GRANDERS DIRECTS GOOD ROADS.—At a meeting of Evening Star Grange 27, Patrons of Husbandry, yesterday, in the hall on the Section Line road, during the lecturer's hour, B. Leo Paget gave a short talk on "Good Roads." He set forth the great economy of first-class roads, and showed that both the country and city people are equally interested. Mr. Paget urged that the Grangers support the work of the Good Road Association in this state. Warren S. White, A. F. Miller, C. Millem and Judge John F. Caples also spoke on the subject. Following the lecture and discussion, "My Old Kentucky Home" and "Annie Laurie" were rendered by a choir. Mrs. Flora Ward, of Montavilla School, gave a recitation. Lecturer N. W. Rowland announced that at the March meeting State Superintendent J. H. Ackerman would deliver a lecture, and that a choir of pupils from the Montavilla School would render a 30-minute concert. Other lectures will be announced through the year. The session was well attended. J. J. Johnson, master, presided. A fine banquet was served. A large class was given first and second degrees.

WORKING FOR NEIGHBORHOOD BETTERMENT.—The Ladies' Civic Improvement League, of University Park, held an important meeting Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. G. Tate, and entertained several delegates from the St. Johns Civic League. The result will be that the two organizations will work in harmony for neighborhood betterment. The league is securing a better water supply for University Park was taken up and discussed. Progress was reported in the circulation of a petition to the Portland Water Committee, asking that larger water works be laid to that district. Beside working for a better water supply, the league is seeking to induce residents of that neighborhood to beautify and improve their homes by the cultivation of flowers and clearing away all accumulated rubbish. The recent lecture by Thomas Strong on "Civic Improvement" under the auspices of the league, has already aroused much interest. Along these and other lines the ladies of the league are very enthusiastic. Mrs. M. C. Albee is the president. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. McKee, Friday afternoon, February 18.

To Mr. Monthly Members.

Portland, Oregon, Feb. 1, 1905.
 I am indeed sorry to inform you that, owing to the fact that I have been conducting the business of cleaning and pressing of clothes for you, in connection with others, at a considerable personal loss to myself, and being desirous that you should have the advantage of the agreement that your clothes should continue to be properly taken care of at the reduced price of One Dollar $1.00 per month, I have secured the Unique Tailoring Company to assume all responsibilities in the matter. This firm has the best equipment on the Coast for carrying on that line of business.

I can cheerfully recommend the Unique Tailoring Company, of 267 Washington street, this city, as an upright, straightforward and capable firm.

Trusting that you will give them your patronage, I remain,

Yours very truly,

FASHION TAILOR,
 Frank Lorets & Co.

LIFE ASSOCIATION ELECTS OFFICERS.—At the annual meeting of the Life Association of Oregon, held yesterday in connection with a lunch at the Commercial Club, these officers were elected: President, H. T. McAlister; first vice-president, H. T. Booth; second vice-president, G. A. Brown; secretary and treasurer, A. S. Rothwell; executive committee, R. S. Boyne, chairman; E. L. Harmon, S. P. Lockwood, William Goldman and H. G. Colton. The association has received a number of new members during the past year, and is in a flourishing condition.

PROFESSOR PRATT HONORED.—There were 31 graduates from the Williams-Avenue School this month, and at the close of the term, in taking leave, Professor M. L. Pratt, the principal, the class presented him with a handsome clock. Professor Pratt accepted the present with an expression of appreciation. In accordance with his usual custom, Professor Pratt ascertained the future intentions of his class. Eleven of the 31 will enter the High School, others will take business courses or instruction, and the remainder will seek an occupation of some kind.

A STRONG PARTNERSHIP.—Henry D. Griffin and Harry Eaton, of the Chamber of Commerce saloon, have joined forces and purchased from Parker & Threlkeld the saloon and fixtures at 125 Sixth street, near Washington. Messrs. Griffin and Eaton are two of the best-known liquor men on the Pacific Coast, who have thousands of friends that will be glad of the opportunity to partake of the good cheer that will be dispensed over their mahogany. "Only the best" will be the motto of the new firm.

