New Arrivals in Women's Wear

These are the days when store keeping is most delightful. Each new suit, coat or waist that appears is as much a pleasure to us as to our public. And these arrivals are constant now, and will be for some time to come. The makers' labors and planning have resulted in apparel much more jaunty and interesting than ever before. We call your attention to:

- SILK TAILOR-MADE SUITS promise to be a leading feature in women's wearing apparel this season. We are displaying a wide assortment of the choicest things New York's best makers have produced. Made of chiffon, taffeta silks, in black, brown, green, navy and changeable effects.
SILK REDINGOTE COATS made of the finest quality of taffeta silks in black, brown, tan and changeable effects. Blouse and tight backs, beautifully trimmed and lined.
NOVEL BLOUSE SUITS in box plaited and surplice effects. The coats are taffeta lined and elaborately trimmed with braids, embroidery and shirring; new sleeves with deep cuffs. The skirts are made in the new graduated box-plaited model with panel and side plaitings. Materials used are Panamas, broadcloths, chevrons and serges. Colors are black, brown, navy blue and green and fancy mixed cloths; special values at $20, $22.50, $25, $30.
COVERT JACKETS—Their success for this season is an assured fact; 19 to 24-inch are the most popular lengths, with and without collars, plain and fancy appliqued, braided, stitched, strapped and inlaid effects. Remarkable values at $10.00, $12.50, $15.00 and up to.....$35.00
LINGERIE WAISTS—The pen falters at the attempt of describing them. All we do is to invite you to inspect them, telling you that our display is far away the best in the city.

GETS HIGH HONOR

C. U. Gantenbein to Be Examined for Colonel.

WAR DEPARTMENT ORDERS

If Successful, Will Be Placed on Volunteer List.

ELIGIBLE TO SERVE IN WAR

Commander of Third Regiment Oregon National Guard, is One of Thirty-Four Men Summoned to Take Examination.

From a private in the Government's auxiliary forces to recipient of an order was undoubtedly performed in the Philippines when he was called upon to undertake several difficult tasks which demanded not only a military but judicial mind as well. In a report of the Oregon regiment's service it is stated that the judicial ability of the officers was above the average and he was noted as being employed in important positions of the Government service. Speaking of Colonel Gantenbein, this report says: Served in Military Commission. "Major Gantenbein was early appointed president of two general courts-martial.

WAR DEPARTMENT, Washington, Feb. 4.—

Colonel C. U. Gantenbein, Third Infantry, Oregon National Guard, Portland—Mr. in compliance with your request of May 21, 1904, the Secretary of War authorizes you to present yourself at Vancouver Barracks, Washington, at 10 A. M., on Wednesday, the 15th day of March, 1905, for examination as to your qualifications for commission as Colonel of volunteer infantry, under section 23 of the militia law of January 21, 1863. You should report at the place and hour stated to Major Rudolph G. Ebert, Surgeon, U. S. Army, president of the examining board. By order of the Chief of Staff. W. P. HALL, Assistant Adjutant-General.

one of the senior members of the Military Commission, the highest tribunal of the administration (equal to the Supreme Court), a member of the Board of Claims against the Spanish Government, and of the Board of Claims against the United States Government. Though detailed on these various boards he continued to perform all the duties of battalion commander with his regiment until March for his examination for a Colonelcy in the United States Volunteers summarizes the military career of Colonel C. U. Gantenbein. He has the distinction of his being one of 34 men throughout the United States ordered to appear for examination before a Government board.

WILL TAKE EXAMINATION FOR COLONELCY OF U. S. VOLUNTEERS

A provision of the recent military enactment, commonly known as the Dick bill, provided for the examination of those presenting themselves for examination and admittance into the military arm of the United States Government designated as the Volunteer Service. Under this provision, anyone, preferably those with military service, could apply for an examination and upon passing would be placed upon an eligible list for future volunteer service. That is, in the case of such military service as called forth letters of commendation from the various commanding Generals in the field.

Ordered to Report for Examination.

It has just been learned that Colonel Gantenbein, of the Third Infantry, O. N. G., is one of 34 National Guard officers throughout the United States to make application under this law, and is but one of a very few to apply for the rank of Colonel. Of those who have made application and have been ordered to report for examination, the majority are for the positions of Lieutenants and Captains.

When approached for an interview on the subject of his application and his coming examination, Colonel Gantenbein was extremely reticent and would say nothing beyond admitting that he had taken this action and was preparing for the examination to be given him at Vancouver, Wash., by the United States Military Board on March 15. Colonel Gantenbein's friends who are aware of his coming examination by the Government express their confidence in the strongest terms and have no fear of his ability to pass and to be accepted under the most severe conditions laid down.

Colonel Gantenbein's military record is more than an enviable one. While he is a lawyer by occupation, he has achieved a military record rarely won even by men in the regular service. Entering the Oregon National Guard as a private in Company G, on July 8, 1891, he rapidly acquired such military knowledge as to lead to his election to the command of Company H on May 19, 1892. It took but two years for his promotion to the command of a battalion and on August 18, 1894, Captain Gantenbein was commissioned as a Major in the Guard. Three years later he was commissioned as Lieutenant-Colonel of the regiment. With the breaking out of the Spanish-American War and a call for volunteers a recognition of Colonel Gantenbein's military ability and knowledge was given in his appointment as the senior Major of the Second Oregon Regiment. As such he commanded the first battalion of the American Army that landed in the Philippines and the first that entered the walled City of Manila.

