Children—these places do not cater to persons of mature knowledge—are here taught to smoke cigarettes, carry on flirtations, drink liquor cieverly mixed with "himocent" lemonade and other "soft" drinks. Detectives who were sent out late in the Fall to report on these fruit stores, say they were crowded with children ranging from 16 to 15 years in age. Many of them were in the "dogey" stage, due to them were in the "dopey" stage, due to cimrettes or some drug in their drinks, and all of them had the blase air and manner of habitues of the resorts.

A society coach is the latest thing discussed on the Lake Shore Drive, the habitat of Chicago's Four Hundred. Miss Leenore Adeline McAdam, who hails from New York, has arrived in Chicago, and, for a stated sum stands ready to tell debutantes how to act, what to say and what to do when they break into society. Furthermore, hav-ing in mind that some of the society people have riches suddenly thrust upon them without time to learn all the customs of their new circles, Miss Mc-Adam is prepared to take the matrons in hand and instruct them in the proper method of entertaining. Chicago, the center of the holdup industry, has two noveltles in that line. One is a howling swell, who travthen servant and master produce revolvers and clean up the money till. At their last appearance they drove up to a fashionable restaurant in an automobile, but the proprietor was wary and watched them from behind a screen. When they attempted to hold up the place he backed them out at the point of his revolver. Of course, they escaped.

The other novelty is a 16-year-old girl, apparently an adept at the hold-up business, whose latest exploit was to choke a woman, rob her, leap on and off moving cable trains with such agility that the police were unable to capture her. Quite recently there have been numerous robberies of children, sent to stores with small change to near a school building.