WILL BE BURIED AT CHAMPEL.—The internment of Mrs. Mary Ann Ady, who died February 3 at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Holston, 491 Madison street, will take place at Champele, Ore., Monday. LOWER INSURANCE FOR ST. JOHNS.—By order of the St. Johns Council, the Volunteer Fire Department was furnished with apparatus costing $175 the past week. Concilium Monahan, Hughes and Hurlbut special committee, contracted for the following apparatus with a Portland firm: One hook and ladder truck, $150; two hose carts, $200; 100 feet of hose, 50 cents per foot, $50; two No. 1 Babcock fire extinguishers, $50; four nozzles at $5 each, $20. The total amount of the cost of these articles is $175, but by discount it was reduced to $150. This is the largest expenditure the St. Johns Council has made since incorporation. A firehouse will now be secured. The volunteer fire company has 50 active members, willing to give their services free for protection of property until the city can afford to maintain a paid department. The water company will install the fire hydrants in the business sections, when the volunteers will be able to cope with any ordinary fire. Following are the officers: President, Dr. W. W. Hicks; fire chief, M. P. Tuttle; secretary, L. F. Chase; treasurer, W. H. King. Drills with the new apparatus will begin at once. Underwriters promise a large reduction in insurance rates as soon as the company is installed and equipped.

CRUELTY ON MAIL ROUTES.
 Complaint Made to Humane Society of Brutal Treatment of Horses.

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 4.—(To the Editor.)—The Oregon Humane Society is in receipt of many letters regarding extreme cruelty to horses and mules carrying the United States mails on various routes over mountainous trails and roads impassable for wagons. A communication from a reputable citizen of Scott's Mills states that the mail leaves Yamhill at 5 P. M. and makes Woodburn at 12 P. M. This trip of 23 miles is made over hills and muddy roads without rest or feed. The horses that leave Yamhill at 1 A. M. make the trip to Willmet and back to Woodburn at the same time, and only two feeds are given, and these without hay. This route has been a horse-killer during the past four years, and no mercy has been shown these poor, defenseless animals. They are worked until they drop helpless along the road and are left to die.

Another letter received from Corvallis states: "I have just made a trip over the mountains from North Yamhill to Tillamook, and want to relate to you a very unpleasant experience. The stage is not running, on account of very bad roads. Therefore passengers have to go on horseback, and the mail and baggage on packhorses. Could you see these poor horses, how they are abused, it would make your heart ache. They sent a horse from North Yamhill to the tollgate for me to ride. It was early in the morning and dark. The horse was already saddled and I rode him up the mountain a distance of six miles, when he laid down. Thinking he was sick, I took the saddle off. The sight was sickening. Three horrible sores larger than my two hands I saw. I left the horse to be cared for and walked to the next station, a distance of eight miles. Arriving, I went to the barn where they change horses and found all the animals in a similar condition, with large sores on their backs, and forced to carry from 150 to 200 pounds over mountains 2000 feet above the valley."

The writer concludes by saying: "Dear brother, will you have the Humane Society send some one with authority and have the contractor arrested, and if the society is maintained by donations, I will willingly pay the expense of prosecuting this case. Two horses fell by the roadside last week from overwork and were abandoned and killed."

Another letter from Big Meadows, Curry County, states: "Your attention is called to the brutal inhuman treatment of horses and mules on the mail route between West Fork, Douglas County, and Wedderburn, Curry County, of which George W. Billing is contractor. These animals are ridden 40 miles within 12 hours, with some on their backs as large as a man's hand. Besides, they are half-starved and often fall down from weakness."

The above are samples of many letters received regarding cruelty to animals on the various mail routes in Oregon. Some of the abuses have been corrected through correspondence, including copy of state laws and reporting cases to Mr. Yale, of the Postoffice Department. Yet the cruelty continues.

Contractors often sulk to irresponsible persons, thinking that they are no longer responsible. This is an error. The principals and original contractors can be held responsible for cruelties inflicted upon defenseless animals in transportation of United States mails, and the contractors should be kept in good and serviceable condition while performing this service. The object of this statement is to inform the public of the conditions which exist and to show the need of constituting the Oregon Humane Society, a state organization having jurisdiction over the entire state. Our Government has done much to alleviate the suffering of brute creatures, and much is yet to be accomplished. But it still remains in the hearts of the people to come to the help of the Humane Society, money and influence to carry on the work of mercy.

W. T. SHANAHAN,
 Corresponding Secretary Oregon Humane Society.

COMING TO PORTLAND!!

Salvation Army Officer Here.
 Adjutant James H. Bamberg, financial secretary of the Pacific Coast Province of the Salvation Army, accompanied by his wife, has just reached Portland to take temporary charge of the district of Oregon and Washington. This post was left vacant by the removal of Major and Mrs. Dumbell to Kansas City, Mo.

Bamberg will fill the duties of the district officer until such time as a permanent commander is appointed. Meanwhile the Adjutant will fill a double office owing to the absence of the district officer. Great preparations are being made for the visit to this section of Commissioner Kilby, who has recently been appointed to the command of the Department.

ABOUT PIANOS

It might interest you, especially if you are considering the matter. No two piano dealers use the same methods in selling.
