

MONG the week's social events the wedding of Miss Imogen Stuart and Lloyd Justin Wentworth had first place. Miss Stuart made a beautiful bride as everyone knew she would, and she will be one of the most charming friends are already planning various jolly outings for next Summer, including a sourseboat party on the Willamette, with Ers. Wentworth us chaperon, an office which they are sure she will fill to perfection. A tarewell dinner in honor of Mr. entworth was given at the Norton on uesday evening. The table was exquisitely decorated and a delicious menu was served. Another very pretty compliment to Mr. Wentworth and his bride was the ecoration, with the gayest of flags and nnants, of the ships Mindora, James lohnson and Honorui. These vessels are loading at the Portland Lumber Company's docks, and the saflors, who greatly imire and like the manager of the mills, of San Francisco, were entertained in-formally at the Guilliaume on Friday evening by Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bickford. Delightful music was contributed for the Mr. Paget and Mr. Bickford.

EVENTS OF THE WEEK.

The "Old Glory" dance. That is the name that will cling to the sixth annual dance of Company F. Third Infantry, Oregon National Guard, given last Wednesday evening, at the Armory. The rafters were hidden with the Stars and Stripes and on the east wall were more flags, and sabres, while the platform where Everent's orchestra played was decorated with the National colors, and portrait of George Washington. The ronesses' bower was prettily decoratand those who received were: Mrs. L. Gould, Mrs. W. B. Odale and Mrs. J. J. Conway. The dances were 18 in ing of waltzes and twosteps. Everest's erchestra played selections of the latest music in excellent style. The tone was well-balanced, and the music was just of sufficient volume in the waltzes to make them linger gratefully in the mem-Deticious lemonade was served in the antercom. About 769 young people attended, and many pretty costumes were This dance is the most impor-the season in militia circles tant of the season in militia circles and this year's was fully up to the high standard of its predecessors, and fully as enjoyable. A 'hearts' party was given by the Misses Nona Lawler and Vivian Marshall at the home of the latter, 77 Hoyt street, on Friday exeming of last week, the host-cesse displaying several clever new ideas in entertaining. The guests found their others by comparing their tally cards, sich were matched by a unique method. On the gentlemen's carda were written such sentences as these: "Find a gay city." Find an impulent city." The card which answered the description constituted the possessor the partner sought for. For example, the answers to the two above questions were "vivacity" and "audacity." At the table a plate of nuts were passed around, each person taking one. On cracking them they were found to contain propagates some of which or to centain prophecies, some of which oc-cashoned great merriment. The decora-tions consisted of strings of red hearts looped from the corners of the rooms to the chandeliers, the scheme being carried out in the table settings also. Prizes were won by Miss Emma Gerspach and Oliver Jeffrey. Those present were: Mrs. I. Law-ler, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. WEDDINGS.

Wentworth-Stuart.

The Unitarian Church was beautifully decorated with white chrysanthemums and Oregon holly for the occasion of the of Miss Imogene Stuart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin C. Stunrt, to Lloyd Justin Wentworth. The ceremony took place in the presence of a large num-ber of friends on Wednesday evening, Rev. T. L. Elliott, D. D., reading the marriage service, in which Mr. Stuart gave his daughter away. The organist, Mr. Hoyt, played the bridal chorus from Lohengrin as the bride came in and during the ceremony continued, playing very softly, with Mendelssohn's wedding man as the final vows were pronounced. I bridal gown, of white silk net over white satin, was trimmed with some Spanish lace, a bouquet of early narchsus completing the charming costume. Miss Lucy Sitton, as maid of honor, wore yellow and white brocade, and carried a basket of violets. George Wentworth was Brooks and Howard Holland. A wedding supper followed the ceremony, served at the home of Mrs. Joseph Teal, 6th Everett street, and attended by the immediate families of the bride and groom, in addi-tion to the members of the bridal party. The house, which was simply but very beautifully decorated, was suggestive of the Christmas season as well as of the event celebrated, the bride's table having as decoration an arrangement of mistle toe and holy. With the good wishes of the friends assembled Mr. and Mrs. Wept. worth left for a honeymoon trip East. They will spend Christmas with Mr. Wentworth's family at Bay City, Mich., and after January will be at home at Hoyt and Twenty-third streets.

Hunter-Kurth.

One of the prottiest of recent weddings was that of Miss Irma Elizabeth Kurth and Mr. Fred Henry-Hunter, which took place on Wednesday evening at the First Presbyterian Church. The decorations were of Oregon helly, ivy and pink car-nations. The entrance of the bridal par-ty was amounced, instead of by a wed-ding march, by "O Promise Me," sung softly by Miss Eleanor Kurth, the bride's sister. The bride's brother, Mr. H. J. Kurth, gave her away, and her girl at-tendants were her sisters, the Misses Eleanor and Gretchen Kurth, and Miss Reed. Mr. E. J. Ellison was best man, and A. C. Roth and A. C. Spooner were ushers. The intermezzo from "Cavaliera Rusticana," the bride's favorite composition, was played very softly during the core-mony, by Miss Zulah Hopkins, who presided at the organ. The bride, a tall, stately brunette, was very beautiful in her wedding gown of white crepe de chine, in 1830 style. She carried a shower bouquet of Bride's roses, with tiny buds of the same dainty flower securing her bridal veil. The bridesmaids were attired in white chiffon Dolly Varden gowns over wink with pink satis civiles. gowns, over pink, with pink satin girdles, and carried shower bouquets of pink car-nations, with wreaths of white hyacinths in the hair.
