

NOTE IS AMAZING

Roosevelt Has Lead of 2,526,470.

RECORD IS ESTABLISHED

Parker Has 1,293,053 Votes Less Than Bryan.

SOCIALISTS MAKE BIG GAIN

Their Strength Nearly Four Times as Great as in Preceding Campaign

Walter Wellman in Chicago Record-Herald.

CHICAGO, Dec. 13.—The unprecedented popular majority for President Roosevelt of 2,526,470, and a total vote for all candidates of 15,513,820, a decrease of 455,232 from the total vote of 1900, are some of the results indicated by the official canvass of the returns from the recent Presidential election.

Total vote cast, all tickets, 15,513,820. Excess over 1900, 455,232.

The total vote was divided between the various party tickets as follows in the two elections:

Table with 2 columns: Party and 1900/1904 vote counts.

Comparing the pluralities of 1904 with 1900, we find the following totals:

Table with 4 columns: State, 1900, 1904, Bryan, Roosevelt.

Maryland, 1904, highest elector on Republican ticket; vote of state divided—Roosevelt, 1; Parker, 2.

An analysis of the vote of the country by geographical sections, compared with 1900, shows some exceedingly interesting facts.

land and Kentucky, where the difference was 7,500 and 21,900 respectively. The other two were Vermont and Maine, where the reduction of the Republican vote was only a thousand or two.

On the other hand, in only eight states of the entire Union did Parker get a larger vote than Bryan had.

Some of the Roosevelt gains over McKinley were surprisingly large. In the East the only notable gain was in Pennsylvania, where Roosevelt had 125,000 more than McKinley.

Roosevelt's gains over the McKinley vote in the Central West were of only fair proportions—55,000 in Ohio, 32,000 in Indiana, 46,000 in Michigan, 5,000 in Illinois, 14,000 in Wisconsin, 24,000 in Minnesota, and in Iowa a bare 90 votes.

In the states beyond the Missouri President Roosevelt's great personal popularity and the return of the people to their allegiance to the Republican party after eight years' following of Bryan and free silver greatly increased the Roosevelt vote.

The real "landslide" was in the Central and Far Western states. Look at these figures, showing how Parker ran behind Bryan:

Table with 2 columns: State and 1900/1904 vote counts.

The total of the popular vote of the country falls 1,500,000 votes short of the 15,000,000 that had been looked for. This surprising loss was due in part to the light vote of the solid South, where elections are mere matters of form, and more particularly to the fact that in the Middle West hundreds of thousands of Bryan voters did not go to the polls at all.

In Missouri, for example, Roosevelt received only 200 more votes than McKinley had in 1900, and yet carried the state by 25,000 because 50,000 Democrats refused to vote for Parker.

In the following compilation of the vote by groups we see in a valuable comparison of the McKinley and Roosevelt totals and of the Bryan and Parker vote:

Table with 2 columns: Group and 1900/1904 vote counts.

Table with 2 columns: State and 1900/1904 vote counts.

Table with 2 columns: State and 1900/1904 vote counts.

Table with 2 columns: State and 1900/1904 vote counts.

Table with 2 columns: State and 1900/1904 vote counts.

Summarizing the foregoing, we find the following statement of party pluralities in 1904 and 1900:

Table with 2 columns: Party and 1900/1904 vote counts.

following statement of party pluralities in 1904 and 1900: REPUBLICAN PLURALITIES.

Table with 2 columns: State and 1900/1904 vote counts.

Of the six National tickets in the field, the only one that did not increase its vote in 1904 over 1900 was the Democratic ticket, and apparently all the others gained at its expense.

Table with 2 columns: State and 1900/1904 vote counts.

NEW YORK, Dec. 17.—By the burning of the Starin line steamer, Glen Island, in Long Island Sound today, nine lives were lost and property roughly estimated at $200,000 was destroyed.

The dead passengers are an unknown Hebrew woman, said to have resided at 206 Hamilton street, New Haven, and an unknown man, supposed to be a New Yorker.

