A Very Happy New Year to All

"Hope smiles from the threshold of the year to come, Whispering, 'It will be happier.'" "Well I know— That unto him who works, and feels he works, This same grand year is ever at the doors." —Tennyson.

Welcome the new and speed the parting guest. Poor, aged and decrepit 1904 is now a character in history. At last midnight the city clocks tolled his funeral dirge and he entered the graveyard of the past, to join the endless procession of predecessors who connect today with the beginning of all things.

We did all possible to make shopping here easy and satisfactory. Comfortable innovations were introduced to benefit patrons and helpers. To the latter we have added hundreds—to the former thousands. Service has expanded with size of store.

"Look not mournfully into the past. It comes not back again. Wisely improve the present—it is thine. Go forth to meet the shadowy future without fear and with a manly heart." —Longfellow.