After his return with his regiment to America and his discharge he was appointed Adjutant-General of the Oregon National Guard, and also served as vice-president of the Interstate National Guard Association from 1901 to 1903. His appointment to the command of the Third Infantry, O. N. G., occurred on September 1, 1904, and he has acted as Colonel in command of that regiment since that date. Colonel Gantenbein's military career has been marked with special and unusually efficient services. His best work

UPHOLD THE LAW

Primary Applies to City of Portland,

SO THE JUDGES DECIDE

County Clerk Will Open Books for Registration

TO ENTER PARTY AFFILIATION

It is Thought No Appeal to the Supreme Court From the Decision of the Circuit Court Will Be Made.

The direct primary law is applicable to the city election to be held in June. This decision was announced yesterday morning by Judge George, Judge Cleland, Francis and George concurring, at the close of an argument by Attorney Manning, District Attorney Manning, T. G. Greene and Charles A. Lockwood. The City Attorney recently brought suit in the name of N. A. King, a taxpayer, in order to obtain an opinion from the court, so that City Auditor Devlin might know whether it was legal to call a direct primary election or not. In order to bring the matter to an issue the court was asked to enjoin County Clerk Fields from opening the registration books for the registration of the political affiliation of electors, and for the registration of persons not already registered.

Argue the Legal Points.

Mr. McNary argued the law being operative at this time, and District Attorney Manning and Messrs. Greene and Lockwood took the opposite position. Mr. Lockwood, who is one of the framers of the law, appeared in support of the law. Judge George said there might be some constitutional defects in the law, but these had not been raised, and therefore the court would not presume to pass upon them.

What the Law Provides.

The direct primary law provides that electors to vote at primary elections must be registered as to their party affiliation. The principal contention against application of the law at this time was that when registration was in progress a year ago voters did not declare their party affiliation, because there was no direct primary law at that time. A few electors probably 3500, did so when the registration books were open before the Presidential election for additional registration, and changes of residence. Under the law the registration books will be open beginning March 15 and closing April 15 next, for additional registrations and changes of party. Judge George addressed the court during an interim in the argument, stating his position as follows: "I would like to state," he said, "that it is my intention to permit electors who are already registered to come in and make a statement of party affiliation, the same as a man who has changed his residence. I did this in September when the books were open for the Presidential election. The cost will probably not be over $500. I will take the information in writing. I am compelled by law to open the books for a month, anyhow. We have a card register of all the electors. It is very

EFFECT OF DECISION UPHOLDING PRIMARY

The direct primary law cannot be applied to nomination of candidates for the June city election without a new registration. The decision of the Circuit Court authorizes the County Clerk to make the new registration of city electors between March 15 and April 14, inclusive. In the city 21,000 electors registered last Spring. These can vote in the June city election without registering again, but not in the primary nominating election on May 6 unless they complete the registration prescribed by the primary law. The law prescribes registration of party affiliations as a requirement for participation in primary nomination elections. Candidates for party nominations, instead of being nominated by convention, will be presented by petition, and those receiving the most votes in their respective parties will be the nominees of their parties. The nominees will be voted for in June in the regular manner. Petitions of Republican candidates for Mayor, Auditor, Treasurer, City Attorney, Municipal Judge and five Councilmen must be signed by at least 196 Republican electors dwelling in at least 12 precincts; petitions of Democratic candidates by at least 67 Democratic electors residing in the same number of precincts—this in conformity with the law which requires petitioners to number at least 3 per cent of the votes last cast in the election district for Representative in Congress by the two parties. Candidates for ten Ward Councilmen will be presented by petition in the same manner, except that the petitioners will number 2 per cent of the votes cast for Representative in Congress in the respective wards. Nominations of "citizen" or nonpartisan candidates will not be controlled by the primary law, and can be accomplished as heretofore. Fall need not register again. Only Republican and Democratic nominations are amenable to the primary law. Votes cast in the city last June for Representative in Congress were: Republican, 9766; Democratic, 3338.

direction will give Oregon the distinction of having an eligible Colonel on Uncle Sam's volunteer roster. Colonel Gantenbein is extremely modest in regard to his order for examination. At present he is the dean of the University of Oregon Law School and prefers to attain distinction through that. As stated before, Colonel Gantenbein's profession is that of the law, which is his first love, but for a hobby he is an ardent devotee of the gun and saber. His admittance to the volunteer service of the Government will not mean that he will give up his law practice or school duties, but that he will simply be placed on the eligible roster.

easy to get a man's card and stamp upon it, his party affiliation, and enter the information upon the books afterward. I also want to know if it must be done under oath, and if persons previously registered and the party affiliation noted who have changed their party affiliations, can come in and have the change made on the books." Court Will Advise. The court will advise the Clerk upon these points. Mr. Fields says he will keep the registration books open during the 30 days beginning March 15 every evening, as well as in the daytime, to
