape-Nuts as a life-giving, nerve-strengthening and health-restoring food. My eldest son, William R., was taken with a severe attack of scarlet fever. This left him in a state of such utter collapse and prostration of nerve force and energy that he was unable to sustain his own weight.

A compilation of troubles followed; the kidneys became affected, and the doctors all declared his case hopeless. "Naturally the stomach was too enfeebled to retain or assimilate solid food, and milk, beef tea, and the like, soon became nauseating to him. "Simply as an experiment a spoonful of Grape-Nuts was suggested, and tried. Its predigestion constituents seemed to exactly suit my boy's case. Eureka! We had indeed found it.

"He not only retained the food but relished it and asked for more. From that very day he began to mend, and in three weeks was convalescent. Gradually, from weak and homesick, he has grown ruddy, bright-eyed and manly, weighing now, at 25 years of age, over 120 pounds. "Can you wonder that in our family Grape-Nuts is considered almost as 'Manna from Heaven'?" W. H. Emery, 23 Foster St., Ravenswood, Chicago, Ill.

CATCH GIRL IN DEN

Police Raid Opium Joint and Capture Three.

YOUNG WOMEN UNDER BED

Officers Turn on Searchlight and Go Over Transom of Pine-Street Dive, but Fail to Get Proprietor.

In a spectacular raid on an opium den at 271 Pine street at 1 o'clock this morning, a pretty young woman giving the name of Ruth Delano, and her home as somewhere in Albina, was taken into custody. With her was also arrested Jack Siebert and Lo Hong, a Chinese. Entrance to the den was gained through a transom. The inmates were discovered by means of a searchlight, wielded by Sergeant of Police Hogeboom, who led the raiding squad. With him were Policemen Hindcock and Young.

It is believed the real keeper of the opium den was not in, and that he is therefore still at large. It is thought, however, that Lo Hong had some connection with the place. He is charged with being in an opium den and was released on bonds of $100, put up by two friends. Ruth Delano, as the young woman gave her name, was turned over to the care of Police Matron Simmons for the night.

Jack Siebert was not found in the den, but was apprehended at 1 o'clock this morning, and the police believe him to be the man who, the young woman states, was sent out after opium. He was held without bail. Sergeants Hogeboom and Slover guarded the den all night. It was locked from the outside with a strong padlock. For that reason, it is believed by the officers that the real proprietor was away. Not having actual knowledge of the nature of the place, the police feared to make a forcible entry, but after using the searchlight, seeing the people within with an opium-smoking "layout" in sight, they went over the transom.

Ruth Delano was found hiding under the bed. She told the police this was the first time she was ever in an opium den. She said she did not smoke opium and did not know whether she would have done so had the raid not been made. With the prisoners the police captured the complete outfit. The case will be called before Municipal Judge Hogue tomorrow.

ARLINGTON CLUB ELECTS. T. B. Wilcox is Chosen President of Organization.

It seemed as if some kind fairy had lifted her magic wand last night at the Arlington Club and had ransacked the world of art to lend dignity and pleasure to the annual election of officers.

NEW ARLINGTON CLUB OFFICERS. President, T. B. Wilcox; first vice-president, W. R. Ayer; second vice-president, R. L. Macleay; secretary, W. H. Duncker; treasurer, W. A. Mac Rae; directors—Dr. R. A. J. Macleay, William MacMaster, D. C. O'Reilly, T. M. Stevens and Gordon Voorhies.

The banqueting room, with its soft, low light and rich furniture, and the artistically arranged tables surely could not have been outside New York or Boston. The center table was covered with an array of noble dishes, and there were ten smaller tables around the room, a la buffet. Nicholas F. Sargent, manager of the Arlington Club, is the skillful artist who has arranged many banquets, and surely he excelled himself last night in the tempting display he presented. The election of officers came first, and then came the banquet. This is the menu: Frog Legs a la Duboué. Toke Pot Oysters on Double Shell. Hot Game Pie, Arlington Club Style. Cold saddle of Roast Mountain Sheep. Saddle of South Down Mutton. Wild Turkeys. Tame Turkeys. Game Geese. Buffalo Tongue. Ox Tongue. Maple Sauce. Artichoke and Potatoes. Cannedback Ducks. POLICE HAVE BUSY WEEK. New Methods Are Adopted by Night Captains.

It was the busiest week the police have had for a long time. There was "something doing" of more than ordinary nature nearly every day, so that the officers were kept on the hop, skip and jump all the while.

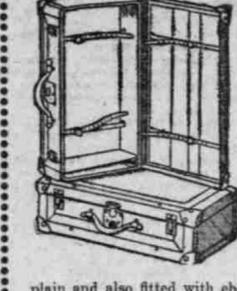

At the beginning of the week, Captains WEEK WITH THE POLICE. Captain Bailey and Moore adopted method of leaving Central Station and inspecting city personally. Captain Bailey, enforcing 1 o'clock closing ordinance, securing conviction of saloonkeeper. Ex-Police Officer Olsen attempts suicide, but will live. Edward A. Kinsey is apprehended. Marie Ogler lies down to die while insane, but is rescued in time to save her life. Young woman rescued from North End Dive. Robbers blow Postoffice safe at University Park. Captain of Ramona robbed of $200. Women taken from opium den.

Moore and Bailey, commanding the first and second reliefs of police, respectively, adopted a new system, and they now do personal inspection work throughout the city, instead of relying entirely upon the sergeants and patrolmen. Captain Bailey has made war on saloonkeepers who violate the early-closing ordinance, and succeeded in having five fined $5 each, while Captain Moore has done good work by rounding up women who violate laws. Monday night Sergeant Slover raided rooms in the Edmond Hotel Annex, and took two weak and feeble women to jail for smoking opium, and they were fined $10 each in the Municipal Court. Ex-Police Officer Frank Oleson attempted to commit suicide, while temporarily insane, by cutting his throat with a knife. He is at St. Vincent's Hospital, and is expected to recover. Edward A. Kinsey, aged 69 years, a man cut off from wealthy relatives in the

ROOSEVELT IS NOT DECIDED.

Still Debating Matter of Extra Session to Revise Tariff.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—No extraordinary session of Congress will be held next Spring for a revision of the tariff. That has been decided definitely. The question of an extraordinary session next Fall is in abeyance.

President Roosevelt announced this decision to several of his callers today. The President said he had abandoned any idea of calling Congress into extraordinary session in the Spring, as it did not seem practicable to hold a session for tariff revision at that time. He indicated, however, that he might call a session for next Fall, although no absolute determination of that point has yet been reached.

In view of this decision, the President told Representative Cooper, of Texas, that he had decided to make a Southern trip next Spring.
