SERVICES HELD IN JOSSHOUSE

Wealthy Companies Give Annual 'Feasts-Ceremonies End Wednesday With Dedication of New Joss.

Though the weather was a little cold for a joyous celebration, the Chinese of Portland's Chinatown were on the streets yesterday and last night, trotting from house to house and wishing each other a happy New Year. Services were held in the joss houses, and several of the wealthier companies spread feasts, which other Chinaon gladly attended

There was a devil chase on a small scale during the afternoon, but because the prisets announced there was only one devil in Chinatown, it did not take long to purify that quarter of the city. In the infternoon, in spite of the chilly wind, the children were running about the streets in their bright-colored clothes, and the women were seen occasionally going from residence to residence.

residence to residence. Last night things livened up a bit, and a large number of people visited China-town, utilizing the firstnen of Hose and Chemical No. I as guides. There were pub-lic services in all the joss houses, and a few candles and fires in the streets. Lan-terns were before every door, and electric lights made the district as light as day. The stores were closed at an early hour in the afternoon, in order that all might take a part in the festivities.

Today, and until midnight Wednesday night, the celebration will continue. Wednesday will be the culmination of the ceremony, and on Wednesday night the streets will be full of fires and candles, and impressive ceremonies will be held in even a few of the clergymen of Portland are sufficiently broad-gauged to also be in favor of keeping this Exposition open on Sundays. A recent telegram from Portland says:

'It has been decided to throw open the gates and all exhibit buildings at the Lowis and Clark Exposition on features as much as possible. A local organization headed by ministers, educators, philanthropists and students of advanced throught will work in conjunction with the management of the Fair in the matter of Sunday congresses and the plan is to have the gatherings in the Exposition Audito-rium devoted to discussions and addresses upon education, religion, principles of government, charities, correcions, humanitarian laws, etc."

This shows that as orthodox clergy men "go west" and see more of "Na ture," their ideas broaden out some what and that they lose some of their bigotry.

BIG MEETINGS AT Y. M. C. A. Specially Arranged Entertainment for

Men and Boys Today.

For the last few weeks the auditorium of the Young Men's Christian Association has been crowded to the doors at the Sunday afternoon free meetings of the Sun-day Club, and in view of this fact, spe-cial arrangements have been made to accommodate the crowds this afternoon. In the sudirorium a great meeting for young men will be held at which Dr. J. W. Brougher, of the White Temple, will give an address on the subject, "Tricks of the widely among the young men of the city and only men between the ages of 18 and 25 years will be admitted. The auditorium will accommodate only 600 men, and in view of the popular programme that has been arranged and the special advertising that has been done among the young men of the city, it is expected that there will not be any room for older men. At the same hour a meeting for men over 35 years of age will be held in the association parlors, in charge of Dr. F. Burgette Short, of the Taylor-street Methodist Church. Dr. Short will speak on the subject. "Family Religion," and this meeting will be one of special interest to the older men. The music for the after-noon will consist of a half-hour concert by Coulter's Orchestra, with a cornet solo by J. W. Myer. This concert will begin at 3 o'clock in the gymnasium and will be open to all the men who come to either meeting. Miss Ethel Lytle, the popular soprano of the White Temple, will sing, as will Dr. William M. Campbell, who is possessed of a bass voice of rare quality and training. Not only will men be taken care of in two large meetings, but two other meet-ings will be held at the same hour for boys of different ages, making four meet-ings running simultaneously in different parts of the association building. J. F. Carroll will speak to boys of 15 to 17 years, and I. B. Rhodes, educational director of the Y. M. C. A. will speak to boys 12 to 15 years of age. The great interest being shown in the meetings of the Young Men's Christian Association in this city is only characteristic of a condition that exists in the whole country. In regard to it, Dr. J. Wilhur Chapman recently made the fol-

country with each day. I have not in all my ministry seen such an awakening. The distinguishing feature has been the unparalleled interest of men in spiritual things. Men everywhere seem to be hungry for the Gospel. The Young Men's Christian Association stands in a unique position to lead in this great work. Sundays The management will en-deavor to emphasize the educational greatest religious awakening the world has yet known.

WOMENARE MISSING

Police Order Drives Them Out of Saloons,

BUT NOT OUT OF BOXES

Chief of Police Hunt's Edict Keeps Barmaids Off Ground Floors of Combination Saloons of the North-End District.

Women were not to be found in any of the saloons included in the police list of "combination" saloons of the North End district last night. In the large establishments of Blazier's, Erickson's and Fritz', not classed as coming under the ordinance eliminating females, many were visible, but were confined to boxes, situated midway between the ground floors and cellings. There they were can-suming liquor, men joining them in the onviviality.

At the Orpheum, Fourth and Stark: the Maze Cafe, Third, between Yamhill and Salmon, and Blazler's First-street resort. Salmon, and Blazier's First-street resort, women occupied boxes, drinking with men. The difference between the form of operations in the "combination" sa-loons now under the ban and that in vogue in the places named as being frequented by women, is that they do not solicit men to purchase drinks on the ground floors. It is admitted by Chief of Police Hunt that only the selling of drinks by women on ground floors, and the mingling of women with men on ground floors is to be stopped, by the

"My orders are to stop the selling of drinks by women on ground floors of 'combination' saloons and the mingling of women with men on ground floors connected with said houses,' said Chief Hunt last night. "The frequenting of boxes off ground floors I am not to molest or interfere with, under present or-ders, because the box ordinance is up to the Supreme Court for decision.

Municipal Judge Hogue, who recently discovered the ordinance that resulted in the present reform order, construes the law so that if it should be enforced, as he says, it would drive women from every saloon, saloon box and stage con nected with a saloon in Portland. He does not agree with Chief Hunt that the police have no power to banish women from the boxes of the places named above, or apy other place.

A tour of the North End saloons showed that in the saloons from which women have been driven, quiet reigned, except for the pianes, violins and other instruments that were being played in the effort to get a crowd. In the large establishments throngs were gathered, listening to concerts and special vaude-ville pieces, rendered by women. *

UNABLE TO DECIDE CASE. Judge Hogue Fails to Unravel Peculiar Entanglement.

Unable to determine as to who was guilty of perjury, Judge Hogue yesterday continued the cases of Willie Boyd and Thomas Breen, accused of wantonly pour-ing turpentine upon a dog's back and igniting it, ordering the release of Breen and remitting Boyd's ball.

There is no doubt in Judge Hogue's mind but that some one has deliberately perjured himself, hoping possibly to evade punishment. His Honor pronounces the case "the hardest nut to crack" that has ever been scheduled in his court, but he has not the slightest intention of allow-ing the guilty person to remain unpun-