The following members of the crew lost their lives: W. E. Hendrickson, assistant engineer; Luman Miller, fireman; Prapack Bush, fireman; John Burke, fireman; Otto L. Alford, fireman; O. Berg, deckhand; Peter Benson, deckhand.

Among the passengers rescued were Mr. and Mrs. Frederick B. Street, of New Haven, and their two daughters; Max Levin, of New York; Nathan Dublin, of New Haven; Arthur Wallace, of Wallingford, Conn.

The Glen Island left her dock here last night for New Haven. The trip down through the Sound was without incident. About midnight, when three miles west of Greenwich, Conn., there came a rush of stifling smoke from the hold and every electric light on board the craft went out.

Captain McAllister sent in the alarm for fire drill, and the men came tumbling out of their bunks. In the meantime the steering gear had been blocked and the pilots, finding themselves unable to direct the course of the steamer, hurried to the assistance of the other members of the crew in saving lives.

While the officers and crew were working there was a scene of confusion among the 19 passengers. They ran about the decks in disarray, clothing, the woman who lost her life had been aroused by the stewardess, and was on her way to one of the boats when she suddenly turned and dashed back into the flames in the cabin. It is supposed that she went back for her valuables. She was not seen again.

There was no possibility of waiting for the rescue of those who failed to appear at once. In the large boat ten people were aloft. They included the eight rescued passengers and seven of the crew, including the captain. The smaller boat, which Pilot McMillan had managed to free, carried seven passengers. The two boats were rowed as far away from the burning steamer as was necessary to escape destruction, and waited there and watched the boat burn. They made every possible effort to find any possible survivors, but this was done in vain.

How and where the fire originated is a mystery, but it is believed to have started in a dynamo located below and near the center of the vessel. Nearly all the passengers were in their bunks when the vessel suddenly became filled with stifling smoke and the lights went out. So heavily laden was the second boat that it threatened every moment to capsize.

Regarding the death of the woman said to me, continued the captain, "I can't see that woman roast to death there. I'm going to get her. I told him it was impossible, but Miller said, 'It's well worth a try, anyway,' and he plunged right through the fire and reached the woman. He picked her up and as he turned either to jump overboard with her or to try to come back where we were we could all see that his clothes and her dress were afire. It was awful.

Miller was about to make a dive with the woman for the water when the deck under him gave way and he and the woman went down into the flames, both of them being killed."

It was reported last night that the bulk of the Glen Island is now resting on the bottom at the entrance to Hempstead harbor, with only her smokestack visible, and that boats surround the sunken vessel on the lookout for the bodies of the victims.

FATAL FIRE ON SHIP Long Island Steamer Burns and Nine Lives Lost.

DISASTER COMES AFTER DARK

Courage of Officers and Crew All That Saved Many From Meeting Death—Financial Loss is About $250,000.

NEW YORK, Dec. 17.—By the burning of the Starin line steamer, Glen Island, in Long Island Sound today, nine lives were lost and property roughly estimated at $200,000 was destroyed.

The dead passengers are an unknown Hebrew woman, said to have resided at 206 Hamilton street, New Haven, and an unknown man, supposed to be a New Yorker.

The following members of the crew lost their lives: W. E. Hendrickson, assistant engineer; Luman Miller, fireman; Prapack Bush, fireman; John Burke, fireman; Otto L. Alford, fireman; O. Berg, deckhand; Peter Benson, deckhand.

Among the passengers rescued were Mr. and Mrs. Frederick B. Street, of New Haven, and their two daughters; Max Levin, of New York; Nathan Dublin, of New Haven; Arthur Wallace, of Wallingford, Conn.

The Glen Island left her dock here last night for New Haven. The trip down through the Sound was without incident. About midnight, when three miles west of Greenwich, Conn., there came a rush of stifling smoke from the hold and every electric light on board the craft went out.

Captain McAllister sent in the alarm for fire drill, and the men came tumbling out of their bunks. In the meantime the steering gear had been blocked and the pilots, finding themselves unable to direct the course of the steamer, hurried to the assistance of the other members of the crew in saving lives.

