THE SHAW-FEAR COMPANY
243 STARK STREET

University Park

Occupies the central portion of the high plateau between the Willamette and Columbia Rivers. It is central to four miles of deep waterfront where docks, mills and factories are springing up as if by magic. It is the seat of the Columbia University. Such educational institutions have, in other places, built large cities. The Peninsula Lumber Co., on University Park waterfront, alone has a payroll of $25,000 per month. If you have only a little intelligence you know what such a payroll means to surrounding property. University Park property is advancing in value and must continue to advance as long as the population of Portland, Oregon, increases. University Park has the far-famed Bull Run water, Portland public schools, electric street lights, building restriction, liquor restriction and is the center of about 6000 population. It is inside the city limits of Portland and has street-car communication with all the city for a 5-cent fare. Lots range in price from $60 to $300, according to size and location. Terms, one-tenth cash, balance $5.00 per month without interest. If you are seeking a home site or an investment it will pay you to investigate University Park. Francis I. McKenna, Sole Agent, University Park Station, Portland Oregon.