While the officers and crew were working there was a scene of confusion among the 19 passengers. They ran about the decks in disarray, clothing, the woman who lost her life had been aroused by the stewardess, and was on her way to one of the boats when she suddenly turned and dashed back into the flames in the cabin. It is supposed that she went back for her valuables. She was not seen again.

There was no possibility of waiting for the rescue of those who failed to appear at once. In the large boat ten people were aloft. They included the eight rescued passengers and seven of the crew, including the captain. The smaller boat, which Pilot McMillan had managed to free, carried seven passengers. The two boats were rowed as far away from the burning steamer as was necessary to escape destruction, and waited there and watched the boat burn. They made every possible effort to find any possible survivors, but this was done in vain.

How and where the fire originated is a mystery, but it is believed to have started in a dynamo located below and near the center of the vessel. Nearly all the passengers were in their bunks when the vessel suddenly became filled with stifling smoke and the lights went out. So heavily laden was the second boat that it threatened every moment to capsize.

Regarding the death of the woman said to me, continued the captain, "I can't see that woman roast to death there. I'm going to get her. I told him it was impossible, but Miller said, 'It's well worth a try, anyway,' and he plunged right through the fire and reached the woman. He picked her up and as he turned either to jump overboard with her or to try to come back where we were we could all see that his clothes and her dress were afire. It was awful.

Miller was about to make a dive with the woman for the water when the deck under him gave way and he and the woman went down into the flames, both of them being killed."

It was reported last night that the bulk of the Glen Island is now resting on the bottom at the entrance to Hempstead harbor, with only her smokestack visible, and that boats surround the sunken vessel on the lookout for the bodies of the victims.

INDIGESTION FOLLOWS FEASTING

A Prominent Society Belle Suffers a Complete Collapse the Result of Late Suppers and Overdoing Socially—Completely Restored by Pe-ru-na

Holiday Dinners Often the Beginning of Stomach Catarrh, (Indigestion.)

MISS NELLIE G. LOOMIS, 311 Campbell street, Kansas City, Mo., society belle and member of the National Annuity Association, in a letter to the Peruna Medicine Co., writes as follows:

"My health was excellent until about a year ago, when I had a complete collapse from overdoing socially, not getting the proper rest and too many late suppers. My stomach was in dreadful condition, and my nerves all unstrung.

"I was advised by a friend to try Peruna and eventually I bought a bottle. I took it, and then another, and kept taking it for three months. At the end of that time my health was restored, my nerves no longer troubled me, and I felt once more able to assume my social position.

"I certainly feel that Peruna is deserving of praise. Many cases of indigestion, catarrh of the stomach and dyspepsia, which I had, were completely restored by the use of Peruna. The rich foods usually served at holiday dinners and the unweaned indulgence in them irritates the stomach and paves the way for catarrh which soon fastens itself upon its victims.

"Catarrh of the stomach is usually called dyspepsia. Many cases of dyspepsia had its beginning at some holiday feast or Christmas dinner.

"Those who have been acquainted with the value of Peruna in such cases often escape the evil consequences of these feasts.

"At the beginning of the first symptom of catarrh of the stomach or dyspepsia, Peruna should be taken. Sometimes it is necessary to begin

Restored to Excellent Health by Six Bottles of Pe-ru-na.

Miss Jennie Belcher, Astoria, Or., second vice-president Grade Teachers' Association, writes:

"I have been a sufferer with indigestion for over four years, causing distress after eating, with formation of gas, heartburn and so forth.

"This made me feel very miserable, but six bottles of Peruna restored the functions of my stomach until all traces of dyspepsia had passed away. I have now a splendid appetite and enjoy excellent health."—Jennie Belcher.

Mr. Carroll Putnam, 836 Carlisle ave., Cincinnati, O., writes:

"I had lost my appetite and was run down from over-exercising and exposure as business manager of the Bryant Minstrels.

"I was at a different city almost daily, subject to continued climatic changes, midnight awakenings in order to make train connections, irregular meals and all kinds of drinking water which bred many diseases to theatrical folks en route.

"I consider Peruna a blessing to overworked, nervous and delicate humanity. I thank you again and again for the benefit I have derived through your wonderful remedy."—Carroll Putnam.

Address Dr. S. E. Hartman, president of the Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O., for free medical advice.

Life Had Become a Burden, Caused by Acute Indigestion.

Mr. William J. Berger, Moran Bros. Shipyard, Seattle, Wash., president Protected Union of Engineers, writes:

"I was troubled for some time with acute indigestion and palpitation of the heart, which distressed me greatly and deprived me of the joy of life.

"I took pills and other medicines daily, but found as soon as I stopped I was worse off than ever.

"I was advised to use Peruna. I soon found that it brought a wonderful change in my entire system. It cleared up the sluggish channels of my digestive organs and assisted nature in restoring the strength, increased my appetite, and gradually restored me to perfect health.

"I certainly have good reason to be grateful, and heartily endorse Peruna."—William J. Berger.

ASKS CODY TO BE SPECIFIC.

Wife of "Buffalo Bill" Wants to Know Dates.

SHERIDAN, Wyo., Dec. 17.—Counsel for Mrs. William F. Cody today filed a motion requiring her husband, who seeks a divorce, to amend his petition as to name of the specific instances of occurrence of the alleged indignities offered to plaintiff by Mrs. Cody. She asks that dates of these be named, at which at times plaintiff was refused admission to the Cody home by her, and at what times Colonel Cody's friends were driven from their home by her. She also asks that her alleged conduct at the time of their daughter's death be stricken from the records.

ANNOUNCES BLACK IS IN RACE

Troy Times Has Complimentary Article Concerning the Senatorship.

TROY, N. Y., Dec. 17.—The candidacy of ex-Governor Frank E. Black for the United States Senatorship in place of C. M. Depew is announced today by the Troy Times in a complimentary editorial. The Times is regarded here as peculiarly close to Mr. Black. The latter was seen by a representative of the Associated Press today, but refused to say a word on the subject. He would neither admit nor deny that he knew of the announcement.

PLEA NOT GUILTY.

(Continued from First Page.)

not think he cared for that. He can have it if he desires.

"The thing to watch now is Pittsburg. There may be something interesting there. That will develop, and all come out in time."

"How much do you suppose she borrowed there?"

"So far as I have any knowledge it was $150,000. There may be more that I do not know of."

"Was there more than one who loaned her money in Pittsburg?"

"Yes, but I cannot say who they were. Emil Hoover, son of Mrs. Chadwick, and her husband, Freda, have been summoned by Receiver Looser to appear before Referee in Bankruptcy Remington Monday morning and give such information as they may have regarding the property possessed by Mrs. Chadwick. Mrs. Chadwick is also expected to appear before the Referee Monday for examination. Owing to her physical condition, the examination may be deferred."

Asks King to Prorogue Parliament.

MADRID, Dec. 17.—Premier Azcaraga today presented to King Alfonso for his approval a decree proroguing Parliament sine die.

The Ministers, however, have agreed that the sittings of Parliament may be resumed as soon as they have had time to consider the details of the budget, which they desire to pass at the earliest moment practicable.

Minister Castellano says that during the current year ex-Premier Maura repaid to the Bank of Spain $50,000,000, and left in the State Treasury a reserve of $10,000,000.

"77" Cures Colds and GRIP

At Druggists, 25 cents, or mailed, Humphreys' Medicine Co., Cor. William and John Streets, New York.

Watches, Diamonds, Proper Jewelry, Umbrellas, In Ebony, Mail Orders, A. & C. Feldenheimer.

"The Sweetest Story Ever Told" Fancy Cluster Rings, A Result of One of Our Christmas Rings, Note, A. & C. Feldenheimer.

Cut Glass, Opera Glasses, Gifts in Silver, In Leather, Art Lamps, A. & C. Feldenheimer.